A HAPPY NEW YEAR!

BY unanimous agreement of the wholesale drug trade east of the Rocky Mountains the charge for box and cartage has been restored. It was, we think, about a dozen years ago when McKesson & Robbins threw a bomb shell into the ranks by publicly announcing free box and cartage. It was then but a short time before the trade generally followed the same plan, though with considerable reluctance on the part of many dealers, who have constantly protested against this, in their opinion, unbusinesslike move. Recently, however, a very decided opinion has gained ground, among Western jobbers particularly, that an effort should be made to restore the charge. Accordingly a strong and influential committee from the West visited the Eastern States to confer with the trade on the subject. The result has been a mutual and harmonious action throughout the entire East, and "boxing and cartage" will again appear as of old, upon invoices. There will be a large amount of "kicking," without doubt, from retail druggists, many of whom have never experienced the charge, but the custom will gradually be accepted and will probably stand, being based on the well matured judgment of good business men. This agreement has not, thus far, been adopted upon the Pacific Coast.

THE co-operative medicine manufacturing companies now being formed or under consideration in several of the States will overthrow precedent if found profitable or successful, the history of such enterprises in this country not showing them to have sufficient cohesion to maintain a long existence. One factor, however, may be added to their strength at the present time and that is found in the urgent necessity which now exists of united effort to save something from a common wreck. When people find themselves in a genuine strait they are ready to do anything to promote the common welfare, which means also their own individual good. With the vast increase in cut-rate business apparent within a year or two, and the consequent demoralization of revenues in the case of nine-tenths of the trade it is not surprising that a practical unanimity should prevail in the desire to restore more favorable conditions.

It will necessarily follow, from all previous experience in trade, that the new proprietary medicines issued from the laboratories of the several corporations will after a time be required throughout the country at large. Changes of residence, either temporary or permanent, bring about such demand. The old preparations will have to be kept in stock the same as before, for their sale cannot be put down entirely, however strong the influence brought to bear to substitutie the local manufactures. In view, therefore, of the very considerable increase in variety of the druggists proprietary stock consequent upon the coming "co.-op." preparations it occurs to us that it would be wise to extend co-operation a little farther by uniting upon and adopting uniform formulas and styles of packages, labels, wrappers, etc., a perfectly feasible plan and one involving no loss of business to any corporation, whose orders would as a matter of course come from its own stockholders, and whose monogram upon the wrapper would be a sufficient mark of identity.

IN in its new departure the San Francisco and Pacific Druggist has made a marked advance over its predecessors and its appearance is highly creditable to its management. The versatile pen of Editor Taylor overflows with sunshine and his friends are in his eyes as big as giant sequoias.

We note an advance of about 20 cents per pound in the price of opium, as the year closes. There have been some reports of unfavorable weather affecting the winter's sowing, and these have doubtless been taken advantage of by speculators to stiffen the market. There is a large supply of the drug available, with no likelihood of a scarcity, and it seems improbable that any large increase in price can be maintained.

We acknowledge the receipt of the Chemists' and Druggists' Diary for 1896, which is a fitting exponent of the great business of its publishers. The Diary is a volume of 523 pages, and contains, besides a generous sized diary, a large number of advertisements, and a regular mine of information of a legal and technical nature. A nine-page article on "How to push Trade," with appropriate suggestions and formulas for the various seasons is one of its many useful features. The volume will be a valuable book of reference to the "C & D's" army of subscribers.

By the death of J. N. Hegeman, New York, the old and honorable name disappears from the ranks of pharmacists in that city. The Hegeman stores, of which there are four, we learn from the Era, are to be disposed of for the benefit of the estate, and are to be sold as a whole, together with the trade mark and formulas belonging to the corporation of which Mr. Hegeman was the head. Two of the stores are on Broadway, one on Fifty-ninth street and one on Third avenue.

The Spatula mentions among "Scientific Facts and Possibilities" that the daily output of machine made matches from a New England factory is said to exceed the yearly production of the world a hundred years ago. Now we look upon this item as entitled to a less guarded heading than is given it by our bright and pleasant contemporary, who might well have included it among "Probabilities," seeing that the origin of the match as at present known dates no further back than 1834.

Christmas trade is reported from many points as having been quite satisfactory, and in this city and vicinity unusually good.

Mr. J. U. Lloyd, Pharmacist, Chemist, Professor and Author, is the subject of a biography and portrait in M. B. Reber's Galerie d'eminents Therapeutistes et Pharmacognostes.

Santa Ana druggists say their holiday trade is better this season than for several previous years. This is evidence of increasing prosperity in their city and in the fertile country tributary to it.

Business Personals.

The well known Littleboy pharmacy will be removed from this city to Pomona, about Feb. 1st, prox.

Dr. W. M. Johnston, corner Pearl and Pico, reports an increasing and satisfactory business. The doctor has a way of making friends and keeping them, wherever he is.

Mr. J. A. Lamb says the "Rainmakers" are all right. They are good sellers and good all through.

Mr. F. M. Towne finds time to figure prominently in musical circles in San Bernardino, being one of the directors of the choral society of his city. Frank is a rustler all around.

Mr. Frank Morrison and wife have quarters for the present at Glenwood Tavern, and it is remarked that Frank has a perennially smiling countenance these days.

C. E. Weck, Riverside, has given his store an outside coat of orange color, and has added new and handsome gold and black signs. With his tasteful improvements inside the store he now has one of the neatest pharmacies in Southern California.

Riverside can fairly claim one of the handsomest drugstores in California in J. C. Hardman's new store. The genial proprietor has spared no pains nor expense in supplying the very tasteful arrangements and decorations of his pharmacy by which his shelfware and goods in cases are shown off to unusual advantage. Frank Gardner and Frank Gilliland make an exceptionally good "team" behind the prescription case and counter, and Miss May Jefferson quite acceptably performs the duties of cashier. The lady customers of the store are thoughtfully provided for by a gem of a waiting room for their exclusive use. Mr. Hardman's business facilities are strictly in the front rank.

Jones & Son., Ventura, have bought out their neighbor, A. G. Orena, and will, as soon as practicable, place their two stocks together in one room. The history of this firm shows a rapid growth from small beginnings to their present excellent position and illustrates the value to a business of economy, politeness and close attention to the wants of patrons. The assurance of a successful future is theirs and our cordial good wishes are offered them for a long and prosperous career.

Mr. Schlotte, who has been head prescription clerk with Dr. Bedford, San Bernardino, will, after Jan. 1st, take a similar position with Dr. White of the same city. Mr. S. is well up in his profession. His late position at the Bedford Pharmacy will be filled by Mr. Clark of the Owl Drug store, who is a gentleman of high standing, and at one time Secretary of the Washington State Board of Pharmacy.

Wells & Sollenberger, Orange, have increased their force in the person of Harry Lippen, Ph. G.

Paul Derge, Anaheim, is happy over the arrival of father, mother and sister, who have come to make their home in Anaheim. Mr. Derge, senior, is one of the pioneers of Michigan.

The drug business of E. W. Dodge, Lemoore, has been sold to F. S. Powell.

Dr. C. B. Thomas, Pasadena, has taken into partnership his late efficient helper, Mr. L. J. Huff. It is now C. B. Thomas & Co., and Mr. Huff will still beam upon his customers at the beautiful corner drug store. We cordially wish the new firm a successful career.

Mr. Carl F. Clapp, who has for a long time been the head prescription clerk for Browne & Co., Pomona, will open a new drugstore in Covina about the middle of this month. Mr. Clapp is well known in the community where he will hang out his banner, and his popularity will no doubt insure the success of his venture. He has our best wishes for a prosperous business.

The Artesia drug store, Hanford, has changed hands and name. The Hanford Drug Co. is now the title, and J. T. Baker is behind it. The business of the store will undoubtedly improve under present ownership.

Our friend, C. R. Johnson, of Perris, has the misfortune to be a depositor in the Perris Valley Bank, which lately went by the board. Mr. Johnson was recently burnt out and his insurance money as well as all his savings were on deposit there. This double calamity is particularly aggravating, coming as it does after years of hard and honest work and close economy. We heartily sympathize with Mr. Johnson, and hope to see him on his feet again soon.

Mr. Harry Fasig and family were observed to be making a trip to Pomona on New Year's day. It was ascertained that such an unusual absence from business was due to a wedding occasion. Nothing short of bride's cake could possibly induce our friend Fasig to desert his post for a day.

H. Fairbanks & Son, Santa Ana, is the way the name reads now, which we trust will be the case for many long years.

Frank M. Bain, who is well known as the agreeable representative of John Wyeth & Brother, is doing good work for his house in Los Angeles and vicinity. Wyeth's preparations are always satisfactory and acceptable to the trade.

We received a pleasant call recently from Mr. J. T. Baker, Hanford, who had not before visited the "metropolis of the south." Having broken the ice, as to the east, we think Mr. B. will enjoy making frequent visits in the future. He will be always welcome.

Alcohol from Acetylene.

With the alleged new illuminant, acetylene, we are also advised of the discovery that alcohol can be made from it as a secondary product. It is said to be entirely free from fusil oil and other deleterious substances contained in the alcohol manufactured in the old way through the ordinary method of fermentation or distillation. Alcohol of the finest quality may now, it is said, be made for about 28 cents a gallon, and it is expected that when the new apparatus for producing it is perfected the cost of production may be still further reduced.

The discovery of acetylene is responsible for the introduction of this new system, it being a secondary product of the new gas. The manner of its production is as follows: Calcium carbide and scraps of zinc are placed in a retort connected by tubing with a second flask containing water mixed with sulphuric acid. A regulated stream of acidulated water is caused to flow from the second to the first flask which, as it comes in contact with the carbide of calcium and zinc, liberates both acetylene and hydrogen. These two gasses combine and form ethylene, which passes off by a tube leading from the top of the flask.

This ethylene is conducted into a series of tubes and bulbs through which a stream of hot sulphuric acid is made to flow. The reaction between the acid and the ethylene produces ethyl-sulphuric acid, which is made to flow into a third flask containing water. This water is kept in a state of ebullition which decomposes the ethyl-sulphuric acid into alcohol and sulphuric acid. The alcohol volatilizes with the water and is separated from it by virtue of the difference between the condensing points, the alcohol condensing in a separate refrigerator at a strength between 90 and 96 per cent. and entirely free from any impurities but water. It is predicted for this new enterprise that it will become of great industrial importance.—P. O. & D. Review.

The inference in the above statement is that by the acetylene process alcohol would cost but 28c., a tithe of its present price which is misleading. Grain alcohol costs only about one-half of twenty-eight cents to make, and were it not for the cost of containers would afford the manufacturers a liberal profit at twenty cents per gallon, barring the government tax. More than forty years ago alcohol was sold by wholesalers as low as 23 cents per gallon in barrel lots, and improved processes have very largely increased the output of spirit from a bushel of corn since that period, so that it may readily be seen that were the tax taken off alcohol would again be cheap, extremely cheap, and it may well be questioned whether the acetylene or any other process could very much reduce its present cost of manufacture.

A Cinchona and Cardamom Census.

Our Ceylon contemporary the Tropical Agriculturist has just taken its periodical census of the area cultivated in Ceylon with produce for exportation, and publishes some interesting comments upon the results of its investigations. Concerning cinchona, it is stated that in September of this year there were only 982 acres of land under cinchona alone left in the colony, but besides the trees growing on this surface there were 1,714,000 cinchona trees growing in the coffee and tea gardens, the area of mixed land of this character being 5,207 acres. This latter estimate is arrived at by crediting one-third of the mixed area to cinchona. The total number of cinchona-trees over two years old in the island is estimated at 4,483,000, a decrease of 2,500,000 within twenty-seven months. The coffee area, by the way, has decreased in the same time from 30,000 to 21,634 acres, while the acreage under tea, the all-devouring crop of the moment, has arisen from 273,000 to 304,419 acres. There are 4,693 acres under cultivated cardamoms, a slight falling-off, which is attributed mainly to the absorption of planting energy by tea-growing, which accounts for a decrease in the cultvation of many of the lesser products. Ceylon also contains 7,397 acres of land partly under coffee, tea, and cocoa, but interspersed with annatto, coca, vanilla, croton, pepper, cloves, citronella, castor oil, and aloes. The T. A. is naturally proud of its census, and observes with justice that "No tropical industry—and probably no agricultural enterprise outside the tropics—has had so much care bestowed on the compilation of substantially accurate statistics concerning its position and progress as the planting enterprise of Ceylon."—Chem. & Drug.

Quinine has taken a start in the market and is quoted at a three cent advance (Dec. 20).

The Coronado brand of corks is still taking the lead. It is a good brand to tie to. The goods always prove satisfactory.

We would call attention to the value and convenience of Catharsine, which is the salt concentrated from the Mt. Clemens mineral water. See advertisement in our columns.

The S. & H. Cough Drops are put up in uncommonly large packages for a five cent article—30 packs to the box, $1.00. Book coupon in each package.

Druggists will note the advertisement of the Stearns Electric Paste Co., with special offer up to April next. It is an old and reliable vermin destroyer and it will pay you to give it a trial.

The many favorable opinions expressed regarding the high quality of Taylor's Absorbent Cotton are sufficiently conclusive of its superiority. It seems to be without fault and at the head of the line.

Among the many manufacturers of medicine in this country the firm of Reed & Carnrick stand in the very front rank for strict reliability and advanced ideas. They stand staunchly by their goods, and dealers always feel safe in putting their products in stock.

In the winter season, when colds are prevalent, and where so many invalids require stimulants, remember that Crescent Malt Whiskey is the finest and purest article on the market, and is especially adapted to the requirements of the sick. See advertisement.

Henry K. Wampole & Co. have a well established reputation among both physicians and druggists through their valuable specialties, among which their Tasteless Preparation of Cod Liver Oil has perhaps the largest sale. F. W. Braun & Co. carry a full line of Wampole's preparations.

The co-operative drug manufacturing company to be organized under the auspices of the Illinois Pharmaceutical Association is to be capitalized at $20,000 in shares of ten dollars each.

A druggist in Los Angeles was heard to remark, not long ago, that he had not bought an ounce of phenacetin in two years. The name of the party was not given us, and we dislike to think that any druggist would substitute acetanilid for phenacetin, as was claimed in this case, when the action of the two drugs are so diverse. It is our opinion that not many of our pharmacists would take so grave a responsibility upon themselves. We hope not another.

"Patents" to be Sold by Registered Pharmacists.

There is one feature of the new Illinois pharmacy law which is a most important one, and which distinguishes it from the pharmacy laws of other States, and yet this feature has apparently not attracted the attention from the pharmaceutical journals and their readers, and even from the druggists of Illinois, which its nature and importance would seem to demand. By this new law none but a registered pharmacist can conduct a drug store, and no drugs, medicines or poisons can be sold at retail except in a store conducted by a registered pharmacist. The old law had a provision stating that nothing in it should be construed to prevent any person from selling proprietary and domestic medicines, but the new law contains no such provision.

This new enactment is, in fact, the hardest blow at retailing by jobbers which has yet been struck. If any of the jobbing houses in Chicago, and other Illinois cities, have ever been guilty of the naughty practice of retailing, here is an excellent chance for them to reform, for they have a most valid excuse for refusing to retail. The new law also closes the door to grocery and department stores. Nobody but wholesale druggists can sell patent medicines at wholesale, and, therefore, if the jobbers are sincere and wish to cut off grocers who supply cutters, they can say, what is the use of our selling these goods to you, for the law will not allow you to sell them in turn? The druggists of Illinois have secured a most valuable enactment for their protection, and if the law be properly administered by the board of pharmacy, there is no reason why the great cutting abuse, under which the retail trade has so long suffered in that State, cannot be pretty thoroughly eradicated. We understand that the druggists of the State are enthusiastic and will support the board of pharmacy in all its efforts to enforce the law, and the board itself announces a determination to see that all the provisions of the law are carried out.

One great defect of all our pharmacy laws heretofore has been that patent medicines were exempt from restrictions. This journal has contended, and in its contention has been supported by all having the best interests of pharmacy at heart, that these so-called patent medicines should, so long as they claim to be medicines, be included within all the provisions of the pharmacy law, and no exception be made in their favor. The patent medicine's great claim for support is that it is a curative agent, and many of them contain potent, even poisonous drugs, whose sale and administration should be confined only to the care of responsible and competent persons. Therefore, the Illinois fraternity is to be congratulated upon its success in placing this class of preparations where it logically belongs, in the drug store, so long as it continues to claim medicinal qualities and virtues.—Ph. Era.

TO THE subject of Absorbent Cotton we call your attention. In presenting the above brand, which we shall control on the Pacific Coast, we can say without fear of contradiction that we offer a cotton up to the very highest standard, and one that will meet every test—absorbent, chemical and crucial. Being made from selected Sea Island cotton, its texture is longer, fibre softer, and being subjected to the many washings, both alkaline and acid, it contains none of the impurities, but a cotton made for rather than for commercial. Free from any contamination. Free from anything that will produce septic conditions in a wound—presenting a sterile surgical dressing which we believe cannot be equalled by other mantfacturers. We invite you to give it the test by slightly compressing in the hand, throw on water and note how readily it absorbs and falls to the botton of the glass; then with Litmus paper note reaction—neither acid nor alkaline—and by burning in the crucible the amount of ash left. We feel assured if you will but present its merits to the physician you will find confirmed ALL WE CLAIM FOR

A VERY excellent and pure green castile soap is the Natroli brand. It is strictly an olive oil soap, perfectly combined and entirely free from alkali. Druggists will find it without a superior for all purposes where a bland soap is desired. The price of the Natroli is extremely low for the quality of the article. F. W. Braun & Co. have it.

A New and Improved Baking Powder.

G. Weddell, Newcastle-upon-Tyne, England, has taken out a patent, in which he claims the preparation of a baking powder, which contains some of the mineral salts found in cereals. A mixture is made of calcium phosphate, 300 parts; magnesium phosphate, 180 parts; sodium phosphate, 180 parts; potasium phosphate, 18 parts. Occasionally a further addition is made of some phosphates of iron and manganese and a little calcium fluoride. Of this compound, 2 parts are added to 7 parts of ground rice or flour, bicarbonate of soda 15 parts and tartaric acid 14 parts. The proportions may be varied.

Improved Elixir Aromatic.*

BY EMILE OTT.

The National Formulary, as well as the U. S. Pharmacopœia, give formulæ for elixir aromatic in which it is necessary to have a preparation in stock that is never called for, except in making elixir aromatic, as suggested in the question. It no doubt would be a saving of time and trouble and obviate the necessity of having unnecessary bottles on our shelves by making the elixir direct from the oils. Through experience I have made the preparation according to the following formula and have had satisfactory results:

Oil orange	30 drops
Oil lemon	8 drops
Oil coriander	2 drops
Oil anise	1 drop
Syrup	375 ccm
Alcohol	250 ccm
Water, enough to make	1000 ccm
Precipitated phohps. of calcium	q. s.

Mix and follow directions according to the U. S. Pharmacopœia.

A formula that has also given satisfaction is as follows:

Oil orange	10 drops
Oil almond, bitter	1 drop
Oil clove	1 drop
Oil cinnamon	1 drop
Alcohol Syrup } aa	360 ccm
Talcum	15 grams
Water, enough to make	1000 ccm

Mix the oils with 15 grams of talcum, add the alcohol and syrup, mix thoroughly, and, finally add the water. Let it stand in a closed vessel or bottle for 24 hours and filter through paper.

This formula gives a preparation that can be colored with a sufficient quantity of tincture cudbear or red aniline. Solution to be used when curacao is ordered in prescription and the genuine or imported article is not specified. It is a good imitation of the imported liquor.

MRS. B.—Bridget, have you turned the gas on in the parlor, as I told you? NEW DOMESTIC—Yis mum; can't you smell it?—Boston Courier.

Frederick Stearns.

The Detroit Evening News in mentioning the fact of Mr. Stearns' gift to the public of his rare collection of ancient and modern curios pays the following tribute to this generous and public spirited gentleman:

"The occasion which last night emphasized the significance of the gathering at the Detroit Museum of Art is one which the whole Detroit public ought to recognize. It was the formal dedication to the public use of the additional gifts lately made to the museum by Frederick Stearns. The archeological and ethnological collection which Mr. Stearns placed in the museum last night is in itself valuable enough to entitle the donor to public gratitude, but when it is considered that the presentation of last night's collection was but an incident in Mr. Stearns' past relations to the institution, the event places Mr. Stearns among the foremost of Detroit's public benefactors. The very presence in a community of a goodly number of persons of Mr. Stearns's tastes and artistic discrimination is a refining influence, but when such a man is willing to contribute not only his technical acquirements and skill, but his pecuniary substance for the common good, the fact goes a long way to negative the current notions about the crime of being rich and refined in taste. The reception last evening was a recognition in part of the public's appreciation of its indebtedness to Mr. Stearns's munificence, but the best and real recognition will be given from day to day by the individuals who are edified and profited by their visits to the museum. The News tenders its acknowledgements to Mr. Stearns of all the benefits which he has conferred upon Detroit through his generosity to the museum.

Ionone.

The recent increase in number of violet extracts upon the market and the unusual attention which is being paid their introduction is probably explained by the use of ionone, concerning which Schimmel gives the following information:

"This preparation has quickly grown in favor with perfumers, whom it has enabled to bring into commerce violet scents, especially a violet extract of a quality formerly unattainable by the best efforts of art and imagination. During the past season this violet extrait has been the rage in perfumes, and as violet is not one of the perfumes that are mere fashions of the hour, but has always been one of the favorite and most salable scents, it may be taken for granted that ionone will remain an indispensable adjunct to the perfumer. The preparation of a really high-class ionone scent nevertheless remains an art in the true sense of the word, and none but expert perfumers should therefore attempt it. We often hear the opinion expressed that a good violet extrait can be obtained by simply diluting an ionone solution with alcohol. This is quite a wrong view. To employ ionone successfully, it is above all necessary to know its peculiar characteristics and to take them into account. Non-experts complain that ionone has no odor at all, or that it smells unpleasantly—complaints which they usually retract shortly afterward. Such objections as these are simply due to a blunting of the olfactory nerves, or, to express it more precisly, to an olfactory delusion, which may also be observed more or less acutely in the case of other flowers, and which is notoriously caused in a special degree by the odor of fresh violets. The principal necessity in the employment of ionone is to find the proper measure of dilution. In its pure state ionone is so highly concentrated as scarcely to remind one of the odor of violets, and for this very reason it has been placed upon the market in a 10 per cent. solution, instead of pure. This mode of bringing ionone into commerce was a happy thought, for the alcohol acts as an excellent preservative of the body. In scenting powders, sachets, and the like, the solution requires to be further diluted before it is sprinkled upon the goods. In this case the use of a spray is recommended. Up to the present ionone does not appear to have been used to any appreciable extent in the manufacture of violet soaps.

The Trend of Pharmacy.*

BY J. U. LLOYD, CINCINNATI.

The pharmacy of to-day is so different from the pharmacy of a few years ago that we of twenty, twenty-five or thirty years ago in pharmacy find ourselves largely in a new field to-day. Much that we considered essential in pharmacy is scarcely useful now, and substances unthought of then are conspicuous remedies to-day.

As I think over the past I am reminded of the old Kentucky gentleman (I know a few of them yet), that have gone through life in their peculiar, courteous style and manner, a style that in my experience only those from the southern side of the Ohio river have ever learned. In the face of changes that have brushed them to one side these men have graciously taken the places that they recognize they must now take, and they do it cheerfully. Now, some of us pharmacists will have to do the same thing, unless we keep up with the trend of progress, and we had better do it cheerfully. The prescriptions that we used to get, the work that we used to do in pharmacy, is much of it no longer the work of pharmacists. Look at it as we may, strive against it as we will, the inevitable is coming—it has come, and no man living can foretell the end of this change. It is the change that civilization brings, a change that, taken altogether, even if painful to a few of us, is moving humanity towards the betterment of mankind. Pharmacists of the past were pioneers, pioneers even twenty, twenty-five and thirty years ago.

There has been a revolution, silent, insidious, irrepressible, and the end is not yet. The changes which are to come in the next thirty years can be no more anticipated than changes that have come to the present time. Conspicuous on the shelves of your stores from force of habit you carry the relics of other days; your rows of tincture bottles occupy valuable space, but as a rule you have very little use for them. Your compound tinctures and syrups are largely reminiscences. They have passed from the sight of physicians, but habit with you makes them conspicuous and cumberers, they still occupy the most valuable space in your store. I see before me my old teacher, Mr. George Eger. I remember how careful he used to be in making the preparations to which I refer, which we made according to the old method, maceration. But the manufacturer has come and in a sense has brushed such work aside.

Concerning the medicines we made then, many will remember when the compound syrups of stillingia and sarsaparilla were prepared by the barrel or in lots of five and ten gallons at a time for prescription use. A gallon bottle in the cellar is now sufficient to replace the keg or barrel of former times. The trend has been to the displacement of such preparations as these by others that were unknown thirty years ago. Sugar and gelatin-coated pills, tablets, triturates, elegant pharmaceutical preparations, have been evolved by manufacturers, and the plaster-iron and pill-machine are laid aside by pharmacists. Like the old Kentucky gentleman, however, we can think of other times, but let it be as graciously as does he, for, really, our conditions are not very dissimilar.

And now a word concerning pharmaceutical education. If what I have said is true, and pharmacy work as we formerly knew it is being displaced, have we use for pharmaceutical colleges? To what end are the great university classes in pharmacy trending? In my opinion, not to manufacture medicines but ably to select them; not to put together, but to watch that which they purchase and which they guarantee to their patrons; not to compound so much as to test and establish what is compounded. To this end their education points, and it must be higher than was ours. It is easier to make preparations by the pharmacopœia of 1860 than to test them by the pharmacopœia of 1890. The graduate in pharmacy in 1860 had no manufacturing problem as exacting as is that of establishing the value of pharmaceutical preparations by the volumetric processes of 1890. Pharmaceutical education was never more necessary than now, and the trend of the science side of pharmaceutical education has been and is upward, towards greater skill and higher qualifications, and our country is being filled with young pharmacists with better general education and more scientific endowments, but less practical experience, as a rule. Grant that none can excel many of the members of the older classes and also that many inferior students are now evolved, and yet I admit freely that the methods of college instruction are superior to those of former times and that in a general sense the courses are more exacting.

The demand is not only for men capable of making medicinal preparations, but of protecting their patrons in certifying to the quality of what others make, and in this sense the time is coming when pharmacists will be very much more responsible than now. Pure food and medicine laws will compel them to assume a responsibility that scientific men only can assume, and the pharmacist of the future must, I believe, take a more responsible position than have we of the past, even though he purchases instead of makes his own preparations. Thus it is that in my opinion, whether we make our remedies or buy them, the trend will be to the extinction of men not qualified in the scientific side of the pharmacy that is approaching. Just now we are in the confusion of this change from the old to the new; it is painful to many of us, some of us are inclined to become sour, but the end, I hope, will be to the betterment of our people. We must accept the situation. We cannot avoid it. I only hope that some of my friends who are growing old and sour and crabbed, will learn as I have found it necessary to do, to renew their youth. They can do it if they will do as I have done within the last ten years—look forward and not backward; think of something pleasant and not worry over that which is inevitable and cannot be helped.

And now a word for the future. We do not know that in the future there will be any nasty medicines, say in thirty years from now. I hope there will be no necessity for them, for I hope that scientific pharmacy will replace nastiness with remedies grateful to the taste. Such a hope is not so Utopian as we may think. Fifteen years ago a dose of most remedies pharmaceutical was a tablespoonful or a teaspoonful, often a medicine vile and disgusting. The prescription now for the same purpose is usually a pleasant little tablet, a small pill or the fraction of a drop of a pleasant liquid. Now, for what are substances used as medicines? It seems to me that it is to carry a sliver of energy that acts upon something in the body to produce a change that the physician considers beneficial. It is not the material in the medicine that does this, and it is not the material in the body that it primarily acts upon. It certainly is not the nastiness that acts physiologically, unless it be to shock and disgust the patient. The sunshine, energy the kinetic force in medicine is utilized, not the matter of it Why should not this energy be linked to forms of matter pleasant instead of forms of matter obnoxious? To carry this thought a little further, it is the energy of sunshine that gives life. It is the energy of the sun that enables us to exist. It is the force of the sun that we conserve when we eat food. It is also a phase of energy from this same sunshine that makes a drug a medicine, not the matter therein. Now, our homeopathic friends tell us that they employ much less of this sunshine energy than others do to produce an effect therapeutical; and it really looks as though the other schools of medicine are, more or less, in this sense following in the steps of the homeopaths. They all seek more pleasant medicines and smaller doses.

*Address delivered before the Ohio Pharmaceutical Association.

These are pleasant thoughts, or should be, to true pharmacists who work for the good of humanity. Let us not refuse the happiness that comes with pleasant thoughts. Let us begin to take our sunshine thoughts now and hope that more sunshine may be in the paths of pharmacists and in our medicine of the future. Let us think brighter and lighter thoughts of life. Let us not view as reprehensible that which is necessary to the progress of mankind. Our old medicines were bitter and nasty; we need not become as they were then. If manufacturers make pleasant medicaments quite different from our old compounds to carry concentrated energy expressions, should we object? Humanity profits in the use of pleasant forms of medicines and these improved remedies are simply neater carriers of sunshine expression.

I am speaking to a few old friends, and to many whom I may call new friends, and to you I say, the trend of my remarks is, the changes that will yet come may not be to your liking unless you learn that the world moves; indeed, the changes that are to come in pharmacy will be largely what you do not want. We cannot control the business of pharmacy; we cannot control our own business. We cannot turn the world backward. I would not go back if I could to the medicines of thirty years ago. I would not change from the present to the past. I would not want my children to take the nastiness I used to prepare and considered excellent medicine. While possibly our young men will regret, perhaps oppose, the changes that must come during the next twenty-five years, I believe that at the end of that time they will not be willing to go back to the position we are in now.

Let us then look at the sunny side of life, let us give and take our sunshine gladly and make our presence and our medicines welcome. Let us be cheerful and contented and serve well our part in the evolution that thrusts back the old to introduce the new; and finally, like the genial old Kentucky gentleman who delights in reminiscences of the past and gets all he can of life's pleasures, let us enjoy the generous present and make our lives a pleasure and a blessing to those about us.

MRS. BLOOD (to the colonel, who has returned from fighting a duel)—Oh, colonel, you look distressed! Is it possible you have injured your antagonist? COLONEL BLOOD—A devilish sight worse, my dear. Profits in the Drug Business.

In reckoning the profits in the drug business one should bear in mind that it isn't always the article yielding the largest immediate profit that it pays the best to handle. It is the rapidity with which an article turns that furnishes the keynote to profits. In a year's business a druggist can make more money on Tip Top Cough Syrup than on any other cough remedy, because it is the most rapid seller, or as Druggist Marsh of San Diego says, "It is the Tip Top seller."

MESSRS. JOHN WYETH & BRO. have issued a pamphlet on Local Anesthesia Treatment by Infiltration as suggested by Dr. C. H. Schleich, which will prove of interest to the medical profession, coming as it does from so eminent an authority. The special tablets used for the purpose are supplied by the above named firm, who will mail the pamphlet upon application.

The License Question in Chicago.

The Chicago Retail Druggists' Association at a meeting held Nov. 19th adopted the following resolutions:

"Chicago, Nov. 19.

"Whereas, The collector of the city of Chicago has recommended that the license fee for retail druggists shall be increased to $250 annually, and

"Whereas, It is beyond all reason that the drug business should in this way be discriminated against, therefore be it

"Resolved, That a committee of five members be appointed by the president to confer with the collector and present such facts as may be necessary to convince him of the unreasonableness of his recommendation, said committee to report to the association at a called meeting to be held as soon as possible.

"Resolved, That this association is unalterably opposed to having drug stores classed with dram shops; that the policy of the association has been at all times to defend only those persons it believed to be the victims of persecution; that it regards druggists who sell liquor as a beverage (by the drink or otherwise) as a disgrace to the profession of pharmacy; and that the association is not less willing now than it has been in the past to prosecute wilful and persistent violators of the liquor laws, to the extent even of asking for a revocation of their license."

THE Canadian Druggist for Nov. begins an editorial on the subject of price cutting as follows

"The rapidity with which the evil of price-cutting has spread throughout the western portion of Ontario has startled the drug trade, both wholesale and retail, and steps to stem the tide of destruction are now being taken. The retailer who has subjected himself to it has already learned that his own action is his worst enemy, and the wholesaler fears possible conjunctions for buying purposes, which will jeopardize his own trade. It is now felt that some united action must be taken to stop, if possible, a system which has worked such havoc in the drug trade in the neighboring Republic, and which, if persisted in here, would speedily wipe out of existence the majority of our retail drug stores.

MRS. CUSMO (reading)—A butcher in Indiana killed a cow and found in her stomach several hairpins, a thimble, five screws and a $20 gold piece. MR. CUMSO—That bears out exactly what my Uncle Jim used to say. "What was that?" "He always contended that there was money in cows."—Life.

MR. BRONSTON—Where is the dessert, my dear? MRS. BRONSTON—The pastry cook has left. You'll have to be satisfied with kisses for dessert to day. MR. BRONSTON—All right. Bring on your French maid.—New York Weekly.

THE original manufacturers of phenacetin, and owners of the trade mark, seem to be taking some action looking toward the suppression of the product of competing factories, which has heretofore been sold under the same name (in Europe) without let or hindrance. In consequence, the price of phenacetin in London has more than doubled within a few days, and it is now worth about three dollars and a half per pound in that market. The matter assumes considerable interest in the eyes of our British friends, and the Chemist and Druggist devotes a full page leader to a review of the subject. In the United States we are unaffected with the ups and downs of the London phenacetin market, for we are encompassed about with the cinch that squeezes a dollar an ounce out of the pockets of the American druggist for an article that has been affording a profit to the manufacturers at less than $1.75 per pound. The great disparity between these prices has naturally enough excited the cupidity of individuals, who have in various ways smuggled across the lines large quantities of the drug and without doubt have made much money by this illegal traffic. It is too much to expect of weak humanity that such offers of cheap merchandise should be refused, and it is not surprising that the American phenacetin agency, through its detectives should rake up large numbers of unlawful transactions in the article. We are bound, hand and foot, by our trade mark laws, and as they are laws of our own making, we submit, "like sheep in hands of the shearer" to the fleecing we get, only indulging in the patriotic wish that phenacetin profits in this country could be applied to the payment of our national debt instead of gorging the strong box of the foreign owners.

AS an indication of the methods of the London pharmacist, we note a list of over one hundred articles of home production named by one of that class, as being prepared on his premises for his own sales. The American druggist who puts up twenty-five regular preparations of the sort we imagine is rather rarely found. In the list referred to an extremely small number are such as could possibly conflict with the physician's prerogatives in the way of prescribing for the sick, but include many toilet items. We think the average pharmacist somewhat prone to neglect the very profitable field open to him in the way of "domestic manufactures."

WHILE the drug business in Los Angeles is afflicted, similarly to most large cities of this country, with "cut-rate" complications, we may look upon our condition with great satisfaction in comparison with that of the trade in Portland, Oregon, where a deplorable madness in competition has taken the place of business methods. Goods are not only cut to cost price, but far below, and the effort of druggists seems to be directed towards the point of giving away their merchandise with pay for taking them added. We sympathise heartily with those of the trade in that city who are forced against their will into such evil practice. The end must surely come soon through bankruptcy and the sheriff, and when the inevitable shall have come to pass and the once prosperous druggist shall be hunting a chance to wash bottles for his daily bread, the question will come up before his hungry eyes "did it pay?"

IT is now claimed that Leprosy may be cured, similarly to various other contagious diseases, by the serum treatment. Dr. Carasquilla, of Colombia is the author of this treatment as applied to leprosy, and claims a very considerable success in effecting cures of this most hideous and revolting disorder. The method of preparing and using the anti-leprous serum is promised to be forthcoming shortly. Medical science could have no greater triumph than is here indicated, for if the disgusting leper can be restored to health through human skill then indeed no problem in medicine may be considered beyond possible solution.

THE gratifying success of the new government loan, offers for which were about six times more than the required amount, has proved a most efficient restorer of public confidence, and we hear expressions indicative of a marked improvement in business in the great centers of commerce and industry. Personally we never doubted the ability or disposition of the American people to absorb a large bond issue, were the opportunity to subscribe placed within reach, and the showing recently made but makes it more evident that our people only await the opportunity of making direct subscriptions to flood the Treasury with cash at any time. Let the Government but place subscription blanks in the post-offices of the country and permit the people to buy bonds at par and there need be no further "syndicates" nor commissions to pay. There will be ample response to every demand for money even at the lowest interest rate—only let the "premium" idea be abandoned—it confuses the mind and retards the subscription.

WE learn from the Chemist and Druggist that recent developments in the sponge fishing business in British Honduras indicate that a new field of much prospective value has been added to the industry. The old sponge fisheries have been over-worked and are inadequate to supply the world's increasing demand, and if the Honduras field fulfils expectations we may perhaps once more be able to obtain a good quality of the sheepswool variety at a moderate price. A three years exclusive right to fish the waters of the Caribbean sea has been granted Messrs. Cresswell Bros. and Schmitz, whose experiments have demonstrated the existence there of sponges, several varieties of which are of commercial value.

THE remarkable discovery of Prof. Röntgen, of Wurzburg, Germany, whereby photographic effects are produced in the dark or through intervening walls of solids like metals, wood, or flesh is agitating alike the scientist and layman. It is perhaps the most marvelous of the many discoveries of this generation and its possible application to human uses is but faintly dawning upon the mind. Much space is being devoted in the leading newspapers to the subject, and details of the process and its application are available to all. Our own Edison is conducting a series of experiments with the newly found ray and may be expected to bring out fresh wonders and surprises, by reason of his intense interest in the subject, coupled with his remarkable keenness of observation and his patient work. It is reported that some weird effects have been produced by means of this new photography, for instance obtaining pictures of the skull of a living person—the bone only showing. The possibilities that suggest themselves along this line are scientifically interesting, but grewsome indeed to the ordinary mind.

L. N. Brunswig.

(We find in the Bulletin of Pharmacy for January the following biographical sketch of a member of the firm of F. W. Braun & Co., and take pleasure in reproducing it as the history of a remarkable business career, as well as for reason of personal friendship and association:)

Lucien Napoleon Brunswig has so long been associated with the jobbing trade of the south that the following sketch of his career cannot fail to interest our Southern readers, or, indeed, his jobbing brethren of the North.

Mr. Brunswig was born at Montmedy, Department of the Meuse, France, in 1855, and until the end of his thirteenth year attended the Government college of that Department. On account of political complications the entire family then removed to America. Beginning his study of pharmacy and the drug business in 1868, he served a three years' apprenticeship, and in 1872 opened a very modest pharmacy in a small Kansas village. Strict economy and rigid self-privation enabled the young man to accumulate a few thousand dollars in three years. His next step was more ambitious. Selling his pharmacy, he opened quite an elaborate retail and prescription drug store at Atchison, where he enjoyed another three-year term of prosperity.

Mr. Brunswig had always felt a deep-seated liking for the wholesale drug business and a strong desire for a wider field. Traveling on a summer vacation through Northern Texas in August, '77, he was struck with the chance for a favorable opening at Fort Worth, then the terminus of the Texas Pacific Railway and the supply entrepot for the immense cattle regions extending hundreds of miles to the west. September of that year witnessed his debut as a wholesale and retail druggist at Fort Worth in a moderate way. Progress was rapid. At the end of six years the annual sales had reached $350,000.

The business outgrowing the territory tributary to the town, Mr. Brunswig accepted one of a number of flattering offers from larger cities, and established at New Orleans in 1881, with Mr. G. R. Finlay, the house of Finlay & Brunswig, so well and favorably known, commanding the trade of the South and the Southwest, and developing a large export business in Honduras, Costa Rica, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Colombia and Mexico.

In 1888 Finlay & Brunswig formed a partnership with Mr. F. W. Braun and established at Los Angeles, Cal., a jobbing house which has met with great success.

On January 1, 1895, Mr. Brunswig purchased the interests of Mr. Finlay at New Orleans and Los Angeles. Under the style and title of L. N. Brunswig, the New Orleans house continues to manifest a phenomenal development. It is the Southern depot for Parke, Davis & Co. and the American agency for the great Pharmacie Centrale de France, of Paris.

Last spring, at the urgent solicitation of his fellow citizens, he accepted the office of Police Commissioner and straightway inaugurated a new era by vigorously enforcing the laws. His reward was the approbation of the upright citizens, but he made many enemies among the gamblers and Sunday liquor-sellers, their adherents boycotting his business. He has been warmly urged for the Mayoralty, but absolutely refused. At present he is also Vice-President of the Board of Trade and President of the French Society and of the Pontchartrain Land Co. of New Orleans.

Mr. Brunswig employs nearly 200 people and sixteen travelers, covering the entire South, Mexico, and Central America. In his large laboratory he manufactures many well known Southern staple proprietary articles and pharmaceuticals.

His fine home is in the Garden District of New Orleans, and abounds in palms and exotic plants. Mr. Brunswig is a widower, his wife—formerly Miss Mercer, of Independence, Mo.—having died some four years since. His family consists of three daughters and a son.

Mr. Brunswig's tastes are those of a cultivated man; floriculture and literature (French and English) are his favorite pastimes. He is now forty years of age, in the prime of health and vigor.

While coming down the San Joaquin Valley, the other day. the editor of the DRUGGIST met Mr. Will A. Peairs, well known over the United States as a representative of Chamberlain Med. Co., Des Moines, Iowa.

It seems as though the Chamberlain people are determined to make their remedies as popular all over the world as they are in the United States, and that is saying a great deal. Mr. Peairs has just returned from a 17 months trip around the world, visiting in succession, England, Madeira, all of Central and South Africa, Tasmania, New Zealand, and the Islands of the Pacific. We were very much interested in his description of places visited, manners of conducting business in foreign countries, etc., and for the benefit of our readers, who are not only interested in Chamberlain Remedies, but are acquainted with Mr. Peairs, we write the following as near as we can remember.

Said he: "If any one thinks it is a snap to try to introduce American Patent Medicines abroad, they are very much mistaken."

"In the first place we are ignorant of their needs, of their methods of doing business, and I am sorry to say, as a rule they look on all Americans as sharpers."

"All of this combined with the immense expenses, have a tendency to turn a man's hair gray, or drive him to drink. Take Africa, for instance, the very first thing they do to you is to demand a commercial license, and that is only $600 for the pleasure of trying to do business."

"Many times during the past 12 years I have been disposed to kick at some of our hotel accomodations, but now, after my experience in Africa, traveling in the U. S. seems like a holiday excursion."

"Outside of a few coast towns, the hotels are vile, but they do not forget to charge from $3 to $4 per day. During the six months I was in Africa, I don't think I had a double bed a dozen times, and I can count on one hand the number of nights my bed room was illumined by a lamp, always candles, and as for those single beds they haunt me still."

"The hardships of travel are terrible, so much driving, and their means of conveyance are two-wheeled carts. Sometimes they have springs, but the majority are dead axles."

"On a trip through the upper country, (Mashonaland, Matabela land and Bechuana land) I had my own outfit, and it was more like camping out than commercial traveling. On this trip I would travel at nights, and it was astonishing how we would get over the ground. As a rule, would drive 3 hours then "out span" for an hour, so as to let the horses graze, then "in span" and so on. During the heat of the day, would try to sleep. But such work was very exhausting and after a drive of nearly 1200 miles, it is needless for me to say I was glad to see the railroad."

"On this trip I wished many times I had a neck like an ostrich and about a gallon of ice cream soda."

"It does seems strange that no one has introduced our American fountains down there; all the druggists put up bottled soda, but you know that does not touch the spot."

"With a few exceptions, the drug store in Africa is a small affair, the druggists are not progressive like our American men, and not as pushing as those I found in Australasia."

"The most home-like drug store I found on the trip was the "Pharmacie Central" at Funchal, Madeira. The building was large, with open square in centre and that was a perfect Eden, filled with flowers and ferns of all kinds. On each side were sleeping rooms for employees and store rooms for extra stock."

"The main selling patents in Africa are the English and Dutch, the latter being put up in small bottles, and they embrace remedies for every known complaint."

"I am afraid my expense acount made the Chamberlains sleep badly a few nights after it was received. Aside from commercial licenses and extravagant hotel bills, the charges for livery were, to use a slang expression, "out of sight." I have paid as high as $22.50 to be taken 50 miles. Railroad rates are 8 to 10 cents a mile, but it makes you very "tired' even when you have your own outfit. The traveling man is robbed right and left, but there is no redress. If you ever go to Africa take my advice and don't think of locking your bed room door. It will cause you lots of trouble if you do, for about daylight you will be awakened by a dusky wench who brings in your coffee. After drinking that, you think, well, I will snooze a little longer, but there is where you are "off," for pretty soon in comes a boy after your boots. Maybe another one or two will drop in to see how you look in bed. Then the girl comes back after the cup. Presently the " boots " returns. You think now that the negro procession is past, but no, another comes in and announces your bath is ready. In desperation you arise, but all will be repeated morning after morning, till you nearly dread the coming of day, so I say, 'never lock your bed room door.' "

THE next meeting of the Oregon State Board of Pharmacy will be held at Salem, March 10th. For further information address: DANIEL F. FRY, Secretary, THIRTY-SEVEN successful candidates out of ninety-one applying, received certificates at the January meeting of the Missouri State Board of Pharmacy.

Business Personals.

The recent removal to Los Angeles from Pasadena of the fine drug establishment of Augustus Lang is an event of interest in pharmaceutical circles, as thereby a marked addition is made to the strength of the profession in this city. Mr. Lang's apprenticeship was served in Germany, though his first experience as proprietor was in St. Joseph, Mo., some twenty years since. Upon the Coast he was for many years owner of one of the finest pharmacies in San Diego. His present location, Spring street near Third, is in the business heart of the city, and in view of the character of Mr. Lang's business and professional attainments it is not too much to expect that his efforts here will be crowned with success, for which result he has our best wishes.

Note in our "For Sale" column the adv. of showcases and fixtures at a bargain, by J. A. Hughes.

Mr. J. C. Cracknell, representing the solid house of Reed & Carnrick, is again with us on his yearly trip.

Dr. W. S. Wallace is again with us, and Mellin's Food babies will be smiling in the druggists' windows once more.

J. E. Serve, representing the Lazell perfumes, is working the coast in the interest of his firm, and has lately visited our city.

Dr. M. F. Bowes, Pacific Coast agent Colgate & Co , New York, has recently called upon the Los Angeles trade in the interest of his house.

The genial Ed Holden, representing Fairchild Bros. and Foster, is in the city "doing the doctors." We cannot say that his recent European trip has injured his good looks.

The inseparable partners, Geo. St. Clair and Vernon Waldron, have just completed their rounds in this city and returned to the bosoms of their families in San Francisco.

Messrs. Cutler & Scherb have opened up a handsome store on the corner of Twenty-fifth street and Central avenue. Their section of the city is rapidly filling up with fine dwellings. The Orangedale tract, which has just been thrown on the market, bids fair to make this one of the finest sections of our city.

We are pleased to note the marriage of our once fellow-laborer John F. Queeny, now principal salesman in the house of Merck & Co., New York, to Miss Olga Monsanto of St. Thomas, W. I., on February 5. Mr. Queeny is a very popular, energetic and withal good-looking gentleman, and his large circle of friends will take pleasure in drinking a toast laden with good wishes for himself and his charming bride.

DR. P. G. COTTER, of Yuma, was recently in the city and made us a pleasant call. His face was turned toward Coronado, where for some little time he will enjoy the delights of that charming resort—but not alone—for the doctor has said good-bye to bachelordom and the honeymoon is in evidence. We extend our best wishes to the happy pair and trust that the new partnership will be a long, happy and profitable one.

A considerable reduction has been made in the price of Richmond's Samaritan Nervine, the new rate being $8 per doz.

THE brushes of M. Leiner have a world-wide reputation, and his new electric bath-brush, which is shown in our advertising columns this issue, is the latest product of his factory. The adaptation of the twisted wire and bristle combination for the cleansing of gun-barrels was the beginning of Mr. Leiner's success, and the growth of his business indicates the high estimation in which his products are held.

It is scarcely credible, but it is a fact, that a glass can be broken by the voice. If you strike a thin wine glass while you hold it by the stem it will emit a certain note—in most cases a pretty deep one. On approaching the glass rapidly to your mouth and shouting into it the same note as loudly as possible, the vibrations of the glass being thereby extended, it will be shivered into atoms. This used to be a favorite experiment of Lablache, the renowned basso, who, when in company with his friends, thus broke, one after another, all the glasses that were handed to him.—P. Med. Jour.

Both Kinds of Training.

Thomas with a pharmaceutical degree, but without sufficient experience in the practice of legitimate pharmacy, is but an unfinished pharmacist. Thomas with many years' practical experience in a drug store, but without any systematic training in chemistry, pharmacognosy and the principles of pharmacy, is also an unfinished pharmacist. But Thomas with both good college training and good shop training in pharmacy will be an accomplished pharmacist if it is in him to be one at all; and if his college training preceded his shop training he is sure to be a far better pharmacist than he would be if his shop training preceded his college training.

If Thomas is a conceited dude after his college training he was one before. If he was intelligent, diligent, willing, faithful and useful before his college course he will be so after it. If it is not in him to become a pharmacist he cannot be made over.—The Apothecary.

TO THE subject of Absorbent Cotton we call your attention. In presenting the above brand, which we shall control on the Pacific Coast, we can say without fear of contradiction that we offer a cotton up to the very highest standard, and one that will meet every test—absorbent, chemical and crucial. Being made from selected Sea Island cotton, its texture is longer, fibre softer, and being subjected to the many washings, both alkaline and acid, it contains none of the impurities, but a cotton made for rather than for commercial. Free from any contamination. Free from anything that will produce septic conditions in a wound—presenting a sterile surgical dressing which we believe cannot be equalled by other mantfacturers. We invite you to give it the test by slightly compressing in the hand, throw on water and note how readily it absorbs and falls to the botton of the glass; then with Litmus paper note reaction—neither acid nor alkaline—and by burning in the crucible the amount of ash left. We feel assured if you will but present its merits to the physician you will find confirmed ALL WE CLAIM FOR Concerning Camphor.

The peculiar and uncertain position of camphor in the market has caused more comment and speculative gossip concerning this article, its sources of supply, methods of production, etc., than it has received for years past. The manipulations of a syndicate, said to have headquarters in London, and the air of mystery which has surrounded their operations, has made camphor a commodity toward which much interest has been directed for months past. Refined camphor, prime quality, sold at 34c per pound a year ago, since which time it has brought 64c. It is now quoted at 59c, this decline from the higher figure being attributed to the bearing of the market by the syndicate, or because of outside competition with the syndicate. The future course of the market is problematical. The syndicate commenced buying last June and have not yet cornered the market. Dealers believe that if the syndicate can continue to purchase all that is offered during another six months, they will be in absolute control. Whether they can do this or not is uncertain, because the personel of the operators and their financial strength is not known and can only be guessed at.

In view of the interest, and the possibilities of the situation, timely reference can be made to Japan and Formosa, where most of the crude camphor of commerce is grown. In olden times camphor was produced in Sumatra, Borneo and other parts of the East Indias and China, but of late years they have been no factor in production. Camphor trees are of the evergreen variety, symmetrical in proportions, blossoming with white flowers and bearing red berries. They attain great age, some living 300 years, and of ponderous size, the largest measuring 15 feet in diameter. The camphor of Formosa is inferior to that of Japan, which, coupled with the fact that the former island is inhabited largely by savages, and the production of crude camphor being attended with so much danger, leaves Japan to practically supply the world. The annual export of crude camphor from Japan averages about five million pounds, of which one-fourth comes to this country and the remainder distributed over Europe. This merchantable product must be refined before it can pass into consuming channels, and until two years ago it was exclusively treated at American and European refineries. The attempts recently made to finish the product in Japan have met with moderate success, resulting in "Japan brands" being placed on the market by about a dozen small refineries established on native soil.

The crude camphor is produced by boiling the chips of the tree in an apparatus constructed for the purpose. The vapor from the boiler, or still, passes into a receptacle containing several partitions, surrounded by cold water; in the sides of these partitions there are apertures, opening alternately to cause the vapor to enter the divisions by a circuitous route. This vapor condenses and is deposited upon bamboo screens, whence it is finally collected as crude camphor, brought from the forest to the marts of trade, where it is subjected to expert tests against adulteration (for the natives know "a Yankee trick" or two) by foreign merchants who purchase and ship the product away.

The two processes of refining most in use may be described briefly as follows: (1) The crude camphor is placed in iron or glass vessels in a sand bath over a fire, when the material melts and again becomes vapor, then condenses into crystal formations in a compact cake or bar. A small quantity of quicklime is added to the crude material to expedite the operation. It is said the clearest cakes are formed in the glass vessels which are broken when the finished camphor is removed. (2) The crude is placed in large steel retorts, from whence the vapor is passed into a specially constructed cooling chamber, where it is condensed and falls in clear crystals of pure camphor. The finished product of the first process is in cakes; of the latter, in flowers. The flowers are more commonly used by manufacturers of medicinal preparations, celluloid and other manufactures.

The destruction of the camphor forests is a necessary and accompanying incident to the production of crude camphor. The government of Japan has recently become alive to the havoc this continued spoilation was making with the forests, and has taken steps to renew the denuded lands and encourage camphor tree culture. Trees must be 25 years old to produce a good grade of camphor, and the ratio of production is ten pounds of camphor to two hundred pounds of chips. The "paternalistic" policy of the government is already bearing fruit, and it is believed the threatened extinction of the industry within a limited time is now happily averted. An English writer is authority for the statement that there is a group of thirteen trees in the Tesa district of Japan that is 100 years old, will produce 40,000 pounds of crude camphor, and are worth as they stand about $4,000.

An observation in conclusion: The progressive tendencies now credited to the Japanese may be soon be felt in the production of crude camphor, and primitive methods be succeeded by modern machinery and advanced manner of handling; this would greatly cheapen the cost of production. Any enterprise of this character inaugurated by competing capital, or the re-opening of production in the East Indias or China under more favorable auspices than formerly, might seriously handicap the London syndicate before referred to in the execution of plans for the control of the output of crude camphor and the price refineries shall pay for it.—P. O. & D. Review.

THE annual revision of the price of Tanglefoot has again been made, and the manufacturers are pleased to state to the retail trade that owing to the favorable contracts made for raw material, new methods of production and principally to the unprecedented demand and output of last season they can announce a reduction of 65 cents per case in Regular, and 25 cents per case in "Little."

The prices to rule for 1896 will be:

REGULAR SIZE: Less than one case 35 cents per box, one to five cases, $3.00 per case; five to ten cases, $2.90 per case; ten cases, $2.80 per case.

LITTLE TANGLEFOOT: Less than one case, 13 cents per box; one to ten cases, $1.50 per case; ten cases, $1.45 per case.

There is probably now no small article so profitable to the retailer as Tanglefoot, and hardly one other which receives a more hearty support from the retailer.

Christian Paganism.

Under this caption the New York Press writes trenchantly as follows: "When the infant Viking pined the Nurse mother made sacrifices to Freya; when the son of the Greek fell ill the Athenian matron burned costly incense to the family Penates; when the little child of the East Indian sickens the mother beats her breast and places banyan fruit before her bone fetish; when the little child of the modern 'Christian Science' believer is smitten with typhoid fever the mother kneels before the absurd and canting egotism of her own belief and makes sacrifice in the life of a child."—Era.

State Board of Pharmacy.

The California State Board of Pharmacy met in regular session January 8th, adjourning January 13th.

The following named were registered as Graduates: W. F. Diesback, C. J. Abraham, S. W. Prewett, E. A. Hazen, F. G. Lindsay, H. Lippen, J. F. Christopher, J. Von Werthern.

As licentiate without examination: R. W. Borthwick, F. Brandsch.

The following named passed the Licentiate examination: S. Miller, Jr., G. W. Lawrence, J. J. Freeman, R. H. Bowman, H. L. Smith, P. F. McMorry, A. Lawrence, E. R. Tait, C. H. Colpe, B. S. Dickhoff.

The following named passed the Assistant examination: C. F. Newman, E. L. Wegener, J. H. Hughes, W. I. Clayes, E. L. Fletcher, W. V. Grimes, G. Lichthardt.

The following resolution was passed:

Resolved, That we concur in the recommendation of the A. Ph. A. in regard to the preliminary education of candidates presenting themselves before Boards of Pharmacy for examination.

That the Secretary be instructed to notify those who may offer themselves as Licentiate and Assistant to present the evidence of their having completed the grammar course in the public schools of this State, or in case they have not such evidence, that they furnish other evidence to show that they are entitled to enter the High School of this State, in case they have not such credentials they be examined in reading, writing, arithmetic, geography, and composition, and in case they fail to pass that examination satisfactorily they be denied the privilege of taking the regular examinations of the Board.

The Board will hold a special meeting Apr. 2nd, 1896, at Los Angeles 9 A. M., probably at the Westminster Hotel, the regular meeting at 113 Fulton St. San Francisco. April 8th, 10 A. M.

A few of the answers are appended: Botanical name of German worm-seed is Cydonium. Peat Wool and Dust.*

Peat fibre is now produced by a patented process from the fibres found in peat. So prepared it is a fine, brown, glossy wool, with a faint aromatic smell. It feels a little rougher than fine absorbent wool, but makes a more comfortable dressing, as it is much more elastic.

It is probable that "peat wool" is destined to play an important part in army and veterinary surgery. Wherever suppuration has set in it has been found to have replaced advantageously and very economically all other materials, such as lint, impregnated cotton wadding and hydrophile wadding. Its cost is very low, scarcely reaching that of ordinary cotton wadding, and its absorbent principle is much more considerable than that of other textile materials. This absorption does not take place at once, as is the case with scoured cotton (hydrophile), but it proceeds slowly, and will absorb nine times its own weight of moisture. At the same time it is an almost perfect antiseptic. So valuable has it been found for dressing wounds that the French government, after long experience, has adopted it for use in the French army, and 12,000 kilograms were sent to Madagascar for use during the expedition in that island.

The dust, or mull, produced in the process of manufacturing the various articles from peat, is collected and forms a most effective deodizer and disinfectant, and is much used in the dry closet system on the continent. In this connection experiments have shown that 100 pounds of this dust (costing about 50 cents), is more effective than one and a half tons of earth.

As a packing material peat has also come into very general use, and it is said to be used with excellent results for packing and preserving perishable goods, such as fruits, vegetables, butter, eggs, etc.—Drug Reporter.

Big Money for the Retailer.

Stearns Electric Paste Co., of Chicago, are now making the following special offer to the retail trade on Stearns Electric Rat and Roach Paste.

With order for 3 doz. at $1.50 doz. ½ doz. extra free. With order for 6 doz. at $1.50 doz., less 5 per cent., 1 doz. extra free. With order for 12 doz. at $1.50 doz., less 10 per cent., 2 doz. extra free.

This article appeals to housekeepers and therefore the manufacturers believe in the principle of creating an active demand for the retailer, and ask that we make mention of the following magazines to be used in advertising Stearns Electric Rat and Roach Paste, the advertising to commence Feb. 1st and continue throughout the summer:

Delineator, Standard Delineator, Ladies' World, Household News, Demorest, Good Housekeeping, Ladies' Standard Magazine, Table Talk, Ladies' Home Companion, Youths Companion, Housekeeping, Home Magazine, Endeavorer, Rams Horn.

Their advertisment will appear in over 16,000,000 copies during the season, the combined monthly circulation being nearly 3,000,000. The offer expires April 1st, 1896. Order a stock from your jobber.

"Hunting the Cocaine Bug."

At a recent meeting of the Victorian branch of the British Medical Association a paper entitled "The Confessions of a Cocainist,'" was read by Dr. J. W. Springthorpe. It is an account of personal experience written by a medical man of great mental endowments who had become a devotee of cocaine. According to him, as reported by Chemist and Druggist, the cocainist is distinguishable by his neglected appearance, of which he seems completely unaware, his dilated pupil, restlessness, hallucinations and expressions of anguish. One striking symptom is "hunting the cocaine bug." "You imagine," says the writer, "that in your skin are worms or similar things moving along. If you touch them with wool they run away and disappear, only to peep cautiously out of some corner to see if there is any danger. These worms are projected only on the cocainist's own person or clothing. He sees them on his linen, in his skin, creeping along his penholder, but not on other people or things, and not on clothes brought clean from the laundry." This symptom shows itself after a relatively short time of indulgence.

To make chemical trees, place a few pieces each of the sulphates of aluminum, copper and iron in the bottom of a widemouth jar or fish globe, first covered with a layer of sand. Fill the vessel with a solution of one part of silicate of soda and three parts of water. Upon standing a week or so a dense growth of the silicates of the various bases will be observed in various colors. Now displace the silicate by allowing clear water to run in by means of a small rubber tube at the bottom of the jar, the solution overflowing until entirely displaced by the water. This must be done with great care, so as not to disarrange the growth.—Bulletin Phar.

Does a Good Business.

A quaint and decidedly original healer who does business on one of the Puget Sound islands advertises in placards and posters as follows:

"Legs and arms sawed off while you waite without pane."

"Childbirth and tumors a specialty."

"No odds asked in measles, hoopincoff, mumps or diarrear.'

"Bald heads, bunions, corns, warts, cancer and ingrowing two nales treated scientifically."

"Coleck, cramps, costiveness and worms nailed on site."

"Wring worms, shingles and cross eye cured in 1 treatment or no pay."

"P. S.—Terms: Cash invariably in advance. No cure, no pay."

"N. B.—(Take notice.) No coroner never yet sot on the remains of my customers, an eny one having me doant haf to be laying up money to buy a grav stoan. Cum 1, cum awl."

The writer adds that this man does a good business, although you would not expect it, and his patients say that he cures disease thoroughly and quickly.—Exchange.

THE late lamented Governor Greenhalge, of Massachusetts, was one of the guests of the Boston Druggists' Association on the occasion of their annual meeting and banquet, January 28th, and spoke in response to a toast to the old Bay State. The presence and co-operation of such men as the Governor of the State, the Mayor of the city and other official representatives of the city and State is an indication of the high character and influence of the local organization. It is not too much to expect that the Boston Association in conjunction with the general Association of New England, will succeed in bringing about much needed reforms in the distribution by manufacturers and jobbers of proprietary medicines in that section of the country, and to some extent at least aid in the solution of the cut rate problem.

THE Chemist and Druggist (Feb. 22) compiles from the Registrar-General's report of 1894 a table showing the number of deaths from poison in England and Wales during that year, and the substance causing death. It finds that for purposes of suicide carbolic acid was used in 167 cases, while 138 deaths were due to arsenic, corrosive sublimate, aconite, belladona, chloral, chloroform, cyanide potassium, digitalis, oxalic acid, phosphorus, prussic acid, strychnine, nux vomica and vermin killers. Opium, laudanum and morphia were responsible for 82 deaths. The C. & D. draws the conclusion that to not recognize carbolic acid as a poison is a "monstrous disgrace," as it leaves open to the would be suicide a poison that when used is horrible in its torture as well as most fatal in its effect. It is a humane suggestion of the Chemist and Druggist that if any deadly poison is to be omitted from the schedule it be laudanum, prussic acid or almost any of the others, in mercy to the poor victim. This forcible showing up of the inconsistency of the authorities, who are responsible for the matter, ought to result in prompt action on their part to place carbolic acid where it belongs among the dangerous poisons of the schedule.

THE California College of Pharmacy, in which every druggist on this coast has, or should have, a personal interest and pride, presents its announcement of this season's work in our advertising pages. We are informed by Prof. Searby, Dean of the College, that a large amount of money is being spent by the institution in new apparatus and appliances for the improvement of its facilities for practical instruction in the pharmaceutical art.

It is with much pleasure that we note the growing usefulness of this California institution. We feel confident that its work is now so good that it should receive the hearty support and co-operation of the entire pharmaceutical profession west of the Rocky mountains. Its position as a part of the great University of California gives it a stability of character which is lacking in many schools of pharmacy, and which increases by so much the value of its diplomas, while its list of instructors include some of the best names in the profession.

Look over the ad, select a young clerk for your beneficiary, and start him, or her, on the upward way.

THERE is at the present time such an upheaval of old conditions and traditions in the drug business in France that the outlook is looked upon almost despairingly by leading men in that branch. Mr Charles Bucket, Director of The Pharmacie Centrale de France, says, in an open letter to the shareholders, that the business is in a complete revolution and that the outcome cannot be predicted. Cut-rate druggists are "doing up" the professional pharmacists in France as well as in America. Where is the prophet of a new dispensation in pharmacy? Our columns are open to him.

A BILL is before the Legislature of the State of New York abolishing the office of coroner, also coroner's juries, and placing the necessary examinations in the hands of medical officers. This is a modification of one of our moss-grown customs that is well worthy of public attention. We shall watch with interest the workings of the new plan—if it becomes a law.

DRUGGISTS who are also fruit growers (on the side) should remember that potash and phosphoric acid fertilizers increase quantity and quality of fruits while nitrogen in some form is needed to promote tree growth. Fertilizing, like advertising, requires thought, good judgment and persistence. In either, a liberal policy is the wise one.

THE stringent regulations in England regarding the sale of poisons have recently been applied to the article of fly-paper, which has hitherto been a common article of traffic. A recent decision of the courts makes it clear that it belongs with other poisons and may be sold only by "qualified" persons. We see no reason to question the justness of this decision.

Camphor Substitute.

Following the heavy advance in gum camphor a large demand for substitutes sprang up, among which naphtholin has taken a leading place. This article, though quite effective, has the disadvantage of being disagreeably strong in odor, and many housekeepers prefer to pay the increased price for camphor rather than submit to the annoyance. We are glad to call attention to an article, which, under the name Osaka Camphor, combines the qualities of both the true camphor and naphthaline and which has a greatly modified odor. The Osaka camphor is in the form of lumps and is put up in 1 lb. cans, in 32 lb. cans and in bbls. The price is about one-fifth that of pure camphor and is as effective in preventing the work of moths as camphor itself. The manufacturers have prepared a most convenient package of this camphor in the shape of the Anti Moth Bag, which is handy to place among clothing and which is guaranteed to keep out the pests. The Anti Moth Bags may be retailed at 15 cents, costing $1.10 per doz. or $12.00 per case of 1 gross. The Osaka Camphor Co. have placed their products with F. W. Braun & Co. See adv. in this issue.

The old superstition about the unlucky thirteen is being rapidly revolutionized by Fats of Tip Top Cough Syrup, as they are the luckiest $4.00 investments a druggist can make.

Sugar in Urine.

Allen recommends (in Analyst, Ph. Jr.) the following procedure for the detection of small quantities of sugar in urine: Seven to eight cc. of the urine are heated to boiling point in a test tube, and 5 cc. solution of copper sulphate, as used to make Fehling's solution, is added. This precipitates nearly all the uric acid, xanthine, hypoxanthine, phosphates, etc. When nearly cold, 1 to 2 cc. of a saturated solution of sodium acetate is added, which will render the precipitation complete. Filter, and add 5 cc. of the usual alkaline tartrate solution, then boil the mixture for fifteen to twenty seconds. In the presence of more than 0.25 per cent of sugar, separation of cuprous oxide occurs before the boiling point is reached, but with smaller proportions precipitation takes place during the solution, which becomes greenish opaque; and suddenly deposits the oxide as a fine orange-yellow precipitate. The best qualitative test for traces of sugar is, however, the phenylhydrazine test.

REMEMBER meeting of State Board of Pharmacy, April 2, at 9 a. m., at Westminster Hotel.

Business Personals.

Mr. Edward Butts, Jr., of Phœnix, Arizona, paid a visit to our city recently, and combined business with pleasure by stocking up on drugs and sundries. Los Angeles expects a big crowd at Fiesta time next month of our Arizona neighbors, who are always welcome guests.

E. VAN DYKE has purchased from R. J. McClure the University Pharmacy, 711 West Jefferson St, and will continue the business at the old stand in this flourishing section of the city.

MR. S. B. STEVENSON, late of Ontario, Canada, has bought the Monrovia drug store of B. F. Crews. Mr. S. is an accomplished pharmacist and will, we trust, have abundant opportunity to exercise his skill in his new field.

THE drug business of L. T. Allee at Bakersfield has been discontinued, and the stock sold out or withdrawn. This leaves four drugstores in the town, an ample supply for all needs of the place.

F. W. BRAUN & Co. have placed an additional traveling man in the field, in the person of Mr. William T. Garrett, who will give his attention to the department of druggists' sundries. The trade will find Mr. Garrett a well informed and agreeable salesman and his line of samples first-class.

MONT P. CHUBB, who is now representing F. W. Braun & Co. in Arizona and New Mexico, reports a fairly good feeling and a favorable trade in the territories. With the development of the irrigation projects which have been inaugurated will come sure and permanent prosperity to that portion of our country.

THE treatment of consumption by the administration of Aseptolin (Edson's) is progressing, experimentally at least, in all parts of the country. It has been difficult for the jobbers to maintain supplies of the article, the demand for it having been so large. The recent arrival of a shipment to F. W. Braun & Co., however, will fill present wants.

REMEMBER that Dryden and Palmer's Rock Candy Syrup is just what it purports to be, the best and purest article in the market. F. W. Braun & Co. have received a fresh supply in bbls. and half bbls. and offer it at low prices. This article with F. W. B. & Co.'s Fruit Juices furnishes the ideal combination.

MAN WITH PIG'S LUNG.

Wonderful Story of Surgery Related by a Drummer—The Second Remarkable Operation Performed by His Two Doctor Friends—Trouble Ensued when this Latest Patient Tried to Sing in Church.

The Chicago drummer who tells the wonderful surgery stories was in town again last week. Two years ago he related how two doctor friends of his had successfully removed a diseased stomach from a patient and grafted into its place the stomach of a sheep, and how the patient became perfectly healthy, but had to subsist on grass in summer, and hay and bran mash in the winter. Cosily seated in one of the big leather covered chairs at the Hotel Cadillac, the drummer related another marvellous feat of surgical skill performed by the two doctors.

"Ever since they performed the operation with the stomach," he began, "they have awaited an opportunity to try a similar experiment with a lung. They procured three healthy young pigs and kept them carefully on clean food, with a clean bed and all surroundings good enough for a human being. This was done in order that the lungs or whatever part was to be used in grafting should be perfectly sound and healthy. You never saw such pigs in your life. They were as nice and dainty as any dude, and knew about as much as some of them. When the pigs were about a year old, the doctors had a patient with lung disease, on whom they decided to try the operation. Careful examination showed that one lung was entirely gone, but the other was not so badly affected. If they could graft the lung of a pig into him, he could breathe with his other one while the operation was being performed and the connections were healing together. He knew it was a question of life and death with him anyhow, and the disease would take him away very soon, so he decided to let them try it.

"They had two operating tables, and placed him on one and a pig on the other. Then they chloroformed them both, and one worked on the patient while the other cut into the pig. They handled one about as carefully as the other, as they wanted to save the pig alive and see how he would get along in the world with only one lung.

"It was a good deal more difficult operation to get at his lungs than it was to get at the other man's stomach. When they got him opened and made an examination, they found that the bronchial tube was so badly diseased, that it was no use trying to save him by putting in a lung.

"But it wouldn't do to let the man die on the table with his chest all open. So they resolved to make a desperate effort to save him. They split his throat open and cut off the bronchial tube. In less than 20 minutes the lung of the pig was taken out, with the bronchial tube attached, and the whole concern was put into the man, and the connections were soon made. The openings in his throat and chest were then closed up and the edges sewed together, and the patient was placed in bed. As he came out from under the influence of chloroform, they administered opiates to keep him quiet, and he seemed to breathe without much effort. He had a hard struggle for life, but the incision gradually healed, and the new lung got down to business so that in a few weeks it worked all right.

"In two months he was able to sit up in bed, and in another month he could walk across the room. But he never in all that time spoke a word. His breathing apparatus was very tender and sore, and he didn't feel like using it any more than he had to, but in about six months the whole business was healed sound and well, and he began to make an effort to speak. It wasn't a success.

"He could only squeal. Every effort to utter a word resulted only in the language a hog uses when it tries to express its desire for grub. The windpipe wasn't built for talking human language, and it would not do it. But the fellow was full of pluck, although part of it was a hog's pluck, and he determined to talk or die. He knew he had a human glottis and larynx and all the other apparatus, and he kept trying until he got so he could speak a few syllables, but it was hard work and slow business.

"The fellow lived out in the suburbs, and after he had become able to walk about and take care of himself, the doctors let him go home. The whole operation was kept a secret from his friends, and although they knew that he had been treated and was a good deal better, no one outside of two or three of the most intimate friends of the doctor knew that he was wearing a pig's lung. He had been considerable of a singer before he was taken sick, and in fact led the singing in church. He was great on some of the stirring revival songs. That was what got him into trouble and gave the whole thing away.

"He went out for a walk one Sunday and entered a church where service was just beginning. The usher seated him about the middle of the church, and he hadn't more than sat down when the choir began singing, 'Come thou fount of every blessing.' It was the first time that he had been in church for more than a year, and the song roused him so much that he couldn't resist the desire to join in the chorus. And he did join in with vengeance. If you ever heard a healthy porker fast in a rail fence, you can form some idea of a noise he made. The minister turned pale, the soprano fainted, and the rest of the choir stopped still, and he performed a solo the like of which was never heard in a church before.

"Everybody turned and stared at him, and the usher came and marched him out. By that time he was so excited that he did not know what he was about, and kept up a continual squealing as he tried to talk and explain matters. Just then a policeman came and walked him off, but before they got to the station one of the doctors happened to be passing by in a buggy and persuaded the officer to let him go. He is getting so he can talk now without squealing, except when he gets excited, but when he goes to church he stops his mouth with a handkerchief while the singing is going on."

"What about the pig?" asked a New York drummer. "Did it live with only one lung?"

"Hardly. It couldn't get along without its bronchial tube. But it made 200 pounds of elegant pork."—Pat. Med. Jour.

It is a good idea to make a display of Tip Top Cough Syrup. It is being well advertised and a display will add to your sales.

A woman went to an honest doctor "out West" for something for her husband's rheumatism. The doctor wrote her a prescription, saying: "Get that prepared at the drug store and rub it well into your husband's back. If it does him any good, come and tell me. I've got a touch of rheumatism myself."

A Grand Jury Disgrace.

The recent indictment of druggists by a Cook county (Chicago) grand jury for violations of the pharmacy and poison law turns out to be an evident case of attempted blackmail by certain members of the grand jury. Among others indicted were Messrs. Peter Van Schaack & Sons, wholesale druggists, for selling morphine without registering the sale, despite the fact that morphine is not one of the four poisons required by the poison law to be registered, and despite the further fact that the firm denies having made this or any other poison sale at retail. Mr. C. P. Van Schaack details his experience with the grand jury as follows:

"I was very much surprised to see a printed list of the men indicted and got a copy of the law to show to the jurors, thinking they had made a mistake. I brought one of our clerks along who was acquainted in the building. We were shown into a little apartment to wait for Mr. Smith, the foreman. He came out presently, and seeing the young man who had accompanied me, and being told he was one of our employes, said he wished to 'speak with me alone.' The young man went out, and I showed Mr. Smith the copy of the law and said I could not see what offense our firm had committed or why we had been indicted. Mr. Smith said it was 'a very strong case and the indictment could not be reconsidered for $250.' I demanded to know what he meant. He said he thought I had come to talk business! I told him I had come to demand justice, and if he expected I would pay him or any other member of the grand jury a bribe he was mistaken. Smith looked a little disconcerted and said he would send out juror Straw to talk with me, as he was on the jury committee on druggists. This man came out of the jury room and asked me what I wanted to see him about. I told him I did not want to see him, and he said, 'I thought you wanted to see me about something special.' I told him I did not; I only wanted the jury to treat our firm fairly and justly, and with that Straw left me abruptly, in the little room, to find my way out as best I could. I was thoroughly convinced by that time that a systematic blackmailing scheme was being conducted by certain members of the jury, and had nothing more to do with them."

Mr. Peter Van Schaack was also approached in his office by one of the blackmailing crew, but with the remark that he had $5000 for fight and not a cent for bribes he figuratively landed the scoundrel in the street. A special grand jury will probably be impanelled to investigate the blackmailing gang, and it is believed, with results that will make a change of climate by several of them quite necessary.—Western Drug.

The Diagnosis of Death.

Recently, in this city, a young woman died and was embalmed. After the process the body assumed so life-like an expression that the family, notwithstanding they knew of the embalmment, refused to allow it to be buried until the family physician had made further tests. Of course, this was folly, but it is the kind of folly which illustrates the depths of our affection for our clay, and the extent of the fear of committing to the grave a body in which the vital spark may still linger.

Of the numerous tests that have hitherto been suggested, not one appears to be absolutely infallible, as witness the anecdote recently told by the celebrated Dr. Diday, of Paris. One day, not many years ago, a man walking the streets of Lyons suddenly fell, apparantly dead. He was picked up and carried into the nearest pharmacy. A neighboring practitioner, who chanced to be one of the most prominent and learned physicians of the city, the Chief of Hospital Service in fact, was called in. He examined the body carefully, applying, one after another, all the tests known to him, and finally, being convinced that death was real, so certified.

In France they have an official, always a physician, whose duty it is to verify deaths—the vérificateur des décès, and he too, being notified, declared the man dead. The corpse was claimed by relatives, and taken home. Four days later, the physician was visited in his office by a man who, on entering, apologized for his delay in calling to settle his bill for attention from the doctor. The latter, however, had no recollection of ever having rendered any services. On his stating this, the man extended a paper to him, which, on being opened, proved to be the certificate of death given by the physician at the time referred to.

Supposing the caller to be a relative, the physician asked him some questions concerning the habits, etc., of the supposed deceased, when, to his amazement, he was told that his visitor was the "deceased" himself! He had fallen in a cataleptic fit, but on being carried home and prepared for the grave he had regained his faculties. He was a well-to-do and quite well-known citizen of Lyons, and is probably alive to day.

Nothing short of the commencement of decomposition seems to be an absolutely certain sign of death, though it is claimed that the cooling off of the body below a certain temperature is absolutely infallible. Dr. Bouchut says that when the thermometer, under the axilla, goes below 68°, or below 72° F. in the cavities, death is certain.—Natl. Druggist.

TO THE subject of Absorbent Cotton we call your attention. In presenting the above brand, which we shall control on the Pacific Coast, we can say without fear of contradiction that we offer a cotton up to the very highest standard, and one that will meet every test—absorbent, chemical and crucial. Being made from selected Sea Island cotton, its texture is longer, fibre softer, and being subjected to the many washings, both alkaline and acid, it contains none of the impurities, but a cotton made for rather than for commercial. Free from any contamination. Free from anything that will produce septic conditions in a wound—presenting a sterile surgical dressing which we believe cannot be equalled by other mantfacturers. We invite you to give it the test by slightly compressing in the hand, throw on water and note how readily it absorbs and falls to the botton of the glass; then with Litmus paper note reaction—neither acid nor alkaline—and by burning in the crucible the amount of ash left. We feel assured if you will but present its merits to the physician you will find confirmed ALL WE CLAIM FOR

Regarding Women pharmacists Mrs. Mary O. Miner, Sec'y Kansas Pharmaceutical Association, says: "I am most heartily thankful that pharmacy (as well as all other professions), has opened its doors to any one, regardless of sex, who desires to enter. I have carefully and thoughtfully read everything that has fallen into my hands upon this subject. The favorable articles that have from time to time appeared in the pharmaceutical journals have undoubtedly made the work all along the line of study and practice much easier for the women who have entered the profession. In the articles on the opposite side, I have never seen one single why-women-should-not-enter-pharmacy that I have considered of sufficient strength to reply to; every objection that I have seen presented is just as applicable to men as to women."

Senator Raines has introduced a new excise bill in the New York legislature. All in all the bill is the most sweeping of its kind ever proposed and would completely upset the present excise situation. Under its provisions all boards of excise are abolished and the present incumbents will go out of office on April 30. Hereafter, should the bill become a law, the business will be transacted by the controller of New York and the various county treasurers. The bill provides for four grades of licenses. New York City druggists who desire to keep liquor must pay $200; Brooklyn druggists will be assessed $150; in small cities, $75; in villages, $50; and other places $30.

Salaktol for Diphtheria.

This remedy has been tried by Dr. Walle, (Deutsche Med. Zeitschrift,) in fifty-two cases without a single failure. It is made of hydrogen peroxide, sodic salicylate, and sodic lactate, applied with a pencil to the affected portions of the throat, or, when this is not practicable, given as an inhalation. Also used as a gargle, and tablespoonful doses given after each local application, the latter being made every three hours, or every two hours in urgent cases. It is said to act as a rapid disinfectant, loosening and dissolving the false membrane, antipyretics being rarely necessary.—Mo. Mag. Phar.

Disinfection of Vaults and Cesspools.

Dr. Vincent recently reported to the Academy of Sciences at Paris the result of experiments for the purpose of determining the best disinfectant for rendering fæcal matters innocuous. He required of each disinfectant that it should kill all pathogenic microbes, including the bacillus coli communis and the bacteria of putrefaction. His experiments showed that the best of all disinfecting agents for the destruction of fæcal matters in vaults and cesspools is sulphate of copper employed in connection with one per cent. of sulphuric acid. The quantity of sulphate of copper required was one pound for every three cubic feet of fæcal matter mixed with urine. Half this quantity was found sufficient to destroy the cholera bacillus. It was found necessary that the disinfectant should remain in contact with the infectious material for at least twelve hours. —Modern Medicine.

Ancient Prejudice Against Water-Drinking.

A contributor to the Hospital says: "It needed a very bold man to resist the medical testimony of three centuries ago against water-drinking. Few writers can be found to say a good word for it. One or two only are concerned to maintain that, 'when began in early life, it may be pretty freely drunk with impunity,' and they quote the curious instance given by Sir Thomas Elyot in his Castle of Health, 1541, of the Cornish men, 'many of the poorer sort, which never, or very seldom, drink any other drink, be notwithstanding strong of body, and like and live well until they be of great age.' Thomas Cogan, the medical schoolmaster of Manchester fame, confessed in his Haven of Health, 1589, designed for the use of students, that he knew some who could drink cold water at night or fasting in the morning without hurt; and Dr. James Hart, writing about fifty years later, could even claim among his acquaintance 'some honorable and worshipful ladies who drink little other drink, and yet enjoy more perfect health than most of them that drink of the strongest.' The phenomenon was undeniable, but the natural inference was none the less to be resisted. Sir Thomas Elyot himself is very certain, in spite of the Cornish men, that 'there be in water causes of divers diseases, as of swelling of the spleen and liver.' He complains oddly also that 'it flitteth and swimmeth,' and concludes that 'to young men, and them that be of hot complexion, it doth less harm, and sometimes it profiteth, but to them that are feeble, old, and melancholy, it is not convenient.' 'Water is not wholesome cool by itself for an Englishman' was the verdict of Andrew Borde—monk, physician, bishop, ambassador, and writer on sanitation—as the result of a life's experience. And to quote again the Englishman's Doctor:

Both water and small beer, we make no question.
Are enemies to health and good digestion.

But the most formal indictment against water is that of Venner, who, writing in 1622, ponderously pronounces 'to dwellers in cold countries it doth very greatly deject their appetites, destroy the natural heat and overthrow the strength of the stomach and consequently confounding the concoction, is the cause of crudities, fluctuations, and windiness in the body.'"

Serum Cure for the Plague.

Great excitement has been caused in sanitary and medical circles in Japan by the announcement of a celebrated medical specialist, Dr. Kitasto, that he is able to produce a serum capable of arresting the plague in a few hours after having been injected into the veins of the sufferer. Dr. Kitasto also claims to be able to cure diphtheria and cholera, and to neutralize the virus of the lepra bacilli also with the same serum. On account of Dr. Kitasto's great reputation the announcements are believed.—N. Y. Med. Times.

TURPENTINE IN LOUISIANA.

Opposition of the Mossbacks Overcome—How the Crude Turpentine is Drawn from the Trees and the Method of Distillation. Great Stuff for a Jag.

A little over a year ago a man named Shuler, who for thirty years had been operating turpentine orchards in the pineries of Georgia, visited the Lake Charles section of Louisiana with a view of establishing a branch camp should the outlook prove favorable. From the moment that he landed, writes a correspondent of the Globe Democrat, old croakers who owned not an acre of timber began uttering their voices in protest. "The forest will be killed. The timber will be rendered unfit for lumber. The bugs will take the trees." These were only a few of the discouraging predictions which were poured into his ear free of charge. But Mr. Shuler was not in the least disturbed. Allowing them to sing the old song through to the last stanza, he thanked the artists for the entertainment they had afforded him, and called upon one of the largest land owners in Calcasieu. After introducing himself and explaining the object of his visit, he was invited by his host to take a trip to the great logging camps a few miles above town. Here the Georgian saw an army of men equipped with keen saws and double bladed axes making war on the giants of the forest, and, while he admired the facility with which these experienced men hewed down the great trees and sawed them into convenient lengths for transportation, it grieved him to think of the thousands of dollars worth of crude turpentine which was going to waste each year for want of some enterprising person to take the matter in hand. Just what agreement was entered into by the two gentlemen is not known. At all events, the old turpentiner cleared for Georgia with a broad smile upon his face, and returned in January with a force of forty-two darkies, every one of them a rosinheel, and not one but who had "been dippin' gum since right after de surrender."

OPERATIONS BEGUN.

No time was lost in transporting the hands and their belongings to the woods. The very next day axes began flashing through the air, poles were skinned, clapboards were split and a camp was established at a point about three years ahead of the loggers and nearly eighteen miles from town, on the line of the C. V. & S. railway. Today there are in the orchards 60,000 flowing trees.

This number represents six "crops," 10,000 being considered the least number that can be profitably worked, and therefore called a crop.

The process employed by this gentleman in extracting the crude turpentine is an invention of his own, and is far ahead of the old methods. The damage suffered by the trees is comparatively small, and the timber, instead of being unfit for lumber, remains uninjured. Moreover, it is claimed that among logs from which the gum was extracted previous to felling the loss from "sinkers" is reduced to a minimum.

By the old method a "box" four inches deep is cut into the tree to serve as a receptacle for the gum as it flows from the "face" just above. As often as necessity may require a new box is inflicted on the tree, which, after one or two seasons dies by reason of the many deep wounds. Besides, in orchards where this method is employed the loss from wind storms is enormous. Each year thousands of trees which might otherwise have stood are broken off at the boxes.

In facing a tree for the extraction of turpentine by the Shuler process, a V-shaped cut is made with a cross-cut saw. Just above, four inches of the chip are cut out with a "hack," leaving two drains only an inch in depth and meeting in a common angle. A spout extending two inches below the intersection is scooped out with a common gouge. Immediately under this spout a furrow is cut in the bark and a nail is driven, on which is hung the earthenware "cup," the rim fitting snugly into the furrow and thus precluding any possibility of the flow taking the trail to the ground. The cups now in use have a capacity of three pints and resemble an ordinary flower pot.

When the trees have all been faced then commences the work of "dipping," so called from the old practice of dipping the gum from the boxes with a paddle. The cups are emptied every two weeks by darkies, who collect the crude in buckets and pour it into barrels conveniently placed. Each dipper is supposed to tend 100 trees a day. In order to facilitate the flow of sap the "chippers" go through the orchards once a week and widen the faces with a "hack," each time cutting away about an inch of the upper edge. Toward the end of the season these scars extend upward several feet from the spout, and before the gum can reach the cup it hardens and has to be scraped down.

In the late fall when the sap has ceased to flow the darkies watch for a rainy day and set fire to the faces. By following this plan the hardened gum which has resisted the edge of the scrapers is melted and runs down into the cups, where it is protected from further injury by the water which is always present in greater or lesser quantities, owing to the frequent rains, and the fire, for want of fuel, soon dies out. After this forced flow has been dipped a new face is cut above the old one and the cups are moved up ready for the "virgin flow" in the following spring.

Between the 10th of March and the first of November no trees are faced or chipped, these dates having been fixed by the Turpentine Producers' Association in order to protect the timber from "bugs." These little borers are liable to enter and kill any freshly cut tree during the summer months. Often the voracious pests, when once started in a tract of pine, will continue spreading until hundreds of acres have succumbed to their ravages.

THE TURPENTINE STILL.

On the banks of the Houston river, where it is crossed by the C. V. & S. road, is erected a still for treating the crude turpentine. Set over a furnace and built about by a wall of masonry is the great copper caldron in which the gum is boiled, 1000 gallons at a time. From the dome on top runs the worm and drops in descending coils through a cistern of cold water. Along the spiral way creeps the caldron vapors which chill by contact with the cold pipe and flow in a mixed stream from the nozzle to the barrel below. The spirits being the lighter, rise to the surface and run through a copper pipe into another barrel, while the "low wine" remains at the bottom and is drawn up from below.

After the process of distillation has been accomplished the rosin is drawn off through a valve in the still, passing first through a forty-mesh screen and then through a thick layer of cotton batting. Having thus been strained of all impurities, the boiling rosin flows along a trough in which are two-inch holes bored at intervals of about three feet. Previous to the flow all are plugged but three or four at the further end of the trough. When the corresponding barrels are full the plugs are inserted and more holes are opened, and so on until the still is empty. Each barrel weighs 280 pounds and requires forty-eight hours to cool. The first which flows after the opening of the valve is of a higher grade than that which comes last. I was told that specimens of the finest rosin made here had been sent to dealers both in St. Louis and New York, and that it out-graded anything that they had been in the habit of handling. I was shown a number of pieces which were almost white.

At this point two "strikes" per day were boiled off, and the proportion of spirits to crude is one in five All the work is performed by darkies of long experience. The fireman is a six footer with a hand like a shovel, and the way in which this highly ebonized son of Africa flings open the doors and crams in the pitch pine shows him to be "no common ordinary nigger." The other darky shuffled along in his No. 13 shoes, now testing the boiling sap, now regulating the flow of spirits, and all the while singing over and over again a line or two of a song about "de yellar gal away ober in de Jordan lan'." There is also a cooper on the premises who has so much to do putting rosin barrels together and heading them up when they are filled that he has no time to tune his voice, and appears not to be even "studyin' 'bout his gal."

All are happy enough, but they will drink the low wine from the still. Some of them are perfect slaves to the habit, and when they go to take a swallow often forget just how much they have imbibed, and the consequences are disastrous. When a man gets an overdose of this stuff he is neither "silly" nor "tipsy" nor "muddled" nor "boozy:" but drunk—uproariously drunk. The stuff contains a large per cent. of alcohol, and, strange to say, has no flavor of turpentine about it, but tastes something like strong wine. Years ago some one discovered that a little of it was good for a certain complaint, and the turpentine niggers have been ailing ever since.—Omaha Druggist.

Have you "got on" to Hance Brothers & White's Ten-cent Family Medicine scheme? If not, you will run against it soon. It is making new acquaintances every day and everybody, it seems, is glad of its acquaintance; it will probably be around your locality soon. No trouble to recognize it as it is extraordinary. Get acquainted as soon as you can and examine the scheme.

If you will allow yourself to be congenial, and considerate and treat the scheme properly, you will realize a great benefit to your general business. Think of it! Toilet preparations for the care of the skin. Preparations for correcting an incorrigible stomach; preparations for sweetening the breath. Medicines for various internal and external troubles, such as are usually treated at home without calling in the doctor. The price for any of these is ten cents to the consumer; seven dollars per gross to the dealer. How is that for profit?

Perhaps you are already acquainted with Hance Brothers & White's Fruit Juices. No? Well—then you have missed something sure. Don't allow the season for soda-water to open without having delicious and pure Juices made in the presses of Hance Brothers & White. These juices will make your soda trade a success, and your customers will soon know where to get a good thing. Price—as usual—$6.00 per dozen.

Old Bill McCammon, who keeps a grocery store in the suburbs of Austin, is one of the closest men in the State of Texas. He abbreviates his words in writing. He abbreviates the names on the drawers and boxes of the contents in his grocery. Instead of painting the names in full, for instance, he painted on the sugar barrel "Br. Sugar" for brown sugar, and so on. One day a feeble looking stranger dropped into Mr. McCammon's store, and looking around, asked: "Is Dr. Prunes in?" Old McCammon stared and said he reckoned not. "Is Dr. Codfish in, then?" asked the stranger. "No, he is not," said old McCammon, emphatically. "Then tell Dr. Cherries I would like to see him, if he is at leisure." "You get out of here! I believe you escaped from the lunatic asylum. This ain't no medical college. This is a grocery," retorted old McCammon, getting red in the face. "If this is a grocery, then you had better carry back them doctors' signs to where you stole them from," responded the stranger, strolling out. Old McCammon looked where the stranger had pointed out, and for the first time noticed the result of abbreviating the word "dried" to "Dr.," for on the drawers read in large letters "Dr. Prunes," "Dr. Peaches," "Dr. Codfish," "Dr. Cherries," "Dr. Apricots," and "Dr. Beef."—Texas Siftings.

The Fiesta de Los Angeles.

We are, perhaps, not called upon to apologize for the gay colors we have assumed on this occasion. The splendid outburst of floral beauty that greets the eye in these early months of the year in our favored land, brings the desire to celebrate the season and to join with nature in the general rejoicing. To the dwellers in colder climes the subtle influences of the southern sun and air are scarcely understood, and the unbending of the multitude in the jollifications of the Fiesta and the Mardi Gras is a source of wonder.

Joining the procession then, we display (symbolically) "the orange, the olive, the wine," and together with all Los Angeles extend an invitation and a greeting.

DOWN SPRING STREET, 1895.

OUR pages this month are brightened by some scenic illustrations, for which we are indebted to the Land of Sunshine, the typical California periodical. It is interesting to compare the Los Angeles of fifteen years ago with the city of to-day; but when we think of the old pueblo of forty years back, when the old adobe town was clustered about the plaza and Downey's drug store (cor. Los Angeles and Commercial sts.) supplied pills and perfumes to the big-spurred vaqueros; when the "rangers" were making it warm for the thieves, and the gallows on Fort Hill showed ghastly victims of quick justice, then turn to the Los Angeles of to-day with its palatial buildings, public and private, its fine streets, its electric railways and its hundred thousand people, it seems like the magic of Aladdin's lamp. Our city is rapidly assuming a commercial position in accordance with her growth in population, and her marked attractiveness as a social center vastly increases the desire to cement business relations with her merchants and manufacturers. From Arizona and New Mexico, from Nevada and Utah, the summer season being their favorite time, come seekers after recreation and rest. With the anticipated Salt Lake railroad and the certain-to come deep water harbor at San Pedro our Chamber of Commerce needs to start no "half million club" to get people in—in fact you can't keep 'em out with a club!

THE oil industry of California is quite large, but up to the present time it has been useful in the main only in yielding fuel oil. This is all to be changed now. Eastern oil experts have been experimenting with the crude oil of all the districts since December, and have succeeded in producing a water-white illuminating oil. They have organized a company, and with their own capital will at once begin the erection of works to refine the southern crude oils. The head of the company is W. E. Clark, of Cleveland, Ohio, for many years in the oil business.

A correspondent of the Chemist and Druggist furnishes the following figures, which are of interest for purposes of comparison, being compiled from actual purchases and by one whose methodical and statistical traits are evidently much above the average.

THE treatment of leprosy by the Japanese remedy of Dr. Goto is likely, it appears, to be tried at the Twenty sixth St. Hospital in San Francisco. The Call prints an interview with Dr. Geo. L. Fitch, of that city, in which is given some interesting information regarding the disease and its treatment by Dr Goto. Dr. Fitch says:

> "Because it is not known to science some doctors will say its use is unprofessional, that a physician should not use a remedy he knows nothing about! But as I've said, I have the formula in Japanese, and the medicine is well worth studying. It is called 'Goto remedy' from Dr. Goto, who was born in a leper hospital in Japan, of which his father had charge, and his father's father. Indeed, the family has been devoted to the treatment of leprosy for many generations. Young Dr. Goto came here to San Francisco some years ago and took a course at the Cooper College of Medicine. He went to Honolulu and treated lepers there, and later returned to his own country, where he is now practicing among the lepers.
> "I know that Dr. Goto's patients have proved that his remedy was quite successful, and while the people of Hawaii know he has not made any brilliant cures he has at least alleviated the sufferings of the afflicted and so he has abated the ravages of the disease. And, by the way, people imagine there is no suffering with leprosy, no real pain. That is an awful mistake, for at times the suffering is frightful. For illustration, lepers commonly have a sensation that some part of them is burning up, literally being consumed as by fire. One woman I saw felt that her right arm was burning up, and she held it in a bucket of water for three weeks, and she would cry out against the horrible burning pain. A man afflicted with the disease laid for three months exposed to the trade winds of the islands to cool himself, and those winds are fearfully cold to the natives. His only relief was in opium.
> "I have seen several cases where leprosy disappeared and to all appearances the sufferers got well under the Goto treatment."
> "Then you would favor trying it here on the city lepers?"
> "I should certainly advise it. Get it by subscription if not any other way. I would do anything and everything possible to help those creatures. Surely a few hundred dollars is not much to expend in the cause of suffering humanity. About $500 would be enough to buy the remedy to treat all the patients out there in the Pesthouse. An apparatus for boiling the herbs and applying the remedy would have to be constructed. The herbs are boiled in a strong tea, will I call it? or a decoction, and then the patient is put into the decoction, which is almost boiled, along with him, and he is steeped in it for a considerable time. In addition to this he is given pills, and that is practically all there is to it."

Supervisor Benjamin hopes to be out again in a few days and then he proposes to make a collection with which to buy the Goto medicine.

Tales of the Town.

"I was greatly interested in the proposed new scheme for a systematic examination of the city's drinking water," said a citizen and taxpayer. "That little idea of engaging a tug all summer to cruise along shore and haul up an occasional phial of aqua pura, or otherwise, struck me as a beautiful plan—for the tug owners.

"I suppose it will all be managed with painful solemnity. The tug will be disinfected daily from stem to stern, and the crew vaccinated and thoroughly fumigated. No coal that isn't antiseptic will be allowed aboard, and all the smoke will be carefully filtered through one of Billy Madison's non-contagious smoke consumers. The sample phials will have to be blown in a vacuum, and the corks inspected by a licensed pharmacist. Besides all this the liquid churned up by the screw of the tug will be carefully examined under the microscope for butter germs. As long as the tug sticks to water no further restrictions will be imposed upon her, but the moment she returns to port the port will be carefully analyzed for logwood.

"When she lands her daily take of samples I suppose they will be met by a guard of sanitary officers and conveyed to the official laboratory in reservoirs hermetically sealed by old Hermetics himself. There they will be diagnosed, dissected, analyzed, desiccated, evaporated, triturated, and wrung through a clothes wringer. The bacilli will be placed in cages, the bacteria in mouse traps and the infusoria in pocket flasks. If there happens to be anything left the public will be informed by hourly bulletins.

"Oh, let us have the bottle fishing tug by all means. A little science now and then is relished by the best of men.

[illegible] ENG CO SF FOR LAND OF SUNSHINE

LAKE AT BALDWIN'S RANCH.

DRINK AND HEREDITY.—A specialist in children's diseases has carefully noticed the difference between twelve families of drinkers and twelve families of temperate ones during a period of twelve years, with the result that he found the twelve drinking families produced in those years fifty-seven children, while the temperates were accountable for sixty-one. Of the drinkers twenty-five children died in the first week of life, as against six on the other side. The latter deaths were from weakness, while the former were attributable to weakness, convulsive attacks, or to œdema of the brain and membranes. To this cheerful record is added five who were idiots, five so stunted in growth as to be nearly dwarfs, five when older became epileptics, one, a boy, had grave chorea ending in idiocy, five more were diseased and deformed, and two of the epileptics became, by inheritance, drinkers. Ten, therefore, of these fifty-seven, only showed during life normal disposition and development of body and mind. On the part of the temperates, as before stated, five died in the first week of weakness, while four, in later years of childhood, had current nervous diseases. Two only showed inherited nervous defects. Thus fifty were normal, in every way sound in body and mind.—Quarterly Journal of Inebriety.

Colored Films for Show Carboys.

BY T. MALTBY CLAGUE.

Perchance my experience has been unfortunate; but though not yet out of my teens in the service of pharmacy, I have three times been a witness of that officinal catastrophe, the breakage of a show carboy. The danger to which these emblems of our craft are exposed, and the care required in their handling, make them a constant source of anxiety. But when Jack Frost's ruthless grip has sized on one of them, and three or four gallons or more of a strongly colored liquid possessed of the mischief-making properties of, say, ammonio-sulphate of copper, come showering down on a well laid out window full of costly stock-in-trade, there is a stress of circumstances with which the capabilities of the English language are utterly inadequate to cope. It would be a vandal's act to suggest that we do without them; the sentiment that values a grand historic past, and the business view which uses them as a mark of trade identity in the present, alike demand their retention.

Permission Land of Sunshine.

VIEW OF REDLANDS.

Lately, however, I had to face the question of supporting carboys in a position where it was well-nigh impossible to provide what would stand a mechanical stress of three-quarters of a hundred-weight. Attempts were made to coat the inside of a carboy with a colored film, which would suit the requirements of window display. My experiences are now given in the hope that some

> "Forlorn and shipwrecked brother,
> Seeing, may take heart again."

Perhaps others have solved the problem for themselves; but I decided to rush into print when I saw that a chemist in a neighboring town was obliged to find refuge from his difficulty by keeping an empty uncolored carboy in his window.

First, solutions of shellac and aniline dyes in methylated spirit were tried, but the tendency to chip off was found to be an objection. Next, the dyes were tried, dissolved in spirit, and the solution combined with ether and gun-cotton to make a collodion film. This was partially successful, but the difficulty was to get the film free from rolls and thicknesses.

Lastly, gelatin was adopted as a basis, and after some experiments the following formula was found to work well. For a five-gallon carboy:

Aniline dye	grs. xv. to xxv.
Gelatin (not opaque)	1 oz.
Water	6 oz.
Carbolic acid	dr. i.

Soak the gelatin in water, dissolve the dye in warm water, and next add the softened gelatin and warm till melted, then add the carbolic acid. When the solution has cooled to about 150° F., pour it into the carboy. Place the carboy in a warm position until it has acquired a temperature of from 90° to 100° F., and then remove; now keep turning it upside down and round about until the gelatin shows signs of setting, then put it in on its stand and allow the jelly not adherring to the sides to settle at the bottom. Leave the stopper out for a few hours. If the first attempt is not a success, it is only necessary to put the carboy into a warm place and try again. The process is an easy one, and has been applied to half a dozen carboys with ease and success.

As to the colors, the following have been tried: Malachite green, a good color to work with, and strikingly like sulphate of copper solution; about 25 grains to 6 ounces is required. The color fades somewhat, so that it is well to make it a trifle dark. Methylene blue, 15 grains; a rich color, very like ammonio sulphate of copper. Methyl violet, 15 grains, a rich bluish red; can be made to vary according to the dye used. Technically, R. means red, R.R. redder, R.R.R. still redder. The blue shades are similarly indicated by the affix B. Flamingo gives the nicest red of those I have tried, 15 grains. Browns may be got with Bismarck brown; brownish yellow with the same dye in smaller proportion, but the colors are not so striking as those named earlier. Methyl orange is wanting in brightness and transparency.

Of course, if the window is exposed to sun, the film must be allowed to harden well before being placed in its position. The carbolic acid or some other preservative is required to prevent moulds from liquefying the gelatin. The weight of a six gallon carboy is thus reduced from 70 pounds to 10½ pounds, and the ease in handling and safety when in position are great gains. Nothing is sacrificed in appearance, and if you don't tell anybody nobody will know.—Pharmaceutical Journal.

DR. UNNA highly recommends chlorate potash for the teeth and gums, a small quantity of the powder upon the tooth brush well applied to the teeth, and rinsing with water, or in the form of tooth-paste, 50 per cent. chlorate, which latter is a demonstrated prophylactic against caries of the teeth and affections of the tonsils, including diphtheria.

PERFUMING THE SKIN.—From Paris comes the news that perfumes have been restored to favor. The use of hypodermic injections of violet extract is the latest freak of the Parisienne. This method is said to impart a lasting fragrance to the skin. It is already quite easy to select among the women at receptions those who are addicted to this habit.

The plan originated with a Paris druggist, who communicated it to a few well-known women. They confided in others, who in turn told their friends. Now, it is asserted, half the society women in the gay city use the needle and the delicate extract.

This is all the more surprising from the fact that until very recently the use of scents has been considered exceedingly bad form. Women of refined taste avoided everything in that line except a delicate sachet powder which was allowed to find a place in the handkerchief box and clothes closet. Most Parisian whims find enthusiastic supporters here, however, and it is very probable that with the American morphine fiend and cologne drinker we shall have the perfume faddist.

Extracts have increased in value and exorbitant prices are asked for so-called "permanent fragrance." Horrible to relate, musk is being wafted abroad, and a new mixture of this penetrating scent is known as "Frou-Frou" sachet.

Every woman who uses perfume of any kind has her favorite. The one rule is that there must be no mixing of odors. The contents of hypodermic syringes, sachet bags, atomizers and toilet water bottles must be one familiar perfume.—Drug Topics.

THE proper time to take medicine, according to R. Christison, is as follows: Alkalies and iodine compounds, with water, on an empty stomach; the iodine compounds mixed with food containing acids, starch, etc, are too easily decomposed, and their action impaired. Acids should be taken on a full stomach unless it be already acid, when they should be taken before meals. Potent mineral compounds, such as arsenic, copper, zinc, etc., should be administered after eating; silver nitrate before; and mercury, tannin and alcohol when the digestion has ceased; phosphates, cod-liver oil, malt extracts, and constructives generally, during meal time, to be digested with the food.

To Clean Brass.—The government method prescribed for cleaning brass, and in use at all the United States arsenals, is claimed to be the best in the world. The plan is to make a mixture of one part common nitric acid and ½ part sulphuric acid, in a stone jar, having also ready a pail of fresh water and a box of sawdust. The articles to be treated are dipped into the acid, then removed into the water, and finally rubbed with sawdust. This immediately changes them to a brilliant color. If the brass has become greasy, it is first dipped in a strong solution of potash and soda in warm water; this cuts the grease, so that the acid has free power to act.—Drug Reporter.

Codliver oil	g. 500
Sugar, finely sifted	" 190
Gum arabic, pulverized	" 5
Tragacanth, pulverized	" 6
Infusion of roast coffee	" 200
Rum or kirsch-water	" 100

Mix the gum and sugar in a mortar; weigh (or measure) into the flask intended to contain the emulsion, the oil and the infusion of coffee (the latter well cooled by standing in the ice-box for a few minutes) and mix by agitation. Pour slowly over the mixture of sugar and gum in the mortar, sufficient of this mixture to make a semiliquid plastic mass, agitating strongly all the time. Add the rum to the residue in the bottle, agitate together, and, finally, add and incorporate the mixture of sugar and gum. The product is an emulsion of the color of cafe au lait, in which the odor and taste of the oil are completely masked. The rum or kirsch may be dispensed with by the use of an increased quantity of infusion of coffee and some essential oil, say 20-30 drops of oil of bitter almond, or a mixture of bitter almond and oil of wintergreen, as the coffee alone does not entirely mask the taste of the fish oil.

BORDEAUX MIXTURE.

Copper sulphate	6 pounds
Fresh lime	6 pounds
Water	45 gallons

Dissolve the copper sulphate in a wooden or earthen vessel, using four or five gallons of water, which, if hot, will act quicker. In a separate vessel slake the lime and rub until all lumps are broken. Then strain and stir slowly into the copper solution. Dilute and use as soon as possible. The mixture should not stand over twenty hours, as it tends to spoil. Where a good quality of lime is used, four pounds will satisfy six pounds of bluestone, but it is best to use plenty of lime, as any free sulphate will burn the foliage. Four ounces of paris green may be added to each 45 gallons of this liquid for all except peach and other stone fruits. For these use only two ounces. This makes the best and safest combined insecticide and fungicide for general use. Its chief disadvantage is its spotting the fruit and its liability to be washed off the foliage by rains.

Do You Want Trade in Mexico and South American Countries?

The Commercial Intelligence Department of the Associated Trade and Industrial Press, 610 Thirteenth street, Washington, D. C., has compiled from first sources a list of the leading dealers in drugs and chemicals in Mexico, Central and South American Countries which will be sent on neatly typewritten sheets to any address on receipt of $1. This is an opportunity, at a trifling cost, to pave the way toward new commercial connections with Spanish America.

A Country Doctor.

Before and behind his saddle were strapped the instruments and medicines the doctor might want, for he never knew what was before him. There were no specialists in Drumtochty, so this man had to do everything as best he could and as quickly. He was chest doctor and doctor for every other organ as well; he was accoucheur and surgeon; he was oculist and aurist; he was dentist and chloroformist, besides being a chemist and druggist. It was often told how he was far up Glen Urtach when the feeders of the threshing mill caught young Burnbrae, and how he only stopped to change horses at his house and galloped all the way to Burnbrae and flung himself off his horse and amputated the arm and saved the lad's life. "You would hae thocht that every meenut was an hour," said Jamie Soutar, who had been at the threshing "an' a'll never forget the puir lad lying as whit as deith on the floor o' the loft wi' his head on a sheaf, "an' Burnbae haudin' the bandage ticht an' prayin' a' the while, and the mither greetin' in the corner. 'Will he never come?' she cries, an' a' heard the soond o' the horse's feet on the road a mile awa in the frosty air. 'The Lord be praised!' said Burnbae, and a' slippit doon the ladder as the doctor came skelpin' intae the close, the foam fleein' frae his horse's mooth. 'Whar is he?' was a' that passed his lips, an' in 5 meenuts he had him on the feedin' board and wes at his wark—sic wark, neeburs—but he did it weel. An' ae thing a' thocht rael thochtful o' him; he first sent aff the laddie's mither tae get a bed ready. 'Noo that's feenish, and his constitution 'ill dae the rest,' and he carried the lad doon the ladder in his airms like a bairn, and laid him in his bed, and waits aside him till he wes sleepin', and then says he: 'Burnbae, yir a gay lad never tae say, "Collie, will ye lick?" for a' hevna tested meat for saxteen hoors.' It was michty tae see him come intae the yaird that day, neeburs; the verra look o' him wes victory."—Ian Maclaren, in A Doctor of the Old School.

New York's Excise Law Affects Druggists.

The latest product in the direction of state control of the liquor traffic is instanced in the Raines act, adopted by the general assembly of New York on the 12th inst., and very naturally it is now receiving considerable attention in distilling and drug circles. It is authoritatively stated that the Raines bill has been the cause of more discussion in New York state than has been created by any excise bill which has been before the assembly in years.

The principal results of the adoption of the act may be summed up as follows: It will abolish all excise boards on April 30 next and will terminate all excise licenses on June 30. An excise commissioner, his deputy, three special inspectors, and sixty inspectors-at large will be created. One-third of the net excise revenues will go to the state and two-thirds to the counties. It prohibits all-night licenses and the sale of liquor on Sundays except in hotels, with meals or in rooms occupied by guests. This prohibition extends to clubs, where liquors may be sold only at meals. It allows local option in towns only, and not in cities. It requires each retail druggist to secure an annual license, the fee being $100, which alone entitles him to dispense liquor as a medicament.

In the judgment of leading men in the New York drug trade the Raines law, so far as it applies to druggists, only adds one more to the network of useless laws with which the trade has been hedged in during recent years. No respectable druggist wants to become a liquor dealer, and it is doubtful if they would go into the trade to any great extent if left entirely free to do so. Few druggists in the Empire state are willing to pay the $100 fee, for it means an expenditure of more than the sum-total of profits the sales of the average store represents. Reports from the state are to the effect that the drug fraternity as a unit condemn the law.

The druggist section of the Raines act conforms to a plan which has enthusiastic advocates in Illinois, and an effort is now being made to secure the adoption of such a regulation at the coming session of the legislature. Our advice to the trade is not to act hasty, but await the result of the New York experiment.—P. O. and D. Reveiw.

OBSERV

The old volume from which we reproduce above pages and which is in the posession of the Editor of the Druggist is a relic indeed. At the time the "observations" were begun the pilgrim fathers were struggling for existence on the bleak shores of Massachusetts and King James (I) reigned over England. The notes of the learned author contain a mine of oddities and not a little wisdom, while his evidently sincere piety pervades the whole.

It seems to us that the large use of roots and herbs in many of the prescriptions indicate a higher character of medical knowledge than is generally ascribed to the seventeenth century physician, although the occasional use of such "simples" as powdered toads, the excrement

POTASSIUMORTHODINITROCRESOLATE is the name of a new antiseptic discovered in Germany, but as it is intended to be used generally, it is also called adtinoupin. One part of the substance in from 1500 to 2000 parts of soapsuds is destructive to all common parasites injurious to plants. Yeast used in brewing remains fresh for a long time when treated with it; it destroys all bacteria, and yeast can endure a solution as strong as five per cent. of the substance. It is odorless and very cheap.—Scientific American.

EGG-SCUSE my appearance, as the newly-hatched chick said to the watch-dog.

There was no necessity for the chick to refer to his personal appearance, he couldn't help it; he made his debut with the utmost simplicity and innocence. Soon, however, he catches the progressive ideas of his brothers and sisters and becomes as important and attractive as they.

Many druggists are in a fix something like the chick, and unfortunately haven't the ambition or the something necessary to place them in the ranks of their progressive neighbors. There is no excuse for such a deplorable state of affairs in these times, especially when such positively helpful goods as those being offered by Hance Brothers & White can be procured for the remarkable low price, and bring such handsome profits.

Just as Spring approaches, you approach your wholesale dealer with a spring and give him an order for Hance Brothers & White's Fruit Juices. Start your fountain and make things buzz, before the flies do it, and people will spring into your store.

Order also a line of Hance Brothers & White's ten-cent goods; you'll never regret it. Give them a fair show and conspicuous place in your store and they will sell themselves, and soon you will be looking for a handsome young lady as cashier in your store.

THE Era, (March 26,) prints translations received from a number of correspondents in various parts of the country of a badly written prescription, the following various readings of the first ingredient being given:

"Radix Scillae Teintura."
"Potassii Chlorate."
"Pulv. Creta Precip."
"Syrup Scillae Fluid."
"Syr. Allii (fruit)."
"Syr. Scillae Comp."
"Syr. Alder Buck."
"Syrup Chloral Hydrate."

The dose is made to read "½ teaspoonful," "1 teaspoonful," "1 tablespoonful," respectively. What the physician wrote (or had in his mind) was the dose of the preparation being one half tablespoonful.

Magnesia Calcined (Husbands)

It might be considered a highly amusing instance of confusion of mind, and no doubt worthy of a jolly good laugh, to note the struggles of the druggist as he gazes long and earnestly at the spider tracks which make up these obscure attempts to convey ideas, trying hard to think of some drug whose name (or synonym) might possibly be made to look like the scrawl before him. There's nothing funny about it, however, when Magnesia, Chloral Hydrate, Chlorate Potash and Chalk are interchangeable terms. We are disposed to honor the druggist who refuses to guess at prescriptions and to condemn the opposite habit of some others—whose cases should bear the truthful sign "Prescriptions Carefully Confounded."

ECHO MOUNTAIN AND ITS PATH.

PROF. J. U. LLOYD seems destined to literary fame "whether he would or no," judging from the demand for his "Etidorhpa," which has gone to the third edition with marvelous rapidity. There are enough thinking men and lovers of the mysterious among the druggists alone of this country to absorb several editions of this very peculiar story.

Washington State Board of Pharmacy.

At the meeting of the Washington State Board of Pharmacy, held at Tacoma February 24th and 25th, the following resolutions were introduced; but on account of the absence of two members, it was thought best to defer action on them untill the next meeting of the board.

Whereas, Information has been received through correspondence with other boards that fully 90 per cent. of said boards favor non-interchange of courtesies; or, rather, non-recognition of certificates from each other, and

Whereas, It appears to us unjust that we should grant this courtesy where it is not reciprocated; and

Whereas, It is the sense of the American Pharmaceutical Association that state boards refuse to recognize diplomas from colleges of pharmacy; be it

Resolved, That we, the Washington State Board of Pharmacy, hereafter refuse to recognize certificates from other state boards, or diplomas from any college of pharmacy; all applicants for registration being required to appear for examination.

THE Legislature of Ohio is expected to considerably (and considerately) modify the existing Pure Food and Drugs Law of that State at its present session. A bill having that object in view has been prepared by a committee of the retail druggists of Cincinnati, and placed before the law makers of Columbus, and has the promise of prompt attention.

The effect of the present law has been to cause or permit a series of persecutions upon the druggists of Ohio under the guise of law, and to single them out among merchants as given to disreputable practices in the conduct of their business, while in truth no class of dealers exists who are more desirous than they of fulfilling every requirement of honesty in their dealings with the public. While governmental supervision is lax, however, in guarding the sources of supply, it must be expected that some drugs below the highest grades will be found in the hands of dealers.

The "drug trade" of this period is a composite article. Upon a ground work of "old timers," not thoroughly educated in pharmacy, a super-structure is rising of technical students, the latter gradually approaching in their acquirements the standards of Germany and France. The transition period is yet young, however, and considerable time must elapse before "druggist" comes to mean professional pharmacist. Meanwhile it is inappropriate to legislate upon the supposition that druggists are thoroughbred pharmacists or chemists. As a matter of fact very many are not, and previous conditions in this country have not been such as to require that they should be. When, in the distant future, the last old-timer shall have gone to his reward, and the higher education of our hopes has become an assured and present fact, and every dispenser of drugs is a chemist, laws can justly be made to enforce any required inspection or analysis of medicines that pass through his hands. Up to that time, however, governmental inspection of imported drugs and the stringent regulation of manufacturing establishments upon our own soil, must be our main dependence, not neglecting at the same time to visit adequate penalties upon wilful adulterations.

The sympathy of the trade at large has gone out to our Ohio brethren during the period of their troubles, and all will be glad to know of their relief from the more obnoxious features of the present law.

The Death of Professor Curtman.

The mails bring us the news of the death, from the grippe, on April 22d, of Dr. Charles O. Curtman, at his residence in St. Louis.

Dr. Curtman was one of the best known of our country's chemists, and through his work as an instructor in the Missouri Medical College and in the St. Louis College of Pharmacy did much to impart a thorough training in his chosen branch of science to the many students under his care. His name is honored abroad as well as at home for his high attainments. His Lecture Notes, published by Dr. H. M. Whelpley, and which have reached four or more editions, have put him in touch with thousands of students who could not form his nearer acquaintance. Prof. Curtman was born in Germany, and was sixty-seven years of age at the time of his death.

THE Australians are said to have practically abandoned the attempt to exterminate the rabbits of that country, the generous offers of reward for such service having failed to bring forth any adequate means for their destruction. We may congratulate ourselves here in California that our equally prolific "jack" is a top-of-the-ground personage, and may be corralled and destroyed whenever it gets too numerous and obtrusive, as is shown by the mammouth drive in the vicinity of Fresno, in March, at which time more than 20,000 of the pests were penned and slaughtered. The Australian rabbit is a burrowing animal and is thus vastly more difficult to to reach. The man who solves the problem of its extermination will merit a monument more costly than that of the hero of Trafalgar.

A NUMBER of experiments in tobacco raising have been made in Arizona, and last year seemed to bring successful results at the experiment station in that Territory. The mere growing of the plant on our coast will not prove at all difficult, we think, for many people have raised it in a small way, and demonstrated that it is practicable. What is of far greater importance to us is to learn the effect of our soil and climate upon the quality of the product. So far as we know there have been no comparative tests made to show what position California grown tobacco will take, as to flavor, strength and uses. There will be a rich field for our agricultural people in the cultivation of this crop if experiments show that we can grow high grade tobaccos.

MR. W. M. GRAY, manager of the San Diego branch of F. W. Braun & Co., spent a few Fiesta days in Los Angeles, accompanied by Mrs. Gray. Referring to affairs in San Diego, Mr. Gray says that many fine improvements are going on in that city, and the prospects for its future growth are most encouraging. Los Angeles would only be too happy to borrow just one-quarter of San Diego's beautiful harbor and water front!

WE have received numerous congratulations from our friends upon our "Fiesta number," which we hereby acknowledge, with thanks.

THEODORE RICKSECKER, of New York, the well known manufacturer of perfumes, has been forced into making an assignment for the benefit of his creditors. Mr. Ricksecker has been doing business on his own account for more than twenty-five years, and from the beginning showed remarkably good taste in the style of his preparations, which came promptly into wide favor. It is believed that he will be able to effect a settlement and to continue the manufacture of his specialties.

THE position of carbolic acid in the markets of the world is one of great strength and it will doubtless advance in the United States to a parity with its value in England and Germany, where it has for some time been considerably in excess of American prices. A recent considerable advance in crude marks a distinct step toward a higher market for crystals, which buyers will do well to heed. Naphthalin balls and flake are also higher.

MANY of our friends in the drug trade visited our city during Fiesta week and not a few gave us the pleasure of a call. Among the number we may mention: Dr. and Mrs. D. W. White, of San Bernardino; Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Morrison and Mr. J. C. Hardman, of Riverside; Mr. Rowley of Bristol & Rowley, Mr. C. C. Fife and Mr. Chas. Fairbanks, of Santa Ana; Mr. Sumner Billings, of South Riverside; Mr. T. H. Jones, of Ventura; Mr. John R. Cauch, of Santa Paula; Mr. Chas. A. Morris, of Kern City; Mr. S. F. DeVoin, of Azusa; Dr. A. R. Rhea, of Calico; Mr. W. T. Gillis, of Redlands; Mr. L. A. Rockwell, of Compton; Mr. M. M. Davison, of Redondo; Dr. W. T. Merchant, of Norwalk; Mr. S. Caldwell, Mr. L. W. Pierce and Mr. E. E. Armour, of Pomona.

The Parts That Do Not Grow Old.

In his work on the senile heart, Dr. Balfour tells us (Med. Rec.) that there are two parts of the human organism, which, if wisely used, largely escapes senile failure. These two are the brain and heart. Persons who think have often wondered why brain workers, great statesmen, and others, should continue to work with almost unimpaired activity and energy up to a period when most of the organs and functions of the body are in a condition of advanced senile decay. There is a physiological reason for this, and Dr. Balfour tells us what it is. The normal brain, he affirms, remains vigorous to the last, and that because its nutrition is especially provided for. About middle life, or a little later, the general arteries of the body begin to lose their elasticity and to slowly but surely dilate. They become, therefore, much less efficient carriers of the nutrient blood to the capillary areas. But this is not the case with the internal carotids, which supply the capillary areas of the brain. On the contrary, those large vessels continue to retain their pristine elasticity, so that the blood-pressure remains normally higher than within the capillary area of any other organ of the body. The cerebral blood-paths being thus kept open, the brain tissue is kept better nourished than the other tissues of the body. Who is there among those who have reached or passed middle age that will not be rejoiced to find such admirable physiological warrant for the belief that the brain may continue to work, and even to improve, almost to the very last hour of life?—N. Y. Med. Times.

Oregon State Board of Pharmacy.

The regular quarterly meeting of the Oregon State Board of Pharmacy was held at the Capitol building, Salem, Tuesday, March 10th, 1896, at 11 A. M. Members present—A. Yerington, Eugene; L. W. Moody, Portland; Jno. M. A. Laue, Portland, and Dan'l J. Fry, Salem.

Seven applicants were successful at the examination and were granted certificates as follows: Seniors: J. H. Ware, Perrydale; J. T. Wood, Amity; H. L. Buell, Elgin; E. L. Smalley, Milton; F. R. Robinson, Baker City. Juniors: Henry A. York, The Dalles; Kittie W. Harboard, Salem.

The next meeting of the Board will be held at Portland, Tuesday, June 9th, 1896.—Pacific Drug Review.

Mixed Merchandize.

From the New York Gazette, of 1733:

A likely negro girl, fit for town or country, has had the small-pox, she is about fifteen years old; as also to be sold sundry drugs and medicines by John Briggs over against the meal market in New York.—Drug. Circular.

Business Personals.

We take pleasure in recording the marriage of our friend A. A. True, of Highlands, and Mrs. Catharine Foster of the same place, on Sunday, April 26, at San Bernardino, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Mr. Brown of the Episcopal Church.

Our congratulations are cordially extended to the happy pair, in whose case the quotation, "A union of hearts and a union of hands" is particularly applicable.

Dr. J. H. Trout has secured the services of Mr. D. Wood, in anticipation of his extended Eastern trip. Mr. Wood's long experience in the drug business will enable him to satisfactorily handle the doctor's large trade.

A. C. Lang, son of the well known pharmacist Aug. Lang, of this city, has opened a new pharmacy on the corner of Pico and Union streets. The location is a favorable one and we predict success for the new enterprise.

Riverside.

Riverside may well be proud of having four of the handsomest soda fountains in Southern California.

The opening day for Mr. J. C. Hardman's elegant fountain, April 14th, was a very pleasant event, and the beautiful floral decorations of the establishment upon that occasion gave evidence of excellent taste.

Free soda was dispensed from 7:30 to 10 p. m., and Messrs. Gardner and Gilliland, in white attire, served the crowd with neatness and dispatch, "and the band played on."

For attentiveness to business it would be hard to find a druggist who is ahead of our old friend SeBrell. We must conclude that he is satisfied that Riverside is good enough for him, though we would be glad to have him take an occasional peep at Los Angeles.

Chas. E. Weck's new fountain, which is of green onyx, shows up in great shape. It is a beautiful addition to his handsome store and attracts a good deal of attention.

Heath & Morrison have been increasing their business facilities by the addition of a large brick store room in the rear of their establishment, enlarging and improving their front room and putting in a very fine onyx soda fountain. The business of this house is good evidence of the popularity of the genial proprietors.

Warder McKim, with E. A. Cutter & Co., San Jacinto, took a little bicycle ride to Los Angeles during the Fiesta. Only about 75 miles each way, but that's nothing to McKim!

Redlands.

Mr. Chestnut, late with Sale & Son of this city, has taken charge of Dr. Stewart's drug store. Mr. C. is fully competent and is a genial gentleman.

Dr. Stewart and wife have taken quarters for the summer at Casa Loma Hotel.

Mr. W. T. Gillis, of Gillis & Spoor, enjoyed a few days outing with friends at Santa Monica during last week.

Mr. C. C. Abbey is enjoying a visit with his friends in Fort Worth, Texas, for a month.

San Bernardino.

Miss Meyer, the pleasant young lady clerk with Dr. Bedford, San Bernardino, has the honor of being the first lady in Southern California to pass the examination for assistant. We extend our congratulations.

Dr. C. S. Bailey, with F. M. Towne, San Bernardino, is taking a "constitutional" at his ranch near Hemet. To prune prunes, pare pears and "go for" gophers a week or two we imagine should brace a man up equal to Hostetter.

Doctor D. W. White, proprietor of the Owl Drug Store of San Bernardino, with his wife, had the pleasure of "doing" the Fiesta this year for the first time. The doctor had no occasion to criticise the show, but with good reason objected to a ten dollar price for certain eligible seats to view the procession. Come oftener, Doctor.

Arizona.

W. W. Ross, Prescott, is making a couple of weeks' visit to San Francisco.

Chenowith & Mix, Nogales, report business good. Mr. Mix is in training for the Anvil Chorus, which is to be done to a brown turn in Spanish, shortly.

W. O. Abbott, who has long been manager of the Tombstone Drug Co., has resigned his position and will make a trip to his old home in Ohio. Mr. Abbott is one of Tombstone's most popular citizens.

R. Waldin, Phoenix, has moved a block nearer the center of town and reports an improved business. Mr. Waldin's store is always attractive.

John Barnett, Mesa, is reported to be the happy father of a daughter. This life isn't all a "vale of woe," is it John? Long life to the new comer!

E. S. Wakelin, Phoenix, has bought a half interest in a shoe house of that city. Mr. Wakelin is a successful business man and is no doubt able to keep an eye on both lines of trade. Having arranged with Mr. Charley Larsen to remain in his present position, there will be no slack work in the drug store. How about those seidlitz powders, Larsen?

The Phoenix Drug Co. have added a very neat soda fountain to their handsome store.

Mr. Butt, Sr., we are pleased to report, has recovered from his late attack of rheumatism.

H. C. Hitchcock, of Globe, recently visited Prescott as a delegate to a meeting of Odd Fellows at that place, accompanied by Mr. Sultan, of Sultan Mercantile Co. They also paid a visit to Phoenix en route.

Fred Fleishman, Tucson, has made some neat improvements in his store that add to the attractiveness and convenience of his place of business.

Mr. George Martin has engaged the services of Sylvester Purcell, late of Texas. He is a worker and will doubtless be able to take much of the burden from Mr. Martin's shoulders. Their business in Vichy, with the increasing drug trade, furnishes plenty of occupation.

Harry Brisley, Prescott, has had a recent attack of illness, but we are glad to know that he is now as good as new. Too much work and too little play, is our diagnosis. We would prescribe a cricket club and a trip to California.

Thomas Dover, Physician, Buccaneer and Originator of Dover's Powder.

As Sir Thomas Browne remarks in the Hydriotaphia: "The iniquity of oblivion blindly scattereth her poppy, and deals with the memory of men without distinction to merit of perpetuity." Thus it happens that Thomas Dover, the Doctor, has drifted into our modern life on a powder label (to which way of entering the company of posterity, though sanctified by Mithridates, many would prefer oblivion, even to continuous immortality on a powder so potent and palatable as the pulvis ipecacuanhœ compositus;) while Thomas Dover, the Buccaneer, third in command, one of the principal owners, and president of the Council of the "Duke" and "Duchess"—privateers of the ancient and honorable city of Bristol—discoverer of Alexander Selkirk (the original "Robinson Crusoe"), in spite of more enduring claims on our gratitude, has been forgotten.

Thus opens a historical sketch by Dr. Wm. Osler, in the Johns Hopkins Hospital Bulletin, and it may not be without interest to our readers to learn something of the inventor of this long popular sudorific. Dr. Dover was born in 1660, was a Bachelor of Medicine of the University of Cambridge, practiced in the town of Bristol, and having made a financial success, joined with several of the leading merchants of Bristol and fitted out a privateering expedition which sailed in 1708.

> . . . "against the Spaniard with his hoard of plate and gold,
> Which he wrung with cruel torture from the Indian folk of old."

The expedition was composed of two vessels, the "Duke" and the "Duchess," and was in command of Captain Woodes Rogers, with the doughty Dr. Dover, third in command, with the title of captain. In his book bearing the title of "A Cruising Voyage Around the World," Captain Rogers has left an interesting account of Alexander Selkirk ("Robinson Crusoe") upon the Island of Juan Fernandez on February 2. Dr. now Captain, Dover had charge of the yawl of the vessel which was sent ashore, and which discovered and brought away from the island Alexander Selkirk, who had been left there alone for four years and four months. Selkirk was immediately taken as mate, he being an excellent sailor, and served with the expedition in that capacity until it finally landed in Bristol, when his share of the proceeds amounted to £800 or $4,000.

After rescuing "Robinson Crusoe" the expedition sacked the two cities of Guaiaquil, Dr. Dover leading the van. They took several prizes along the coasts of Peru and California, and Dover himself took command of the largest of the prizes as captain. In 1711 the expedition reached England, the profits amounted to £170,000, and to Dr. Dover fell a very considerable portion of this sum. Although wealthy and about 50 years of age, he still was too active to settle down to a life of retirement, and, while nothing is known positively as to his occupation for the next ten years, it is probable that he spent the greater portion of that time in traveling. He was admitted as a licentiate to the Royal College of Physicians in 1721, but did not settle down permanently in London until 1731, and thus at the advanced age of 70 assayed to enter practice in London and, singular to say, met with a very large measure of success.

"To abet his laudable endeavors," says Dr. Osler, "he resorted to the time honored plan of writing a book. Of the popular or semi-popular treatises on medical subjects so common in those days, a few were by very able men. George Cheyne's 'Essay on Health and Long Life' forms an exception to Latham's sweeping criticism on books of this class (quoted by W. A. Greenhill), 'They are all bad, and many dishonest.' A favorite plan was to write a treatise on some mineral water, lauding the virtues of a particular spa. Smollett, who knew so well the trials, vexations and disappointments incident to beginning medical life in London, has sketched in strong lines the condition of the profession in the fourth and fifth decades of the century. He, too, had made an unsuccessful attempt to introduce himself in an 'Essay on the External Use of Cold Water,' etc. Dr. L——n with his 'hotch-potch of erudition and extravagance,' and the pedantic doctor in 'Peregrine Pickle,' in whom he satirized the learned Dr. Akenside, were well-known types; while in Dr. Fathom the 'mystery' of the sons of Paean, as he terms them, is mercilessly exposed. Among the 'means used to force a trade' *Smollett mentions 'the insertion of cures by way of news in the daily papers,' the erection of a 'hospital, lock or infirmary, by the voluntary subscription of his friends; a scheme which had succeeded to a miracle with many of the profession, who had raised themselves into notice on the carcasses of the poor.' To understand Dover's relations with the apothecaries (to which subsequent reference will be made) the reader must know that they were the general practitioners of that day, and dispensed their own medicines, but in serious cases always called in a physician or surgeon. Smollett's account of the practice 'parcelled out into small enclosures, occupied by different groups of personages,' who tossed the ball (the patient) from one to another, would almost fit modern usage, in which a patient is sometimes tossed in a circle from specialist to specialist, until he returns with an inventory of his local woes to the consultant from whom he started. In Smollett's days the patient had to be content with three, except in the cases requiring a midwife. 'The apothecary being summoned, finds her ladyship in such a delicate situation that he declines prescribing, and advises her to send for a physician without delay. The nomination of course falls to him, and the doctor being called, declares the necessity of immediate venesection, which is accordingly performed by the surgeon of the association.'

"While meriting the general criticism of Latham, the work with which Dover trusted to reach practice had many important qualifications for success. It appealed directly to the public in a taking way, not alone in the main title, 'The Ancient Physician's Legacy to His Country, being what he has collected himself in Forty-nine Years of Practice,' but in asserting that the diseases incident to mankind are described in so plain a manner 'that any person may know the nature of his own diseases; together with the several remedies for each distemper faithfully set down.' It is expressly issued as a popular work on medicine, 'Designed for the Use of all Private Families.'

THE FORMULA FOR DOVER'S POWDERS.

"On page 18, in the section on gout, is given the formula of his famous powder. 'Take opium one ounce, salt petre and tartar vitriolated each four ounces, ipecacuana one ounce. Put the salt petre and tartar into a red-hot mortar, stirring them with a spoon until they have done flaming. Then powder them very fine; after that slice in your opium, grind them to a powder, and then mix the other powders with these. Dose from 40 to 60 or 70 grains in a glass of white wine Posset going to bed, covering up warm and drinking a quart or three pints of the Posset—drink while sweating.' The same formula is repeated in all the editions. He says that some apothecaries have desired their patients to make their wills and settle their affairs before they venture upon so large a dose as from 40 to 60 or 70 grains. 'As monstrous as they may represent this, I can produce undeniable proofs where a patient of mine has taken no less a quantity than 100 grains, and yet has appeared abroad the next day.'

*This seems to have been a stock phrase; Cheyne uses it in his _English Malady_, in an autobiographical note.

"Doubtless the old buccaneer doctor, who 'was a man of rough temper and could not easily argue with those about him, was a striking figure as he passed along the strand to the Jerusalem Coffee House, where he saw his patients. A good fighter, a good hater, as alas! so many, many physicians have been, his weaknesses and evil behavior we may forget, but Captain Thomas Dover, who on February 2, 1710, found 'Robinson Crusoe,' the world should not forget; and we also of his craft have daily cause to remember with gratitude the student and friend of the great Sydenham, who had the wit in devising a powder to remember his master's injunction: Sine papaveribus, sine opiatis et medicamentis, ex iis confectis, manca et clauda, esset, medicina."—Amer. Druggist.

By Inference Only.

It is not an unusual thing for people to come into drug stores in search of something with which to paint a black eye. About two weeks ago a well-muscled lady came into a West Olive street drug store for something to remove the suffused blood from under her eye. The discoloration, she explained, had been caused by an apple thrown by her little 3-year-old. Soon after she had been fixed up her husband dropped in with scratches all over his face and a cut on his head that had been caused, so he said, by a severe fall. The druggist patched him up, but drew his own conclusions about the apple and the fall. —Drug. Circular.

The reduction in price of Braun's Sarsaprilla (see front cover, this issue) is made in consequence of a withdrawal of newspaper advertising, and is especially designed to turn over to the retail trade such advertising expenses, and make it an object to them to push the sale of this preparation. The article is now sold at a price much below the non-secret dollar goods, while in intrinsic value it is greatly superior.

No reduction in quality or strength has been or will be made. Dealers will do well to consider this 300 per cent. proposition.

Use Braun's Acid Phosphate for your soda fountain. A gallon jug for one dollar.

The Law on Liquor Selling for Druggists.

In answer to questions as to liquor selling by druggists the Pharmaceutical Era says:

The following points abstracted from a decision rendered by Judge Woolson, of the United States Circuit Court of Iowa last year may be of service to you: A druggist who has not paid the United States special tax as a retail dealer has no legal right to sell spirituous liquors. Even though his sales be to parties who present prescriptions from physicians, and the druggist fills these prescriptions relying on the liquor being used as medicine—nevertheless he violates the United States law if he sells the liquor on these prescriptions. His good faith in the transaction does not shield him.

"But this revenue law exempts from this special tax 'apothecaries as to wines or spirituous liquors which they use exclusively in the preparation or making up of medicines.' This does not mean that the druggist may retail, without paying the special tax, every mixture or compound which he may choose as a medicine in whose preparation he has used liquor. The general rule to be observed in this matter as to mixtures or compounds prepared by him is that so long as liquors retain their character as intoxicating liquors so that they are commonly susceptible or capable of use as a beverage, then, notwithstanding other ingredients may have been mixed therein, the druggist retailing this mixture is liable to pay the special tax. But when the liquors are compounded as medicines so as to lose their character as intoxicating liquors and are no longer desirable for use as a stimulating beverage, and are in fact medicine, then the druggist may lawfully retail the compound without paying this special tax.

This rule is just to the druggist. With his knowledge of the nature and the effect of the ingredients with which he compounds the liquor, he may know in advance, and is bound to know whether the mixture is within this rule, an intoxicant or medicine in fact. He will therefore know whether he must first pay this special tax. If the compound, in its controlling or dominating features, is an intoxicant, and as such susceptible or capable of being used generally as a beverage, let him pay the tax. But if this intoxicating quality of the liquor is subordinated to the medicinal effect of the other ingredients, so that it is no longer thus susceptible of ordinary or general use as a beverage, but the general effect of its taking is that the medicinal qualities operate before any intoxicating qualities therein could ordinarily work intoxication, the druggist has compounded a medicine which comes within the exception above quoted, and its retailing will not compel the payment of a special tax. In its ordinary and general effect, is the mixture one which is an intoxicant and susceptible of use ordinarily as a beverage, or is it a medicine in fact, and as such not ordinarily or generally susceptible of such beverage use? And the decision of this question will generally determine whether the payment of this special tax is necessary.

To the Retail Trade.

The phenominal sale of "Anti-Skeet" wafers last season, reaching over 3,000,000 of boxes, will undoubtedly bring out a larg number of worthless imitations this season. We beg to inform you that "Anti-Skeet" and "Anti-Fly" are made ONLY by us, and that infringements will be vigorously prosecuted.

The price of these goods is 75 cents per dozen, $9.00 per gross. Each dozen packed in a handsome display carton.

We have a superb line of advertising matter, which is sent with each order. Our advertisment of these goods will be found in th daily papers throughout the United States, with first appearance of mosquitoes and flies in each section. In view of the heavy advertisin these goods receive and our endeavors to keep them exclusively in the hands of druggists, we request that you will return the complimen by promptly informing us of any imitations and infringements that may come to your notice.

Place your orders early with your jobber, as "the early bird catches the worm."

IT is said that the cinchona barks now used for the manufacture of quinine contain little or no cinchonidia, and the inference may be drawn thereby that this congener of the royal salt may quietly disappear from view.

The introduction of cinchonidia to the notice of the general public by Powers & Weightman, some twenty years ago, was the means of promptly bringing it into large use, and the medical profession, who were liberally supplied with samples, accorded it immediate favor. It was declared by many physicians to be the equal of quinine as an anti-periodic and tonic, while being entirely free from the objections (the head effects) of the latter. Quinine at that period was worth between two and three dollars per ounce, and as cinchonidia sulphate was placed upon the market at about one-third the price of quinine great pecuniary relief was felt by consumers. Its sale soon assumed large proportions, and not a little of it went into consumption in the manufacture of "quinine" pills, while some druggists were found so well inclined towards the new drug that they made constant use of it in filling "quinine" prescriptions and orders. It was reported in those days that the manufacturers had accumulated vast quantities of cinchonidia as a by-product and had held it as of little or no value, and that its successful exploitation was a veritable gold mine to them. We trust it was. However, its price came down steadily, as quinine fell in value, until it brought but a few cents per ounce, and the former interest in the drug seemed to have disappeared.

It is quite possible that the facts may be different in some other sections of our country, but our experience indicates that cinchonidia sulphate would scarcely be missed at the present time if dropped out from view entirely, and herein lies the judgment of the public upon it, rather to our wonderment.

The Metric System in Congress.

The object of the metric system as reported by the International Bureau of Weights and Measures is, "to have all humanity be able to tell each other in the simplest, most concise way, the size and weight of things."

The saving effected by the metric system in the schools of the United Kingdom would amount to £350,000 yearly, by lessening the expense of teaching, says Prof. Leon Levi, and to the London and Northwestern £10,000 annually, and twice as much to their customers throughout the world. Greater accuracy and promptness would be insured, as well as the prevention of confusion, fraud and imposition arising from the complex and diverse systems in use. The metric system can be mastered by a boy in a day.

American Metric Bureau claims the system would save a child a full year of schooling.

A very remarkable illustration of how the system impresses those who have an opportunity of seeing its practical working was the way in which the Germans adopted it and made it compulsory, after the Franco-German war.

J. P. Putnam studied its reception on the spot in Germany, and says the majority looked upon it as a necessary reform, necessitated by the general advance in civilization, from which great blessings were to be derived.

Why are we not as willing to do all our business simply, by decimal computation, as we are to figure our dollars and cents in tens and hundreds? A little thought given to this question inevitably brings assent to the idea, then why should thinking, progressive America go on dragging the dead load of ancient Avoirdupois weight, Troy weight, Apothecaries weight, long measure, square measure, wood measure, wine measure, milk measure, potato measure, grain measure, with the various qualifications and absurdities now governing them. What parent, remembering the months of hard study in schoolboy days to master the details of our system (save the mark!) of weights and measures, but would gladly save his children and his children's children from the needless task? Congress expresses the will of the people. Let the people speak the word and the dead wood of these ancient forms will drop away, giving place to modern scientific simplicity. Even conservative England is seemingly nearer the accomplishment of this inevitable industrial advance than are we, and with her adoption of the system comes a further tightening of her grasp upon the commerce of the world. We in America are slow to realize that point, but it is a fact that the aggressive commerce of the near future is to be done through the methods of the metric system.

Let us of America look to it that in the race for trade we are not handicapped by any dead weights.

Are You Insured?

A word of advice about insurance is worth more to a sufferer from fire if heard and heeded before instead of after his loss.

During the few years of the life of this publication we have personally known of several instances where an expired insurance was awaiting a leisure time for its renewal and where fires occurred unexpectedly (as they always do), wiping out a large part of the assets of the business.

Business men should place their insurance renewals among "bills payable," to be watched as carefully as the coming note or acceptance, and never should the policy be allowed to expire, even though a draft should have to go to protest as an alternative. In large houses an insurance department is maintained and a book devoted to the recording of policies and a glance at the record shows the facts at once.

THE Interstate Pharmacal Company is the title of a new organization formed for the purpose of manufacturing home remedies. Louisville is the city of its birth, and 150 druggists are said to hold its stock. The number of corporations having a similar object seems to be rapidly increasing.

WE note the death, May 6th, ult., of George Willard Snell, one of the original members of the firm of Snell, Heitshu & Woodard Company, Portland, Oregon, in his sixty-eighth year. Mr. Snell was a life-long druggist, and has since 1849 been closely identified with the drug business of the Pacific Coast.

AND now comes the "Mortician!" He was of late funeral director, before that he was undertaker, and of old, plain sexton. In this evolution of nomenclature we are willing to lend a hand. Why not scapulist, casketeer, or subterracus? There's surely no need of so doleful a title as mortician!

THE Newfoundland cod liver oil industry has received a considerable impetus this season, owing to the short crop of Norwegian oil, and prices have reached about one hundred per cent. above usual rates. An effort is being made to improve the quality of the product, which has heretofore been a sort of haphazard article, owing to lack of uniform and modern processes, and presenting about as wide variation as a country store-keeper's butter. With a little intelligent co-operation in handling the crop we see no reason why Newfoundland oil should not secure a much better position than it has hitherto occupied.

ONE Charles H. Ferron, of New York, who is described as an Armenian and a fakir, has been arrested for counterfeiting the Munyon remedies. McKesson & Robbins were victims to the tune of $5,000 or more, their buyer having purchased the counterfeits to that extent, thinking them genuine. The contents of the bottles were simple unmedicated pellets, while the labels and wrappers were photographic duplicates of the genuine. Ferron languishes in jail, with a good prospect of trouble ahead when he comes to trial.

THE announcement of the death of Mr. Edwin Augustus Bigelow, of the J. C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass., comes to us just as we go to press. Mr. Bigelow's connection with the house has extended over a period of thirty-five years, and he was a most highly esteemed and important official of that corporation.

MR. S. H. MONCKTON, father of A. Monckton, this city, met with a fatal accident on the 8th of May, fracturing his skull by a fall, from which he survived but five days. He was 69 years of age and a resident of Toronto for 50 years, but had spent the past winter in Los Angeles on a visit to his son.

ALL attempts thus far made in Maryland to extend to the State at large the provisions of the Pharmacy Law have resulted in failure, thus leaving the druggists of the city of Baltimore alone under legal regulation in that State.

IN the advertisement of Braun's Sarsaparilla last month (front cover) the wholesale price was accidentally omitted. It will be observed that the oversight has been corrected, and that the article is one that the up-to-date druggist cannot afford to overlook when he selects stock for profit as well as intrinsic value.

Notice to the Trade.

Owing to a change in the receiving hours at the freight depots, taking place June 1st, we are forced to have shipments ready to leave our place of business not later than 3:30 P. M., which is a full hour earlier than has heretofore been necessary. Every effort will be made, as in the past, to ship all orders on the day of their receipt, but it will be understood that if received in the afternoon mails, orders may necessarily be delayed until the following day.

June, 1896. F. W. BRAUN & Co.

The "cut rate" war in Portland is already producing results. One of the oldest and largest retail drug stores in Portland is in the hands of a receiver, and there are rumors that at least one other may soon follow their example.

The whole "cut rate" war in Portland was uncalled for and unnecessary. The public did not demand it, and it was not even a good business move. The druggists are each holding their own trade, though making no money.—Pac. Drug Review

THE best thing for grass stains—"Keep off the grass!"

At the annual meeting of the California Pharmaceutical Society, which was held on the 29th of May in San Francisco, the question of establishing a corporation for the purpose of manufacturing a line of proprietary medicines after the fashion which has been set by a number of Eastern societies, was discussed, and a resolution adopted to establish such a factory. As no subscription was made toward the object, however, the matter has doubtless gone over to a future time. The full report of the meeting has not reached us in time for this issue of the DRUGGIST, to our regret.

A SYNTHETIC cocaine has recently made its appearance under the name of Eucaine. It does not seem as yet to have been introduced freely into the market, but possibly the late decline of 50 to 75 cents per ounce in the price of cocaine may be due to the influence of the new preparation.

AT this writing, the price of carbolic acid crystals has not advanced to the position justified by the large increase in the value of crude noted in our columns last month.

THE season's crop of vanilla beans (Mexican) is reported to be discouragingly short, and prices are stiffening in consequence.

SALICINE has advanced 50 cents per pound, and salicylic acid is about 10 per cent. higher than a month ago.

CAMPHOR has declined quite materially, notwithstanding the powerful syndicate which aimed to control the world's production of the article. The drop in price amounts to about 20 cents per pound from the highest rates hitherto ruling.

OILS of Anise and Cassia continue to maintain their high market price, while no marked changes are noticeable in the values of essential oils in general. Norwegian cod liver oil is scarce and high, and is likely to remain so until after another winter's catch, the adverse weather at the fisheries having reduced this season's product to about one-third of its usual size.

THE Boston Drug Review, in its market comments, remarks on the decline of Allcock's plasters, and says the retail price of each plaster is fixed at 15 cents, or two for 25 cents. That isn't the way the price is "fixed" in Los Angeles. See daily papers.

Business Personals.

F. E. CORBIN has bought the Wm. Wagner store, formerly Kieferdorf's, South Main street, this city.

THE changes that Godfrey & Moore have recently made in their interior have added greatly to the attractiveness of their place of business. They have added a beautiful ceiling of steel which has been made as white as enamel paint could make it, the figures being picked out with gold, secundem artem. The entire wood work of cornices, shelvings and counters has been made white to correspond, and pure gold leaf used for ornamentation. The gallery which runs around above the shelving adds vastly to the storage capacity and is ornamental as well as useful. It is a great comfort to all concerned to exchange the old darkness for the present light, and the smiling countenances of the proprietors and employees indicate their satisfaction in increased business as well as comfort.

THE Kern Valley Pharmacy, Bakersfield, under the ownership of Mr. J. A. Hughes, has taken on the appearance and character of a first-class city drug house. Solid polished oak woodwork and elegant deep showcases of the same material have replaced the fixtures which had done long service under the former ownership. The prominent location secured by Mr. Hughes leaves nothing to be desired in that respect, while the elegance of his entire outfit is extremely attractive. Mr. Keller's efficient assistance contributes materially to the success of the prescription work of the store.

DR. BYRON F. DAWSON, Cayucos, has sold his drug business to Dr. W. V. Grimes, of San Jose.

San Diego Notes.

Mr. E. Strahlman left on the 3d for a two weeks' visit to the northern part of the State. While there he will represent his lodge at the grand lodge of the "Sons of Hermann" held in San Jose. Apart from lodge business the trip is for pleasure only. F. G. Culver is in charge of the store.

S. W. Pearce is at Hotel Coronado Pharmacy, while Mgr. Lacey is taking needed rest and recreation.

W. J. Wolff, of Wolff's Pharmacy, has been recuperating at Lakeside the last week and is pleased with the accommodations at that resort. He contemplates a trip of four to six weeks to recover from the effects of the "grip." His plans are not yet made, but Salt Lake City is at present the place in his mind.

Lynn Boyd, of Boyd Bros., National City, leaves on the 10th inst. for a two months' trip to the East. His mother accompanies him.

Massachusetts Pharmaceutical Association.

The annual meeting will be held at Pittsfield, on June 16, 17 and 18. The headquarters will be at the Maplewood, and the exhibits will be in the hall adjoining the assembly room. Several applications for space have already been received from intending exhibitors. One of the probable features in the way of entertainment will be a drive through Lenox and Stockbridge. This trip cannot be surpassed, and those who participate may see where "God has done so much, and man has helped a bit." The association has made an admirable selection for local secretary. John H. Manning is the right man and in the right place.—Drug Reporter.

Sleeplessness.

It was once a custom in the more remote parts of Scotland to employ bards to rehearse to great men the verses of distinguished poets as a means of promoting sleep, for, as it has been observed, "anything that catches the attention, such as soft music, or any monotonous sound, as the murmuring of a rivulet, will entice sleep." But, good as many of the experiments may be for driving away wakefulness, experience would prove that what engenders sleep in one person acts in the very opposite direction on another. Thus, on some occasions Boerhaave, in order to procure sleep for his patient, directed water to be placed in such a position that it was continually dropping on a brass pan; a contrivance which, in many cases, had the reverse effect of keeping the person awake. And in adopting such artificial methods, Sir Henry Holland has observed, ' These often fail from the cause. When they succeed, it depends on the exhaustion being more complete, or the mind being rapidly carried from one object to another, a desultory state of this kind being apparently one of the conditions more favorable to the effect desired. Sometimes, however, every means thought of for inducing sleep fail—

> "And in the calmest and the stillest night,
> With all appliances and means to boot,
> Denies it to a king."

Southey's method of ensuring a good night's rest was a simple one, for, writing to his friend James White, he said, "Follow my practice of making your latest employment in the day something unconnected with its other pursuits, and you will be able to lay your head upon the pillow like a child," which is much to the same purport as Tissot's recommendation "to solicit sleep by a seasonable dismissal of business and care." In the same way Kent, finding it impossible to procure sleep at his accustomed hour, diverting his attention to some indifferent subject, such as the history and writings of Cicero—whereby he not only got the better of the thoughts which kept him awake, but was finally overcome by drowsiness—which reminds us of the missionary who, troubled with sleeplessness, repeated the Lord's Prayer till Satan sent him to sleep to get rid of it; and he adds that he never found the receipt to fail. Some have obtained the same result by a recourse to figures, either repeating the multiplication table or working out some simple problem. Much, it is affirmed, may be effected by resolution and firmness of mind. It is related that the Abbe Jaria, who acquired some reputation through his power of inducing sleep, was in the habit of placing his patient, in an armchair, and after telling him to shut his eyes and collect his thoughts, he said, in a strong voice, "Dormez," which was invariably successful. Hufeland, too, maintained that by perseverence and firmness of mind great power may be obtained over the thoughts.

Some of the artifices for curing sleeplessness have been equally curious and ingenious. The famous engineer Brindley often saw the experiment tried of a man extending himself across the large stone of a corn mill, and gradually falling asleep by the stone whirling round before it gained its full velocity; and Asclepiades, amongst his many inventions for improving the art of physic, recommended the plan of pensile or suspended beds, by which the person was rocked asleep. Dr. Franklin was a firm believer in the air bath as a means of procuring refreshing sleep; and in Adair's "Essay on Diet and Regimen" minute directions are given for the use of hot water as an effectual remedy; whereas Strueve, in his "Asthenology," speaks of electricity as promoting sleep, and tells of persons who have been cured of insomnia through making use of an electric bath. Among the natives of India it has long been customary to employ a servant to gently tickle the soles of the feet till sleep takes place; and Lord Bacon indirectly refers to the custom, and writes, "It is received and confirmed by daily experience that the soles of the feet have great affinity with the head, and soporiferous medicines applied unto them provoke sleep." Chinese medicine has many curious ways of producing sleep, which would scarcely find acceptance in this country. But rubbing the soles of the feet is recommended, because it is said that "the middle of the sole of the foot is as the outlet and opening of a great many sources of the spirits dispersed all over the body." The Indoos maintain that to sleep with the head to the north will cause one's days to be shortened, whereas in our own and other countries this position has oftentimes been adopted by persons suffering from sleeplessness." Thus, some years ago, it was announced to the Scottish Curative Mesmeric Association that persons wishing to secure sleep should lie with their heads to the north and not on any account towards the west. It is also stated by an eminent physician in Scotland that when he had failed by every other prescription to bring sleep to invalid children he recommended their little beds to be turned due north and south, the head of the child being placed towards the north—a process which had never failed to produce sleep. Some, again, have insisted that a certain amount of cold is a cure for sleeplessness, a notion which was advocated in olden times. Mr. Alfred Snell found the application of cold produced sleep when other remedies failed, and many a time, he tells us, he has obtained for his patient rest by applying a little cold water to the top of the brain when every other means had been of no avail. In short, persons suffering from want of sleep have been compelled to try all kinds of expedients; for, as Haydon once remarked, after a sleepless night, "You get up with a black veil over your fancy, through which you see all things."

Amongst some of the well-known victims of sleeplessness may be mentioned Pope, who when he was at work on his Iliad, was beside himself with sleeplessness; and both Smollett and Cowper were afflicted with the same malady, as also John Leech. Carlyle, at times, was more or less troubled with insomnia, and on such occasions generally sought relief in his pipe. But, like Leech, Carlyle was acutely sensible to every kind of sound, and the slightest noise would discompose him for the night. In the same way Thackeray was keenly alive to any jangling, inharmonious sounds, and to him, when going to sleep, there was no greater friction than the monotonous noises of street life. Byron was much troubled with sleeplessness, and one night, it is said, "suffered horribly," only allaying his distress by incessant draughts of soda water. Occasionally Charles Dickens could not sleep, and at such times he was in the habit of getting up and taking a long walk—a stringent remedy which he used to say brought him his required sleep. Writing of Chillingworth, Lord Claredon once remarked that "his only unhappiness proceeded from his sleeping too little and thinking too much," which must be regarded as equally true of only too many brain workers. On the other hand, it has been oftentimes acknowledged a strange paradox that whereas many are resorting to every contrivance to coax and promote sleep, others are employing means to check it. Boerhaave, for instance, it is said, after one of his intense studies did not close his eyes for six weeks," and Descrozilles, according to his own confession, only allowed himself two hours' in twenty-four. And we may mention that indefatigable worker Michael Angelo, who, after passing the greater part of the day in his studio, would often rise at night to resume his labors, fixing a lamp on the top of his pasteboard cap "to supply the light which guided his marvellous chisel." But, in only too many instances, by such means, habitual sleeplessness has been the penalty, as happened to Claude Bordelieu. Unable to get rest he resorted to opium; and it is related of Goldoni that after writing as many as sixteen plays in a single year, "he paid the penalty during the rest of his life." Although men like Jeremy Taylor and Richard Baxter were content with three or four hours' sleep, few persons can dispense with the requisite amount, being more or less inclined to agree with old Dr. Fowler, of Salisbury, who used to say that to live a long life one must "lie abed in the morning until you are done enough."—London Standard.

A Few Don'ts.

Don't be too cute. Don't advertise yourself as a brilliant fellow. If you do people will expect bright things of you; may be too bright.

Don't strive to promote the opinion that you are the brainiest man in your line, or common people may be afraid of your "amazing smartness." Again, it leads your competitors to polish up their think tanks and sharpen their lances and try to take a fall out of you.

So far as your contract with the public is concerned, it is best to be as honest as a fresh egg. If you are, you are as palatable. Be as frank as you can afford to be. If you are, people will trust you. A cute man they will trust, but with reservation always. The spontaneous confidence of a willing heart goes out to such men never.

Don't know it all, for if you do you deny yourself frequent opportunities of learning something, and a know-it-all is an abomination among men. Seek a reputation of being a well-posted man in your business, a judge of goods, a judge of values, a close buyer, and all that; avoid, if possible, the imputation of being a shrewd seller. Deny as emphatically as you can the delicate insinuation that you are perpetually looking for the best of it. Deal with your trade as openly as you dare. Don't be a sycophant. Don't toady, but be on the outlook all the time.

Better to have your competitors understand you, rather than otherwise. Let them foster the fancy that you are not in it, if they will, for that's their fault. Appear indifferent to them and their opinion but watch 'em.

Tickle them with the feather of their own conceit and force their hand when they least expect it.

Don't mistake this for a recommendation of trickery or duplicity; far from it. But if competitors are bent on hanging themselves, give them all the rope they need.—Pat. Med. Jour.

A LITTLE girl of our acquaintance who has been learning to commit scripture to memory at Sunday school, repeated to her mother the 23d Psalm, which she had learned. When she came to the last part of the second verse she made David say, "He leadeth me beside distilled waters." She ought to be a druggist's little girl, surely.

AN undertaker will be no longer known as an "undertaker and embalmer." In the future he will be known as the "mortician." This was decided on the second day's meeting of the Funeral Directors' Association of Kentucky, which was held at Louisville.—Western Medical Journal.

Stop Killing Germs.

The sanguinary crusade against the poor little germ has gone too far. After all the mean things we have said about it, and the vituperations we have heaped upon it, this little interrogation point between two worlds—the vegetable and animal—has gone into an open court and bids fair to get a verdict, not only of having a justifiable existence but of being a public benefit. Think of the lonely vigils of Fausts without their Mephistopheles, but with their incubators, sterilizers, test tubes and what not, wasting their cerebral dynamics on uncanny incantations and midnight schemes of conquest and annihilation. And all for what purpose? Why, forsooth, as it now appears, to destroy the ally and the friend of man. And the ingratitude of it! The base ingratitude of it! If man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn, how many duodecillions of these little benefactors of the human race have been caused to mourn over the inflictions of man's mistaken wrath?

Animals fed upon sterilized foods, given sterilized fluids to drink and sterilized air to breathe, are now said to die with reasonable promptness. Babies fed upon pasteurized milk get scurvy and become constipated. Give us more germs by all means. Make the indiscriminate sale of germicides a misdemeanor punishable by imprisonment and deprivation of germs for thirty days unless life is seriously imperiled by so long an abstinence. Let us eat, drink and breathe germs galore. Then will the white-winged dove of peace hover over hearth and home, and bucolic health shall gladden the hearts of the sons and daughters of men.—Ft. Wayne Med. Journal.

Labels on Tin.

"Now, what would you say is the best way to stick labels on tin?" asked Mr. C. B. Allen (Kilburn) of a Chemist and Druggist writer the other day.

"Well, varnish the tin surface with any thin varnish—resin and sandarac in spirit, for instance—dry, then stick on your gummed label. This is the best plan, in my experience."

"I have a better one than that, and don't mind though you make it known. It is simply an acetic solution of gelatine; 2 oz. of the gelatine to 8 oz. of acetic acid."

"Do you use that as a mucilage?"

"No; in the same way as you use the varnish, but I think you need the acid to bite into the tin—not much, just a little—so as to secure the coating to the tin. At any rate, I have to label a lot of tins, and there is no plan I have found so satisfactory."

In connection with this it is worth mentioning that a mere trace of formalin multiplies the adhesiveness of glue about 300 times—so Mr. August Zimmermann told one of us the other day, when the properties of formalin were under discussion. Can this fact not be utilised in making gelatine adhesive paste? A drachm of formalin to the pint of mucilage would preserve it, and at the same time make it more adhesive. —Ch. & Drug.

Responsibility For Untoward Action.

With the characteristic pithy and trenchant utterance which "hews to the line letting the chips fall where they may" and which marks all of his sayings, Dr. Frank Kraft, 57 Bell avenue, Cleveland, Ohio, Professor of Materia Medica, Cleveland Medical College, writes: "The professional market seems to be be filled with substitutes for the original and ever favorite antikamnia; all warranted to do what the antikamnia has succeeded, by hard work and expenditure of much money, in establishing; all of these nefarious products masking under some name partly modeled after the antikamnia pattern, beginning with an A, and warranted to still pain, etc., etc,, are base imitations of antikamnia. They may be, and perhaps are, coal tar products, but they cannot take the place of antikamnia; this was the first product and made a success because of its merit; hence the host of imitators. Insist upon getting the original antikamnia, and caution your druggist that if he practices any substitution you will not only decline further to deal with him, but hold him personally responsible for any untoward action of his substituted remedy."

WHEN the question of RATS comes up and your advice is sought, always suggest Stearns' Electric Paste to your customer. It is in the very best form for safe use, and is a sure killer. It pays 100 per cent. profit and it is advertised in the prominent magazines and leading papers—the latter having a circulation of over 20,000,000 per month. Sales of Stearns' Paste in the Eastern States are enormous, while on this coast it is only just beginning to be appreciated. F. W. Braun & Co. are agents for its sale. Don't hesitate about buying and recommending it, for it will pay you, and entirely satisfy your trade.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK., May 27, '96.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Arkansas Association of Pharmacists was held in Little Rock, May 12, 13 and 14, 1896. The attendance was unusually good; the business sessions were held in the day, and the nights were given to entertainments which had been prepared by the committee on arrangements. All visitors were unanimous in voting it the most elaborate social program they had yet enjoyed. The address of President Morgan was full of pertinent suggestions. The report of the standing committee was in the main very encouraging. The next meeting will be held in Little Rock on the second Tuesday of May, 1897. The officers elected were as follows: President, J. M. Sparks, Ft. Smith; First Vice President, F. G. Kerr, Van Buren; Second Vice President, J. Bairhart, Lonoke; Secretary, Jno. B. Bond, Jr., Little Rock; Treasurer, J. A. Junkind, Little Rock.

Hiccough Cured by Putting Out the Tongue.

A female patient presented herself at the Hotel-Dieu of Lyons for a rebellious hiccough which had resisted all treatment for four days. She was asked to show the tongue, and it was noticed that with the putting out of the tongue the hiccough ceased. The same thing has since been tried, and with success, in other cases. All that is necessary apparently is to strongly push the tongue out of the mouth and hold it so for a minute or two. It is also suggested now to try the same thing in suffocative cough, as whooping cough, and choking by irrespirable gases.

THE following resolutions in honor of Dr. C. O. Curtman were passed by the St. Louis College of Pharmacy at the recent annual meeting:

Resolved, That it is with deep sorrow that we record the death of Dr. Chas. O. Curtman, who was for eleven years a member of this association and who, in the chair of chemistry, was one of its most successful teachers and did much in building up the reputation of the college.

Resolved, That in him whose loss we lament we recognize one who has wielded a wide influence because of his ability and aptness in his chosen vocation; one who has done much to disseminate knowledge, awaken thought and encourage the scientific spirit.

Resolved, That we recognize with pride, the work in medical and pharmaceutical chemistry which has given him an international reputation and which we, as fellow citizens of St. Louis, in a small measure share with him.

Resolved, That while the industry, patience and thoroughness with which he has pursued his investigations in many branches of science has challenged our admiration we also bear testimony to the many good personal qualities which have attached him to us as a friend.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the records of the college, be furnished the pharmaceutical press for publication, and that an engrossed copy be transmitted to the family.

CHAS. GIETNER, President.
J. C. FALK, Secretary.

A Remarkable New Compound.

According to Die Natur, a German chemist has discovered a new body which possesses the remarkable property of solidifying under the influence of heat and of becoming liquid again at temperatures below zero. This body, which has received the name of cryostase, is obtained by mixing together equal parts of phenol, camphor and saponine, to which is added a slightly smaller quantity of oil of turpentine. Up to the present there has been no product known that possesses this property of liquefying when cold and solidifying when warm; for, although certain bodies, such as albumin, hardened at a slightly elevated temperature, it is impossible to bring them back to a liquid state, even under the influence of very low temperatures.—Drug. Circular.

THE money value of the grain, cotton and hay products of the United States was about $800,000,000 less in 1895 than in 1891, the decrease in value being gradual and spread over four years. With such an enormous difference in the income of the producing classes it is little wonder that business depression should exist. Let us hope for such wise legislation as shall restore value to our products. That is to be the crucial test of the next administration.

The largest mirror ever brought to America has been placed in the dining room in the new wing of the Hotel Savoy in New York. It occupies about the entire end of the room and gives the impression that it is a big arch leading to a large apartment. The plate is 12 feet high and 13½ feet long, and the package which contained it was a foot larger each way. Several attempts to produce a flawless glass of the size were made before the manufacturers were satisfied. This glass was made by the factory at St. Gobain, which is the oldest and largest factory in Europe. The frame looks like malachite and is lined with gilt.

On April 7th the Montana Board of Pharmacy adopted a resolution that the board hereafter will not recognize diplomas from colleges of pharmacy or certificates of registration from other States, and that every person who wishes to practice pharmacy in that State must come up for examination.

He Wanted Exercise.

The two big boys next door had fixed up some jumping bars and little Rob longed to try them. He was overheard one afternoon saying to his mother: "Ma, I want to take some exercise; I'm going to jump; you tell pa to bring in the wood!"

"I have learned from observation that three things surely happen to a man who works steadily without relaxation. In the first place he becomes nervous, irritable and hard to get along with. In the second place, the grade of his work falls off, and he is liable to err in his judgment. In the third place he dies suddenly. It is an uncontrovertible law of nature."—Chauncey M. Depew.

THE repeal of the law allowing a rebate on alcohol used in manufactures having been accomplished previous to the adjournment of Congress, it remains to be seen whether claims will be allowed for alcohol so used during the life of the law. We do not see how the United States can legally avoid payment where proper precautions have been taken to insure evidence, and it may be assumed as certain that the large manufacturers will press their claims, and obtain the rebate, while the thousands of small manufacturers, mainly druggists, will drop the matter as unprofitable to fight through, although equally entitled to their rebates and having been instrumental in securing the passage of the law.

IF every State Pharmaceutical Association furnished the means for jollification supplied by that of Missouri at their annual meetings, the druggist would hardly miss the Fourth of July.

The program of entertainment of the late meeting, June 9 to 12, kindly sent us by Secretary Whelpley, is packed full of "events" covering every form of amusement, from the Olympic games down to the guessing school. The twenty-two committeemen have evidently found plenty to do in arranging such an elaborate affair, and the very generous co-operation of wholesale firms and manufacturers in the way of supplying prizes indicates the widespread interest taken in this very lively body of pharmacists.

The example set by the Missouri Association in providing an out and out good time every year for the hard worked druggist is a commendable one. A new bond of union is formed through the repeated coming together of its members and their wives, and the enthusiasm of great numbers met together for a common object is an ever present feature.

Concerning the business and professional features of the meeting, these may be relegated to the rainy days for their sober consideration, but the relaxation and enjoyment of the occasion are the life givers, and from Missouri many other State associations may well take a lesson in the art of getting their members together.

THE Local Secretary of the American Pharmaceutical Association, Mr. J. E. Morrison, has mailed us the program and invitation to the annual meeting, which occurs August 12th to 19th in Montreal. The Windsor Hotel will be the meeting place, and special rates ranging from $1.50 to $5 per day have been secured at the hotels, thus accommodating the tastes and purses of guests. A feature of the occasion will be a trip through the Lachine Rapids, which has been arranged for August 17. The great beauty of the city and its charming surroundings makes this a most attractive place of meeting, and doubtless a large attendance will be secured. The cordial and hospitable invitation of the Local Committee to come and "bring the ladies along" denotes a prospective good time, while the educational value of the meeting will probably prove as great as has ever been the case.

It is important to write in advance for accommodations, as August is a busy month for the hotels. Address the Local Secretary, J. E. Morrison, Montreal, for any desired information.

PROF. J. U. LLOYD has done a service to the medical profession, and to the public, by the sensible suggestion that asafetida be purified before it enters into consumption, the simple process consisting of solution in alcohol and subsequent evaporation to a soft mass. The impossibility of obtaining a uniform quality of the drug at all times, and the quite diverse nature of the impurities which different lots contain, furnishes the ground for Prof. Lloyd's hint. Aside from prescription and pharmaceutical uses, however, there is a large quantity of asafetida consumed in domestic practice, being worn in bags about the person as a prophylactic against cholera and other diseases, and for which use the common drug will doubtless maintain its place.

We are pleased to notice (Era, June 4,) that Professor Dinkler highly recommends camel's milk for infants as a substitute for mother's milk, for reasons apparently adequate, as per table of constituents given.

The professor is certainly very thoughtful of the welfare of the infant. It is now in order for some other philanthropic savant to publish the analysis of pigeon's milk, which is quite likely to serve the purpose equally well, and pigeons——well, there are pigeons!

The election of Mr. Walter Hills to the presidency of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain, June 3d, relieves Mr. Michael Carteighe, who has held the office for fourteen years and was determined to serve no longer in the position.

From the Chemist and Druggist we learn that the new incumbent received the unanimous vote of the council. From its editorial remarks we quote as follows:

"Mr. Hills comes of an historic family—viz , the Bells, who founded the Society. He is now 'John Bell & Co.' He was appointed to the Council when his uncle, Thomas Hyde Hills, retired, nearly twenty years ago, and has served the Society without interruption as a councillor. He has also addressed the School of Pharmacy, an honor which he shares with Dr. Symes and Mr. Carteighe; but for that he had the peculiar qualification of having studied at Ecole de Pharmacie, Paris, as well as at Bloomsbury Square. When Mr. Hills stepped into the presidential chair, Mr. Carteighe was the first one to congratulate him, and there were a few pretty unrehearsed little scenes which gave a pathetic interest to the occasion."

The principal honors at the last graduating exercises of the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy were carried off by Miss Bertha Leon de Graffe, who captured two gold medals, one for the best herbarium collection, and the other for original chemical work outside the regular course of study. Another lady, Miss Madge O'Connor, took a $100 prize at the New York College of Pharmacy, for the best examination in practical pharmacy. This indicates that the boys will have to look out for their laurels.

American druggists visiting Europe this summer may visit the Industrial Exposition at Berlin, where they will have an opportunity to see the very complete collection of drugs owned by the firm of Brueckner, Lampe & Co., which is to be placed on exhibition. The Chemists' Exhibition, to be held in London, Aug. 24, will furnish another point of interest to the drug fraternity.

We acknowledge the receipt of the first number of Claflin's Druggist, a monthly publication issued by Geo. L. Claflin & Co., Providence, R. I., in the interest of the trade. Some eight pages of this issue are devoted to an illustrated description of the house, with a portrait of its head, and nine pages are devoted to a price list. The Druggist presents a handsome appearance and we welcome it to our exchange list.

CAUCH—CLARKE—Married at the home of the bride's mother, by Rev. M. O. McNiff, Mr. John R. Cauch and Miss Lulu Emma Clarke, both of Santa Paula, Wednesday evening, June 24, 1896.

The ceremony was performed at 8:30. It was short but impressive. Miss Hattie McKevett acted as bridesmaid and Chas. C. Teague as groomsman. About thirty relatives and close friends were present. A fine supper was served after the young people had received the hearty congratulations of their assembled well-wishers. At a late hour the couple proceeded to their cozy cottage, the Roy Beckley property, where they will make their future home.

The marriage of these well known and highly respected young people was not unexpected. The event has been looked forward to with much interest and feelings of satisfaction by their hosts of friends. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. C. A. Clarke, and has always been a favorite among her associates. For several years Miss Clarke was a faithful member of the force of this office and the Chronicle most sincerely wishes her all the happiness of a long and noble life.

Mr. Cauch is a graduate of the school of pharmacy of Iowa City, Ia., and, with his mother, owns and conducts the City Drug Store. He is a thorough business man of exemplary habits, being honest, industrious and accommodating.

Mr. and Mrs. Cauch received many beautiful and useful presents from their friends. They have the best wishes of the community for their future happiness and entire success in life. —Santa Paula Chronicle.

The Druggist hereby records its entire approval of above incident and wishes long life and unbounded happiness to bride and groom.—Ed.

Business Personals.

A part of the "personals" appearing in this issue were inadvertently omitted in making up our June number, which will explain the lateness of the comments in a few instances.

G. C. Thaxter has purchased the well known establishment of Stewart, the druggist, Redlands. Mr. Thaxter comes to our State from Carson City, Nevada, where he has for many years been a prominent citizen and druggist. We extend a cordial welcome to Mr. Thaxter and congratulate him upon securing one of the finest drug stores in Southern California.

Mr. Jacob Jesson, late the well-known representative on this coast of Seabury & Johnson, has bought the drug business of L E. Corbin, Ontario. Mr. Jesson is a pharmacist of twenty years' standing, and was for eight years a member of the State Board of Pharmacy of Michigan. We welcome him as a permanent resident instead of occasional visitor, and wish him a prosperous business.

C. C. Fife, Santa Ana, has retired from the arduous pursuit of riches in the drug business, having sold his establishment to Bristol & Rowley, of the same city. The "Star Pharmacy" is under the efficient care of Mr. Chas. Wolfe, assisted by Mr. H. G. Ott, formerly with W. S. Cross, Los Angeles.

Mr. John Schneider has bought the drug stock formerly owned by J. C. Robertson, near Arcade Depot, this city, and has made extensive additions of fresh goods. The store is now in shape to do a satisfactory trade, which we trust it will secure.

Mr. J. J. Brown, lately with L. E. Corbin, Ontario, recently made a trip to the Goler Mining District with a party of gold hunters. We were glad to see "Brownie" back alive, but as for the yellow dust it didn't appear in evidence.

Callender & Gibson, Azusa, have sold out to Griffith & Co., who will continue business at the old stand.

Mr. J. W. Montague has accepted a position with Mr. F. C. Wolf, on First street, this city.

P. C. Montgomery has purchased the stock and fixtures of the Hanford Drug Company, and moved them to Porterville, where he has again embarked in business. "Montie" is one of the most popular men in Porterville, and will doubtless secure a fair share of the drug business of that community.

Frank M. Towne, San Bernardino, is enlarging his Band. The latest addition is a fine boy. Whether he came "disguised as a second trombone" or not, we don't know. Frank is entitled to his summer vacation.

Frank Gillilan, with J. C. Hardman, Riverside, while engaged in celebrating the nomination of McKinley at the ratification meeting, came very near losing his life by the explosion of a large bomb held in his hand, which was lighted without his knowledge by some one in the crowd with a particularly delicate sense of humor. Mr. Gillilan's hand was badly burned and a portion of skin cut from his neck, while the clothing over his abdomen was blown into fragments. A slight change in the direction of the explosive force would have no doubt proved fatal.

W. H. Baldridge, Escondido, has been showing his enterprise and good taste by making some important changes in his place of business. Moving his prescription case farther back and adding more sections to his side fixtures, he has considerably increased the capacity of his front store, while the rear room has been fitted with drawers and shelving to economize space and to protect goods from dust. There are very few more attractive drug stores than that of Mr. Baldridge outside of the large cities, and nowhere a more genial proprietor.

Bristol & Rowley have secured the services of Mr. Oliver Halsted, a graduate of the Chicago College of Pharmacy, as assistant in their main store, Santa Ana.

Mr. Harry Dean, of Messrs. Phillips, Smith & Dean, Santa Ana, is spending some time in Escondido. We want to hear more about that gold mine, Harry!

A. Fairbanks & Son, Santa Ana, report a satisfactory increase of business thus far this season.

Arizona and New Mexico.

Mr. M. J. Brown, Bisbee, has had to undergo a severe surgical operation recently, losing a limb thereby. We are pleased to learn that he is making satisfactory progress toward recovery and will soon be able to attend to business again.

Dr. I. B. Hamilton, Congress, A. T., has sold his business to Dr. John Dennett, Jr.

The Safford Drug Co. has started a branch store at Thatcher, Arizona, nine miles from Safford.

Dr. A. H. Hoeffer, Clifton, has supervised and just completed a fine ice plant in that town, being one of the largest shareholders in the same.

W. H. Small, Lordsburg, N. M., has recently completed some improvements in his store, which have added much to its convenience as well as appearance.

Francis, Park and Rounseville, Williams, Arizona, have consolidated, and are putting up a new building for their business uses.

Dr. Chas. F. Roberts, Williams, reports an improving business. Williams is now a freight, passenger and Pullman division town. We hope the railroad people will now replace that old freight car with a respectable depot building.

We understand that Dr. Hinch, of Hinch & Waring, Gallup, N. M., has recently sold a valuable interest in an Eastern lead mine for a considerable sum. We congratulate him on his good fortune.

Mr. Harry Brisley, Prescott, has just completed a fine residence, which will doubtless increase his comfort as well as add to the good looks of the city.

Mr. J. P. Byron, Deming, N. M., is taking a short vacation in the shape of a visit to the East.

Alexander Bros, Fort Thomas, Ariz., with their large business in general merchandise, drugs and freight forwarding, are about as hard worked a house as that Territory affords.

Ask Mr. O'Reilly (representing Nelson, Baker & Co., Detroit,) how he enjoyed his trip over the Apache trail from Solomononville to Sheldon, but don't expect him to be very communicative on the subject. He confidentially informed the writer if he succeeded in reaching Sheldon alive he would never repeat the trip.

Mr. Fred Fleishman, of Tucson, contemplates a two months' visit to California shortly.

Mr. E. E. Prowell, Phoenix, is doing relief work at Wakelin's while Mr. Larsen is making a visit to the East.

Sylvester Armstrong and Irwin Furl, of C. Eschman & Co.'s pharmacy, have each been given a month's furlough this summer, Mr. Furl taking July for his. Mr. Armstrong has just returned from his outing.

Ed. Litt, with Harry Brisley, Prescott, is paying a visit to his friends in Canada, being relieved during his absence by Chas. Johnson, of Phoenix.

W. Lund, Phoenix, has moved into the room formerly occupied by the Keystone Pharmacy, whereby his business will doubtless be benefited, as it brings him nearer the center of town.

R. Waldin, Phoenix, made a recent trip to the mountains, which resulted in benefit to his health.

The soda fountains and other cool drink dispensers in Phoenix have been rushed with business of late, owing to the heated spell.

State of the Pharmaceutical Club.

The average druggist is not a successful club man. Some say it is because he usually has a family of which he is very fond. Others attribute it to his devotion to business, which is apt to absorb most of the hours when he is not actually eating or sleeping. A few ascribe the failure of druggists' clubs to trade jealousy, but their opinion is evidently not worth noticing. The essential fact upon which all agree is that drug clubs rarely last long.

The Pharmaceutical Club of New York seems likely to prove no exception to the rule. This social organization was duly incorporated in 1894 by twelve young men, only one of whom was a full-fledged druggist, the rest being drug clerks in such establishments as Hegeman's, Hudnut's, Perry's and Riker's. Its growth was phenomenal. On December 1 of that year they had 146 young fellows on the roll, each paying an admission fee of $2 and $2 a quarter dues. They had a floor over the seed store at 37 East Nineteenth street, with elegant furniture, including an eighteen-dollar clock, a pool table and a plentifully stocked sideboard. Enthusiasm ran like water. It was predicted that within a year the club would occupy a house of its own An effort to raise the money necessary for this purpose met with encouraging returns. The members themselves did not subscribe. They called instead upon their employers and especially upon the great wholesale druggists of New York. Then a reception was gotten up which took place at the Lexington Avenue Opera House and was a social success. It was intended to devote the proceeds of this event to the building fund.

About a year ago it was resolved to issue an annual publication to be known as the Pharmaceutical Club Record. Charles H. Nicoll, who had joined the club, undertook to put that scheme through. He is not a pharmacist, but a publisher by occupation. He gets out such works as the New York Athletic Club Record. He believed that the drug trade would patronize the annual to the tune of many thousands of dollars, and he agreed to edit the work and get it out without any risk to the club for fifty per cent. of the gross receipts. T. B. Dean, the corresponding secretary of the club, took the lion's share of the soliciting. He was to be remunerated for his efforts, but he says that all he has received would not amount to five dollars a week if distributed through the past year and a half as salary. Mr. Dean is a frank and honest business man and has a host of friends in the trade. He has worked faithfully in the interests of the club. He asked for advertisements, for write-ups, and for subscriptions for copies, and he got them. It is said that the gross receipts of the Record, if the contracts are all met, will amount to $10,000. Manufacturers and wholesalers as far away as Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore were levied on. It was expected that the book would be issued last fall. It is not out yet, and the reason assigned for the delay is that time was necessary to get advertisements.

From the moment the Record was first decided on, the troubles of the club commenced. The treasurer, T. A. Barnes, had been to much expense and trouble in the interests of the organization, and he presented a bill of $100 expenses, which was not allowed, whereupon he resigned. Then a write-up was secured for $250 from the manufacturer of one kind of "bromo" who had a controversy against the manufacturer of another variety, and the organization indorsed the $250 man, which alienated those members who were in favor of the rival concern. With thousands of dollars in prospect from outside sources, it did seem a waste of good money to pay dues, so most of the members neglected this little necessity. It is hard to say who was to blame for the neglected condition into which the club speedily drifted. Several of the officers and best members were prevented from attending at all by their business duties, many of them being absent from the city. The publishers of the Record were working night and day and seldom saw the inside of the club. An irresponsible set who were known as "the faithful few," frequented the rooms, but during the past year not over ten meetings, all told, have been held. The doings of 'the faithful few" would furnish a fit theme for the pen of a Fielding, and the amount of fun they had exceeds the highest figures on any standard of measurement yet invented. The principal difficulty was that none of the "faithful" seemed disposed to pay their little accounts with the steward. When it was found that the liquor bills were growing mountain high, a meeting was called, and it was resolved to limit all bills of this character to three dollars a member. After the meeting, those who tarried immediately went to the prescribed limit. Then neat little books were printed at the club's expense, to be sold at one dollar each to the members. The book contained checks good for drinks. The books were very popular, some of the members buying as many as they could get on credit.

Perhaps the funniest thing about the club was the steward. He was a crack wrestler and all the members knew that he was not to be trifled with. He ran the club for a while as though it belonged to him. In view of the slowness of some of the members in paying their bills, it may not be just to blame him for the fact that his accounts showed that he had drawn $600 from the treasury to be invested in wines, liquors and cigars at wholesale prices, and yet, in spite of the enormous profits of the retail liquor business, he had received only $200 from the sale of them. But certainly it was unfortunate for him that during his administration, the $18 clock and all the pool balls were stolen. It is also charged that during this period somebody used to dilute the whiskey with water in order to make the supply hold out. The indignation of "the faithful few" at this discovery may be better imagined than described. It was necessary that somebody should suffer, and so the steward was discharged, and a fresh levy was made on the treasury.

Although a building fund had been enthusiastically talked of no moneys had ever been set aside for the purpose. This made the club purse a large one, but even a large purse will not stand too much, and last winter the club found it necessary to discontinue the sale of liquors altogether. Since that time, the present steward, who is a very serviceable and intelligent young colored man, formerly employed at Riker's, is frequently called on to go to a neighboring restaurant to get needed refreshments. But even an empty treasury did not stimulate the clerks to pay their dues. Meanwhile the steward's salary, the room rent, and various other accounts were running behind. At this juncture, Mr. Nicoll, who had not attended the club for a long time, was called on for help. He and Mr. Dean had been pushing the advertising, and saw certain income for the club in sight as soon as the book should be issued. Accordingly Mr. Nicoll very kindly paid the steward and arranged to pay the rent of the rooms regularly. All the other debts of the concern, if pressing, are met by him. He will reimburse himself from the proceeds of the book.

"The club was never in better condition than at present," said Mr. Nicoll to an Era man last week. "A year ago they had more enthusiasm, but now they are down to a good financial basis. Several new members have come in. The amounts we have raised toward the building fund have been much exaggerated. Practically the only source of such contributions has been in connection with the book which is now in the printer's hands and will be issued the middle of next month. After paying for the club dinner and the other expenses, the great reception of March 4, last year, brought us only $127 net profit, if I recollect right. Some of our kind friends have let us have the amount of their subscriptions to the Record in advance, for pressing needs. Not more than $2,000 has been thus raised. It has all been spent to pay the debts of the club. I have advanced money for the benefit of the club. But I expect that notwithstanding all these expenses, when everything is paid up, we shall be able to turn into the club treasury $1,000, which will put them on their feet again. That is why I say the club is in good condition. As for the book, it is to contain 290 pages, and we shall print between 7,000 and 8,000 copies for free distribution among all the druggists in this vicinity. It will be a work any club might be proud of."—Era.

The Missouri Pharmaceutical Association.

The Missouri Pharmaceutical Association held its eighteenth annual meeting at Excelsior Springs, June 9, 10, 11 and 12.

President J. M. Love, of Kansas City, was in the chair. His annual address cautioned the druggists against losing sight of the commercial side of their occupation, but urged them to push forward in the profession and become known as pharmacists in the true sense. He implored them to keep up national, State and local organizations, and spoke a good word for the A. Ph. A. The Pharmacopoeia was pointed out as the official guide, and the National Formulary was duly noticed. A fitting tribute was paid to the memory of the late Dr. Charles O. Curtman. The association was cautioned against over zealous efforts for legislation, but requested to ask for a law requiring proprietary preparations, foods and medicines to have on the label a guarantee from the manufacturer as to the length of time the preparation will keep in good condition. The president favored free alcohol in pharmacy. Continued interest and support for the Board of Pharmacy was asked, and several other timely suggestions made.

Secretary H. M. Whelpley reported a membership list of 674.

Treasurer E. G. Orear reported a balance of $84.25.

A. S. Forker, Chairman of the Committee on Membership, reported 22 new names.

The following papers were read and discussed: Process for Spirit of Nitrous Ether, with Practical Demonstration, by Professor David Walker, of Kansas City; What Shall We Do to Induce the Druggists to Become Members of, and Attend the Meeting of the A. Ph. A. and the M. Ph. A.? by A. N. Doerschuk, of Kansas City; How to Prevent the Cutting of Prices on Patent and Proprietary Medicines, by T. A. Moseley, of Harrisonville; Semi-Proprietary, or So-Called Elegant Preparations, by C. E. Corcoran, of Kansas City; The Future of Pharmacy in the United States, by A. N. Doerschuk, of Kansas City; The Professional and Business Aspects of Pharmacy, by T. A. Moseley, of Harrisonville; Semi-Proprietary, or So-Called Elegant Preparations, by R. J. Brown, of Leavenworth, Kansas; Semi-Proprietary, or So-Called Elegant Preparations, by J. M. Love, of Kansas City; Hints for the Benefit of the M. Ph. A., by Ambrose Mueller, of St. Louis; Problems in Organic Chemistry, by Prof. J. M. Good, of St. Louis; Eighteen Years of Pharmaceutical Reminiscences in Missouri, by F. R. Dimmitt, of Kansas City; Methods of Detecting Drug Adulterations, with Illustrations, by Professor Francis Hemm, of St. Louis; A New Method of Preserving Fruits and Flowers, by John Wright, of Indianapolis, Ind.

Prizes were awarded for papers as follows: Francis Hemm, $10 in gold, from the J. S. Merrell Drug Company; A. N. Doerschuk, $5 in gold, from the J. S. Merrell Drug Company; also a sponge case from Woodward, Faxon & Co.; Ambrose Mueller, a copy of the Era Formulary, from the publisher; David Walker, one dozen Listerine, from the manufacturer; C. E. Corcoran, one pair fine counter scales, from Henry Troemner; also fifty pounds of glycerine from W. J. M. Gordon; J. M. Love, $5 in gold, from the J. S. Merrell Drug Company; J. M. Good, copy of the United States Dispensatory, from the Meyer Brothers Druggist.

George C. Bartell, of Camp Point, reported as a delegate from the Illinois Association, and S. C. Wilson, of Lincoln, from the Nebraska Association.

The Association adopted a resolution urging all institutions teaching pharmacy to require satisfactory evidence for each applicant for the degree of Ph. G., showing at least four years' time served in a drug store under the direction of a competent pharmacist.

Meramec Highlands, June 22, 1897, was selected for the place and time for the next annual meeting.

The Memorial Committee presented appropriate resolutions to the memories of Drs. Charles O. Curtman and C. C. Hamilton.

Francis Hemm, chairman of the Committee on Drug Adulterations, made a lengthy report showing that the quality of the drugs in Missouri is better than formerly.

William Mittelbach, chairman of the Committee on the U. S. Pharmacopoeia, presented a lengthy report full of practical recommendations.

R. E. Maupin, chairman of the Committee on Legislation, made an extended report.

F. A. Faxon, chairman of the Committee on Trade Interests, made a verbal report, in which he stated that the retail druggists are much to blame for the demoralized condition of trade on account of their voluntary cutting of prices.

The Missouri Pharmaceutical Travelers' Association held a successful meeting and contributed largely to the amusement feature of the M. Ph. A. Convention. W. E. Berryman, of the Meyer Brothers Drug Company, was elected President, and A. S. Forker, of Evans-Gallagher Drug Company, Secretary and Treasurer.

The following officers were elected: President, Eugene Soper, St. Joseph; First Vice President, F. W. Sennewald, St. Louis; Second Vice-President, Dr. D. K. Morton, Missouri City; Third Vice-President, W. R. Sheldrup, Pierce City; Secretary, Dr. H. M. Whelpley, St. Louis; Treasurer, William Mittelbach, Boonville; Assistant Secretary, Ambrose Mueller, St. Louis; Local Secretary, Thomas Layton, St. Louis; Members of the Council, J. M. Good, of St. Louis; J. M. Love, of Kansas City; R. E. Maupin, of Pattonsburg; C. E. Corcoran, of Kansas City, and Miss Fredrica De Wyl, of Jefferson City.

Points of Difference Between Rubber and Gutta Percha.

"India rubber is of a soft, gummy nature, not very tenacious, astonishingly elastic."	"Gutta percha is fibrous, extremely tenacious, and without much elasticity or flexibility."
"India rubber once reduced to a liquid state by heat, appears like tar and is unfit for further use."	"Gutta percha may be melted and cooled any number of times without injury for future manufacture."
"India rubber coming in contact with oily or fatty substances is soon decomposed and ruined."	"Gutta percha is not decomposed by coming in contact with oily or fatty substances."
"India rubber is ruined by coming in contact with sulphuric, muriatic, and other acids."	"Gutta percha resists the action of these and nearly all acids."
"India rubber is a conductor of heat, cold and electricity."	"Gutta percha is a non-conductor of heat, cold and electricity."
"India rubber exposed to the action of boiling water increases in bulk, does not lose its elasticity and cannot be moulded."	"Gutta percha exposed to the action of boiling water contracts, becomes soft like dough, may be moulded into any shape, which will be retained when cool."
"India rubber is not a perfect repellant of water, but is more or less absorbent according to quality."	"Gutta percha has an oily property and is a perfect repellent of liquids."

Liquor Dealers Under Arrest.

A sensation was created in Minneapolis, Minn., by the arrests of George G. Jacoby and Moritz Mikolas of a liquor house doing a wholesale business, on an indictment charging them with counterfeiting the stamp of Hiram Walker & Sons, of Ontario, manufacturers of the Canadian Club whisky, also the stamp of the Commissioner of Inland Revenue of Canada, and selling the liquor at cheap prices. The matter was brought before the grand jury of Hennepin county and an indictment returned upon which the arrests of Mikolas and Jacoby were made. Jacoby is a well-known citizen and has been prominent for years as a Democratic politician.—Western Broker.

To the Editor of California Druggist, Los Angeles, Cal.:

Dear Sir: A paragraph is going the rounds of the medical journals giving a formula for making Palatable Castor Oil.

This formula is patented as per following list of patents:
No. 410,940, dated September 10, 1891.
No. 470,415, dated March 15th, 1892.
No. 470,418, dated March 15th, 1892.
No. 524,513, dated August 14th, 1894.
No. 524,514, dated August 14th, 1894.

And if druggists are induced to prepare this article themselves it will lead to a multitude of law suits like those instituted in the "Drive Well" case.

Some scheming lawyer would like to take up this case for one-half the profits, and I think journals should warn the druggists so that they may not be caught in a trap. Yours very truly,

A. J. White.

A New Patent for Shooting Oil Wells.

J. W. Van Dyke, general manager of the Solar oil refinery of Lima, and Herman Frasch, chemist for the Standard Oil Company of Cleveland, have taken out letters patent upon an entirely new idea in shooting oil wells, which will revolutionize the business and make good and paying wells of small ones which nitro-glycerine fails to benefit. The method has been successfully experimented with and wells, doing three and four barrels, have been increased 300 and 400 per cent. after having been shot with glycerine and not materially increased. The discovery means thousands of dollars to the Lima and Indiana oil fields. The method used is to force hydrochloric acid into the oil rock and is based on the fact that the oil-bearing rock is lime formation, which is readily dissolved or disintegrated by acids. Hydrochloric acid changes 40 per cent. by weight of rock into carbonic acid gas and the remaining 60 per cent. into chloride of calcium. The chloride of calcium is more soluble in water than common table salt, while the carbonic acid gas is readily bound by the water when under pressure. There were sixty-five barrels of acid used in the well on the Crossley farm, which was doing three barrels, and it is now doing fifteen barrels. The channels in the rock were so tight that even with a pressure of between 800 and 900 pounds per square inch the rock would take barely a barrel of acid and water an hour. However, as the acid began to work the channels in the rock gradually increased, so that at the finish the rock would take six barrels per hour. Since doctored this well has been pumped some forty days. The oil was increased 300 per cent. and the gas over 400 per cent. The increase is permanent, as the well is holding up.—*P. O. & D. A Question of Profits.

The wisdom of buying Tip Top Cough Syrup in Fats can be easily demonstrated. Take your pencil and figure a moment and you will find that to the customary buyer of one-quarter dozen of Tip Top a Fat would mean an extra 16⅔ per cent. profit on the additional investment. While to the customary buyer of one-half dozen a Fat of Tip Top would mean an extra 25 per cent profit on the additional investment.

The "Sanitas" unfermented grape juice in full quarts ($6.50 per doz,) has been placed in stock by F. W. Braun & Co., and will be found the most economical by far for soda fountain use. The varieties sold comprise Sweet Muscat, Muscatel, Malvoise and Zinfandel.

Sodium Chloride Solution for Drug Extraction.

Dr. Bernegan reports in the Pharmaceutische Zeitung that for more than a year he has been experimenting with solutions of salt for exhausting various drugs, principally coffee and kola, and he finds that a 2 per cent. solution is far more effective than plain water, while the resulting extracts are much superior. Lately he has applied this process in the preparation of the extract of ergot of the German pharmacœpia, his procedure being as follows: Mix intimately 100 grams of freshly powdered ergot with 5 grams of pure sodium chloride, add 250 grams of water, set aside for twenty-four hours, express, again macerate the dregs with a solution of 5 grams of sodium chloride in 260 grams of water, express after twenty-four hours, unite the two liquids, add shreds of filter paper, and heat to the boiling point After cooling filter the liquid, add 70 grams of milk-sugar, again heat to the boiling point, and then reduce by careful evaporation to the consistence of an extract. To every two parts of this extract add 1 part of alcohol, stir, let stand for twelve hours, dilute with water, remove the albuminous matter separated by filtration, and concentrate carefully until the residue can be readily pulled to pieces. Finally weigh the mass and by the addition of milk-sugar bring up to the weight of 100 grams (the original weight of the drug), reduce to a powder by trituration, and as a precaution dry thoroughly over quicklime.—Western Druggist.

Be a Merchant.

These are "Merchant times" in the drug business, and he who trims his sails to the cominff breeze will surely get the advantage of beiug among the first to move in the right direction. The trend of the times is toward consolidation, and "only a chemist" will bring a man in but very few dollars. Better to adapt yourself to the conditions existing and try to be near the head of the procession as it passes on. Keep in your store what is asked for, or liable to be, even if it is postage stamps or fishing tackle, cutlery or stationery. There is profit in these goods, and that is what you are in business for, or should be. An honorable profession is very nice, but in the drug business it cuts a very small figure in producing bread for your family. There is not enough "Profession" to go round, but there is enough "honorable business," if you will make an effort to keep it in the drug stores and not drive it away.—Boston Drug Market.

A Remedy for Black Eye.

A writer in Medical Progress says in this trouble, as well as in rheumatism, sore or stiff neck, there is nothing to compare with a tincture or strong infusion of capsicum mixed with an equal bulk of mucilage of gum arabic, with the addition of a few drops of glycerine. The bruised surface is painted with this mixture and allowed to dry on; a second or third time, if necessary, speedily relieves.

Last summer Mr. Chesebrough, the originator of vaseline, mentioned a new preparation for these troubles, in which the capsicum was combined with vaseline and used as above directed. It was so successful in our hands that it is now almost a daily prescription.

A New South Wales subscriber writes for "an approved formula for preparing a colorless anti-ferment for preserving milk in bulk for, say, two to six days, during the summer months, until delivered to the factory or creamery; usually delivered daily, but occasionally subject to interruption. The preparation requires to be put up in 8-oz. bottles, for sale at, say, 1s. or 1s. 2d. each, and used in small quantities for 15 to 20 gallons of milk." Formalin meets the case well. Two teaspoonsful of it suffice for the preservation of 20 gallons of milk; but the solution is generally diluted—viz., 1 oz. to 19 oz. of water—and a teacupful of this used for the 20 gallons.—Chemist and Druggist.

Chemical Discovery.

The London correspondent of the Manchester Evening News hears that "a chemical discovery of enormous public interest has just been made by a London analyst, who has already secured the assistance of the British Government for a practical test of its charms. This is no less than a direct solvent for cotton, which is itself volatile, and leaves behind it nothing but pure cotton cellulose—that is to say, cotton fibre, reduced to an amorphous pulp. This substance differs radically from nitro-cellulose, the highly inflammable and odorous compound which in one of its forms becomes gun-cotton and in another vegetable ivory. The possible uses of the new material are innumerable. It has already been experimentally moulded into buttons and billiard balls, being less than half the price of celluloid or xylonite, while the fact that it is incombustible will enable it to be adopted for many domestic uses for which the camphorated material is unsuited. When it is added that the specific form of the departmental encouragement above referred to is a definite contract for sacks in this new cotton pulp, to which the name of viscose is given, it will be understood that we are on the threshhold of a new industry, in which Manchester is not unlikely to find itself directly interested."

Some years ago Dr. R. G. Eccles, of New York, worked along with Dr. Wiley, the chief chemist of the U. S. Agricultural Department, on the constituents of the sweet shrub of Tennessee (Calycanthus glaucus), and he separated from it a peculiar alkaloid, calycanthine. He has been speaking about the matter to the American Chemical Society, and there is an abstract of his paper in the American Druggist (xxviii. page 119). Dr. Eccles has ascertained the formula of the alkaloid to be $C_{17}H_{23}N_3O$, and its specific rotation + 651 75°—i. e., the highest for any known body except the diamond. This is an astonishing thing, but is correct, for the crystals scintillate just like gems. Here we have one more example of the inadequacy of men's minds to account for extraordinary physical properties in bodies which do not exhibit extraordinary composition. Dr. Eccles has found two other alkaloids in the sweet shrub, and a peculiar acid allied to citric and tartaric, but differing from them in reaction.—Chemist and Druggist.

Mannocitin.

A rust-preventing compound, called mannocitin, of German invention, is attracting much attention. The compound is composed of greases and volatile oils, and is applied in a thin coating, and has the advantage of spreading so that a little covers a large surface. One gallon will protect the surface of over eleven hundred square feet. The volatile oils evaporate after application, and leave a thin film tightly adhering to the metal, forming a coating which affords perfect and permanent protection and also prevents corrosion and rust.

It is claimed that this mannocitin is absolutely neutral, containing no acid. One coat of the preparation, and it is easily applied with a rag, will protect the metal for years, whether it be the finest and smallest tools or the largest machinery. It forms a protection against salt air, dampness, fresh or salt water, perspiration and the fumes of ammonia and hydrochloric acid.

It does not rub off by handling or by the contact of wrapping paper or dust; it is transparent, so it does not influence color, and as its melting point is high it will be of use on boilers.

It may be removed by an application of benzine or turpentine so that scratching is avoided, making it useful as a protective coat for engravers' plates when not in use. It may be bought in any quantities and seems to be a valuable invention. —Scientific American.

Synthetic Oil of Rose is one of the novelties. Tests we have seen made show a remarkable purity of odor, notably in the extemporaneous preparation of rose water from the oil, which is certainly a delicate test of quality.

F. W. Braun & Co. have received a small lot of this oil and are selling it at about half the price of Kissanlik oil.

F. W. BRAUN & Co. have taken the agency for Southern California for the Hoffman House Bouquet cigars and will supply the trade in future. They are also agents for the "Footlights," a new five cent cigar of excellent quality.

THOMPSON'S Wild Cherry Phosphate is an unexcelled summer drink and is so put up as to supply the wants of the general public for a home beverage. The counter outfits consist of the "Hummer," costing $5, and the "Demonstrator," which costs $25. Druggists need have no fear of taking hold of the article. The free sampling causes lips to smack and "quarters" to roll out abundantly. F. W. Braun & Co., supply it.

AN elegant flavoring is Wood's Extract of Orange, made by J. W. Wood, Pasadena, from the fresh fruit. For soda water syrup or for general culinary purposes it is unequaled. $1 per pound. F. W. Braun & Co. have it.

THE Medicated Egg is a novelty, filling a "long felt want." It is, in fact, a potent disinfectant inclosed in a porous shell, and when kept in the nest effectually prevents or drives away the vermin which infest poultry. They retail for 15 cents, affording the trade a good profit. F. W. Braun & Co. have them.

GUILFOYLE'S "PERFECTION" ACID PHOSPHATE BOTTLE PATENTED

No More Spoiled Sodas.

No more waste, no more danger of corrosive poisons—no more slipping of corks from squirt bottles when you forget to hold them in while sprinkling.

Guilfoyle's Perfection Acid Phosphate Bottle (Porcelain Stopper) does away with all these troubles—it has no cork to slip—no metal to corrode—simply a depression in the neck of the bottle into which is sprung a flexible ring and a corresponding depression inside of stopper which fits snugly down over the ring, making a perfect joint. It cannot come off until it is pulled off for the purpose of refilling. Neat, handy, clean, and will last for years. The loss by a single accident with the old time squirt will almost pay for one of them.

AN important decision regarding the legal position of the owner, and consequently manager, of a drug store, was rendered by Judge McMichael, of Philadelphia, July 18. The defendant, S. M. Zacharias, was the owner in part of three drug stores in that city, employing registered pharmacists in all of them, although he was not himself a pharmacist, nor did he personally perform the duties of such.

The Court held that under the law the owner of the drug store must be a registered pharmacist. A fine of $100 and costs was imposed.

This decision accords with that in Toronto, noted in another column, and indicates the tendency of events in the future of the drug trade, when the business will be in the hands of pharmacists only, and outsiders desiring to reap the supposed benefits of the business must first become qualified to receive registration at the hands of their State Board of Pharmacy.

A SPECIAL train from St. Louis will run for the benefit and accommodation of the Western and Southern visitors to Montreal on the occasion of the meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Association August 12 to 18. The train will leave St. Louis at 7 P.M., August 9, arriving at Montreal at 6:30 P.M. on the 11th, and making the latter part of the trip by steamer from Kingston, through the Thousand Islands and down the Lachine Rapids. The round trip from St. Louis is to cost $32. All purchasers of tickets are advised to procure convention certificates. It is expected that the attendance upon the meeting will be large, notwithstanding the stringency of the times. Dr. H. M. Whelpley, St. Louis, is a member of the Committee on Transportation, and will arrange for sleeper accommodations for parties going via St. Louis, upon notification in advance.

FREDERICK STEARNS has been selected as a representative of the National Manufacturers' Association, an organization which is endeavoring to establish closer business relations with the people of the Central and South American countries. Mr. Stearns goes on his mission to our Southern neighbors well equipped by education and experience to perform the duties required of such a commission. Previous to his departure from home the Detroit Museum of Art presented Mr. Stearns with a beautiful bronze medal as a token of its recognition of the public benefactions of their honored follow-citizen. The presentation was made by Gen. R. A. Alger. In his reply Mr. Stearns alluded to the fact that he had just passed the fiftieth anniversary of his entrance into the art and practice of pharmacy. Detroit has been fortunate in the possession of many public spirited and generous citizens, but none, so far as we know, have received such hearty and general recognition of their usefulness as has Mr. Stearns.

BY a recent consolidation of interests the borax production of the world has passed into the hands of one international company, to be known as the Pacific Coast and Redwoods Chemical Company, Limited. The capital stock is $2,500,000. The principal offices of the company will be in England.

Decreasing Number of Wholesale Druggists.

The fact that the wholesale drug houses of the city of New York number only one-half what they did in 1866 gave occasion for comment in the Era of April 16, and for some remarks upon the subject by the Meyer Bros. Druggist (June) wherein the decrease of the wholesale drug fraternity in St. Louis is stated to have been even more notable than in

New York, having declined from 12 in 1866 to 5 in 1896. The reason for so remarkable a change during a period of great growth in population is deemed obscure, and more light is asked upon the subject.

It is our opinion that the facts are partly accounted for by the wider distribution of jobbing houses into the smaller cities and rural centers of trade, where a very large number of houses are engaged in supplying the retail local trade, and whose success became possible and was largely due to the inauguration of the "rebate" plan in the handling of proprietary goods. In addition to this cause may be named the gradual absorption or extinction of the smaller by the larger firms, whose concentration of capital has enabled them to accomplish results utterly unattainable by their weaker brethren, who were willing to withdraw and give up the unequal contest. The history of business at the present day will show a similar concentration in all lines of trade, it being obvious that the percentage of expense is very greatly reduced when one house and one management takes the place of several. It is all strictly in accordance with the spirit of the time, and we anticipate nothing different until the social order is changed and the theories of Bellamy become living facts.

The claim of Prof. Hunickel (if Drug Review states it correctly) that he can extract $10,000 worth of gold from sea water at a cost of $1, and that from 2 to 4 cents is the yield per ton of water, seems an excellent mining proposition. Let's see—an average yield of 3 cents would require 333,333⅓ tons to produce $10,000. We are willing to invest the dollar, but somebody else may handle the water.

At the laboratory of the Chicago College of Pharmacy a number of tests were made of the various waters used for drinking purposes in that city, and the surprising statement is made that the "distilled" waters there sold are filled with bacteria and impurities, and are less fit for use in the pharmacy and the sick room than even the ordinary city water. The analyst concludes his report with the following recommendation:

"I believe if pharmacists and others desiring a pure water would take the city water and precipitate it by one of the old processes—either with eight or ten grains of official potassium alum ($K_2 Al_2 (SO_4)_4 24H_2O$) to the gallon or a slight excess of neutral ferric chloride ($Fe_2 Cl_6$), from 10 to fifteen grains per gallon, and then carefully filter, it would be found, when freshly prepared, superior to the commercial distilled waters of the market."

The Chemist and Druggist, in its market report "On the Opium Crop" (June 20) states that the depression in the crude-drug business is greater in extent than has been known this generation.

Prof. Francis Hemm has been appointed to the chair of chemistry and professor in charge of the chemical laboratory of the Missouri Medical College, vice Dr. Chas. C. Curtman, deceased. The appointment is one which appears to be well received by those best acquainted with Prof. Hemm, who though less than forty years of age, occupies a prominent place among pharmacists as a worker and writer.

The Pharmacal Digest says Seattle is threatened with a cut-rate war. Interviews with various members of the drug fraternity show that only a spark is needed to start the flame. Go slow, gentlemen, at the bottom end of that toboggan slide is deep water!

A recent attempt in Portland, Or., to maintain an exclusively prescription store has resulted in failure. It would probably be no different in Los Angeles, though in the large Eastern cities such establishments have proved extremely successful. Given the right conditions and the specialist in pharmacy has a field to occupy as legitimate as that of the medical specialist.

A case has recently been decided by the High Court of Justice at Toronto which is of considerable interest to the drug trade, in that the decision is emphatically adverse to the departmental drug shop. The case was brought by the Ontario College of Pharmacy against the owner of the departmental store, (a qualified pharmacist being in sole charge of the drug department) for selling poisons contrary to law, and for keeping open shop for such selling. The police magistrate before whom the case was first tried dismissed the complaint, but the Superior Court, upon appeal, reversed the magistrate's decision, giving their opinion that the design of the statute was to prohibit persons not registered from engaging in the drug business. The Canadian Druggist says, at the close of its report of the whole business:

"The members of the council of the college deserve the thanks of the druggists of this province for bringing this case before the Superior Court and setting aside the judgment of the Toronto police magistrate It is the first case of the kind in the Dominion of Canada. It thoroughly establishes what keeping open shop means, and who are the proper persons to engage in the business of druggist."

The Kansas Pharmaceutical Association has a membership of 453. There are registered in that State 1426 pharmacists and 78 assistants. At the last annual meeting of the association, May 26, officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, W. J. Evans, Iola; Vice Presidents, E. C. Fritsche, Leavenworth, and M. S. Ingalls, Halstead; Secretary, Mrs. M. O. Miner, Hiawatha; Treasurer, T. W. Atkins, Girard; Librarian, L. E. Sayre, Lawrence; Assistant Secretary, F. McDonald, Topeka.

The Nebraska Pharmaceutical Association held its annual meeting June 2nd, at Lincoln, on which occasion twenty new members were received. Officers were elected as follows: President, John J. Teton, Nebraska City; Vice Presidents, Theo. St. Martin, Wahoo; A. W. Buckheit, Grand Island; J. F. Gerke, Seward; C. L. Smith, Omaha, and F. T. Carlton, Palmyra; Secretary, W. L. Heilman, Tecumseh; Treasurer, Jerry Bowen, Wood River; Local Secretary, C. H. Smith, Plattsmouth.

Prescription Writing Gone Mad.

The height of hand-me-down prescription writing certainly is reached in the formula below, contributed to a recent number of the Medical Brief. This wonderful product of a lazy medic's brain reads as follows:

R	Iodia	oz. 1
	Celerina	oz. 1
	Chionia	oz. 1
	Aletris cordial	oz. 1
	Papine	oz. 1

M. Sig.: Take one teaspoonful three times daily.

In conjunction use freely, twice daily, the following: Chloroform, aqua ammonia, spirits turpentine, sweet oil, No. 6, of each equal parts, mix and apply thoroughly over the affected parts; this is a fine liniment. If the bowels do not respond, give her small and repeated doses of fluid cascara (aromatized).

Does this worthy desciple of Aesculap know with what he is dosing his helpless victim who, he says, is afflicted with a disordered liver, uterine trouble and rheumatic diathesis—indeed, did he stop to think? Such prescribing is on a par with that of the middle ages when a half-dozen alexipharmics were thrown together with the belief that out of the many ingredients one at least must hit the right spot. What here becomes of pharmaco dynamics and pharmaco-chemics and our Pharmacopœia and our venerable materia medica— and what are our medical schools doing? Surely, there must be a shaking-up soon.

—Western Druggist.

The editorial remarks above quoted we deem too serious for the case in hand. To our experienced eye the prescription bears the plain earmarks of the medical fakir, not physician. We are willing to wager every old (pill) tile we possess that the author is practicing under a purchased diploma, or none at all. We know the crowd of old.—Ed. Cal. Druggist.

Wine and Song.

'Tis said that poetry and wine are very near allied.
I always feel poetic when I have it by my side,
For when I've got a bottle of the best old bourbon nigh,
Oh! then's the witching moment "when the swallows homeward fly."

I feel as I imbibe the sweet, invigorating nips
"Our spirits rush together at the touching of the lips."
What wonder that I gaze upon its bloom and sadly sigh

Fossil Truffles.

The truffle, that queer vegetable which is hunted with trained dogs and pigs, and the best varieties of which are worth their weight in silver in this country, has, it appears, according to the distinguished geologist, E. Dumas, been found in a fossil state. In the deposits of lignite at Pont-Saint-Esprit (Department of Gard, France) there occur numerous grayish kidney-shaped calcareous nodules. On fracture of these nodules they are found to be of fibrous structure, and to present a very singular form of crystallization—fine needles lying perpendicular to the axis of the kidney. When one is broken into, numerous minute crystals resembling a white powder fall out. This crystalline dust has a strong and characteristic odor of truffles, which persists even after long exposure. The perfume, for such it is, seems identical with that of the best Perigord truffle. Efforts have been made to extract it, with oil, alcohol, etc., but the experiment has thus far failed. The name Truffite has very appropriately been bestowed on this singular mineral, which, as we have stated, is regarded by distinguished authority as a fossil truffle. That it is of vegetable origin has been definitely settled by microscopical examination. The position of the nodules makes it evident, too, that they were deposited in situ by the action of the water—the sea, which left them lying there, at some indeterminate epoch in time, where they were calcified; but, unlike all other fossil woods, they have retained their perfume, through all the thousands of years which have elapsed since they grew and flourished beneath some spreading larch tree. Whence they came, and by what peculiar property or structure they have retained their odor are mysteries which the chemist and geologist of the future will have to solve.—Nat'l. Druggist.

Land Measurement.

The "acre" is the amount which a team of oxen were supposed to plow in a day. It corresponds to the German "morgen" and the French "journee." It was fixed by the ordinance of Edward I. as a furlong in length and four poles in breadth. The "furlong" or "furrow long" is the distance which a team of oxen can plow conveniently without stopping to rest.

Oxen, as we know, were driven, not with a whip, but with a goad or pole, the most convenient length for which was sixteen and one-half feet; and the ancient plowman also used his pole or perch as a measure by placing it at right angles to his first furrow, thus marking off the amount he had to plow. Hence, our "pole" or "perch" of sixteen and one-half feet, which at first sight seems a very singular unit to have selected. This width is also convenient both for turning the plow and for sowing. Hence the most convenient unit of land for arable purposes was a furlong in length and a perch or pole in width.—Exchange.

Peppermint Oil as an Antiseptic.

A native doctor, in the Indian Medical Reporter, recommends peppermint oil as an antiseptic. He says its utility is beyond question. He has tried it in every kind of open ulcer, and it has proved most efficacious. He has a liking for oil of cinnamon for the same purpose. Either that or peppermint oil has many advantages, he avers, which should ensure them a trial, and help to dispose of the presence of carbolic acid and iodoform, both of them somewhat evil-smelling articles. As far as odor is concerned, there can be no question as to the pleasant nature of the change.

Melancholia Cured by Intranasal Operation.

F. H. Bosworth, M D, describes in the International Magazine the case of a man, aged 42, who suffered from depressive melancholia, at first periodical, but later constant, who became unfitted for business. He complained of the eyeballs feeling as if too large for the sockets and of a bursting pain between the eyes. He had at different times been operated on for varicocele, stricture, ligation of the pudic artery, removal of the testicles, and hemorrhoids. He had worn glasses, had his eye-muscles cut, and one eye enucleated. He had been circumcised, had his spine cauterized, and worn a seton in his neck. Examination of the nose showed the right nostril nearly occluded by a thickened bulging of the cartilaginous septum and the left middle turbinate thickened, with myxomatous degeneration, and evidences of ethmoid disease. The nostrils were freed with saw and snare, and all symptoms quickly disappeared.

Business Personals.

The well known drug house of Thomas & Ellington, Temple and Spring streets, has undergone a change in ownership by dissolution of the firm and the retirement of Mr. Ellington. The Thomas Drug Company succeeds the former firm, and the splendid business they have built up will not be allowed to suffer decline in the hands of Mr. Thomas.

John Beckwith has purchased the business formerly owned by F. C. McKinnie, 1438 San Fernando street, this city.

Dr. A. H. Hoeffer, of Clifton, Arizona, spent a few days in and about Los Angeles last month.

Paul E. Jones, with Dr. G. H. Keefer, Phoenix, has been making a visit to our coast. Los Angeles weather seemed uncomfortable, somehow, too, as Mr. Jones remarked.

John Pratt, Gila Bend, Ariz., is taking a few weeks' vacation at the seaside resorts near Los Angeles.

R. Waldin, Phoenix, is taking needed rest and recreation in Southern California. We trust he will find good fishing and have an all around good time.

Harry Fleming, with C. E. Weck, Riverside, spent a week's outing at Catalina last month.

Dr. F. S. Langdon, of the office force of F. W. Braun & Co., took a recent "lay off," and with Mrs. Langdon spent an enjoyable fortnight at and about San Diego.

Mr. E. A. Baer, Bakersfield, has gone on his summer vacation and has engaged Sam W. Pierce to assist in the care of the business during his absence.

Mr. George H. Monroe, Fresno, has gone on a trip to Mt. Whitney for his outing.

E. A. Cutter, San Jacinto, has gone North on a month's pleasure trip, making us a pleasant call en route.

Dr. T. Shields Collins, Globe, Arizona, is spending a little time at Santa Monica.

Oklahoma Board of Pharmacy.

The Oklahoma Board of Pharmacy met July 7, at Oklahoma City. Members present, W. T. Mayfield and G. B. Dean. The following were granted certificates of registration: By examination, J. W. Burks, W. W. Yeager, J. A. Dinkler, G. W. Bellamy, O. C. Bowers, H. A. Jones. By diplomas, Lem Dowaner, Mascha A. Tucker, W. E. Honyman, C. R. Honyman. By certificates, H. C. Graham, G. A. Waters. The next meeting of the board will be at Oklahoma City, Oct. 6, 1896.

Yours respectfully,
E. E. Howendobler, Secretary.

California State Board of Pharmacy.

The California State Board of Pharmacy held a session at San Francisco from July 8th to the 13th, inclusive.

The following named were granted registration as Graduates:

H. M. Simmons, San Francisco; A. B. E. Engstrand, U. S. N.; W. P. Johnson, Los Gatos; Otto J. Demond, St. Joseph, Mo.; H. J. Mittelbach, St. Joseph, Mo.; Alex. E. Muse, Los Angeles; C. C. Rubel, Marysville; P. H. Ward, San Francisco; Adial S. Jones, Placerville; W. J. Wedekind, Oakland; J. H. Plum, Paso Robles; C. T. L. Gydison, Oakland.

There were thirteen candidates for examination as Licentiate in Pharmacy, of which number the following named were successful:

Young J. Acton, U. S. A.; Thos. Price, Vacaville; C. W. R. von Radesky, U. S. A; J. H. W. Esters v. Krakan, San Francisco.

There were seven candidates for assistant by examination of which the following two named were successful:

G. P. Keller, Concord; N. Schwartz, San Francisco.

The following named were also registered as assistant pharmacists:

Ottto F. Krebs, San Luis Obispo; C. W. Tjader, San Leandro; F. L. Bayly, San Francisco; E. W. Hanson, San Jose.

The annual election of officers resulted in the election of S. H. Melvin, President; J. H. Dawson, Secretary.

Several applications were presented for registration as graduates in pharmacy under credentials of diploma from the School of Pharmacy of the Northwestern University, Chicago. Such credentials were refused except in cases where the applicant, in addition to the diploma, proves having four years experience in a pharmacy.

A special meeting of the board will be held at Los Angeles, October 7th, 9 A. M., probably at Hotel Ramona. The regular meeting will be held October 14th, in San Francisco.

Respectfully,
John H. Dawson, Secretary.

The Buckeye Roll Paper Cutter, a cut of which is here shown, is carried in stock in combinations of three rolls, viz., 6, 9 and 12 inch, or 6, 9 and 15 inch. The price is $3.75 for either set. No better cutter on the market and none lower in price, to our knowledge. Order of F. W. Braun & Co.

Anticide kills ants—no doubt about that! It retails for 25 cents per bottle, and costs you $1.50 per doz. F. W. Braun & Co. sell it.

Grape Juice is popular this season as never before, for soda fountain use. The price is lower, too, and may be had in full quarts at $6 50 per dozen for the Los Gatos make.

Fruit juices and crushed fruits have revolutionized the soda water business. Where once the artificial flavors only were provided, now the sense of taste is delighted with the real thing in fruits, and the highest art is employed also in the preparation of palatable combinations, Countie's Roman Punch being an instance of the latter. F. W. Braun & Co. are headquarters for soda water goods.

The Hoffman House Bouquet Cigars, so well and favorably known to smokers all over the United States, are now sold by F. W. Braun & Co., who are distributors for Southern California of this brand as well as for the newer favorite, the Admiral Stockton. Bear these in mind when you are in want of cigars.

The trade will be glad to know that in Glycoline they have the purest and best attainable preparation for throat sprays, perfectly white and odorless and costing but $1.50 per gallon as against 50 cents per pint for the proprietary articles of like character. F. W. Braun & Co. have it.

The Effervescing Lithia Tablets made by Jno. Wyeth & Bro. are peculiarly adapted to prescription use by physicians, as in them a definite and convenient method is found of exhibiting Lithia without the trouble of handling the large bulk of mineral water usually required to reach desired results. The extensive introduction of these tablets to the notice of the medical profession has given their sale a great impetus.

The Value of Window Displays.

An attractive show window is like a fine cornfield, beautiful to look upon and growing you a crop. It is an object lesson of your industry and care. On Sunday it is putting in its work as as well as week days, perhaps better, for loungers have more time to look it over (the show window we mean) and are invariably interested in its novelties.

You are giving this valuable show space, oftentimes, to displays of patent medicines, with somewhat of benefit to yourselves but much more to the proprietor whose goods are thus advertised. It is wise for the druggist to make his windows advertise himself, his own interests and his own preparations if he makes any. There are some useful accessories which assist materially in catching the eye and enlivening the display, the "Brownie" figures being the best for the purpose of anything we have seen. With a little ingenuity in their arrangement, a vast amount of amusement may be furnished for the crowd as well as good advertising for yourself. The flexible limbs of these figures admit of many changes of attitude, so that the common or uncommon events of the day may readily be reproduced for the merriment of the public.

The Brownies are sold by F. W. Braun & Co., and are worth the attention of the druggist, always providing that he takes interest enough in his window displays to make them effective.

The Market.

Insect Powder is firm at the advance, and is not likely to decline during this season, as the crop of flowers is reported smaller than that of 1895.

Nitrate Baryta is held at higher prices and Nitrate Strontium likewise, on account of large demand for the political campaign fireworks.

Opium is in a somewhat excited condition at this writing, and prices have advanced some 40 cents per pound beyond its value 30 days ago.

Paris Green is low, owing to the break in the manufacturing syndicate, which has not been mended up to the present time.

Flint Prescription ware is lower than it has been for a long time, and quotations are favorable for the purchase of full supplies.

Carbolic Acid is in good demand without notable changes in value.

The temporary advance in Arsenic early in the season has given place to lower figures, and the market is about upon its customary basis of price.

Camphor has taken a fresh start and has advanced some three cents per pound from last month's figures.

Balsam Copaiba is firm in price with a higher tendency.

Mexican Vanilla Beans are firm at the advance of the earlier part of the season and it is probable that prices will be still higher.

Tahiti Vanilla has largely advanced, being worth at the present time about double last year's value.

The large use of Kola has stimulated the business of gathering the nuts to such an extent that the range of prices is being lowered constantly.

A Famous Hair Lotion.

The Pharmaceutical Journal states that the original formula for the so-called Dr. Locock's hair lotion is: Expressed oil of mace, 4 ounces; olive oil, 16 fluidounces; stronger ammonia-water, 16 fluid ounces; spirit of rosemary, 32 fluid ounces; rose-water, to 2 gallons (imperial). The lotion was first prescribed by Mr. Alexander, the celebrated oculist, for his wife, and it proved successful. Dr. (afterwards Sir Charles) Locock, being an intimate friend, introduced it first in his own family, and afterwards recommended it extensively among his numerous lady patients—hence the name. The art of dispensing the lotion consists in thoroughly beating up the expressed oil of mace with a wooden pestle, adding the olive oil in fairly large quantities at a time, and very small quantities of strong ammonia to saponify each such addition. Toward the middle of the process the oil of mace assumes a granular appearance; of a reddish color. Should it not do so, or should the mace be converted into a gelatinous mass, further manipulation may be abandoned, for the resulting emulsion will separate. When all the olive oil has been incorporated, add the rose-water freely—then the spirit of rosemary, and finally the remaining portion of the ammonia. It will be found that the amount of liquor ammoniæ fort. necessary in the first instance will not exceed 4 fluidrachms. The cream color of the lotion is produced on adding the remaining portion of the ammonia, and the emulsion so made will keep permanantly without a sign of decomposition or separation. Twenty minutes should be the time occupied in manipulation.

A Monster Cask.

For about one hundred and fifty years the "Great Tun" of Heidelberg has figured as the gigantic wine-cask of the world. There has hitherto been nothing on the globe that compared with it in size; mighty rulers and brave knights have occupied it; beautiful ladies and their royal escorts have partaken of the wine it held; it has reached a place in history as the acme of human achievement in its line, and rightly, too, for there was nothing comparable to it in size. It holds 49,000 German gallons, or 42,000 American gallons. But Mr. Malter, of the St. George Vineyard, Fresno, Cal., describes the "Great St. George Tun" erected by the Vineyard Company as having completely eclipsed the Heidelburg tun, knocked out its fame and made it a has-been. It is cylindric in form, its inside measurement being twenty-four feet in diameter and twenty-four feet in height, and it will therefore hold 81,217 gallons, or nearly twice as much as the tun which has figured in history and the encyclopedias as the gigantic achievement of the world in its class.—Pac. Wine & Spirit Rev.

"Cupram" is a fungicide, used by many in preference to the well-known Bordeaux mixture. It is more readily prepared and somewhat easier to apply than the latter. The report of the New Jersey Agricultural College Experiment Station gives this formula: Copper carbonate, 5 ounces; ammonia (4F), 3 quarts; water, 60 gallons. The word "cupram" is a substitution for the expression "ammoniacal solution of carbonate of copper."—Era.

Putz Pomade.

Many formulas have been published for the production of "pomades" for cleaning and polishing metal. It is said that the well-known article sold as "putz pomade" consists of Armenian bole, made into a paste with oleic acid and nitro benzol enough to give the mixture an odor. The term "putz," it may be explained, is a German one for "cleaning."

J. W. Colcord has proposed the following formula for a paste of this kind:

	Parts.
Oxalic acid	1
Peroxide of iron (jewellers' rouge)	15
Rotten stone	20
Palm oil	60
Petrolatum	5

Pulverize the acid and the rotten stone and mix thoroughly with the rouge. Sift to remove all grit, then make into a paste with the oil and petrolatum. A little nitro-benzol may be added to scent the mixture.—Drug Circular.

A Test for Albumen in the Urine.

Dr. Alex. C. Ewing (Med. Record) proposes this test: Draw up into a small glass pipette, or tube, about an inch of the urine, let the finger remain tightly over the top, and insert the pipette into nitric acid, and draw up under the urine about the same quantity of acid, when, if even a trace of true albumen be present, there will appear a beautiful line of demarcation between the acid and urine. This test is as accurate as it is simple, and, besides, is decidedly economical, and far less trouble than all the others.

A Pretty Window Experiment.

An exchange describes the following entertaining experiment: Prepare a small beaker or jar full of cold saturated solution of Glauber's salt, and into the solution suspend by means of threads a kidney bean and a non-porous body, such as a marble, stone, piece of glass or other suitable material. Now cover the jar, and in a short time there will be seen radiating from the bean small crystals of sulphate of soda, which will increase and give the bean the aspect of a seaurchin, while the nonporous body remains untouched. The bean appears to have a special partiality for the crystals, which is due in fact to the absorption of water but not of the salt by the bean. In this way a supersaturated solution is formed in the immediate neighborhood of the bean, and the crystals, in forming, attach themselves to the surface.

Camphor as a Germicide.

Camphor must come down from the high place as a germ-killer that it holds in the estimation of the public. Its essences, according to a French scientist who has been investigating the matter, have merely the advantage of being agreeable and of not harming dyed goods nor textile fibres; but as a protection against the microbe and the moth it is a fraud. Many essential essences are much more potent. Taking the protective strength of camphor as 66, Miguel puts eucalyptus essence at 74, lavender at 81, mint at 93, and thyme and bitter almonds at 99.—Oils, Colors and Drysalteries.

No More Spoiled Sodas.

No more waste, no more danger of corrosive poisons—no more slipping of corks from squirt bottles when you forget to hold them in while sprinkling.

Guilfoyle's Perfection Acid Phosphate Bottle (Porcelain Stopper) does away with all these troubles—it has no cork to slip—no metal to corrode—simply a depression in the neck of the bottle into which is sprung a flexible ring and a corresponding depression inside of stopper which fits snugly down over the ring, making a perfect joint. It cannot come off until it is pulled off for the purpose of refilling. Neat, handy, clean, and will last for years. The loss by a single accident with the old time squirt will almost pay for one of them.

Dietz Crystal Lantern.

A high-grade Tubular Lantern, with a securely-guarded glass fount in place of the ordinary tin one. This feature permits the amount of oil to be seen at a glance, and, of course, renders leakage impossible. This Lantern has our improved side lift; and while the fount is so shielded as to render its breakage improbable, if broken it can easily be replaced.

We make a vast assortment of Lanterns and issue a highly-suggestive little Catalogue, illustrating many favorite styles—a copy of which may be had for the asking.

This Lantern, and indeed any other one of our make, can be had of your dealer often without insistance, but always with it.

THAT the cork tree may be successfully grown on the Pacific coast has been demonstrated by experiment in the San Gabriel Valley. Specimens of the bark may be seen in the Chamber of Commerce exhibition which was taken from the tree at different periods of its growth—the first cutting being done at 15 years from planting. This first crop is very coarse and of the smallest value. Successive crops taken at periods of say ten years, grow constantly more valuable, on account of increasing softness and density of texture. It may be useless to expect that individual citizens of California will feel any great interest in a crop requiring a generation for returns, but we believe it would be a wise and provident plan for the State to undertake the planting of the cork oak on a large scale, with the object of establishing the industry on a firm basis in this country. In view of the very moderate outlay such a course would entail, considering that there are plenty of State lands available for the purpose, it would justify our next Legislature in making an appropriation to be expended by the trustees of the State University in starting and maintaining a plantation of the Quercus suber.

LOOKING at the cut-rate problem from what seems to us a common sense standpoint, we are led to the conclusion that (barring department stores) wherever capital has been invested with the special object of conducting a cut-rate drug business, that same capital, energy and business capacity would have been quite as well rewarded without the cut-rate features. The public is as easily influenced by the elegant and attractive display, the large store, the systematic arrangement, the liberal advertising and the polite attention without as with the cut-rate feature, and while some trade is doubtless brought in through the advertising of cut prices it is on the whole vastly unprofitable. The niggardly, penurious element of society is certainly attracted, and as certainly unsatisfied, for the disposition to "shop" leads to the hope of lower and lower quotations—unfortunately too often realized—while the demoralization and distress throughout the trade grows apace. The business qualities that have made the leading cut-rate druggists successful, we repeat, would have insured success with regular prices. Cutting of itself never yet made a drug business successful, while its victims lie stranded wrecks from one end of the country to the other.

ACCORDING to a recent article by H. Vincent, in Noveau Remedies, upon the value of various disinfectants, it is shown that chlorinated lime, in accordance with popular belief, is about the most efficient as well as economical of the substances in use. The carbonates of potash and of soda in 2 per cent. solution have proved quite effective also, which perhaps indicates the latter named as the cheapest of efficient disinfectants, if the writer's statement may be relied upon. Sulphate of iron is of no value in destroying the micro-organisms present in faeces. Sulphate of copper does not de-odorize, but in a solution 9 to 1,000 destroys all pathogenic germs. Pure carbolic acid is required to be used in the proportion of 10 grams to every liter of the infected mass. Cresol, lysol and solveol are used 6 grams to one liter of the infected mass for typhus bacilli, while 20 grams to the liter of any one of the three will kill all kinds of germs. Vincent gives the following as the order of the various articles named in disinfecting power: Cresol, lysol, solveol, copper sulphate, chlorinated lime, potassium carbonate, phenol, Labarraque's solution, chloride zinc, corrosive sublimate and ferrous sulphate.

THE National Wholesale Druggists' Association meets this year at Philadelphia, Oct. 5 to 9 inclusive.

The fiftieth anniversary number of the Scientific American, July 25th, is a beautifully illustrated seventy-two page edition and is an extremely interesting review of the progress of invention during the half century of its existence, and, as an epitome of the scientific and industrial work which has been accomplished during that period is of especial value. No one can examine this semi-centennial number without feeling a commendable pride in the achievements of American genius, and in its leading exponent, the Scientific American.

Sudden blanching of the hair, as in fright or shock, is produced by the formation of air bubbles in the cortex among the hair cells, rendering the cortical substance opaque and obscuring the color of the pigment. This is proven by placing one of the affected hairs in hot water, ether or turpentine, when the air bubbles will be driven out and the hair will resume its natural color. This bit of information is very curious, but if we could learn the connection between the mental operation and its physical result; that is how and why the air bubbles are formed and sent to do their work in this way, the explanation would be still more wonderful.

We learn from the Chemist and Druggist that the British Society of Chemical Industry, at its meeting in July, presented the Society's Gold Medal to the veteran chemist, John Glover, who invented the Glover tower for the denitrizing and concentration of sulphuric acid. In the course of President Tyrer's remarks in presenting the medal, he stated that the industrial saving to the nation from the use of Mr. Glover's invention was at least £300,000 per year. And further, that the inventor took no patent upon his method. The first tower was built by Mr. Glover in 1859, at which time all the concentration of the acid at the English alkali works was accomplished in lead pans, the fumes from which gave great discomfort to the neighborhood. The Gay-Lussac tower with the Glover denitrator and concentrator is now in use by all manufacturers of the acid in that country This public recognition of so important and valuable an invention comes late in the day, but was gratefully acknowledged by the venerable Mr. Glover.

In New York City the deaths from heat during the week ending Aug. 15 reached 651, more than three times the number ever before recorded in that city during a similar period of time. The total number of deaths that week, from all causes, was 1810, and the rate 48.65. The extreme rarity of deaths from heat on this coast is in marked contrast with Eastern conditions, and the fact inspires a feeling of profound satisfaction in the breast of the average Californian.

Bengal Papers—Papers for Producing Colored Flash-Lights.

"Bengal papers" is the trade name given to certain papers producing the same effects as Bengal lights. They are prepared, according to M. Villon, in an article printed some time since in the Revue de chimie industrielle, by saturating bibulous paper in a weak alcoholic solution of certain metallic salts. The following are formulæ for some of these lights. The salts, as given, are dissolved in a mixture of alcohol, 20 parts, and water, 100 parts.

RED.

1.	Strontium nitrate	20 parts.
	Potassium chlorate	10 parts.
2.	Strontium nitrate	20 parts.
	Strontium chlorate	5 parts.
3.	Strontium chlorate	20 parts.
4.	Potassium chlorate	10 parts.
	Lithium chloride	20 parts.

Each of these makes a different shade of red.

GREEN.

1.	Barium chlorate	20 parts.
2.	Potassium chlorate	10 parts.
	Barium nitrate	10 parts.
3.	Barium chlorate	20 parts.
	Barium nitrate	10 parts.

YELLOW.

1.	Potassium chlorate	10 parts.
	Potassium oxalate	10 parts.
2.	Potassium chlorate	10 parts.
	Sodium chlorate	20 parts.

BLUE.

1.	Copper chlorate	20 parts.
	Potassium chlorate	10 parts.

In each of the following the proportion of alcohol is raised to 50 parts, to 100 parts of water:

BLUE.

2.	Copper chlorate	10 parts.
	Copper nitrate	5 parts.
	Barium chlorate	2.5 parts.

VIOLET.

1.	Strontium chlorate	15 parts.
	Copper chlorate	15 parts.
	Potassium chlorate	15 parts.
2.	Potassium chlorate	20 parts.
	Strontium nitrate	20 parts.
	Copper chlorate	10 parts.

LILAC.

Potassium chlorate	20 parts.
Copper chlorate	10 parts.
Strontium chloride	19 parts.

Dissolve the salts separately (to avoid possible danger) in the alcohol and water, imbibe the paper thoroughly in the solution, and hang on cords stretched across the room, to dry. preserve in close containers.

In order to get the best results you will have to experiment somewhat, and thus learn the proper size of the paper required to give a light of sufficient intensity. Rolling the paper loosely or tightly has an effect upon the length of time which it will burn, and also upon the intensity of the light produced.—National Druggist.

Family Affection.

In these days of self-sufficiency and pride it is charming to see the sufferer from any ailment whatever hasten to the drug store and call for his anti-

Business Personals.

THE sale by Aug. Lang of his handsome establishment on South Spring street to A. W. Ellington of this city, is one of the notable changes in the local drug trade since our last issue. Mr. Ellington, since his withdrawal from the firm of Thomas & Ellington, has been seeking a favorable location in which to start for himself, and having succeeded in purchasing Mr. Lang's stock has entered upon an aggressive campaign for trade. It is "hot stuff" these days on Spring street, but the business is there and "A. W." will get his share.

THE California Board of Pharmacy will meet in Los Angeles, Oct. 7, at 9 a. m., probably at Hotel Ramona, and at San Francisco, Oct. 14. Candidates for examination will please take notice.

The O. & W. Thum Co. are adding 26,600 square feet of floor space to their immense establishment to facilitate the production of the popular Tanglefoot, the demand for which has outgrown the capacity of their factory.

MR. L. E. CORBIN of Ontario has bought out the San Diego Drug Co., corner of Fifth and D streets, San Diego. The store will be run under the name of the Corbin Drug Co. Mr. C. W. Thompson, the former owner, will turn his attention to mining.

MR. AUGUST LANG is spending a few days in San Diego, meeting his old friends and renewing acquaintances.

MR. W. R. H. SULLIGER, Santa Monica, who was the victim of a hold-up August 20, and who was shot twice by the highwaymen, has recovered sufficiently from his wounds to be able to attend to his business. As Mr. S. was not relieved of his valuables at the time it is surmised that he was taken for another man against whom the parties had a grudge, it being late at night and the walk where the attack was made in the shadow of trees. We congratulate Mr. Sulliger, who is an old soldier, on escaping death on this the latest of his battlefields.

F. N. VAN HORN has purchased the drug business of E. Williams, 266 South Main street, this city.

J. A. HUGHES, Bakersfield, has secured the services of Mr. W. S. Kimball, late of San Jose, where he for several years was in the employ of G. G. Morehead. The working force of Mr. Hughes' fine establishment is in prime condition for efficient service.

ED. A. BAER, Bakersfield, is at home again to his many friends after a refreshing season at the seashore. Charley now takes his turn out of the store, and will spend a few weeks (and some of his wealth) in having a good time somewhere between San Diego and Siskiyou.

J. A. LYON, Bakersfield, joined a party going to the mountains early this month for a season of recreation and possible discovery. The trip will be profitable in the way of health at least.

DR. P. G. COTTER of Yuma, after a three weeks' outing on the Coast, made us a pleasant call on his return home a few days ago.

WE hear reports of the fine new store of our friend, J. H. Barnett of Mesa, Arizona, now approaching completion, and hope to have a description of the same shortly.

DR. CHENOWITH, of Chenowith & Mix, Nogales, and Senorita Laura Escalente, daughter of the President of the Municipality of Hermosillo, Sonora, were married at the cathedral in that city August 3, and started on their wedding trip to Chicago and other eastern points. Our congratulations, hereby extended, though late, are none the less sincere.

MR. FRED FLEISHMAN, Tucson, has treated himself this season to one of the most charming of trips, that by steamer up the coast to Alaska. He reports a most enjoyable time.

DR. G. A. CUTLER has moved his drug stock to the corner of Fourth and Hill streets, under Clarendon Hotel. The location is a good one and the store presents an elegant appearance.

MR. ERNST G. LAISY, late of Cleveland, Ohio, now with Smith Bros., Fresno, is the proud father of a "native son," who appeared upon the scene September 1. (California climate.)

AMERICAN PHARMACEUTICAL ASSOCIATION.

Annual Meeting, Montreal, August 12-19.

The attendance this year was not large, about two hundred, including ladies and gentlemen, assembling at the first day's session at the Windsor Hotel.

A short welcoming speech by Mr. W. H. Chapman, president of the Montreal College of Pharmacy, opened the proceedings, and Prof. Patch made reply on behalf of the association. Following these President Good delivered the annual address, in which he touched upon the principal matters of present interest to the pharmaceutical fraternity. The status of pharmacists in the navy of the United States was one demanding improvement, while that of the army dispenser is fairly satisfactory. On the subject of the proposed change to the Metric System of weights and measures the committee of the association was commended for its labors, although the day of compulsory change is yet apparently not at hand. Regarding the next revision of the Pharmacopœia, President Good recommended the introduction of a table of average doses of official drugs and their preparations.

The extortions permitted through trade-marks upon certain medicinal agents should be modified by proper national legislation and an increase in the Committee on National Legislation was recommended. Upon the question of alcohol rebates the following resolution was read and favorable action upon it asked:

Resolved, That it is the sense of this association that the payment of the rebate of the internal revenue tax on alcohol should be confined to alcohol used in the manufacture of chemicals, alkaloids, ethers, chloral, chloroform, and such other medicinal or industrial products as those in which the alcohol will lose, absolutely, its chemical and physical properties.

Upon the conclusion of the address and the customary refference to committeee, the Committee on Nominations was selected, after which the minutes of the council sessions at the Denver meeting were read and approved. Sixty-two candidates for admission to the association were announced.

At the second day's meeting the Nominating Committee announced its conclusions as follows:

For President, J. E. Morrison, Montreal; First Vice-President, G. F. Payne, Atlanta, Ga.; Second Vice-President, W. A. Frost, St. Paul, Minn.; Third Vice-President, G. W. Parisen, Perth Amboy, N. J.; Treasurer, S. A. D. Sheppard, Boston, Mass.; Secretary, Chas. Caspari, Jr., Baltimore, Md.; Reporter on Progress of Pharmacy, C. Lewis Diehl, Louisville, Ky; Council, C. E. Dohme, Baltimore, Md.; J. M. Good, St. Louis; Jos. P. Remington, Philadelphia, Pa.

Lake Minnetonka, Minn., was selected for the place and August 23d for the time of the next meeting.

A considerable falling off in the number of applications for membership is shown from the number (243) elected last year, of which number, however, only 141 qualified by the payment of their dues. The total membership in good standing was reported by Mr. G. W. Kennedy, chairman of Committee on Membership, as 1555, a net gain of ten members. Hereafter applications for membership should be accompanied by the initiation fee and the first year's dues ($5.00).

The Finance Committee objected to the continuance of the practice of publishing the long verbatim reports of the proceedings on the ground that expenses were running ahead of receipts. The Publication Committee reported the cost of publishing and distributing the proceedings of 1895 to be $4325. The Committee on Prizes reported, giving Prof. Edward Kremers first prize, the second to Prof. E. S. Bastin, and third to A. R. L. Dohme. The Ebert prize was not awarded.

At the afternoon session the Committee on National Legislation made their report, favoring special class legislation for the benefit of pharmacists on account of the peculiar nature of their vocation; dismissing the proposed National Pharmacy Law as unconstitutional; favoring a "free alcohol" law; reporting non-success in the effort to remove the $25.00 liquor tax from druggists, and recommending that wines and liquors be dropped from the Pharmacopœia.

Upon the subject of patent, trade-mark and copyright laws, the committee made a rather lengthy report, covering and explaining their several values and differences.

At the third day's session the Committee on the President's Address endorsed all of his recommendations, and suggested that the revision of the Pharmacopœia be made a special order of business at the next annual meeting. It was resolved to meet in New York in 1898, and the project of forming an excursion party to the World's Fair at Paris in 1900 with the accompaniment of holding the sessions of the annual meeting on the ocean steamship was brought forward and a committee appointed to consider the feasibility thereof.

Following is the address of Mr. Geo. J. Seabury, chairman of the Commercial Section, on the afternoon of August 13:

COMMERCIAL SECTION.

Fellow Members: At the Denver meeting, in 1895, our commercial complications were reviewed by this section exhaustively. The conditions then existing, although another year has passed into history, leaves the questions then discussed unchanged and unsolved. To write three addresses in one year and have them all interesting is no holiday task, yet I have attempted in this address to introduce original methods of presenting the subjects that properly come before the Section.

I am convinced that we all have an intelligent conception of our present mercantile and professional trials and tribulations; there is nothing which impresses me more than to have those convictions sustained by intelligent men throughout the country. In order to induce our members to rally around our Section, I concluded to repeat the queries formulated by me last year, and add to them a few other questions that by evolution are forcing themselves to the front. The object I had in reproducing and amending them was the hope that some of our members would answer them seriatim. My judgment proved correct, and I had the pleasure of receiving about fifteen that were answered after the unique style of "Two Strikes," of San Francisco, whose answers to my queries were not only a clever piece of literature and concentrated wisdom, but was one of the most enjoyable contributions to the questions which were propounded to this Section.

Out of these fifteen responses I selected five, three of which were signed by well-known pharmacists, one of whom is an ex-president of the Pennsylvania Pharmaceutical Association, and the other is a well-known writer on pharmacy and allied topics; these gentlemen are as well-known as Prof. Hallberg, and two were anonymous. My diagnosis of the five answers leads me to separate them as follows:

Three are pharmacists, one a dispensing physician, and the last a manufacturer of non-secret preparations.

All of these opinions are written in an alkaloidal style, and feeling sure that they would be of great interest to you, I have embodied them in my address.

The first question on the list reads as follows:

Q. 1. Where is the practice of pharmacy drifting?
1st. From the middle of the road.
2nd. To the lowest plane of small petty trade and commercialism.
3d. To the Silverites.
Dispensing Physician: To agents of non-secret and proprietary medicines.
Manufacturer of Non-Secrets: Where they never have cold feet.

Q. 2. To what cause is failure due in attempting to protect our mutual trade interests?
1st. Union.
2nd. No genuine co-operative intent.
3d. To the fact that the average druggist is a galoot.
D. P. Jealousy.
M. N. S. Duplicity.

Q. 2. Why do a large number of wholesale druggists and makers of non-secret preparations supply department stores with drugs and medicines, and violate contract agreements on rebate goods with manufacturers of proprietary medicines, and what course will it compel the retailer to pursue?
1st. For money; join in making generally known every violation.
2nd. Because of morbid greed and no commercial morals; cut their throats or his own.
3rd. For profit; because they have no honor; make everything himself.
D. P. Selfishness; the retailer must do as he always has.
M. N. S. Because it pays them better to do so and the retailer will go to the poor-house.

Q. 4. Under what circumstances is substitution admissable?
1st. By consent only.
2nd. No circumstances whatever.
3rd. Question too vague; get an "X" ray on it.
D. P. None at all.
M. N. S. In all cases.

Q. 5. Is the protection of trade interests of the druggists and chemists by the manufacturer of proprietary goods a possibility? If in the negative, what is your remedy?
1st. No; union of retailers.
2nd. An easy possibility; expose their practices to the trade; hold them up to contempt.
3rd. Make everything yourself.
D. P. No, there is none.
M. N. S. Everybody for themselves and the devil take the hindmost.

Q. 6. Is general substitution admissible?
1st. No.
2nd. No, no, no.
3rd. Don't cheat, lie or steal; it don't pay.
D. P. No.
M. N. S. Yes.

Q. 7. Is it justifiable to purchase unreliable materials for the purpose of increasing profits, thereby injuring the reputation of the physician and endangering the patient's chances of recovery, thus furnishing physicians with reasons for self-dispensing?
1st. No answer.
2nd. Most assuredly not.
3rd. No, with a big N.
D. P. No, it is not.
M. N. S. Yes, if there is money in it.

Q. 8. Are non-secret preparations, in imitation of well-known domestic medicines, legitimate products? And is it honest for a dealer to allow his name to be printed on the label, so as to give an unknown compound currency, when he is ignorant of the contents of such preparations? Why does he not prepare his own family and household remedies?
1st. No.
2nd. They are forgeries. It is not honest to permit the use of his name to perpetrate fraud; because he has not the ingenuity.
3rd. Yes. No. Too lazy or too ignorant.
D. P. Yes. Can't afford to.
M. N. S. Everything goes which brings in a nickel.

Q. 9. Does not the pharmacist jeopardize his reputation and standing by dealing in non-secrets when he possesses the knowledge of compounding as good or better formulas?
1st. It depends on location.
2nd. Compromisingly, yes.
3rd. Yes.
D. P. No.

M. N. S. No.

Q. 10. Does it pay pharmacists, morally or financially, to substitute?

1st. Never.

2nd. No, no, no, never.

3rd. No time, never.

D. P. No.

M. N. S. Yes.

Q. 11. Is the claim true that physicians dispense their own medicines on the ground that pharmacists use inferior material in their preparations?

1st. Not if his nearest druggist is worthy of his title.

2nd. Miserable, flimsy subterfuge.

3rd. If that statement is made, the doctor lies.

D. P. No, many are too careless.

M. N. S. They are too darned ignorant to judge.

Q. 12. Where reputable pharmacists discover goods falsely labeled and below pharmaceutical standards, is it not their duty to expose such dishonesty?

1st. Yes.

2nd. Most unquestionably.

3rd. Certain, sure.

D. P. Yes.

M. N. S. Who pays for doing so?

Q. 13. Has excessive competition introduced a "cheap era" into the drug trade, and where will such tendency place pharmacy in the future, in its relation to the physician and the public?

1st. Excessive competition has a demoralizing influence on the profession, and in general affects the work and material in the same way.

2nd. In a ditch, unless professional pride pulls it away from danger.

3rd. Yes, among a certain class, but there will always be a demand for the good doctor and druggist.

D. P. In the hands of those who are reliable.

M. N. S. Where it belongs.

Q. 14. Why are physicians' supply establishments making inroads on the business of the pharmacist? Do physicians as a whole, especially in large cities, encourage this new departure, and what is the remedy?

1st. Selfishness of physician and pharmacist. No.

2nd. Because pharmacists have never been alert and alive to their opportunities; physicians tacitly yield without intent to antagonize the dispenser.

3rd. Because they are enterprising; yes; be a doctor as well as a druggist.

D. P. Because they supply a want; yes; there is none.

M. N. S. They have a commercial right to do so and physicians are pleased.

Q. 15. What are the chief arguments employed to induce physicians to supply ready-made medicines to their patients; cite them and state some facts in connection with this query?

1st. Make more money.

2nd. The ingenuity of design, attractiveness of products, plausible persuasion.

3rd. Cupidity; fact too apparent.

D. P. Carelessness, substitution, counter-prescribing, refilling prescriptions, extortionate prices.

M. N. S. It's handy and requires no brains.

Q. 16. Where is the practice of medicine drifting? Explain the reasons why.

1st. From the middle of the road.

2nd. Ask the doctor.

3rd. To a trade; too much competition.

D. P. To the physician, where it belongs.

M. N. S. To the demnition bowwows; does not require any further elucidation.

Q. 17. If the future facilitates the art of dispensing physicians, what is our remedy?

1st. Unite for what is ours.

2nd. Get a medical diploma.

3rd. Be a doctor.

D. P. Do a legitimate drug business or study medicine.

M. N. S. Become doctors.

Q. 18. Is it not our duty to demand protection from physicians and make an effort to fuse our natural relationship by a just compromise? What should a compromise be based on?

1st. Justice to all.

2nd. Just, mutual and fraternal rights.

3rd. Shinny on your own side.

D. P, Yes; competency, accuracy, reliability and reasonable prices to patients.

M. N. S. No; let each tub stand on its own bottom.

Q. 19. What arguments have we against those who advocate that the day has arrived when any person with open store for the sale of merchandise, will have a right to sell his goods to any person who comes with money in hand and demands same, irrespective of his calling or profession? In other words, why should pharmacy be protected?

1st. An ignorant man should not teach school or dispense poisons.

2nd. None; by police regulation as a measure of safety.

3rd. Because of the greatest good to the greatest number, which is No. 1.

D. P. None as to proprietary medicines. Pharmacy is a profession and should be restricted to the qualified.

M. N. S. That's fair play all around, and that's why we are American citizens; we want no protection.

Q. 20. Give reasons why it seems impossible for us to organize ourselves into solid columns, when we positively know that it will be to our advantage professionally, commercially and financially.

1st. Too many are pound foolish and penny wise.

2nd. Loose, disjointed vertebræ.

3rd. Because the average druggist is a chump,

D. P. Self-interest and jealousy of others' prosperity.

M. N. S. Because we can't see beyond our nose.

Q. 21. What influence has compelled the retailer to enter into direct business relations with manufacturers of pharmaceutical products? How can a jobber regain such loss?

1st. Money; go into the retail business.

2nd. Trade tends to subdivision, not concentration; endeavor to reinstate himself in confidence.

3rd. Self-interest; can't do it.

D. P. His own interests; the jobber will try to boycott.

M. N. S. Self-protection for getting a little more lucre.

Q. 22. What will be the future of formed and forming co-operative societies among the pharmacists and druggists, and what will it finally lead to?

1st. All will join in organization and live up to rules adopted.

2nd. Success if properly applied; failure if the knees give out.

3rd. To better profits.

D. P. They are productive of good and will lead to the benefit of those who are active members.

M. N. S. Another set of patent medicine manufacturers and vendors.

The views expressed by the writers merit a careful consideration of them; they are accurate and far-reaching. As an examiner of these papers I would accord to the first three competitors, and they are pharmacists, an earned ninety-five per cent for their serio-comical responses and for their actual knowledge of our affairs.

To the dispensing physician for one suggestion alone, I would allow ninety-five per cent. To the commercial road agent, or maker of non-secret preparations in imitations of genuine trade-marks, while we cannot approve of his piratical and anarchistical methods of conducting his affairs, yet for his unaffected audacity he is entitled to a clean one hundred per cent for admitting his reasons why he adopts an unscrupulous policy.

These answers need no further explanation, since they represent the status of pharmacy in our large centers of population which are expanding downwards. They can be relied upon from an optimistic and pessimistic standpoint.

Mr. Seabury, in further consideration of his general subject, took up the matter of the annual registration fee, arguing that it is a wise and proper tax, enabling Board of Pharmacy to prosecute offenders under the law by supplying the means for employing legal assistance.

Concerning the supplying of department stores, cutters, etc., by certain manufacturers, both of proprietaries and non-secrets, Mr. Seabury said that it has forced the retailer to join the growing class of co-operative manufacturing corporations, which may, by evolution, enlarge their sphere of commercial enterprise by carrying wholesale stocks of drugs. In concluding his remarks he recommended the formation of a Committee on Fraternal Professional Relations, consisting of three members from each State. These committees should attend State, county and local medical meetings. At such meetings grievances could be stated and adjusted.

After Mr. Seabury's address and the taking up of some minor matters, the following officers of the Commercial Section were chosen for the coming year:

Chairman, L. C. Hopp, Cleveland, O.; Secretary, E. D. Avignon, Windsor, Ont.

The Scientific Section met August 14 and listened to a very interesting address by its chairman, W. P. Sadtler, which, together with other valuable papers read before the association, we hope to present in future numbers of the DRUGGIST.

The Section on Education and Legislation met on August 15, and was addressed by its chairman, C. S. N. Hallberg.

Later, a committee who were nominated by Prof. Hallberg, reported a recommendation that the degrees Ph. C. and Ph. G. should be definitely differentiated and their values fixed. The recommendations of the chairman regarding uniformity in Board examinations and requirements was concurred in.

Secretary Beal reported by actual count 51,812 registered pharmacists in the United States (56,000 total estimated,) and 8500 registered assistants.

A resolution, in which the principle of annual re-registration was commended, was offered by Mr. S. A. D. Sheppard, and adopted.

The chairman, Prof. Hallberg, and the secretary, Prof. Beal, were re-elected for another year, and adjournment followed.

We are indebted to the National Druggist's report for material for the foregoing condensation.—[Ed. Cal. Drug.

F. W. Braun & Co.'s New Catalogue.

It is with pleasure that we are able, after a period of delay quite unforseen, to present to our friends of the drug trade our new illustrated catalogue. The difficulties attending the production of a work of this character in a city where such a work had not before been attempted, will be readily appreciated by all, and its accomplishment is a high tribute to the skill of our engravers, printers and binders, and furnishes one more proof of the metropolitan growth of Los Angeles. Of the catalogue itself we may say that while far from perfection it will, we think, furnish ample justification for its method of arrangement by its convenience and utility in actual use, particularly in the method of its pricing. From and after page 188 we have arranged it so as to enable dealers to show their customers illustrations of goods in the line of Chemical Ware and Druggists Sundries without exposing cost prices, the pink discount slip at the beginning of the book furnishing the simple information required. Prices quoted in advertisements, however (as on page 293,) are net. In this connection we would would suggest that correction slips sent out by us should be compared with catalogue and corresponding changes made in the body of the book, especially in patents.

We are glad to publish herewith some samples from the many appreciative letters we have received relative to the book.

The advertisements appearing in the volume are those of first-class houses, and we commend them to our trade.

Respectfully, F. W. Braun & Co.

Pasadena, Cal., Sept. 8, 1896.

Messrs. F. W. Braun & Co.—Gentlemen: Permit me to congratulate you upon the handsome and complete catalogue and price list you have so kindly sent me. It can be safely said no more perfect price current has yet been issued by any drug house of this Coast, and the undertaking not only merits appreciation but more substantial evidence of the value it must be to the trade. With best wishes, I am

A Ten-Strike for Bimetallism.

And now comes forward Prof. Emmons, one of the most skilled metallurgists in the world, showing that in the reduction of silver to an aqueous solution the molecules of silver are so subdivided as to differ so far from that metal that they can no longer be regarded as the same elementary substance, but the parent of both gold and silver, or the raw material out of which by a different arrangement of molecules gold and silver were both constructed by the hand of nature. Working upon the necessary microscopic scale of experimental research, he finds that this substance can be aggregated into molecules of greater density than silver, and precisely corresponding with gold in color, in weight, and answering to every test of the United States mint as gold. In fact, he says it is gold, though manufactured from silver, of as much purity and value as that ever obtained in its native state, or after it has passed the purifying process of the crucible. With further experiments the process of manufacturing gold from silver may be so cheapened as to settle the silver question now agitating a great nation, and disturbing the financial equilibrium of the world. If so, it would not be the first great question settled in the laboratory of the metallurgist which has defied the logic of the statesman, with all the help obtained from the great financial centers of thought.—Medical Times.

FORMULAS.

New Dentifricial Agent.—Prof. Metral of the Ecole Dentaire, Geneva, suggests strontium carbonate, associated with sulphur, as a material singularly appropriate for dentifrices. (Nat. Dr.) Such a formula as the following M. Metral considers a dentifrice parfait a tous egards—perfect in every respect.

Strontium carbonate	15 grams
Flowers of sulphur	15 grams
Essence of rose	6 drops

Mix: This powder is insipid, but most agreeable in use. Another formula for a dentifricial paste is as follows:

Strontium carbonate	12 grams
Flowers of sulphur	6 grams
Medicinal soap	27 grams
Essence of rose	12 drops
Mucilage of gum arabic q. s.
Glycerin, q. s. to make a paste.

Mosquitolin.—According to the Phar. Centralhalle this consists of:

Oil of patchouly	0.015 gram
Oil of cinnamon	0.015 gram
Oil of sandalwood	4.000 grams
Alcohol	100.000 grams

Cockroach Powder.—A correspondent sends to Nat. Dr. the following, which he claims "will kill or drive off roaches when all else fails:"

Powdered angelica root	100 parts
Essential oil of eucalyptus	20 parts

Mix well and scatter around where the roaches frequent.

Solution for Removing Silver Spots.—

Bichloride of mercury	5 grams
Muriate of ammonia	5 grams
Distilled water	40 grams

This removes almost instantaneously even ancient stains on linen, cotton, or wool. Skin-stains, thus treated, become whitish-yellow and soon disappear.—F. Hahn, in Mutsch, f. Prakt. Derm.

Russian Peppermint Oil.

At the recent hygienic exhibition at Warsaw, one of the principal shows was that of peppermint herb and oil of peppermint grown and distilled in Poland by a firm who started a factory there four years ago, on the model, it is said, of the works of Messrs. J. Jackson & Co., of Mitcham. The works last year produced about 2,300 pounds of peppermint oil, of which two-thirds were said to be of prime quality. No fewer than 130 people are employed in connection with the factory. —Chem. & Drug.

Magnesium Paper for Producing Light.

Magnesium paper for producing light is made in the following manner: Powdered magnesium is placed between two sheets of impermeable paper which have been coated with starch paste which causes them to adhere together. After drying, a sheet covered with potassium chlorate is pasted on each side. A further sheet pasted on serves as a covering, and the whole forming a thick sheet, can be cut into strips. On lighting the end of a strip the dazzling magnesium light is obtained.

Moody's Magazine of Medicine—A Medico--Surgical Literary Magazine.

We acknowledge receipt of the initial number (August) of above publication, which is under the editorial care of Ralcy H. Bell, M.D., and published by the Moody Magazine of Medicine Co., Atlanta, Ga. It is not an over statement to say that the magazine is unique in its class—if it has a class—for its combined character is novel to our experience and its elegant mechanical appearance suggests the exuberant artistic work bestowed upon the high grade literary monthlies rather than the plain and matter of fact typography of the medical journals. The editorial work is vigorous and bright and in character and expression emphatically of the "Sunny South."

We predict for "Moody's" a large success and a field that reaches from ocean to ocean. We shall be pleased to have it upon our exchange list as a brilliant representative of all it stands for.

The subscription price is $2 per year or 20 cents for single numbers.

Some advertisements, like some books, if read at all, deserve merely to be skimmed over. Others should be read more carefully, and of others not a word should be missed.

Hance Brothers & White's advertisements are of this latter kind. Druggists cannot afford either to skip them altogether, or to skim them carelessly. They are original, forcible and truthful. The one in this present issue is as good as any of them in these respects.

Are you interested in soda-water requisites? There are still two months at least of good soda-water weather to come. Much may be done in that time. For instance, if any druggist has been trying to do a satisfactory fountain trade with requisites that fall short of being first-class, there is plenty of time for him to make a fresh start with Hance Brothers & White's goods. These are the ne plus ultra. These have a fifty year reputation behind them.

Though September looks backward at Summer disappearing, it points forward to Fall and Winter approaching, and so makes druggists think of goods suitable for these seasons. Of course, no stock is complete without Hance Brothers & White's "Frog in Your Throat?" and the rest of their line of "Family Medicines." These have won their spurs and are accorded an honorable place everywhere. It is not too early to lay in a good stock of them.

And if you have never done so before, and don't yet know the little books that H. B. & W. give for the asking, do so now. Write and ask for a copy of "Help at your Soda Fountain," or "Family Medicines," "How to Buy Soda Flavors," etc., and so give yourself a chance to become acquainted with some of the most up-to date readable and effort-inspiring business booklets in existence.

How to Figure It.

Profits are figured on the total money invested in an article. If you are obliged to carry several sizes of an article when in reality only one size of it sells, the others being kept for possible calls, the profits of the whole are greatly diminished owing to the increased investment. Not so with Tip Top Cough Syrup, for you're stocked when you have the 50c size. There is only one size and that yields a clear-cut 62½ per cent. profit when bought in Fats at $4.

VERONICA MINERAL WATER CO.
SANTA BARBARA, CAL.

Is an absolute cure for CHRONIC CONSTIPATION, LIVER, KIDNEY and STOMACH TROUBLES, SICK and NERVOUS HEADACHE, FEMALE COMPLAINTS, ETC., and Prescribed by the Leading Physicians of Los Angeles.

PROF. HILGARD, of the University of California, says:

"As a purgative water this is very effective and not painful in the least. It was a medicinal water used by the Indians. The composition of this water is very unusual, in fact the composition is very remarkable as it contains nearly every chemical element of value to the human system, whether to become part of the Membraneous Secretions, the Blood or the Bones."

Its action in eliminating uric acid from the Blood makes it especially valuable in Rheumatism. For Stomach and Bowel troubles Veronica is one of the best remedies yet discovered, affording instant relief in the most obstinate cases, and in a majority of instances absolute cure. It seems to be Nature's remedy in restoring the bowels to a healthy and normal condition. Headache, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, and the other attendant ills on Constipation soon vanish after drinking the water.

For Kidney Troubles, Diabetes, Troubles of the Bladder and Urinary Organs, it is one of the best remedies yet discovered, its effect being truly magical. As a Blood Purifier and Tonic, it has no equal.

Amusing Errors.

A slight typographical error often furnishes considerable amusement to the reading public. In last night's issue the article reading "the little black cat that is run so often for the express purpose of familiarizing readers with the appearance of a bottle of Tip Top Cough Syrup" should have read "the little black cut," etc., which vastly alters the meaning of it. In most cases errors of this kind while they are amusing to readers are far from being so to those directly interested. Imagine the surprise of a prominent London woman's rights advocate when he read the report that he made a fervent appeal in favor of woman's "tights!" Or that of the reporter whose description of a battle was made to read "the enemy was repulsed with great laughter" by the omission of "s" in slaughter.—San Diego Sun.

This is how the error was taken advantage of, the accompanying advertisement being inserted the following day:

TIP TOP COUGH SYRUP

is the little black cut that was yesterday "evoluted" into the little black cat. There is just as much difference in the quality of Tip Top and others as there is between the appearance of this cut and a little black cat. All druggists sell Tip Top. Price 50c.

Aluminium Instruments—A Warning.

BY PERCY A. E. RICHARDS, F.I.C., DEMONSTRATOR OF CHEMISTRY AND PUBLIC HEALTH, CHARING CROSS, HOSPITAL.

As aluminium is now so extensively used in the manufacture of various instruments I think the following facts are of interest:

I was using an aluminium spatula the other day for transferring small portions of different powders to test-tubes, and having wiped it clean had laid it down. In a few minutes' time I noticed it had become covered with what closely resembled a white growth, and although I removed this it formed once more. When carefully examined this white deposit was seen to consist of a brush-like mass of filaments radiating in all directions, not unlike hyphæ of a vegetable growth, standing erect on the flat surface of the blade. This continued to grow quite visibly, but at length over-balanced and crumbled to a bulky white powder, which qualitative analysis proved to consist of alumina. A few experiments soon indicated that mercuric iodide had been the initial cause of this, as this substance at once produced a similar result with another piece of aluminium. I next tried various salts of mercury, including the two chlorides, the nitrate, sulphate and oxide, and found that they all had more or less the same effect. Indeed, a minute globule of the metal was sufficient to start the "growth" The reason of this curious action would seem to be that mercury is deposited in the metallic condition on the aluminium, forming an amalgam which at once acts on the moisture present in the air or on the surface of the metal to form alumina and liberate hydrogen. The mercury being again set free by this reaction once more attacks the aluminium, thereby prolonging and increasing the action indefinitely. A small strip of this metal, weighing ½ gramme, was left in contact with the powdered mercuric chloride for about a couple of minutes, then well washed and dried with a cloth. Action at once proceeded, and after an hour the aluminium was again thoroughly washed, dried, and then weighed. The loss in the interval of time amounted to a little over 8 per cent. of the total weight; in fact, the strip had been perforated in several places. The action is so curious as to be well worth repeating by any of those interested. Lancet.

GUILFOYLE'S PERFECTION ACID PHOSPHATE BOTTLE PATENTED

No More Spoiled Sodas.

No more waste, no more danger of corrosive poisons—no more slipping of corks from squirt bottles when you forget to hold them in while sprinkling.

Guilfoyle's Perfection Acid Phosphate Bottle (Porcelain Stopper) does away with all these troubles—it has no cork to slip—no metal to corrode—simply a depression in the neck of the bottle into which is sprung a flexible ring and a corresponding depression inside of stopper which fits snugly down over the ring, making a perfect joint. It cannot come off until it is pulled off for the purpose of refilling. Neat, handy, clean, and will last for years. The loss by a single accident with the old time squirt will almost pay for one of them.

Price, for bottle not engraved, 50 cents.

Another Way to Figure It.

Again, the profits should be reckoned on the total money invested in a line of remedies. It nearly always happens that in any line of remedies a good per cent. of them are unsaleable. The money invested in these "unsaleables" very materially affects the profits of the saleable ones. There are no "drags" to Tip Top Cough Syrup. You're stocked when you carry the cough syrup, for there are no other Tip Tops. You're stocked, too, with a saleable article—one that you can turn your money rapidly on.

THE REX OVAL.

This fine bottle, a product of the present year, commends itself promptly to the trade by its handsome appearance, its rounded edges, its flaring lip, its general shape so convenient for labelling, and especially by the cleanly style of packing adopted by the manufacturers. Druggists will appreciate the absence of straw both inside the bottles and on the floor, the corrugated paper being entirely clean and free from all the disagreeable features of old style packing.

The "Rex" is not more costly than some of the old styles of high grade ware and is fully up to the best ever on the market. A trial order will convince you of its desirability.

Dietz Reflector Lantern.

THERE is an all-"aroundness" about the goodness of this Lantern that is noteworthy. In fact, it has too many virtues to crowd into this space. It gives a surprising volume of light, which is rendered specially intense by the concentrating powers of the Reflector and Hood. It will not blow out, is absolutely safe, and can be used for driving darkness while you are driving horses, having a simple arrangement to attach it to any vehicle. The U. S. THE "previous experience" question is receiving considerable attention at the present time in the pharmaceutical journals. The College of Pharmacy of the Northwestern University of Chicago now graduates students without requiring the previous experience in a drug store which is demanded in most other similar institutions. The last issue of The Apothecary, which is published by above college and edited by Prof. Oscar Oldberg, devotes much of its space to combating the views of correspondents of the American Druggist, who have written that journal on the subject by request, and who are nearly unanimous in their opinion that the experience requirement is desirable.

It would seem that arguments may be adduced in favor of the non-requirement of experience, and Prof. Oldberg has made perhaps as strong a defense of that side of the question as is possible, but we think, from the standpoint of the druggist, that the experience requirement should stand. It is conceivable that the graduate in pharmacy may not desire to enter the retail drug business at all, in which case the drug store practice might well be dispensed with, but as ninety-nine out of every hundred pharmacy students expect to devote their lives to that business we can see no adequate reason for omitting the "rudiments" from the course of instruction, and we would not expect the college man to take a post graduate course in "rudiments" very cheerfully. It may, perhaps, be for the interest of the college, pecuniarily, to receive for instruction as many as may apply, but in the interest of the student himself we are confident that he makes a serious mistake in taking his college course without preliminary work in a retail drug store, which is the proper starting place for a pharmacist.

The famous electrician, Nicola Tesla, expects to be able to perfect an appliance by which light, and consequently vision, may be transmitted by wire, so that a street scene in New York, for example, may be observed in Chicago, and this without the indirect method of mirror pictures used by Edison. Light is claimed to be possessed of direct magnetic power and its transmission by wire is only a matter of devices which ingenuity can provide. Tesla has also just made public some account of an invention by which he greatly increases the energy of the electric current upon a circuit, economizing power to a considerable extent, and proportionately reducing the expense of operation. The rapid alternating current, of which the renowned inventor has been expecting so much, is the means used in producing the result, and the invention may bring about considerable enlargement of the uses of electricity as a motive power.

ONE of the peculiarities of the business of the English "chemist" is that he is apt to join to his occupation of pharmacist that of dentistry—in many cases not only extracting teeth but doing artificial work as well, but the British Dental Association are now employing legal means to prevent them from advertising dental work, and the courts seem to favor the dentists in their decisions. The custom of performing dental operations has been so long in vogue among the chemists that they take it as a hardship to be restricted by the law, and subscriptions have been raised among those interested for the purpose of testing the meaning and extent of the law bearing upon the subject.

THE bicycling fad is credited with reducing the consumption of cigars to the amount of 70,000,000 annually. This loss, a portion of which falls on the drug trade, is partly compensated for by the increased demand for plasters, arnica and Kola.

Everybody has heard the "roar of the ocean" in the sea shell when applied to the ear. It is really but the sound of the blood's circulation, thus made manifest to our dull sense of hearing. In the case of some insects, the auditory nerves are so sensitive that upon approaching the larger animals, as man for example, we can conceive of their being able to plainly hear the rushing tide which the sea shell reveals to us so curiously. It would be to them like the noise of a great flouring-mill, and we may imagine would serve as a warning not to intrude upon the premises.

The drug markets of the world present no features of special interest at the present time—dullness characterizing operations, and prices remaining low. It is reported that pilocarpine is likely to be much cheaper, on account of a new manufacturer having entered the market and the likelihood of sharp competition. The firmness in balsam copaiba continues, and star anise oil is higher. The prospect seems good for a firmer price in camphor. With these exceptions no increase in values is worthy of note. The volume of trade has improved since the summer months, but stocks are still kept low, and buyers are conservative in their views. After the Presidential election next month we look for a steadier and an increased demand for goods.

The State Board of Pharmacy met in this city on the 7th inst. Eighteen applicants for examination presented themselves and wrestled for two days with the questions, but at this date we are unable to give the names of the successful candidates, as the result will not be made public until after the meeting of the Board in San Francisco.

Starting a Drug Store.

The pride of proprietorship beamed from his countenance as he stood on the street and gazed at the big sign which announced to the world the advent of a new drug store.

"It's the finest location for the business in this part of town," he exclaimed to the junior partner, "and if we work things at all right we ought to make money. I see you have the soda-fountain in."

"Yes. I attended to that the first thing."

"Did you buy the biggest one you could get for the money?"

"Yes. Its's one of the most finely equipped to be found in the market."

"And the cigars; we have a variety of them, have we not?"

"Every brand of any consequence can be purchased at our stand. We have one of the largest assortments in the city."

"I'll look it over. You mustn't feel hurt if I give it my personal attention, but we don't want to neglect any detail that may affect the success of the enterprise, and two heads are better than one. We have a supply of fancy toilet articles, have we not?"

"Plenty of them. All the latest styles, too."

"And we have some confectionery?"

"A good line of it."

"And all sorts of little nick-nacks to catch the fancy of the women and make the place look pretty?"

"I am looking after that now."

"Good. As soon as you get it attended to, put an advertisement in the newspaper, and then, when you have time, get in a few little things in the way of drugs and we'll be ready for business."—Detroit Free Press.

How to Pronounce "Pharmaceutical."

A correspondent of the Montreal Daily Star asks for the correct pronunciation of the word "pharmaceutical," to which the editor of that paper replies as follows:

If by "correct pronunciation" my correspondent merely means the mode generally prevailing, I think there can be little doubt on the subject. Not to go farther back than the time of Dr. Johnson, his famous dictionary gives the soft sound to the letter "c" in the word. In this he is followed by the later lexicographers, Noah Webster, Chambers, the Rev. Jas. Stormonth, and Cassell's "Encyclopedic Dictionary," a most valuable work in seven volumes.

Funk's Standard Dictionary (of which the Star is preparing a careful notice) gives the soft pronunciation of the "c," as preferable, with the alternative of the "k" sound. Mr. W. H. P. Phyfe, in an admirable work entitled "Seven Thousand Words Often Mispronounced," mentions only one pronunciation, viz., "far-ma-su-tist," and most of the best dictionaries follow suit. The original "Pharmaceutical Society" was commenced in London, June 1, 1841, and obtained a royal charter on February 18, 1843. It is empowered to institute examinations for those who desire to practice pharmacy; and as at the time it was formed the "c" in its title was always pronounced "s," I see no reason for any innovation of the present day. Personally, I never heard the "k" sound of the "c" in England. Can anyone mention another instance of "ceut" being pronounced "cute"? The little beetle called "ceutorphyncus didymus," so frequently found on the stinging nettle, is, so far as I know, always pronounced "sutorhyncus" by entomologists.—Canadian Druggist.

Good old Gargle!

(Chemist and Druggist.)

"The abolition of the gargle is advocated by Mr. Lennox Browne. There is a fine opportunity here for funny men of chemists' assistants' associations or for pharmaceutical poets."—C. & D., September 12, 1896.

He entered the pharmacy sadly,
  Said that his throat was sore,
And his uvula hurt him badly—
  Was as rough as the mat at the door;
Asked us to make him a gargle.
  We said 'twas impossible—quite:
Lennox says gargles are useless,
  And Lennox Browne's sure to be right!

He left the show at the double,
  And steered for the "Polar Bear."
Went in and stated his trouble;
  And the "lady dispenser" there
Pretty soon mixed him a gargle
  Of spirit. frumenti dil.
She never had heard of Lennox,
  And probably never will.

We have received from the publishers the June issue of the Indian Journal of Pharmacy, Calcutta, which contains much interesting matter pertaining to its locality. In another issue of the Druggist we propose to reprint from its columns a valuable contribution on the indigenous Acacias of India.

Business Personals.

Mr. T. J. Fisher, proprietor of Hotel Coronado Pharmacy, is on the sick list. As election time draws near he is sure to get better, as no one takes greater interest in the campaign than he.

Mr. Beau Hooker, of C. A. Chase's drug store, is away on a well earned vacation. He has gone to the Cocopah country, Lower California, where he will spend a month hunting and having a general rest and good time.

Mr. D. S. Lacy, of Hotel Coronado Pharmacy, left on the 3rd for a month's trip to New York City to visit his parents. S. W. Pearce, "ever genial Sam," is in charge during his absence.

Mr. Geo. L. Robbins, of Pierce & Robbins, Porterville, has been giving himself a vacation in the way of a visit to San Francisco. A short stay in the mist-laden air of the bay is a great freshener.

Mr. O. H. Hibbard, manager for P. C. Montgomery, Porterville, has been spending a few days in Los Angeles and Pomona.

Mr. Sam Pearce has left his Bakersfield position with E. A. Baer to fulfill a previous engagement at the Coronado Pharmany. During the period of his engagement in Bakersfield, Mr. Pearce made many warm friends, who would be glad to have him renew his life among them at a future time.

J. W. Montague has taken a position with N. L. A. Cody, Merced.

We are in receipt of the prospectus of the St. Louis College of Pharmacy, the 31st annual session of which extends from October 5, 1896, to April 6, 1897. The last graduating class of this college numbered 46, of which number 20 were from States outside Missouri.

The Dragon Drug Store is the new name for the well known establishment of H. Germain, 123 S. Spring street, which is now undergoing extensive improvements, comprising an up-to-date front with deep show windows and a twelve-foot entrance, as well as a re-modelling of the interior, which will make it one of the handsomest drug stores in Los Angeles. The drug management is to be in the hands of Mr. Chas. S. Ruggles, the genial Charley, who will take good care that his department is unsurpassed in style and quality, and who will be glad to see all his friends, including the many traveling men of his acquaintance, when they visit this city. The soda water business will continue to receive the care that has made it so successful in the past, and there is no doubt that with its favorable location the "Dragon" will keep in the front rank, and reap the reward of its enterprise.

We are glad to note the honors that fall, and not unmerited, upon the shoulders of our old friend Louis C. Hopp, who was recently elected Chairman of the commercial section of the American Pharmaceutical Association and who for many years has been Permanent Secretary of the Ohio Pharmaceutical Association, in the organizing of which, in '79, he was the leading spirit. The excellent likeness of Mr. Hopp in the last issue of the American Druggist shows the youthful face of a dozen years ago, and indicates that his cheerful and active personality is keeping him always young.

The Philadelphia College of Pharmacy has five scholarships for the present year. The number of students, notwithstanding the stress of hard times, shows no falling off from last year's session.

Otto Frank, 76 years of age, and for 55 years a druggist, has just bought back his old drug store in Carlstadt, N. J., from which he retired a few years ago. He is a sensible man; it is better to wear out than rust out.

Mr. F. G. Culver, of Strahlman's drug store, has returned from a two months' outing at Smith Mountain.

J. G. Madden, Covina, who a few weeks ago suffered severe injuries from falling through his plate glass window when in a faint, is now able to attend to his business again, but with a badly scarred face. It was a close call for him.

C. C. Abbey has recently returned to Redlands from Waco, Texas, where he spent some time in the attempt to establish himself satisfactorily in the drug business. He finally sold out his interest to his partner and gladly came back to his Redlands store, expressing his satisfaction with California climate in comparison with the sand storms of Texas.

Mr. G. C. Thaxter, Redlands, is President of the McKinley Club of that city, and is enthusiastically engaged in political work, in which he is thoroughly at home.

W. T. Gillis, of Gillis & Spoor, Redlands, is an active member of the newly organized gun club in that city.

J. A. Lamb, San Bernardino, has returned from a six weeks' visit among his friends in New York State. It goes without saying that he fully enjoyed his vacation.

E. E. McGibbon, San Bernardino, has been spending a week on his ranch at Moreno.

C. E. Weck, Riverside, has had his store finished in white and gold, which is a very attractive improvement.

J. C. Hardman, Riverside, has a very handsome Maltese cat, which is a highly popular member of his drug store family. She declared a dividend recently, and now Mr. Hardman has cats to burn, "as it were."

J. D. SeBrell, Riverside, is going to take a long deferred hunting trip shortly to Bear Valley. There was a time when it was a little dangerous for ducks, quail and the like to get in front of his gun, but now—we'll wait till the returns come in.

R. F. Billings, of the young city of Corona, has had lots of sport around about Elsinore lately with that deadly rifle of his. The deer don't try to get away when they sight "R. F," but surrender at once, like Col. Crockett's coon.

H. Fairbanks, Santa Ana, is enjoying himself this month with rod and gun, fortunately living in a country where the hunter and fisherman are in clover.

The Druggists' Circular for September contains an excellent likeness of J. E. Morrison, the new President of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

Kurtz Freckle Salve is an elegant preparation from E. A. Baer's laboratory, and is making many friends. Retail price, 50 cents. F. W. Braun & Co. have it.

Non-Secret Preparations.*

BY EDWARD A. ROBINSON.

"Are non-secret preparations, in imitation of well-known domestic medicines, legitimate products, and is it honest for a dealer to allow his name to be printed on the label so as to give an unknown compound currency, when he is ignorant of the contents of such a preparation? Why does he not prepare his own family and household remedies?"

Here are three distinct propositions, the first two of which are easily of the same family, while the third seems to have been married into the other two by the Chairman of the Commercial Section, with the evident purpose of attracting the attention of the retailer to himself, and to the possible opportunity of improving his condition, financially.

As to the first query, "Are non-secret preparations in imitation of well-known domestic medicines, legitimate products?"

The merit of an original that can show value enough to suggest the possibility of successful imitation, should go without saying. In the case of a proprietary medicine, the original is the pioneer, and the effort to establish it upon honest premises, usually means small beginnings, self-denials, hard struggles, and discouragements on every hand. After crossing the thin ice of doubt and fear, during which time the preparation has been winning its way with the people, because of its merits, it is popularized by advertising. From a small affair, it takes on giant proportions; from obscurity it becomes famous. At this point the imitator is found in the field. He comes stealthily, without public announcement, seeking to profit by and fatten on the labor and the money expended by others. He aims at the outset to deceive and to mislead the consumer.

"Take my goods," he says to the retailer; "there's money in them for you. You can sell them for less than you have to pay out for preparations which are largely advertised, and then make a big profit on them. You can urge them as 'just as good' and of your own make. The opportunity for you is a good one, for while the big advertiser is beating the bush, you can be catching the birds."

If the imitator will deceive others, he will deceive you. His business aim in life is dishonest from the start, and it is not even logical to presume he is a whit more honest with the retail druggist than he is with the public.

"Is it honest for a dealer to allow his name to be printed on the label so as to give an unknown compound currency when he is ignorant of the contents of such preparation?"

The manner in which this proposition is put, suggests the reply expected, viz.: That it is neither honest, nor good business policy for a retail druggist who values his reputation to recommend an article when he is ignorant of the ingredients of what that article is compounded. A dealer who would so far forget his honorable calling as to substitute for well-known, largely advertised preparations those which are, to say the least, of doubtful worth, blinds himself to the fact that sooner or later the consumer is sure to find him out and that his reputation for honest dealing will suffer.

The leading journals of the day are from time to time calling attention to the matter of substitution, and warning the public of the impositions that are being practiced upon them. I quote from a recent editorial in the New York Times:

"There is one aspect of substituted goods, which the public certainly should know about. "There are many non-secret manufacturers of drugs in this country who will put up an imitation of a medicine with the name and label of the local druggist who sells it on every package. The druggist who buys these goods has no guarantee that they are pure, and as a matter of fact, they are frequently adulterated with comparatively harmless drugs which cost, however, much less than the real drug. The manufacturer would not care to sell them under his own name as pure, because it would injure his reputation. If the druggist puts them up himself, he would not have the deliberate dishonesty to substitute cheap goods for dear ones, but by shifting the responsibility the fraud is lost sight of. It is not the manufacturer's business, it is not the druggist's business, although they are sold under his name, a profit is made all around, and only the public is the loser."

There are small retail druggists, however, who will not handle non-secret preparations. A retail druggist in New York City, a gentleman whom I feel satisfied must be a member of the American Pharmaceutical Association, once said to the writer:

"I will not sell a non-secret remedy, because I do not care to assume responsibilities for preparations of which I know nothing. I will not permit my name to be printed on the label of any article I do not manufacture myself, nor will I become the cat's-paw of a house that comes to me with any such proposition. If the goods are honest, why don't the house that makes them stand behind them, and do an honest business? They are not honest goods, and, therefore, the retailer is asked to become responsible for them; to stand between the consumer and the manufacturer. I value my trade, respect myself, do an honest business, and have neither use nor place in my store for non-secret preparations. Originals are good enough for me."

If the corner stone of the non-secret business is laid in dishonesty, what can be expected of the rest of the structure?

The non-secret man claims to print the formula of his preparation upon his wrapper. Is the formula any more worthy of credence, than are his other professions? It would seem that there could be but one opinion, one answer to all these propositions.

"Why does he not prepare his own family and household remedies?"

It is perfectly legitimate for the retail pharmacist to prepare his own family and household remedies. To this end is he educated, and eminently fitted in every particular. He can—if he have the means and the inclination—handle every detail of the process of preparing a compound for market, and he can, again, if he have the means, advertise this particular compound with profit. That he does not do this is due in a majority of cases to the fact that every intelligent pharmacist recognizes, that to be a successful manufacturer means to give up the retail drug business, and that the way to success in the proprietary medicine business is too long and too hazardous to encourage abandonment of the substance of to-day, for the shadows of to-morrow.

THE Canadian Druggist in its Montreal Notes (September) says: "Every one is complaining, and the tendency is to spend five or ten cents where 50 cents was spent in the good old times," which is a pretty fair statement of existing conditions all over this country.

Simon Cory: A Tale of a Pioneer Druggist.

BY CLIFTON S. HUNSICKER.

Two hundred and seventy years ago a man named Roger Conants built a house in what was then known as Naumkeag or Eel Land. Man, being a gregarious animal, has made it a feature in the colonization of every new country that wherever one house is built, others are sure to soon follow. The rule prevailed in this case, and, with Conant's house as a nucleus, John Endicott, two years later, 1628, formed a settlement, and called the place Salem. Three years later the settlement was augmented by the arrival of three hundred Puritan families from England. With these latter came a man named Simon Cory, who, like most of his profession in those days, was a Poo Bah, the dual offices of physician and apothecary being united in his person.

Cory built for himself and young wife a two-roomed log house near the center of the settlement. The room in the front of the house he made serve in the triple role of a physician's office, apothecary's shop and general living room for his family.

In it he set up his store of drugs, of which he had brought a considerable quantity from England, and was ready for business. A good business he did, too, for the radical change of climate, combined with the innumerable and oft-before-told hardships which these pioneers had to undergo, produced, as a natural result, a deleterious influence upon their health. Now, as Cory had what very few of his profession have ever had the luck to secure—a monopoly—he rapidly made money; for, contrary to the general idea of the matter, induced by the many stories that have been told of the Pilgrim Fathers' privations, those pioneers in the cause of religious freedom were not poor. On the contrary, a great many of them possessed what would even in these days of lavish expenditure be accounted a snug fortune, and the poorest of them had some money. That they suffered many privations is true enough, but this condition was not due to lack of money, but to the absence of any place to spend it. Of what use is money in a wilderness?

Accordingly, as penurious as the Pilgrims were, they valued the health of themselves and dependents more than money, and the sole apothecary in their midst profited greatly thereby. So well did he thrive that he was able in 1634, when Roger Williams, a minister of the settlement and afterwards founder of Rhode Island, was banished for promulgating the heresy, "that the civil magistrate should restrain crime, but never control opinion; should punish guilt, but never violate the freedom of the soul," to purchase from the local government which had confiscated it the house which the minister had erected of planks and timber imported from England, and abandoned his log structure for one more in keeping with the dignity of his profession. This was for him as much an insignia of wealth as the occupancy of a marble palace on the principal thoroughfare of one of our metropoli would be for a present day druggist. At one side of his new home the druggist built of logs what is known in the New England vernacular as a "lean to." To this annex he removed his dispensary, and it must have been an eligible site for the purpose, as the business has been carried on, with but few interruptions, on the same spot to this day.

Shortly after their arrival in America, Cory and his wife had born to them a son, whom they named Jonathan. He grew up, and after his father's death, which was closely followed by his mother's, he continued his father's business and married a neighbor's daughter. As a result of this union a daughter was born in 1674; a year later, on the 5th of September, 1675, the subject of this sketch, who was named after his grandfather; and in 1677 another boy, who was named after his father. The mother died in giving the latter birth, and was followed shortly afterwards by her daughter. When Simon had reached his twenty-fifth year his father died, leaving him and his brother the sole representatives of the family.

Simon ran to brains; Jonathan to muscle. As a natural consequence, Simon continued his father's business, and as he was fortunate enough to still enjoy his parental predecessors' monopoly, made money just as rapidly. Jonathan secured plenty of work with new colonists, who were constantly arriving, helping them clear the trees from their respective tracts of land and build houses upon them.

All this while the brothers had been very warm friends, despite the difference of their pursuits, until one day dissension arose between them, caused by what cynics claim has been the most potent factor in the propagation of trouble since the days of creation—a woman. I could, if I wished to disgust you so that you would cease reading at this point, use a phrase employed by writers from time immemorial, and say that Patience Trumbill was the prettiest girl in the settlement, but instead I will simply state that she must at least have possessed some attractive features, for both Simon and Jonathan Cory, whose hearts had passed for years unsinged by the concentrated fire from the bevy of prim Puritan maidens who were their co-inhabitants, became, soon after her parents arrived at the colony, about 1691, almost simultaneously imbued with the earnest desire to furnish her with food and clothing for the rest of her natural life.

Patience was greatly gratified by the brothers' attention and received their advances with demure Puritanical coquetry. For a time she encouraged both equally; but, when finally pressed to make a choice, she chose the druggist as the most substantial in a worldly point of view. Jonathan, greatly disappointed by the loss of his love, was angered with his brother, and very un-Puritanically meditated revenge.

A short time after the beginning of the ensuing year, 1692, the residents of Salem and the surrounding country were startled by a genuine sensation. Several children of the town began to act in a peculiar and unaccountable manner. Their strange conduct continuing for several days, their parents compelled them to fast, and meetings of their relations and friends were convened for the purpose of offering prayers that they might be relieved from their afflictions. During the religious exercises it was found that the children were free from their attacks, but after the services were over, resumed their unexplainable conduct. This, to the superstitious minds of the colonists, was deemed to be sufficient evidence that they were under the influence of witches. After several days, the children accused a number of residents of the town of bewitching them. Unfortunately they were credited, and the suspected authors of the spell were seized and imprisoned. Then the awful mania spread, and the jail was soon full of suspected witches. At first the victims were selected only from the lower classes, but at length the accusations fell upon persons of the most respectable rank. A reign of terror prevailed, no one knowing but what he might be the next one accused of possessing the occult power, and be dragged away to prison and perhaps death.

Influenced by the religious fanaticism which he had imbibed from his father, among the most active in these persecutions was our druggist. It seems surprising to look back upon that any man possessing what must necessarily have been his intelligence and education should be so thoroughly imbued with superstition. He was not, however, the only one of his station in life that held the same belief, some of the best educated colonists of the highest rank being influenced by the fantasy.

So many arrests were made that it was only a short time before not only the regular places of detention were filled with accused or condemned witches, but the public buildings as well, and the court which tried them had no place to sit. The druggist, in his ardent zeal, cut out the partitions on the lower floor of his house and tendered it for their use. It was accepted, and stands intact to-day, known locally as the "Witch House."

Simon's belief in witchcraft, however, was given a rude shock by the sudden arrest of his sweetheart, charged with the prevailing crime. This complication was caused by another of the "potent factors" aforementioned. Tribulation Goodman had long been in love with Jonathan's money charms. She had witnessed with suppressed jealousy his attention to Patience, and, being unaware of Jonathan's rejection by that young lady, had taken opportunity of the prevailing craze to fall to the ground one Sunday morning while coming from "meetin'." When raised by sympathetic friends she commenced to jerk her arms about, protrude her tongue, cry that she was blind, that some one was pricking her with red-hot needles; and, in fact, exhibited all the symptoms of a bewitched subject. When at last she grew calm and was questioned as to who had cast the spell, she promptly answered, "Patience Trumbill."

While Simon was wondering whether witchcraft was as much of an actuality as he believed it to be, and meditating upon some plan to rescue Patience from her danger, he was greatly surprised by being arrested himself on a charge preferred by his brother. The latter's motive for this action can be readily seen. On account of Simon's great activity in bringing the alleged witches to justice and his high standing in the church, Jonathan had some difficulty in persuading the authorities to order the arrest. But, unfortunately for Simon, he had been addicted in the past to performing curious chemical experiments before small gatherings of his fellow-townsmen for the purpose of impressing them with his learning, and when Jonathan reminded the judges how they themselves had seen Simon turn pure spring water into blood and set bits of stone into a blaze by merely dropping them into a basin of water, they readily ordered the arrest.

The druggist and his sweetheart were in a bad way. They were brought to trial and convicted of their alleged crimes, Patience by the strong and positive testimony of Tribulation and Simon by his unfortunate chemical experiments, his zeal in the cause of justice against the witches being more than set aside by their influence. The superstitious minds of the judges were unable to ascribe any other cause for the various wonders he had performed than would emanate from a diabolical agency. Simon was therefore condemned to die along with his sweetheart.

But before the arrival of the time set for their execution, a popular revulsion of feeling occurred. Some of the more sensible colonists began to query where all this would end. A conviction rapidly spread that the proceedings had been rash and indefensible. A special court of inquiry into the causes of both the convicted and accused prisoners was held. A number of conscience-stricken individuals, among whom were Jonathan and Tribulation, appeared before the court and acknowledged that their charges had been actuated by malice or similar causes.

The alleged necromancers were released and the perjurers arrested. It might have been a serious matter for the latter, accused, as they were, of one of the gravest crimes in the Puritan calendar, had it not been thought that enough innocent blood had been shed, and that the prisoners had not been entirely responsible for what they had done, acting, as they had, under the influence of the general frenzy. And accordingly, they were discharged.

Simon and Patience were married at the close of the year that had been so fraught with unusual excitement for both, and, as far as can be learned, lived about as happy as most married couples.

Simon died without children in 1724. Who succeeded to his drug store we have no means of knowing. The old "Witch House," as has been before mentioned, still stands, but the original pharmacy was long ago pulled down and replaced by a more modern structure, in which the business commenced upon the spot two hundred and sixty-two years ago is still continued.—Druggist Circular.

THE Wisconsin Board of Pharmacy, at its August meeting, received several complaints against department stores with drug departments, and the secretary was instructed to begin suit against them all. From previous suits in similar cases it is expected that successful results will be obtained in these and that legitimate pharmacy will be benefited.

PROF. H. H. RUSBY, M. D., in his review of the Montreal meeting of the A. Ph. A., referring to a proposition to expunge whiskey, brandy and wine, from the Pharmacopœia, says: It is worth noting that in 1887 or thereabout the city of Atlanta experimented in withholding these substances from medicinal use for twelve months. The results were so bad, the death rate so greatly increased, as to create a scandal, and the physicians, without the exception of even those who had previously favored this legislation, worked energetically and successfully to secure its repeal.

Dear Sir—Your remedies are certainly par excellent in diarrhea, especially the old army diarrhea, as I treated an old soldier with it, who told me that he had tried all the professors in Philadelphia and New Jersey, and never 'till I gave him your "Quercus Alba" did it tell him anything, and I have quite a run on chronic diarrhea in army life.

The Preparation of Aromatic Waters.

BY FRED. LASCAR, PH. G.

In the report of the Committee on Revision of the United States Pharmacopoeia presented at the Denver meeting of the American Pharmaceutical Association, as printed in the last "Circular," I find the following:

"We recommend that such of the aqua medicata as are now directed to be made by trituration with precipitated phosphate of calcium be made either by agitation of the oils with hot water and subsequent filtration, or by the use of a double filter, the inner one a size smaller than the outer and evenly saturated with the oil, and the outer one wetted."

Before entering into an anylysis of the best method of preparing aromatic waters, a topic which I wrote on several years ago, it may be well for a moment to question the correctness of the view held by many that the medicated waters of the Pharmacopoeia are intended to simply serve as corrigents to medicines, imparting to them an agreeable flavor. No doubt aromatic waters are frequently employed for such purposes, but it also often happens that such waters are prescribed for their supposed therapeutic properties alone. That this is so I have proof, because I have filled prescriptions for anise, peppermint and spearmint waters, without any addition; they were intended as carminatives for children. I remember one prescription for a collyrium composed of equal parts of rose, fennel and cherry laurel waters, and I would no doubt find other instances of similar import if I had time to examine prescription files. These instances show that the opinion held by many pharmacists that aromatic waters are, after all, of minor import is erroneous and not shared by all medical practitioners.

But even when intended only as vehicles it is necessary to prepare such waters so as to possess the greatest fragrance and most pleasing taste.

From the above it will be seen that aromatic waters have an important place in materia medica, and the different editions of our Pharmacopoeia have fully conceded this in paying much attention to the method of preparing them.

The old process of triturating the oil with magnesium carbonate was changed to the very impractical one of saturating absorbent cotton with the oil and subjecting it to filtration. In the last edition of the Pharmacopoeia this process was wisely discarded and the triturating of the oil with phosphate of calcium substituted.

Of these three processes I have always preferred the old magnesia process, because it invariably gave me better results with regard to taste and aroma. The objection that a very minute quantity of the alkali entered into the product I found of minor importance. This danger may to some extent also exist in the use of calcium phosphate. At any rate, in my practice, covering many years, I never yet found traces of the alkali to interfere with the utility of aromatic waters. The only cases where such interference possibly occur are in those waters principally used for collyriums; for example, rose and camphor waters.

A very practical method of preparing aromatic waters is by employing paper pulp to comminute the oils; this is preferable to talcum, which has been advocated by some, and to starch, which I consider entirely inadmissible.

The suggestion of the Committee of Revision to employ hot water has much in its favor, still we should not be too hasty in settling upon a uniform method after which all aromatic waters are to be prepared. There are many points which it is necessary to consider if one wishes to have a faultless product. The method generally applicable to all cases is distillation, but as this is found impractical by the greater mass of pharmacists, we have to seek other methods, and as yet none has been found which answers all cases.

To prepare a good aromatic water due attention must, of course, in the first instance, be given to the oil. How far in each instance the oil employed—here is the rock against which many get wrecked—is soluble in either hot or cold water it is difficult to determine; but one fact is easily discernible, and that is, that the majority of oils easily undergo changes; that by being exposed to light or air they oxidize and their proportions of stearopten and eleopten become changed. I would suggest that in all instances ethereal oils intended to be used in preparing aromatic waters be diluted with a small percentage of alcohol and kept in dark bottles. The addition of fifty per cent. of alcohol to such oils should certainly not seriously be considered a contamination in waters prepared for them.

I find that hot water does not suit in all cases for preparing aromatic waters. For example, if it is used in preparing rose water much of the fragrance is lost. When tepid water (110° F.) is employed in this case and well shaken with the oil in a bottle of twice the capacity of the water, the mixture being set aside and filtered, if necessary, a product is obtained which is superior to that secured when water of a higher temperature is employed.

I would recommend bitter almond water and cherry laurel water to be prepared in the same manner.

As to the temperature of the water employed I further find that very different results are obtained with water of different temperatures. For example, if the double filter method recommended by the Committee on Revision is employed and we use boiling hot water, the filter easily breaks; still, by careful manipulation this can be avoided.

The filtrate in making in this way anise and peppermint waters is at first perfectly clear, but becomes on cooling opaque; even a thin film of oil will be found on the top if its temperature falls below 60°. The result with tepid water is a better filtrate which does not become opaque. Still, a considerable amount of oil remains in the filter paper, which even frequent refiltration does not seem to diminish to any extent. With hot water little oil remains in the filter, the quantity employed being that directed in the Pharmacopoeia.

By employing filter-paper in the following manner a perfect aromatic water can in every instance be obtained with such oils as those of anise, fennel, peppermint, spearmint and cinnamon. Take a moderate-sized filter-paper and cut it into small strips; put the strips in a suitable mortar, and saturate them therein with the oil, which is kept diluted with from 30 to 50 per cent. of alcohol. Now boil the water to be used for at least 10 minutes and allow it to cool to a temperature of about 120° F. A little of this water is first added to the strips saturated with the oil, which are by trituration then quickly reduced to a pulp. Now the balance of the tepid water is added, the whole filtered and the filtrate kept in well stoppered bottles. The above-named waters when prepared in such a manner will keep for a very long time.

The previous boiling of the water employed, whether it be plain or distilled water, should not be omitted, because in using a sterilized water a better result is obtained. For this reason it is also advisable to heat the filter-paper to be employed in the process so it becomes sterile.

In preparing camphor water I have lately found that, after all, the old-fashioned method of using magnesium carbonate gives the best results. However, as this, as mentioned, is objected to by some, the following formula may be used, which will be found to work well: Triturate the camphor in a mortar with a little alcohol till a very fine powder is obtained, then add a little water, mix and pour the water boiling hot over the camphor. Cover the mortar with a piece of glass, set aside for a few hours and filter through paper.

To sum up, I am convinced that the suggestion of the Committee on Revision relating to medicated waters could be improved upon.

Of the two methods advocated by it, the one of shaking the oils with hot water and then filtering them is the better.

Some directions in regard to the oils to be employed in preparing aromatic waters should also be given. My recommendation of keeping the oils diluted with alcohol suggests itself as practical, and while the amount of alcohol I indicate is but small, it may advantageously be made three or four times as much and still remain unobjectionable. Again, the temperature of the water to be employed should appear in the formula, because a little experimentation will soon convince any one of the necessity of this, if an approximate product of standard strength is to be obtained, a thing which, any way, is difficult enough to do.

Stress should be laid upon the fact that the proper sterilization of the water and the filters to be employed materially aid in obtaining stable products.

In using paper pulp in preference to a double filter it will be found that a more aromatic and a more fragrant water is obtained; in fact, the product comes nearest the article made by distillation.

If aromatic waters could be cheaply distilled and sold by our manufacturers, say in triple strength, as is done with orange-flower water, we would certainly have more correct and superior products. This, however, cannot be done for various reasons, of which the higher price stands in the first line. How far superior the fragrance of distilled aromatic waters are to those made otherwise is in no case more evident than with bitter-almond water. The water distilled from the oil-cakes of bitter almonds is entirely at variance with the one made from the oil. Several pharmacopoeias direct it to be prepared by distillation and standardized as to hydrocyanic acid.

In conclusion, I will mention a water often employed, that of gaultheria, which, when prepared with boiling water, soon becomes turbid on standing, and is flat-tasting, but when prepared with cold water it keeps much better, and will soon be found to be more aromatic.

All aromatic waters should be kept, as stated, in well-stoppered bottles, and the supply on hand should never be an excessive one. When on standing such waters become much clouded and unsightly, it is always best to throw away and prepare fresh ones in preference to refiltering them.

The containers should be well cleaned and made as sterile as possible, because it is well to remember that the very best of waters soon become deteriorated in containers which are not properly cleansed.

It can be said that of all the medicinal waters there is only one which will remain perfectly unchangeable for a very long time. This is chloroform water, made by shaking an excess of chloroform with cold water and keeping the water standing in contact with the chloroform, which separates and falls to the bottom of the container.

Several methods have been suggested to determine the amount of essential oils present in different aromatic waters, but all of such methods are more or less vague; are complicated, too, and at the same time of little value. The senses of smell and of taste are, after all, the only proper testing mediums for ascertaining the value of these products. Even uniform methods in preparing them are frequently no assurance as to their relative strength, because of the great variability of the oils from which they are made.

Natural Immunity.

The nature of the human organism, when in good condition, is to resist the invasion of disease. In other words, the healthy blood will offer no field for the development of maladies. Ill health begins with a process of disordered nutrition involving a stasis of correlative circulation, due to an insufficient supply of some one or more elements of the blood. Especially is this fact a source of danger in the presence of germ diseases. For instance, we will observe in phthisically inclined persons a loss of oxidizing elements, particularly a wasting of the phosphates, before the advent of any bacillus. We must recognize the ever-present germ, so called, in all the environments of the human being. They are in the air we breathe, the water we drink, and even in the blood which vitalizes our bodies. When the channels of exit for excrementitious substances are unimpeded, these bacteria pass out of the system without causing harm. The current of the circulation being rapid in its metamorphoses, the oxygenation of the tissues being perfect, many kinds of bacteria may be present without finding lodgment or suitable soil for their propagation. This is the essential of natural immunity in the system.

From the study of natural chemism we know that all change of material within the organism depends on the energy of intercellular oxidation, and in this way we are protected from deleterious substances. The obvious method of inducing artificial immunity, then, is first, by relieving obstructed correlative circulation, and, second, by augmenting natural immunity by supplying substances which improve oxidation of the tissues, thus vitalizing the blood-cells.—Pat. Med. Journal.

The "If" and "But" of It.

If you want to buy goods that will fill your shelves and stay there, staring at your customers with the same old familiar stare week after week, don't buy "Frog in your Throat?" It has no "staying power" of that sort.

And if you want goods that will give moth and rust a fair show, don't buy "Frog in your Throat?" for there is nothing rusty about that and it runs into your till so fast in the shape of ten cent pieces that the moths have no chance to start work at it.

BUT if you want to put your money into goods that you can turn over in a few days at 100 per cent. profit (to say nothing of the general improvement to your business) put it into "Frog in your Throat?" Buy a gross or more, get the window display matter Hance Brothers & White will give you with that amount, dress your windows (they'll give you a book showing how, if you want it) and so make yourself the talk of your town. Get people started coming to your store in that way, and then follow up the good work so as to keep them coming again and again. Give them always what they ask for. Don't substitute. Gain their confidence and goodwill. Set your wits to work. Mind your manners. Be careful, courteous and conciliatory, and you will have little enough reason to complain about dull times.

RED gum is authoritatively stated to be in every respect equal to Kino, while it has the great advantage of complete solubility in water. The use of the red gum in lozenge form, to take the place of Kino lozenges, is increasing. John Wyeth & Bro. were the first, we think, to place red gum lozenges upon their list of pharmaceutical products.

GUILFOYLE'S PERFECTION ACID PHOSPHATE BOTTLE PATENTED

No More Spoiled Sodas.

No more waste, no more danger of corrosive poisons—no more slipping of corks from squirt bottles when you forget to hold them in while sprinkling.

Guilfoyle's Perfection Acid Phosphate Bottle (Porcelain Stopper) does away with all these troubles—it has no cork to slip—no metal to corrode—simply a depression in the neck of the bottle into which is sprung a flexible ring and a corresponding depression inside of stopper which fits snugly down over the ring, making a perfect joint. It cannot come off until it is pulled off for the purpose of refilling. Neat, handy, clean, and will last for years. The loss by a single accident with the old time squirt will almost pay for one of them.

Price, for bottle not engraved, 50 cents.

THE REX OVAL.

The "Rex" is not more costly than some of the old styles of high grade ware and is fully up to the best ever on the market. A trial order will convince you of its desirability.

Now that the excitements of the political campaign are over and the will of the people regarding the conduct of the government during the next four years expressed, there will undoubtedly be a revival of business in all lines. Long before the new year comes in great activity will prevail throughout the country, owing to the replenishing of stocks which have been allowed to run down to unusually small proportions. The channels of traffic and transportation will be filled, employes of mercantile and manufacturing concerns will be actively and profitably employed, money will be more plentiful, and political differences will give way to a general content incident to improved business conditions. We think we may fairly take the above hopeful view of the situation at large, notwithstanding the fact that some few localities will not immediately receive the benefit of the improved business situation.

A CHEMICAL manufactory has been established at Niagara Falls for the production of chlorate potash by the Blumenberg electrical process, utilizing for the purpose a portion of the electrical power produced in the Niagara tunnel. The present plant includes five tanks of 3,000 gallons capacity, in which is dissolved potassium chloride, and from which the solution is drawn into sixty porcelain-lined iron tanks about eight feet long by five feet wide, in which the transformation to chlorate is effected by the electric current, after which the product is crystallized in shallow porcelain-lined pans. The entire process, including the drying of the salt, being completed in the space of twenty-four hours.

There is imported into the United States some 5,000,000 lbs. annually of this chemical, the bulk of which comes to us from Great Britain. The uses of chlorate potash are many. It is a constituent of fire-works to a large extent, and enters into the composition of smokeless powder, percussion matches and many other very important products, compared with which its uses as a medicine are trivial in amount. It is evident that the Niagara Company has a very large and important field for its enterprise in the home market, a field without a competitor on this side of the Atlantic. The capacity of the works is at present about a ton per day, which will doubtless be increased as rapidly as the business will justify.

THE cranks who attempt to bring the druggist into discredit as a saloon keeper because he sells extract of malt, a purely medicinal article, have succeeded in getting druggist Durgin, of Quincy, Mass., fined in the sum of $116. Mr. Durgin's offense consisted in selling two bottles of extract of malt to H. H. Faxon, a prohibitionist of that town, and the purchase was made apparently for the purpose of making a test case. The extract was found to contain over 3 per cent. of alcohol, and on that account solely, it would seem, was deemed an alcoholic beverage, notwithstanding the testimony of physicians that the article was medicine and not a beverage. The case, as it appears upon its face, is simply one of persecution. Under such a ruling we don't see how Mr. Durgin can supply Tinct. Rhubarb to the people of Quincy without becoming liable as a saloon keeper. The heads of some Quincy people are harder than their granite.

THERE are few more cosy and attractive looking places than the rooms of our Los Angeles funeral directors, and their appearance, with the elegant furnishings and the handsome portieres covering the entrances to casket rooms, suggests anything rather than the true nature of their business. It was not so strange, then, that two young ladies from an Eastern city who were strolling down Broadway, recently, bounced into one of these pretty rooms and sitting down by the center table, rapped vigorously for attention, and when the sad faced young gentleman responded, inquiring in tones of sympathy in what way he could serve them, said: "Ice cream, please!" Hesitatingly remarking on his inability to supply cream—though having plenty of ice—he presented his business card, and as the girls broke for the door their horrified countenances would have been a good subject for the pencil of George Cruikshank.

In an interesting article on "Mexican Beverages," by Isabel N. Catlin, in the Pharmaceutical Era, pulque drunkenness is graphically described in the following words: A pulque "jag" is most easily acquired. The first glass will not produce it. It may make one a little sleepy, but that is all. Two glasses begin to get in a little work, and if the drinker have stomach capacity for the third and fourth glasses, he may usually promise himself a "time." Let him take a glass of American beer on top of them, and his friends, if not himself, will wish he had never been born. The two national beverages won't assimilate. And the "jag" is not a clean, wholesome "jag"—if ever there are such. A man drunk on pulque is a most loathsome creature. His thoughts are low, his language foul, obscene. His worst passions are aroused. It is not a "jolly" drunk, neither does he become pathetic and weep over his past, present and future transgressions. He is not exactly maudlin drunk, either. But he is top-heavy, thirsty, semi-boisterous, unhappy, ready to fight without the physical ability to fight—a creature to be abhorred and feared.

The Boston Dispensary celebrated its centennial on the 8th of last month. More than a million patients have been treated at this institution during the hundred years of its existence.

The influx of visitors to this city on "Reed day" (Oct 27) brought many enthusiastic druggists to join the parade and hear the speaker. We caught sight of a dozen or more of them, among whom we noted Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Armour, Pomona; C. F. Clapp, Covina; John R. Couch, Santa Paula; F. A. Jones and T. S. Newby, Ventura; A. R. Rowley, Santa Ana; Dr. J. P. Hinckley, Fillmore, and M M. Davison, Redondo.

The death of Dr. C. E. Lawrence, of Murrieta, last month, marked the close of a long and brave struggle against that terrible enemy, consumption. Dr. Lawrence was a refined and cultivated gentleman, endearing himself to all with whom he came in contact by his many graces of mind and character. We extend our sympathy to his afflicted family.

The New Mexico Board of Pharmacy, of which W. C. Porterfield, Silver City, is Secretary and Treasurer, held a meeting for examination of candidates on the 7th of October, at Los Vegas. The following were successful: Geo. Anderson, Chicago, Ill.; J. A. Kremis, Springer, N. M.; E. L. Cassels, M.D., Deming, N. M. The next meeting will be held at Santa Fe, the second Monday in March, 1897.

Dr. J. H. Trout started on the morning of the 5th inst. with a party bound for Yuma and the mining country in that vicinity, for a few weeks' outing and a possible gold mine or two. Good luck to him, and lots of fun.

Business Personals.

Mr. L. J. Huff, of C. B. Thomas & Co., Pasadena, has purchased his partner's interest, and will hereafter carry on the business under his own name. Mr. Huff is one of the most energetic and popular young business men of the "Crown of the Valley," and his future success seems beyond a question. We extend our best wishes for a prosperous business.

Mr. Morrison, of Heath & Morrison, Riverside, has been laid up for a couple of weeks with a severe cold and fever. We are glad to learn that he is now able to attend to business again.

Dr. Spoor, of Gillis & Spoor, Redlands, has been on the sick list for some days, but we are pleased to learn that he is around again as usual.

M. F. Volkman, Santa Monica, came near having a destructive fire on the 2nd inst., by the spontaneous combustion of red fire, two pounds of which having started on a celebration all by itself, while Mr. Volkman had stepped out of the store. A conflagration was happily averted.

Mr. Elwin Tarr, of Brisley & Tarr, Jerome, has gone East for a few weeks' trip, leaving the business in charge of P. H. Thompson. As Mr. Thompson just left a relief position with Fred Fleishman in Tucson, 300 miles away, it may be fairly concluded that a relief clerk in Arizona needs the seven-league boots of the Arabian Nights if anybody does.

We regret to say that Mr. R. Waldin, of Phoenix, is on the sick list. He has our best wishes for a speedy recovery.

Dr. G. H. Keefer, Phoenix, is one of the examples of the health giving climate of Arizona. The doctor has had too much to do to take a pleasure trip this season, or perhaps the heat of the Eastern summer was more than he cared to encounter. Try the coast next season, doctor, and don't forget to bring your overcoat.

Roy Dennison, lately in the employ of H. M. Sale & Son, Los Angeles, has accepted a situation with D. W. Rees, Needles.

W. H. Kremis, San Marchal, N. M., has put in a fine stock of holiday goods this season, and is looking for a good trade in this line.

W. C. Banks has purchased the business of I. A. Irwin & Co., corner Main and Third streets, this city, and is putting the store in good shape, with generous additions to the stock. The stand is a good one, and with the energy of its new owner will not fail to do an excellent business. We wish Mr. Banks abundant success.

We were much pleased to receive a copy of a little advertising brochure issued by Bristol & Rowley, Santa Ana, in the interest of one of their laboratory products, for it furnishes a pleasing instance of the value of the feminine element in business. We might say in the drug business, for in the tasteful and ingenious advertisement of a toilet preparation a woman can give us points. Whether the gentlemen of the firm could have evolved this artistic little work may be a question, but that their wives could and did is demonstrated. Mrs. Rowley's deft handiwork in illustrating and coloring is worthy of much more ambitious publications, and we hope to see further examples of her skill and taste in the future.

California State Board of Pharmacy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20, '96.

The California State Board of Pharmacy held a special meeting for examination at the Westminster Hotel, Los Angeles, October 7th and 8th, and at San Francisco, the regular meeting was held October 14th to 19th inclusive.

At the Los Angeles meeting nineteen presented themselves for examination and at the regular meeting thirty-four, of which the following named were successful as licentiates: D. B. North, Fortuna; W. M. Berg, Oakland; C. W. Klein, Berkeley; T. S. Malone, San Rafael; H. R. Cousins, Hanford; L. L. Abercrombie, Tulare; C. M. Rankin, Stockton; W. A. Dougherty, S. F, ; N. A. Pellarano, San Jose; P. L. Moore, Lincoln; H. C. Lawrence, S. F.; H. N. Stone, Los Angeles; W. Z. Taber, Pasadena; W. C. Banks, Los Angeles; C. L. Washburn, Los Angeles.

As Assistants: F. E. Lockwood, San Rafael: E. C. Robinson, Los Angeles; M. H. Fleishman, S. F.; W. H. Otto, S. F.; G. M. Withers, S. F.; A. E. Johnstone, Oakland; F. H. Coon, S. F.; A. P. Seymour, S. F.; S. Franklin, S. F.; O. S. Mish, S. F.; L. W. Bahney, Red Bluff; A. E. Briggs, Hollister; A. E. Nelson, Santa Monica; H. Clark, Chino; H. C. Hafer, Los Angeles; E. L. Baldwin, S. F.; O. Hibbard, Porterville; M. G. Packsher, S. F.; E. J. McCue, Oakland; M. G. Stewart, S. F.; D. D. Johnson, Mountain View; L. F. Swift, Santa Clara; G. A. Taylor, San Diego; C. V. Baxter, Los Angeles; F. P. Cave, El Monte; N. E. Ferguson, Los Angeles; W. H. Reed, Los Angeles; C. S. Chestnut, Redlands.

Eighteen applicants failed as licentiates.

Four applicants failed as assistants.

The following were registered as graduates in pharmacy: A. Poehner, S. F.; W. J. Larimer, S. F.; B. Nash, S. F.; A. Airaldi, S. F.; E. A. Richey, S. F.; W. A. Upp, S. F.; P. C. Inman, San Rafael; F. C. Becker, Merced; O. Becker, S. F.; E. G. Laisy, Fresno; W. C. Gretter, Monterey; Lena M. Knickerbocker, S. F.; W. H. Harmon, Los Angeles.

A. P. Neilson, of Los Angeles, and E. J. Robertson, of San Francisco, granted registration as licentiate without examination and F. L. Potter as assistant.

The committee on prosecution were instructed to bring action at the earliest convenience against all violaters of the pharmacy law.

The next meeting will be held at San Francisco, Jan. 13th, 1897.

IS PHARMACY A PROFESSION?

The Necessity of Securing Harmonious Relations Between Physicians and Pharmacists as a Requisite to National Pharmaceutic Legislation.

BY F. E. STEWART, M. D., PH. G.,

Chairman of the Committee on National Legislation of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

It goes without saying that an appeal for proper pharmacy laws for the protection of the pharmacist and the public in their relations towards each other made jointly by physicians and pharmacists would carry great weight with our lawmakers. It is likewise apparent that the public has great faith in the judgment of the medical profession in matters relating to medicine and the health of the public, and, therefore, the opposition of physicians to pharmacy laws under consideration would do much to prevent their passage and enforcement.

The practice of medicine in all civilized countries is recognized as a liberal profession. The public demands that the medical profession shall conform to the demands of science, and shall make the cause of humanity, not money, the primary object of its service. It expects that the physician will investigate the causes of disease, and take measures to prevent its spread among the people, even though by so doing there is less demand for his services. The practice of medicine therefore should be philanthropic, beneficent, and altruistic in the highest degree.

Now, pharmacy is defined as the science of preparing medicine. Its practice is therefore a medic art. As a science it is dependent upon therapy, or the science of applying medicine to the cure of disease; and as a practice it is dependent upon the physician. It is evident from this definition that the vocation of the professional pharmacist can only be the preparation of medicine. He is not even called upon to dispense it. Furthermore, the pharmacist is under the same professional requirements as the physician in all matters medical. All will admit that there would be no difficulty whatever in harmonizing the relations of the physician and pharmacist if the latter practiced pure pharmacy as defined above.

It is the dual nature of the vocation of the pharmacist that makes it impossible to harmonize the interests of physician and pharmacist. No one for a moment will admit that trade in nostrums, soda water, cigars, fancy goods, bicycles, etc., etc., belongs to the practice of pharmacy. They are side lines into which the pharmacist has gone to eke out a livelihood. The fact is, there is not enough pharmacy left to go around, and he is obliged to take up these side lines or starve.

The medical profession does not object in the least to the pharmacist taking up side lines to make a living just so long as the side lines entered into do not interfere with the privileges belonging to the practice of medicine. He can sell all the soda water, bicycles, groceries, perfumes, soap, etc., he desires, and there will be no complaint. But when he becomes a competitor with the physician in treating the sick he can rest assured that no harmony can exist between the physician and himself.

For the purposes of this paper I propose to consider everything except the preparation of medicine which the pharmacist is doing as a side line. I shall even go so far as to say that, strictly speaking, according to the above definition, the medicine must be prepared for therapeutic use as directed by the physician. The first side line to consider is dispensing. Is it the prerogative of the pharmacist? The homeopathic physician would assuredly say no; and the sentiment of the profession at large seems to be in accord with that view. In evidence of this witness the rapid revolution now going on, in which the dispensing of medicines is going into the hands of the medical profession. Evidently there can be no harmony between the physician and pharmacist if the latter attempts legislation to prevent doctors from dispensing. Such an attempt would unite all medical denominations against the pharmacists at once.

Renewing prescriptions without the authority of the prescriber: That is a side line which the medical profession very strongly objects to; first, because physicians consider it an interference with their prerogative; second, because the indiscriminate dosing by the public is inimical to public health.

Prescribing over the counter: Physicians object to it for reasons already stated, and add another reason, that is the pharmacist is not educated or trained for the purpose.

Dispensing his own preparations, or the preparations of others, without a prescription from a competent physician: That side line is objectionable to the physician also. He claims that it is an interference with his prerogative, encourages the public to dose itself with all manner of medicines, and should be suppressed by law.

Selling any kind of medicine without a physician's prescription: That side line is equally objectionable for reasons stated.

What, then is left for the pharmacist? Nothing. That is, nothing but side lines, which have nothing whatever to do with medicine. That may be a little strong, but it is not very far from the truth; for, strictly speaking, how much pure pharmacy is left for the pharmacist?

I have brought up this subject, and have treated it in this manner, to show how impossible it is to harmonize the relations of pharmacists and physicians under existing circumstances. Now comes the question: Is it possible in this country to set apart a class of the community and protect it in the practice of pure pharmacy? Such a class would be under the control and direction of the medical profession, would be a branch of medical practice, in fact, and the pharmacist would be under the same obligations to science, to the profession, and to the cause of suffering humanity as the doctor. Is such a scheme practical? If not, what is the use of attempting to make pharmacy in this country a liberal profession? What is the use of trying to harmonize the relations of the physicians and pharmacists? The medical profession has nothing in common with the side lines of the pharmacist, and is utterly opposed to the selling of drugs or medicinal preparations to the public without the sanction and advice of the physician in every instance.

It is advocated by some that a class be created by legal enactment whose duty it will be to prepare medicine, compound prescriptions, and dispense under the doctor's directions only. To give such a class enough to do it would be necessary to pass laws which would limit the manufacturing, compounding, and dispensing of medicine to the class referred to. No doubt the medical profession would indorse such a scheme, but it would meet the opposition of the nostrum business, the great manufacturing houses, the wholesale druggists, the department stores, the grocers, and other branches of trade which are making or selling medicines in some form or other. Moreover, it would meet with opposition from the very ones the law is proposed to protect, viz., the retail druggists, as a body.

Another scheme has been proposed which also has objections. It is to require everyone who opens a drug store to be educated in materia medica, chemistry, and pharmaceutic manipulation, and pass a strict examination. He is then to be licensed to sell drugs and medicines to any one who will buy, may renew prescriptions without a license from the physician, prescribe over the counter, make and sell his own nostrums and similar preparations of others, and do pretty much as he pleases, so long as he does not actually poison any one to death. The medical profession objects to the passage of pharmacy laws to protect such a class, believing that of two evils, no laws on the subject are preferable.

I know that it has been often asserted that pharmacy laws are to protect the public, not to protect the pharmacist, but I do not hesitate to affirm without danger of successful contradiction that just pharmacy laws will protect the pharmacist also.

It is evident that the first thing of importance is to clearly define what is meant by pharmacy before we can have just pharmacy laws. Such laws must be just to the physician, and the pharmacist, as well as to the public, or they can never be satisfactorily enforced. We must determine whether pharmacy is, or is not, a liberal profession like medicine. If it is a liberal profession it is necessarily a part of the medical profession, and the medical laws should be so framed as to apply to it. If it is a trade, a handicraft, or a commercial business, very different legislation is required. As chairman of the Committee on National Legislation of the American Pharmaceutical Association, I present this paper for the purpose of exciting discussion not as an exponent of my own views, which are only partially formed as yet. There are several subjects connected with the drug business that concern the committee, and a discussion of the subject from the broader view would be of great aid in formulating laws to be presented for the consideration of the association at its next meeting.

I can close in no better way than by quoting the Australian Journal of Pharmacy, which sets forth the views of the editor in regard to the same question in another form.

A PROFESSION OR A HANDICRAFT?

Is the business of a chemist a profession or a handicraft? This is not a new question, but it acquires a fresh interest to New Zealanders in connection with the Masters' and Apprentices' Bill now under debate in Parliament. The bill, which is likely to become a law this session, provides, inter alia, that apprentices must receive wages from the commencement of their apprenticeship, starting with a sum of not less than 5s. per week for the first year, and increasing each successive year at the rate not less than 2s. 6d. per week. Now, most of our chemists are in the habit of receiving a premium (ranging from £50 to £100), with their apprentices, and do not pay any wages during the first year or two. The bill, however, exempts the apprentices of any person engaged in the teaching of any professional or scientific pursuit, also shop assistants and all kinds of clerks. Now, a chemist's apprentice is not really an assistant, nor can he be called a clerk, at least, not in these colonies. In America, I am aware the term "clerk" is continually applied to a chemist's shop or store employes; so that the only claims for exemption of chemists' apprentices lies under the first-named head, which would recognize that a chemist's business should be considered as a professional or scientific pursuit. Beyond all question, our business is a scientific one—that is to say, it cannot be carried on without a certain amount of scientific knowledge—and for this reason I should think chemists will not come under the provisions of the act; but at the same time my own opinion is distinctly against describing our business as a profession, and that we only invite ridicule by doing so. The term, so far as I know, has never been satisfactorily defined in this connection, but it is surely out of place if applied to any occupation involving the selling of goods.—Phar. Era.

Arizona and New Mexico.

The October flood which washed over the railroad tracks and flooded the streets and some of the business houses of Willcox was not quite high enough to swamp the store of E. A. Nichols, which is somewhat elevated above the level of its neighbors.

George Gothe, so long the efficient pharmacist in the employ of Fred Fleishman, Tucson, has been taking a month's vacation, returning Oct. 1st.

Dr. Geo. Martin, Tucson, reports an improving business. We are glad to hear that the doctor's health continues good. He is one of the pioneer druggists of Arizona.

H. H. Watkins, Kingman, made a recent flying trip to Denver, leaving Mrs. Watkins in charge of business—a position, we may remark, that she is able to fill very satisfactorily.

Dr. C. F. Roberts, Williams, is tasting the luxury of bachelorhood for a time, Mrs. Roberts having been making an extended visit to Albuquerque.

It sounds incredible, but it is stated as a fact, that sixty per cent. of the retail drug stores of Brooklyn and New York are for sale. The cause for the depression in drug store values is the growing practice of doctors in using compressed tablets. Instead of writing prescriptions to be taken to drug stores to fill, they hand out these tablets to patients, giving the patient directions for their use. Another reason for the depression is that department stores have taken the trade of the druggists in combs, brushes, soaps and perfumery, and the candy dealers have corralled the soda water business.—*P. Untaxed Alcohol for the Manufactures and Arts.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 24, 1896.

The Joint Select Committee, created at the last session of Congress, to investigate and report upon the question of the use of alcohol free of tax in the manufactures and arts, have prepared a series of interrogatories, which will be distributed throughout the country to such parties as are thought to be interested in the question.

The report of Mr. Henry Dalley, Jr., who was commissioned to investigate the workings of foreign laws governing the use of untaxed alcohol in the manufactures and arts has been submitted, and contains very full and extremely valuable data covering Great Britain, Germany, France, Belgium and Switzerland.

It is the earnest desire of the committee to secure all possible information bearing upon the subject, and it is hoped that parties interested will submit their views to the committee promptly. Sets of the circular letter and blank for replies will be supplied to any applicant by addressing the Chairman, Room 21, Senate Annex, Washington, D. C.

The committee, which is composed of three members of each House, will probably assemble in Washington soon after the middle of November for the purpose of formulating a report to Congress accompanied by the draft of a law which will place domestic industries on as favorable a basis as similar industries in foreign countries. During their sessions in Washington hearings will probably be given in order to supplement the information obtained through the interrogatories above set forth. Due notice of the time of such hearings will be given to the public.

The following is the letter of inquiry:

JOINT SELECT COMMITTEE OF CONGRESS ON ALCOHOL IN THE MANUFACTURES AND ARTS.

WASHINGTON, 1896.

MY DEAR SIR:

At the last session of Congress a Joint Select Committee of the two Houses was created to obtain information with regard to the use of Alcohol in the Manufactures and Arts free of tax, and to investigate all matters relating thereto. In furtherance of this object will you communicate to the committee any information at your command upon the following points:

1. How much alcohol is used in the United States in the business in which you are engaged, according to your best information:

2. How much do you use in your individual business?

3. Would there be an increased use of it in the trade with which you are connected if it were free of tax?

4. If so, to what extent?

5. Do you use wood alcohol or grain alcohol, or both, and if both, in what relative proportion?

6. Would methylated and unmethylated spirits be substituted for wood alcohol and other substances if they could be used free of tax in your manufacture?

7. What is the present difference of cost in this country between wood alcohol and grain alcohol, and has this difference fluctuated to any great extent?

8. Is the alcohol used in your business consumed in the process of manufacture, or does it form a part of the product offered for sale, or is it recovered?

9. What proportion of the total cost of the product manufactured by you is tax-paid alcohol?

10. If the alcohol remains in the product, could it be profitably recovered so as to be resold as alcohol either in the case of methylated spirits or of pure alcohol?

11. Would the use of alcohol free of tax in the business in which you are engaged lead to frauds upon the Treasury and a consequent loss of revenue? Please state fully.

12. Would the use of free alcohol in such business result in stimulating or increasing the exportation of your product?

13. Will you put yourself in communication with other parties engaged in your branch of business so that representatives of your industry may be prepared to give the fullest possible information upon the points above indicated, in addition to the reply which you make to this letter?

14. Is there an association representing your industry? If so, please give me the names of the officers and prominent members thereof, with their post-office addresses.

As it is desirable to receive the fullest information from you and to utilize it to the best advantage, will you please write your replies on the accompanying blanks and mail them in the inclosed envelope addressed to "Hon. O. H. Platt, Chairman Committee on Alcohol in the Manufactures and Arts, Room 21, Senate Annex, Washington, D. C."

An early reply will greatly oblige,

Very truly yours,

O. H. PLATT, Chairman.

IT was a low down trick the boys over in San Bernardino played on our (and their) old friend Jack Driver a few days ago. He wanted to go hunting one Sunday (Jack is no spring chicken behind a gun), and as he knew of a good dog he could borrow in San Bernardino, he telephoned to a friend to send him over on the motor. It so happened that the animal was in use that day, so the boys schemed a scheme. They corralled an old tramp mastiff, decrepit, blear-eyed and full of fleas, painted "sporting dog" on his broad sides and ticketed him to Driver, sending word by 'phone to come to the motor after his dog. Being busy with a prescription, Jack sent the junior clerk on the errand, with money for the charges. It was a sure enough dog William found, so he paid for his passage and led him over to the store. Just what Driver remarked when he saw the huge beast we won't say, but the atmosphere cleared in time for him to have his hunt the next day.

Hamlin J. Andrus Killed by a Bomb.

The drug trade of New York City was shocked by the news of the death of Hamlin J. Andrus, secretary of the Arlington Chemical Company and of the Palisade Mfg. Company, as the result of the explosion of a bomb in his office at Yonkers on Wednesday, October 21. Mr. Andrus was a gentleman of unusually affable manners and of particularly kindly disposition, which made him very popular among the employees of the company as well as among his social acquaintances. He was about 42 years of age, and leaves a widow, a grown son and a daughter. His brother, John E. Andrus, is the president of both companies. It is thought that the bomb was exploded by anarchists, with a view of killing both brothers, merely because of their wealth:—Am. Druggist.

LIKE "Sir John Falstaff" and other distinguished people, "Frog in Your Throat", the world-famous cough lozenge, permits abbreviation of his name as token of affectionate familiarity on the part of his friends. From the comparative seclusion of summer quarters he has emerged once more in all his glory, "Frog" for short, "admired of all admirers," king of his kind, the most popular throat trochee in existence. Never losing old friends, he continually makes new ones. Sure of a hearty welcome wherever he jumps, he is par excellence the "jolly good fellow" of Cough Curedom. His usefulness as throat comforter, palliator, purifier, as cough-killer and leader for other trade to the dealer is constantly increasing its range. The demand for the season is now almost at its zenith. All druggists, therefore, had better lay in a winter's stock at once, if they have not already done so. Hance Brothers & White with their usual liberality put an extra amount of jump muscle into his legs by the attractive advertising matter they furnish.

EUCALYPTUS Lozenges are among the seasonable articles now that coughs and colds are beginning to appear, with the advent of cooler weather and rains. Note first page of cover for the ad. and offers.

TAKE notice of the beautiful "Flaxina" roll paper, samples of which are sent with this issue. Preserve them for reference, and send your orders for same to F. W. Braun & Co.

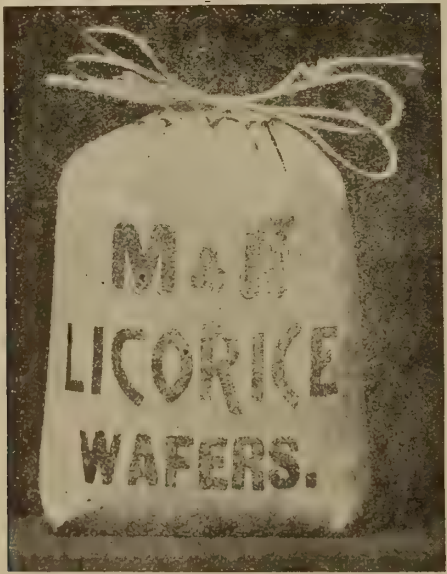
IN our want column will be found several drug stores advertised for sale. It is well to remind ourselves that the time to make a favorable purchase is when times are close and business dull. There are some good opportunities at the present time to buy a drug business. See ads.

NOTE the advertisement of holiday goods in this issue.

THE new chewing gum offer of a fine Mackintosh, on an eight dollar purchase, is meeting with great success.

NOVEMBER 26th is near at hand. Don't forget to stock up on "sweet herbs" for Thanksgiving seasonings—Thyme, Sage, Summer Savory and Sweet Marjoram, also Celery, Caraway and Coriander Seeds.

MR. FRANK D. OWEN, so long and favorably known among the pharmaceutical workers of this city, has accepted a position with the C. Laux Co., where his skill will find abundant opportunity of expression.



Above is shown the very neat and tasteful M. & R. Licorice Wafers in bags. The quality of M. & R.'s product is well known to the trade, and the promptness with which they are "catching on" to the new style shows their appreciation of the attractive package.

The bags are packed four dozen to the box, and cost $1.25 per box.

F. W. Braun & Co. have them.

The Acacia Family.

BY RENE ST. CROIX.

The Acacia, of which there are many varieties, may well be considered the most useful and yet the most neglected (because seldom or never cultivated) of all the indigenous flora of India, in all parts of which they may be found; but they are taller, stronger, and more exuberant in the warmer and moist tracts of Southern and Central India than in the colder or higher latitudes where they become stunted and their gum loses its adhesive value.

The trees for the most part are very umbrageous and this coupled with their delicate scented and beautiful flowers renders them invaluable for picturesque garden arbors and roadside planting where they afford a grateful shade from the grilling rays of an Indian sun. The leaves and legumes furnish excellent fodder for cattle whose milk supply it improves and increases and while the gum holds a prominent place in medicine and many of the manufactures and fine arts, the bark which is rich in tannin is largely used in curing leather. The wood is hard and makes capital timber for building and other purposes and it is difficult to obtain better fuel or charcoal than that furnished by the branches and other portions that are too small for timber.

The Mimosa Siressa or Acacia Libbeck grows to a fairly large and very shady tree in any kind of soil and all over India where it flowers during the hot months and fructifies in the rains. The M. Odoritissima whose gum is rich in bassoric, is common to the Southern and Western tracts where its fragrant blossoms appear during the rains, but the fruit ripens in autumn and the leaves drop off during winter. M. Elata, a slow growing tree, thrives best in rocky soils and furnishes a strong durable timber. It grows profusely in the hills and Nerbudda district, but its brownish-black gum is deficient in arabine. The shady M. Procera grows well wherever the soil is rocky, but is most prolific on the Malabar coast where its fragrant blossoms appear in early winter; but the gum is valueless and the wood, which is subject to weevils makes better fuel than timber. The beautiful umbrageous M. Smithiana or A. Seyal flourishes along the Sub-Himalaya tract and in the Chamba and Kangra Valleys. Its seeds afford a famine food for human beings and the legumes a good fodder, at all times, for goats and sheep.

A good building timber is furnished by the stately dense-leaved M. Heterophylla which is principally found in the jungles runing eastward from Kumaon through Assam, Bhutan, Silhet, Tippera, Pegu and Tenasserim and its gum is mainly used for adulterating pine-tears. The fruit of the M. Dulcis or Inga Dulcis, which grows in the "Hills" only, is largely eaten, and its spine-covered branches make good garden fences while the wood is valuable for timber and fuel. The curious M. Pudica or Indian Touch-me not, whose juice is used in various skin diseases by Kobirajs, baids and hakims, and may be found in any Indian garden. It has pale green leaves, red stems and fragrant cream colored or pale salmon puff-ball flowers.

The Acacia Arabica, more commonly known as the Babool or Gundaraj (King of Scents) occurs in all parts of India where the soil is dry, but is most prolific in Rajputana and the Bombay Presidency as a moderately sized tree which no attempt is made to cultivate. The legumes are employed as goat and sheep fodder and in times of scarcity the seeds are readily sought after for human consumption. The gum not only forms an essential part of many of the principal arts and manufactures but also holds a prominent place in confectionery and medicines. While the entire bark is the principal tan material of the leather trade the inner cortex forms the basis of various shades of black, brown and yellow dye for cotton and woolen fabrics. Delicate perfumes are distilled from the flowers and the wood is well suited for the turning lathe and building timber while the charcoal made from its twigs is not only invaluable in gun powder making, but is also preferable to that from other kinds of wood, as it burns more slowly, yields less ash and emits greater heat.

Large quantities of useful gum and valuable timber are obtained from the A. Biglobosa, whose dense foliage enhances the weird beauty of the wild scenery of the lowlands of the Chenab, Jhelum, Nerbudda and Sutlej, where it seldom exceeds 20 feet in height. The Terra Japonica or Kut (Catechu) of India is obtained from the slow growing A. Catechu, which is found in great abundance in the Beas, Jhelum, Ravi and Sutlej valleys, and yields capital fuel and turning-lathe blocks; but though very hard and durable the wood is too short and crooked for building purposes.

The A. Fructiosa (Amar Babool) is esteemed for its grateful shade and fragrant flowers. The seeds of the A. Farnesiana are useful as food and from the legumes is extracted a good hair-wash. The wood affords fuel and the gum is more tenacious than Gum Arabic. The leaves of the A. Ferugeinea make good fodder and the seeds and legumes an excellent famine food for the poorer classes while the ravages of insects make the tree produce galls (some as large as a goose's egg) which are valuable in medicine and in the preparation of writing and harness ink. The wood of the A. Latronum, which grows all over India, it is only fit for fuel and the gum, which is of poor quality, is used to adulterate gum arabic; but the leaves and legumes are good for fodder and produce large quantities of tannin. As it resists the action of water the wood of A. Xylocarpa is largely used by the Burmese and natives of Lower and Eastern Bengal for boat building. The A Oborata, which is common to Kumaon, Oudh and Rohilkhand, Tirhoot, Chakrata and Sevalik Valleys and the Nainital Hills, is applied to the same purposes as the Babool and the bark of the A. Leucophlæa is used as a mordaunt, but its chief application is in the production of a liquor resembling Mahwa Arrack.

Of course there are numbers of others of this family of which next to nothing is known, but which with the above could be turned to great advantage for economical and commercial purposes if they were cultivated instead of growing wild and running the risk of extermination by the wood cutter's axe.

GUILFOYLE'S "PERFECTION" ACID PHOSPHATE BOTTLE PATENTED

No More Spoiled Sodas.

No more waste, no more danger of corrosive poisons—no more slipping of corks from squirt bottles when you forget to hold them in while sprinkling.

Guilfoyle's Perfection Acid Phosphate Bottle (Porcelain Stopper) does away with all these troubles—it has no cork to slip—no metal to corrode—simply a depression in the neck of the bottle into which is sprung a flexible ring and a corresponding depression inside of stopper which fits snugly down over the ring, making a perfect joint. It cannot come off until it is pulled off for the purpose of refilling. Neat, handy, clean, and will last for years. The loss by a single accident with the old time squirt will almost pay for one of them.

Price, for bottle not engraved, 50 cents.

THE REX OVAL.

This fine bottle, a product of the present year, commends itself promptly to the trade by its handsome appearance, its rounded edges, its flaring lip, its general shape so convenient for labelling, and especially by the cleanly style of packing adopted by the manufacturers. Druggists will appreciate the absence of straw both inside the bottles and on the floor, the corrugated paper being entirely clean and free from all the disagreeable features of old style packing.

The "Rex" is not more costly than some of the old styles of high grade ware and is fully up to the best ever on the market. A trial order will convince you of its desirability.

BY COURTESY of the California State Board of Pharmacy, we are in receipt of a neatly bound copy of its Fourth and Fifth Annual Reports, Aug. 1, 1894, to Aug. 1, 1896, covering also a copy of the pharmacy law, a circular of information, a sample of examination papers, and a list of all registrations under the law. The total number, in all classes, who have received certificates, is 2,269. Deducting 57, who are reported as deceased, there remains on record the large number of 2,212. During the year ending Aug. 1, 1895, there were 1,393 re-registrations, and during the same period 83 original registrations, while during the year ending Aug. 1, 1896, there were 117 original registrations, no report being made of re-registrations.

In all the prosecutions under the law during the past year the cases have resulted either in conviction or in a compliance with the law on the part of the defendant, indicating a general acquiescence in the firm position of the statute.

Among the practicing pharmacists we find no less than 72 Chinese, and among the assistant pharmacists 51 of the same nationality, certainly a large showing. It is perhaps needless to say that no Chinese appear in the lists of graduates and licentiates. Eight of the celestials who are listed have Ng as a surname—very properly, no doubt—while the n. g's. of the balance of the list are only discovered by personal contact. In this connection note the following paragraph from the report:

"The dense ignorance of some of the candidates as to matters with which they ought to be well informed is surprising. This remark applies, in part, to the older men, who entered drug stores many years ago, when there was less danger than there is now in medicine, of potent chemicals, alkaloids, and the active principles in place of crude drugs. That such men should be behind the times seems to be in some measure excusable, but many of the persons who present themselves for examination as licentiates in pharmacy, and show this awful lack of knowledge of the profession, are young men who have commenced their career since pharmacy laws were in operation. The examinations show that a majority of these had not devoted any considerable time, if any at all, to the study of their profession. Should any one question the need of a pharmacy law in this State, an attendance at one session of this board, sitting as an examination board, would convince him, not only that the law is needed, but also that it should be vigorously enforced."

The justice of the above commentary is undoubted, in view of the facts, but while a scattered few are found who properly come under the criticism the larger part are as intelligent, cultivated and progressive as the pharmacists of any of the older States, and in the comparative examination tests quite as large a proportion of candidates before the board pass the examinations creditably as do those of other States.

The board makes a fair financial showing, having a slightly increased balance to its credit over last year, and appears to be doing its work economically and well.

EDITOR WHELPLEY, of the Meyer Bros. Druggist, suggests the use of the title R. P. (registered pharmacist) instead of the various designations now in vogue, as Ph. G., Ph. C., etc., holding that the one necessary thing to be known by the public is the fact of competency, as attested by the State Board of Pharmacy, and a compliance with the law of the land. The suggestion is worthy of consideration.

W. HISKEY passed the pharmacy examination in Ohio in October last. What a popular druggist he would make for one of our prohibition towns!

In the courts of New York the theory of the pharmacy law is held to be that the proprietor must be a registered pharmacist, and that a department store having a drug department under the management of a pharmacist does not thereby comply with the requirements of the law. This principle has also been held to be the correct interpretation of the intention of pharmacy laws in other localities, both in this country and in Canada, and it is not improbable that similar ground may be taken in the courts of this State. Druggists in our cities will be interested in watching the development of this principle as applied to home conditions.

In the newly brought out rival of saccharin—which is called zucharin—a strong competitor for the patented article is found, bringing with it the probability of lower prices for these chemical sweeteners. We need not be surprised if after a short time even the cheap beet sugar of to-day should be largely superseded in common use by these highly concentrated substitutes, which even now are quoted at prices considerably less than sugar, when sweetening power is taken into account. There are few manufactured products of greater value to the world than sugar, and the prodigious industrial interests involved in its manufacture make the thought of its decadence almost tragic in interest, considering the millions of people dependent upon the industry for the means of subsistence.

The retirement of Mr. George S. Davis from the management of the business of Parke, Davis & Co. is exciting considerable interest in drug circles, and wild rumors are afloat concerning Mr. Davis' personal extravagances and the dissipation of his large fortune. However the case may be as to his mode of life and retirement, it is certain that the brilliant success of his house has been largely due to his remarkable business insight and activity, and if it is true, as stated by the Era, that a salary of $10,000 per annum follows him in his retirement, in the nature of a pension, the firm is to be credited with showing a just appreciation of Mr. Davis' invaluable services.

Reports from Eastern trade centers show considerable improvement in the wholesale business, and indicate a general brightening of trade among the retailers. An easier money market has much to do with the improvement. Collections are better, and there is a large increase in the number of workmen employed. The conditions in California have not been nearly so hard among the retail trade as in the East. We judge that a much larger proportion of our druggists have continued to discount their bills throughout the past year than has been the case in the Eastern States. There will perhaps be a smaller immediate improvement here than is noticeable there, yet, with a general revival of industry, we may be certain that we shall, sooner or later, share in the benefits arising therefrom.

"Free alcohol" is wanted by the manufacturers just as badly as ever. The abrogation of the late law giving them a rebate only serves to promote a renewed activity in the effort to bring about the passage of a new law at the earliest possible moment which shall meet their wishes. The retail druggist need not expect to be included among the beneficiaries of the next bill. If the manufacturers succeed in their efforts, prices will drop on alcoholic preparations, and the druggist will buy all tinctures and other spirituous products of the laboratory instead of making them himself. This will be one step farther on the march out of the professional into the commercial. However, it may save him a little money. Whether the Government can afford to lose the revenues involved, at a period when there is already a deficiency as compared with expenses, is a matter the lawmakers must decide.

In the "preliminary" examination of the Pharmaceutical Association, Providence of Quebec, which we find in the November Canadian Druggist, the first thing on the program is a paragraph in French required to be translated into English. Next is one in English to be put into French. An examination in English grammar follows, then a translation from Latin and Latin grammar. Arithmetic, geography and history then have the floor, testing very thoroughly the scholarship of the candidate in these branches, before entering upon the pharmaceutical portion of the examination. It is plain that the successful candidate in the Provinces must be a man of all around acquirements, which is as it should be, if the pharmacist desires his title to mean anything, and the fact that of 29 candidates 13 were able to pass the examination is quite creditable to the quality of the applicants.

We have seen an extract from an opinion of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue on the subject of Playing Cards, which is of interest to the trade, inasmuch as second-hand cards have been peddled about the country and sold without re-stamping. It states the necessity of re-stamping with manufacturers' stamps, which may be procured of the Collectors of Internal Revenue, all such cards as have been opened, withdrawn and used. The penalty is severe, being $50 for each pack sold in violation of the law, an amount quite sufficient to put dealers on their guard.

The semi-annual report (October, 1896,) of Schimmel & Co., (Fritsche Bros.,) Leipzig and New York, is just to hand. It deals, as usual, principally with essential oils, and is an interesting and valuable document. The services of this house in giving the world a more definite understanding of the properties and qualities of essential oils are of inestimable value, and their reward is found in the great expansion of their business.

The Chemists' and Druggists' Diary, for 1897, which has just come to hand, is a bound volume of 627 pages, 65 of which are devoted to the diary, 27 pages to a dispenser's formulary, and a number of pages to various tables and special information, the balance covering advertisements. Altogether a very useful volume, though rather bulky. In looking over the list of consultants (specialists) we note the peculiarity, to American eyes, of the prefixes to the names of physicians and surgeons, the former being Dr. and the latter Mr.

Surgeons do not seem to be doctors, nor doctors surgeons, in England.

The next meeting of the California State Board of Pharmacy will be held Jan. 13th, in San Francisco.

THE American Druggist, in summing up the status of the Universal Trade Association, gives its conclusions in the following paragraph:

> Taking the case as presented by the interviews and statement published in our news columns, the mildest verdict possible is that the Universal Trade Association is a costly failure, that Mr. Newlands Hayes is a glittering success as a promoter—of his own interest—and that the association, as it stands now, is a good thing to let severely alone.

California College of Pharmacy.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 11, 1896.

EDITOR CALIFORNIA DRUGGIST: Dear Sir—The trustees and faculty of the California College of Pharmacy, which is affiliated with the State University, decided last Thursday evening to change the term of the sessions from summer to winter, so as to accord with the other colleges of pharmacy in the country, as well as with the medical and dental colleges of our university. In order to do this it has been found necessary to shorten the vacations after the next two terms. The next term will open on the 1st of February, 1897, continuing until about the 1st of September. The following term will commence about the 1st of November, and the year after that, and from that time henceforth, about the 1st of September. Our Eastern friends have often expressed surprise that we should hold our college session in the summer time. This course was adopted in 1873, partly because it is the best time for studying botany and partly because it is the season of the year when trade in San Francisco is lightest, and hence clerks could more easily find time for study, while engaged part of the time in stores. Conditions have greatly changed since that time, and the advantages of a winter term over a summer term seemed to outweigh those conditions which formerly induced us to adopt the latter.

We hope the building for the Affiliated Colleges of our State University, now about to be erected near the Golden Gate Park, will be ready for occupancy in 1899. We then expect to have as fine an equipment as any of the large colleges in the East.

Yours very Truly,
W. M. SEARBY, Dean.

THE first American to import quinine was John Milhau, according to a statement of his son, Edward L. Milhau. Half an ounce was the extent of the first lot, which cost £4.

Business Personals.

FRED ROGERS, formerly with M. P. Green, Pasadena, has accepted a position with Bristol & Rowley, Santa Ana, in their "Star Pharmacy."

GILLIS & SPOOR, Redlands, are showing a remarkably fine holiday line this season, their cases being filled with the choicest of goods. Their business will be a large one this month.

MR. CHESTNUT, with G. C. Thaxter, Redlands, has had an accession of fortune lately in the shape of a bouncing "new woman," now a fortnight old. That makes three times. Congratulations!

MR. WM. SECOMBE, long in the employ of E. E. McGibbon, San Bernardino, has accepted a position with J. A. Lamb, of the same city.

MR. E. J. ROBERTS, so long the popular head clerk at J. A. Lamb's pharmacy, has launched his own ship this month, and will hereafter be numbered among the drug proprietors of San Bernardino. He has secured a room opposite the Stewart Hotel on Eighth street, where he will be in the center of business. With Mr. Roberts' wide circle of friends and his familiarity with the wants of his community he will without doubt command his share of business. We extend our best wishes for his prosperity.

THE holiday season has struck Frank M. Towne's establishment, sure enough! A long line of tables in the center of his store are filled with beautiful goods, and his show cases overflow with richness. San Bernardino people need not go away from home for presents, this year at least.

MR. A. LANG has taken the management of the Pasadena Drug Company's store. We learn that a fine new building is soon to be erected for this establishment.

THE fine store of B. Gutierrez, Santa Barbara, has undergone some important changes of late in its interior arrangements, which have added to the convenience as well as beauty of the establishment. The magnificent block now covering the Gutierrez corner would do credit to Los Angeles or San Francisco. Its construction has done much to centralize in this vicinity the business of the city, and Mr. Gutierrez, who started in the drug trade at this location many years ago, has the present satisfaction of occupying the most prominent corner and a part of the finest building in beautiful Santa Barbara.

J. A. LYON, Bakersfield, has been enlarging and improving his store, painting and decorating woodwork and re-arranging the interior, until he has now as attractive a place of business as there is in Kern county. With his central location and his close attention to business, Mr. Lyon's success cannot be a matter of doubt. We wish him abundant prosperity.

E. A. BAER, Bakersfield, reports business good, and appearances fully justify the report. He has recently added Mr. McCabe to his force, and promptness and efficiency characterizes the entire establishment.

DR. NICHOLS, of Oceanside, finds time to get among the ducks of that country occasionally with his never-failing gun, and thus combines great enjoyment with health-giving exercise.

Dr. W. T. Merchant, Norwalk, has been laid up for a fortnight or so with a severe cold and rheumatism. We trust he will be all right again very soon.

Mr. Frank Gilliland, long in the employ of J. C. Hardman, Riverside, is now a happy benedict. He met his good fortune in the person of one of Riverside's fair daughters, Miss Mae Morse, and the wedding, which was a very charming occasion, took place on the 19th of November. We offer our congratulations and best wishes.

T. F. Hudson, Tempe, Arizona, has sold out to Laird and Dine, who will continue the business at the old stand. Mr. Hudson is an old timer in Arizona, having established a large and profitable business in Tombstone in the palmy days of that camp. We are not informed as to his intentions for the future.

The old house of J. T Baker, Hanford, is in its gala clothes this month with an elegant display of holiday goods, filling the big show cases and seeking standing room on top. A good business in these lines is assured for this season, as more money than usual has been distributed among the fruit producers of the Mussel Slough country. Mr. Clarence Howland, who looks after the books as well as the drug department, reports quite satisfactory returns in collections of back accounts—an encouraging sign of improved times.

Mr. H. C. Fallin, Hanford, is apparently in better health than during the summer months. Business is good, and the long needed outing not easy to secure. We were going to make some remarks about a very neat home made case of drawers for filing prescriptions, which Mr. Fallin has devised and set up, but will defer the description until another time.

Col. R. C. Allen, of E. A. Cutter & Co., San Jacinto, has recently been appointed to the governorship and management of the British South African Territories Company, in German West Africa. The company, which is a British corporation, operates under contract with the German Government, which has confirmed Col. Allen's appointment, and he is already on his way to the field of operations in Africa. Ten million acres of agricultural and thirty-eight million acres of mineral lands are comprised within the concessions to the company, an area of seventy-five thousand square miles. Col. Allen was formerly of the Royal Marine Artilleries, and his character and experience well fit him for the responsible duties of his position.

S. S. Rogers, Escondido, has put in handsome show case counters, glass from the floor, which add much to the appearance of his attractive store.

In the City.

The holiday season is much in evidence at C. Laux Co.'s. their large show windows being filled with elegant and useful goods suggestive of Christmas gifts. A display of Laux's popular perfumes fills one window, while the other is devoted to rich toilet and manicure cases, mirrors, etc., attracting much attention from passers by.

The Thomas Drug Company show a big line of holiday goods, and their store is evidently a great attraction for visitors. The next two weeks will be a lively time for this establishment.

H. M. Sale & Son make a very fine exhibit of decorated china toilet sets and the ever popular fancy atomizers, which are tastefully displayed in their large show windows. Their store is one of the attractive places of the city.

H. Germain has a large line of toilet goods and an elegant display of silver-mounted pocket-books for the ladies. Fine confectionaries are a specialty at the "Dragon."

Godfrey & Moore, although not making a special holiday display, have a complete stock of fine toilet requisites, brushes, mirrors, perfumes, etc., such as are at all times in demand.

The same is true of a dozen other of our leading druggists, whose "staples" include a great number of attractive and useful articles, among the most acceptable of Christmas gifts.

Mr. T. G. Callender, formerly of Azusa, is putting in a stock of drugs at Seventh and Vernon streets. Having built a store upon his own property, Mr. Callender has undoubtedly come to stay. We wish him success.

Mr A. G. Orena, Sixth and Flower, is somewhat delayed in his opening; but will very soon be ready for business. He has secured the services of Mr. Freeman, late in the employ of A. M. Ruiz, Santa Barbara, who is a competent and popular young man.

Mr. Paul E. Jones has returned to his old position as manager of the drug department of H. Germain, at the Dragon Pharmacy, after an absence from Los Angeles of several years. We are glad to welcome him back.

Mr. Chas. S. Ruggles has taken a position with the Owl Drug Company, this city.

Mr. M. F Lucas, lately with the Meyer Bros. Drug Company, St. Louis, is now looking after the city trade in the interest of F. W. Braun & Co. Mr. Lucas is a wide awake salesman and commands the confidence of the trade.

Mr. J. W. McEvers is representing the Hathorn Springs Mineral Water in this vicinity. There is no better or more agreable water than the Hathorn, and it should have a very large sale here, as it does in the East. Success to you, Mac!

Mr. Gibson Vance, formerly with the Thomas Drug Company, has accepted a position with C. F. Heinzeman.

Dr. F. E. Corbin has bought out the business of G. W. Campbell, Boyle Heights.

Mr. C. G. Alter has purchased H. B. Fasig's drug store, East Los Angeles, which covers Station A. Postoffice.

Mr. A. Hawthorn, long with C. Laux Co., has bought out the Lang establishment, cor. Pico street and Union avenue. Mr. Hawthorn is an accomplished pharmacist and in every way merits the confidence of the public.

The Era published an interesting item a short time ago concerning a druggist of New York City, who was able to "sell drugs in five languages," and it occurred to us that we have in Los Angeles a pharmacy where at least an equal facility exists. Upon interviewing the firm we had in mind, Messrs. Violé & Lopizich, 427 North Main street, we learned that they are able to do business, or put up prescriptions, in no less than eight languages—French, English, Russian, Italian, Spanish, Latin, Modern Greek and Arabic. Mr. Violé is French and Mr. Lopizich a Slavonian. They have a large patronage among the foreign population of this quarter of our city, which is in the heart of the old Los Angeles, and besides, do a good business with the English speaking public.

Let Them Know It.

The druggist who does not let his customers know that he keeps Tip Top Cough Syrup is giving his competitors a decided advantage, for customers are going to the store where they are sure of getting it. Place Tip Top where your customers can see it and call their special attention to it, and the trade you will have on Tip Top Cough Syrup will be a revelation to you

Five Weeks, or Forty.

A legal gentleman called at the office of his medical adviser with a look of perplexity on his usually placid countenance. Rather abruptly, he said: "You know, doctor, as do most of our friends, that wife and I have planned to spend a year abroad. A week ago we were annoyed by her failure to 'come round.' Until yesterday we had hoped the interruption might be due to the fatigue of preparation for our trip, and that the trouble would soon right itself. But for the last 24 hours she has had all of the pronounced symptoms experienced with each of her previous pregnancies at this date. So after talking it over we decided to have you come down at once, and straighten matters out for us."

"In what way?" said the doctor. "To prescribe something for the relief of her reflexes?"

"No. Her discomfort is no greater than usual, but we want the cause removed."

"Has it never occurred to you that the rude interruption of any physiological process involves more or less risk to the subject of it, and especially so of pregnancy?"

"Well, yes; if you refer to the popular knitting needle method. But as you see, we do not intend to proceed on that line."

"Nevertheless, the most careful treatment is not without danger."

"But the condition is only of five weeks' duration at most; and as we have absolute confidence in your skill, I am sure the risk will be practically nothing."

"I must insist that it would be wiser to refrain from interference and postpone your trip."

"But, doctor, you surely do not take into consideration the duration of such postponement It must extend beyond the weaning of the babe, for my wife has a horror of bottles and wet nurses, and of fashionable healthy mothers who sacrifice their innocents by consigning them to either."

After a prolonged pause, the doctor said: "I think I can abbreviate the postponement somewhat; yet, in the interest of your wife's health, which of course is paramount to you, my plan must differ from yours, I suggest that for the present you drop your dates of travel. In answer to inquiries as to change of plans, assign family reasons. Take your wife on short jaunts frequently. Make every possible contribution to her normal physical condition. The remaining 35 weeks will speed faster than you think. When the time is up my skill shall be at your command. Immediately on delivery I shall pass the babe over to you, and before it shall utter a cry you may knock it in the head, and in three weeks may safely start on your journey across the sea."

Blanched with horror, with dilated pupils, wide open mouth and bated breath, the lawyer for a moment sat speechless. But soon recovering himself, with reactionary flush, contracted brow, compressed lips and clenched fists, he sprang to his feet and said: "Do you think I would be guilty of murder?"

The doctor, who had been leisurely studying the queer mental processes of his visitor, said quietly in reply: "How about me?"—Southern Cal. Practitioner.

Arbitrary English Language.

We'll begin with box, and the plural is boxes, but the plural of ox should be oxen, not oxes; the one fowl is a goose, but two are called geese, yet the plural of mouse should never be meese; you may find a lone mouse or a whole nest of mice, but the plural of house is houses, not hice; if the plural of man is always called men, why shouldn't the plural of pan be called pen? The cow in the plural may be called cows or kine, but a bow if repeated is never called bine, and the plural of vow is vows, never vine. If I speak of a foot, and you show me your feet, and give you a boot, would a pair be called beet? If one is a tooth and a whole set are teeth, why shouldn't the plural of booth be called beeth? If the singular is this and the plural is these, should the plural of kiss ever be nick-named keese? Then one may be that and three may be those, yet hat in the plural would never be hose, and the plural of cat is cats, not cose. We speak of a brother, and also of brethren, but though we may say mother we never say methren; then the masculine pronouns are he, his, him, but imagine the feminine she, shis, shim. So the English, I think, you all will agree, is the greatest language you ever did see.—The Commonwealth

In a year's business a druggist can make more money on Tip Top Cough Syrup than on any other cough remedy, because it is the most rapid seller, or as Druggist Marsh, of San Diego, says: "It is the Tip Top seller."

A Slight Misunderstanding.

A well-known brilliant entertainer, who has just returned from a five years' tour in Australia, has many amusing tales to tell, among which is the following:

"I was ordering my advertisement in a Melbourne daily newspaper office one day," said the narrator, "when a tall, lanky countryman walked in and said he wanted an 'in memoriam' notice in the obituary column of the paper.

" 'My ole guv'nor died a year ago,' he explained, 'and I should like a bit o' poetry in the paper about him.'

" 'All right,' answered the clerk; 'have you brought it with you?'

" 'No,' said the rustic; 'can't you fix me up a bit?'

" 'Certainly,' replied the clerk. "Our charge for 'In memoriam' notices is six shillings an inch.'

"A look of intense amazement passed over the countryman's face.

" 'Good gracious!' he cried, as he made for the door, 'I can't afford that; my guv'nor was six feet high!' "—The Amusing Journal.

The Vale of Kashmir.

At a meeting of the Society of Arts (Indian Section), Eng , March 15, Mr. Walter A. Lawrence, I. C. S., C. I. E., read a paper on "Kashmir: Its People and Its Produce." Phar. Jour. gives an excellent report. The speaker said the beautiful valley of Kashmir was cradled in the Himalayas at an average height above the sea of 6,000 feet. On the north, east and west it was shut in from the outer world by ranges of mighty mountains, while on the south it was separated from the Punjab by rocky barriers fifty to seventy-five miles in width. The cultivated part of the valley was eighty-four miles in length, and twenty to twenty-five miles broad, traversed by the River Jhelum. One of the many legends relating to the Haramak Mountain was that any traveler who scaled its peak would meet with instant death. In the crest of this mountain there was said to be a vein of emerald which rendered all snakes within its ken innocuous, and it was a curious fact that the poisonous snakes were only met with in the valley. The trees, such as the plane trees, walnuts, willows, poplars, elms, mulberries, and the countless orchards of apples, pears and apricots, reminded one of a well-wooded English park. The crops of rice and the cotton belonged to the East, while the rounded forms of the trees, the rivers, and streams with their banks of green turf and willows, recalled the West. The very villages were English; instead of the ineffably dreary and unvillage-like look of the Indian hamlet, there were dotted about here and there picturesque homesteads, all having their little gardens and courtyards. One of the prettiest objects in the village was the graveyard, shaded by the Celtis Australis, and bright with purple, white and yellow iris. Kashmir could be reached in three weeks from London; it had a most delightful and varied climate. For a holiday or change there could be no more restful and healthy life than a year or six months' sojourn in the valley of Kashmir, and any European with a medicine chest was always welcome. There was sport for the sportsman, wonderful scenery, mountains for the mountaineer, glaciers for the botanist, a vast field for the geologist and magnificent scenes for the archæologist, Up to the end of the fourteenth century, Kashmir was the seat of a Hindoo kingdom, when the people left their glorious temples and picturesque religion for the sullen compromise of Islam. The beauty or rumored wealth of the valley attracted the Moghals at the end of the sixteenth century, and Kashmir came under a foreign yoke.

The lot of Kashmir was not unhappy under the Moghals, but they were succeeded by the brutal and oppressive Pathans, who ruined the country and the people, and were ultimately driven out by the Sikhs. The Sikhs were a change for the better, but left much to be desired. Moorcroft narrated that the punishment for the murder of a Kashmir by a Sikh was a fine of two rupees. In 1846, Kashmir was made over to the Maharaja Gulab Singh, who was a strong ruler, and his efforts were very effectual in stamping out crime. Kashmir had undergone many changes in its governors, who with their deputies had felt no sympathy for the people. It had been the deliberate policy of the Panjits, the Brahman officials of Kashmir, to exaggerate the difficulties of administration in the valley. They excused their own corruption, cruelty and ignorance by assuring their masters that the Kashmirs were lying, lazy and dishonest. Another cause of the hopeless state of the people was the fact that earthquakes, floods, fires, cholera and famine were familiar to every generation. For example, in the village of Pattan, where there were about 165 families, in 1885 seventy persons perished in an earthquake, and in 1892 fifty-five persons were carried off by cholera. The tyranny of man on the one hand and the terrible vagaries of nature had rendered the Kashmiris incredulous of the existence of good in man and nature. All their memories were sad, and hardly a day passed without mention of the great famine of 1877-79, when men turned cannibals, and three-fifths of the population perished. The dress of the men was like their character, effeminate. They wore a kind of woolen nightgown falling to the feet, and under this, if the weather were cold or wet they inserted a small earthen brazier of hot embers, known as kánger. Though this kept them warm it had its drawbacks, as they went to bed with their kánger and often set their bed on fire, and it was said the brazier was a fruitful source of cancer. In Kashmir there was cultivation that would astonish Europeans, and the art wares in Srinigar had astonished the world.

The domestic life of the Kashmiris was admirable. One never heard of scandals, and, like the Irish, they were kind to their children and their old folk. They were also a very gentle people, and their quarrels never went beyond invective and abuse. The sight of blood was dreadful to them, and if a fowl had to be slaughtered for food the execution devolved on the village priest. At one time no doubt it was necessary to attract the attention of their rulers by some striking demonstration. Men who had a grievance would fling off their clothes and smear themselves with mud. The nakedness was to imply destitution, and the mud signified that they were reduced to the condition of a clod. Many a time the lecturer had seen a procession, one man wearing a shirt of matting, another having a straw rope around his neck with a brick pendant, another carrying a pan of hot embers on his head, while the rear was brought up by a woman bearing a number of broken earthen pots. If this was bad, still more inconvenient was the practice of casting a plow under his horse's feet in order to emphasize the fact that agriculture no longer possessed charms for the proprietor of the plow. Once, while hearing petitions, the lecturer noticed an old man standing for some time on his head; fearing that he might injure himself, he was asked why he did it. His reply was that, thanks to Mr. Lawrence's arrangements, his affairs were so confused that he did not know whether he was standing on his head or his heels. A man once wanted to strengthen his case in some litigation which he had by arousing the lecturer's sympathy, and the course he adopted was to bring before him the dead body of his child, for which he said his neighbors would not allow him burying ground. One bitterly cold night a man appeared at Nagmarg stark naked, saying that his uncle had turned him empty into the world. Some English clothes were given him, and he was told by way of jest that as he was now dressed like an Englishman he could assert his rights. The next day the uncle appeared in the camp in a very shattered condition, charging his nephew with assault. This incident showed how dangerous it was to jest with the natives. The ruler of Kashmir was a Hindoo, and 93 per cent. of his subjects were Mussulmans. The officials of the country for the most part belonged to the rigid Brahmin caste, but the much-talked-of oppression in Kashmir was entirely official, and did not arise from religious intolerance. In India of late great rivalry had arisen between the two great religions of Brahminism and Islam, but in Kashmir the Mussulmans and Hindoos lived together in delightful amity. The chief reason of this was that the people of the valley, though Mussulman in name, were really Hindoos at heart. Kashmir was rich in superstitions, and lovers of the supernatural would find a great field in the villages of the remoter valleys.

Turning from the people to the products of the valleys, it would be interesting to note that almost all the vegetable products that existed in a temperate climate could be grown in the vale of Kashmir. It was the lecturer's hope that Kashmir might become the California of India. The fruit was magnificent and was easily grown. There was everywhere an endless supply of wild stock, and from the nurseries many thousands of trees grafted or budded with the best English and French varieties of apples and pears were given out. The turning industry, introduced two years ago, was thriving. There were large vineyards, from which excellent wine—Medoc and Barsac—was made. These vineyards had recently been replanted with American stock, in order to combat the phylloxera which had penetrated even to remote Kashmir. Excellent cider was made, and the brandy which was distilled from the wild apples and pears was pure and potent. They had succeeded admirably with hop-growing, the financial results of which would surprise Kentish growers. Silk was an ancient industry in Kashmir, and it was probable that the valley produced the old Bactrian silk which found its way to Damascus; but evil days came in 1878, and disease obliterated the industry. In 1889 it was decided, on the advice of Sir Edward Black, to rehabilitate sericulture, and to stamp out disease by following the Pasteur system of microscopical examination. For the first two years the results were disappointing, a native with a microscope being a most uncertain combination. Success was, however, eventually obtained, and a few weeks ago the first Kashmir silk found a sale in London. He had advised the government not to incur expense on improved reeling appliances, his idea being to demonstrate that good silk could be raised in Kashmir, and to make sericulture pay its expenses.

All that was wanted in the country was European capital, skill and energy. Already Europeans were carrying on a successful manufacture of carpets, giving employment to the unfortunate weavers of the old shawls, for which Kashmir was once world famed, this latter industry having been destroyed by the Franco-German war. There was splendid water-power everywhere, and if capital were forthcoming, cotton mills could be erected which would supply Central Asia with cloth. The valley abounded in fibers, one being especially worthy of European notice, called out there Yéchkan. The Abutilon avicennæ and its fiber had been pronounced superior to Indian jute, and finer than Manilla hemp. The iron of Kashmir was preferred to the imported metal, and the valleys and mountains were thought to be rich in minerals. The chance discovery of a rich sapphire mine in 1882 suggested that organized exploration might lead to further discoveries. It was no exaggeration to say that the Kashmiris detested mining, as it led to forced labor and the presence of numerous officials, who required to be fed. He had not time to refer to the floating gardens similar to the Chinampas of old Mexico, nor to the saffron, for which the valley was renowned.—Era.

LOOKING over the advertising pages of this issue of the DRUGGIST, you will notice the page "ad" of the Sterling Remedy Company, a page that directly appeals to the personal interest of every druggist. See it, and ask yourself if you can afford to pass the offer by. If you were buying a new stock of goods amounting to two thousand dollars, and were offered in addition to the goods two thousand dollars' worth of six per cent. dividend paying stock free, would you take it? Undoubtedly. Why not a ten dollar purchase then? The object of the Sterling Remedy Company is not to throw away their money or stock. It is to personally interest every druggist in their sales by sharing their dividends with them. It will bear investigation. Don't delay it.

Our New President's March.

We have just received a copy of "Our New President's March," composed by Juliet S. Norton. This is one of the finest marches for piano or organ ever published in America. It is dedicated to the Republican party of the United States. The title page contains a correct picture of McKinley. Price 50 cents per copy. All readers of our paper will receive a copy at half price, by sending 25 cents in postage stamps to The Union Mutual Music Co., 265 Sixth avenue, New York.

FORMULAS.

Cement for Metals.

Several cements are used to make metals adhere either to wood or glass. We give two much used recipes:

I.

	Parts by weight.
Boiled linseed oil	6
Copal	6
Litharge	2
Powdered white lead	1

II.

	Parts by weight.
Slaked lime	1
Brick dust	2
Boiled linseed oil	3

In each case all that is needed is to make a thoroughly homogeneous mixture of the ingredients.

AMERICAN CEMENT.

	Parts by weight.
India rubber	10
Chloroform	6
Mastic	2

This size is also good for making glass adhere to other hard surfaces.

WHITE CEMENT

	Parts by weight.
Acetate of lead	46
Alum	46
Gum Arabic	76
Wheat flour	500

Dissolve the acetate of lead and the alum in a little water, and separately dissolve the gum arabic in a fair quantity of boiling water. Thus, if the 500 parts of wheat flour represent a pound, the quantity of water needed will be about a quart. The gum having dissolved, add the flour, put the whole on the fire, stir well with a wooden stick, then add the solution of acetate and alum. Continue the stirring in order to avoid the formation of lumps, then take it off the fire without allowing it to boil. This cement is used cold, and will not scale. It is very useful in making wood, glass, cardboard, etc., adhere to metals, and is extremely strong.—Oils, Colors, and Drysalteries.

White Cream for Polishing Tan Boots.

Sapo communis	2 dr.
Ceræ flav	1 oz.
Potass. carb	½ dr.
Ol. Morrhuæ	1 oz.
Ol. verbenæ	2 m.
Aquæ	4 oz.

Dissolve the carbonate potash and soap in the water and add to the previously melted wax. When mixed add the oils.—Chemist and Druggist.

An Improved Liquid Glue.

A German pharmaceutical chemist named Ernest F. Eduard Martens, of Neustadt-Holstein, has patented a preparation of liquid glue for joiners, upholsterers, etc., the object being to provide a strongly adhesive glue that will not be injurious to health. The process consists in dissolving ordinary glue in water, with the addition of salicylate of soda or of one of the compounds of the derivatives of the benzol kernel or group.

One hundred parts in weight of the very best glue made from leather parings are placed in a suitable vessel and allowed to be softened in 150 parts of water, after which 10 parts in weight of salicylate of soda are added, the mixture being heated in a water bath until the solid part is thoroughly dissolved.

To preserve the glue thus prepared, which remains liquid, one gramme of oil of cloves is added to each kilo of glue.

This solution, diluted with water, forms a cheap substitute for gum, and can be used for all household purposes.

The advantages claimed for this glue are that it does not require to be heated for use, and is entirely free from the objectionable smell of ordinary glue.—Chicago.

Emulsion of Benzine a Superior Cleansing Agent.

A useful and instructive article on this subject is contributed to the Pharmaceutische Post by Apothecary Sztànkay, who claims that the cleansing properties of benzin may be augmented by transforming it into an emulsion. In this work it is necessary to employ only such emulsifying substances as do not attack the cloth, while exerting an emulsifying action on benzin even when added in minimal proportions. The author once had occasion to analyze a specialty which was sold in Hungary under the name of soap-milk. Analysis showed that it was merely an emulsion of volatile hydrocarbons; for emulsifying, soap and water in minimal quantities were used. The emulsion was thick, white, permanent, and a far better cleanser than benzin alone. A similar emulsion may be made in accordance with the following formula:

R	Benzin	500 gm.
	Powdered Soap	3 gm.
	Distilled water, q. s. to make perfect emulsion.

The soap is dissolved in 50 or 60 grams of lukewarm distilled water, placed in a two-litre flask, and shaken. Then add, portion by portion, the previously prepared mixture of benzin, and continue to shake vigorously for a longer period. If half of the benzine has been added by fractions, and on continued shaking there is no perceptible emulsification, the latter can be achieved by immersing the whole bottle in a warm water bath; or, better still, pour 50 to 100 grams of water at a temperature of 60° to 80° C. into the benzin, and shake well a number of times. After the emulsification is complete, add by portions the other half of the benzin and shake well several times.

Three grams of soap is sufficient to emulsify 1,000 grams of benzin, and this amount of soap may be reduced if warm water be added, by small quantities, to the finished emulsion; the emulsion becomes thicker, and will now stand a larger quantity of benzin. The author has succeeded in procuring an emulsion so rich in hydrocarbons that for 1,500 gm. benzin only 3 gm. soap, besides a smaller quantity of water, was needed.

The finished emulsion should be permitted to stand quietly for several days; during this time the water not required by the emulsion separates out and collects at the bottom of the flask.

The author claims that this preparation is a fine cleanser, and has yielded him a nice profit on sales over the counter. It should be marketed in a neat package.—Bulletin of Pharmacy.

There's money in "Fats" of Tip Top Cough Syrup.

Circulars from Hiram Walker & Sons have been sent to the trade, announcing a notable change in their method of handling their well known Canadian Club Whisky, and making full explanation of the reasons that have impelled them to withdraw the quantity price offers heretofore in vogue, and to substitute a rebate arrangement based upon actual sales and an adherence to stated prices. This new departure of Messrs. Walker & Sons involved a great curtailment of distributors. In California there are but three firms named who are permitted to act as such, one of these being F. W. Braun & Co. As will be noted, Canadian Club Whiskey must be sold at not less than $15 per dozen, under penalty of a withdrawal of supplies, which will be strictly enforced. We trust that the trade will cheerfully give their assent and co-operation to an arrangement which insures them a profit.

A Business Change.

W. L. Dodge, of Tip Top cough syrup fame, on Tuesday last sold his drug business, on Sixteenth and K streets, to Fred H. Furnald, of Pasadena. This store, which has become such a fixture with residents in the eastern part of the city and surrounding country, was established by Mr. Dodge in 1887, just one year after he came to the city. At that time the stock was small. Push, energy and ability advanced him and his business. The store to-day is a striking contrast with that of a few years ago.

Dr. Dodge has disposed of his drug business for the purpose of pushing his famous remedy, Tip Top cough syrup, and will shortly leave for Chicago to investigate the field there with a view to permanent location in that city. In the meantime Tip Top cough syrup will be more vigorously pushed than ever before in Southern California, where it has already built up such a splendid reputation. T. Elton Dodge, a brother of W. L. Dodge, will have personal supervision in Southern California.

Mr. Furnald, who steps into a lucrative and old established business, is a former resident of this city, having been connected some years since with Boscher, Daggett, Munger, and the St. James pharmacies.—San Diego Sun.

We would call the attention of the trade to the fine grade Peroxide Hydrogen of the Oakland brand (New York), which is particularized by the manufacturers as "the kind that keeps." It is listed in our columns this month, and as will be observed, is sold at a very low price. There is no risk attending a trial of this brand, and we would like to know that every druggist put a trial lot of it into his stock. Special slips, calling attention to this article, are being mailed to the trade, and we trust will be preserved for reference at least until a trial order is made up.

Holiday goods this year show few very decided novelties. Reporters for the Eastern drug journals, who have visited the show rooms of the large New York houses, expatiate upon the displays of fancy atomizers, manicure and toilet sets, perfumes, brushes and mirrors. Nothing startling, but all good and useful for Christmas gifts. In F. W. Braun & Co.'s Sundries Department all of above lines may be found, and in some remnants of stock good bargains are offered to close. Only a few days left. Call and look the goods over.

E. Strahlman, of San Diego, says: "Tip Top Cough Syrup is a good seller."

Blue Stamp Ink.

Dissolve 2 parts of borax in 20 parts of water. Heat to boiling and add 2 parts of bleached shellac. In another vessel dissolve 2 parts of gum arabic in 5 parts of water and in the solution rub up 2 parts of best ultramarine. Mix the solutions. A little glycerine may be added to this from time to time and well stirred in.—National Druggist.

Make 8 pints.—R. W. Gardiner, Ph. G.

AN elastic or pliable paste, which will not crack and may be used for paper, cloth, leather or other material where flexibility is required, is the following (Oil & Col. Jour): (a) Common starch, 4 ounces; white dextrine, 2 oz.; water, 10 fluid oz. (b) Borax, 1 ounce; glycerine, 3 fluid ounces; boiling water, 64 fluid ounces. Beat to a batter the ingredients of (a). Dissolve the borax in the boiling water, add the glycerine, after which pour (a) into solution (b).

PHARMACISTS of this coast will read with interest the statement of Dean Searby (see his letter) that when the building for the Affiliated Colleges of our State University is completed the California College of Pharmacy will have an equipment equal to any of those in the Eastern cities.

WATER will not extinguish burning kerosene oil, says a writer in The Household, but dry sand will, and it is a wise precaution to keep a box of sand in some convenient place to be used in an emergency. If this is not at hand, the flame should be smothered by throwing some heavy rug or woolen substance over it.

THE flint glass manufacturers have lately met together at Chicago for the purpose of discussing prices. It is rumored that a 10 per cent. advance is probable in prescription ware. The rumor lacks confirmation, but it is a safe proposition to buy at present prices. See F. W. Braun & Co.

THERE is much indignation among graduates of the St. Louis College of Pharmacy on account of a new rule made by the State Board of Health, which will interfere with their attendance at the medical colleges of this State. Under the rules of the State Board of Health all graduates of scientific institutions are considered qualified to enter any medical college in the State without first going through the preliminary examinations. Heretofore this rule has applied to the St. Louis College of Pharmacy as well as other scientific institutions. This year, however, the Board of Health has refused to accept the certificates of the College of Pharmacy as a qualification to enter a medical school. As the board has the power to prescribe the necessary qualifications which shall entitle a student to enter a medical school it will be seen that this works greatly against the graduates of the St. Louis College. Several students have made special complaints. The officials of the St. Louis College of Pharmacy are also indignant because it places the college in the light of not being "a scientific institution." Prof. James M. Good, dean, and others are now endeavoring to find out what occasioned this strange act on the part of the board.—Phar. Era.

THE REX OVAL.

This fine bottle, a product of the present year, commends itself promptly to the trade by its handsome appearance, its rounded edges, its flaring lip, its general shape so convenient for labelling, and especially by the cleanly style of packing adopted by the manufacturers. Druggists will appreciate the absence of straw both inside the bottles and on the floor, the corrugated paper being entirely clean and free from all the disagreeable features of old style packing.

The "Rex" is not more costly than some of the old styles of high grade ware and is fully up to the best ever on the market. A trial order will convince you of its desirability.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

A number of proprietors have added to their contracts a clause providing that where less than one-quarter dozen of their goods are ordered at one time, an advance of 10 per cent over the regular dozen rate must be charged.

For the convenience of the trade we append a list of these firms and also the items controlled by them which come under this rule.

Excepting where specified to the contrary this applies to one-quarter dozen of any one item and not to an assortment.

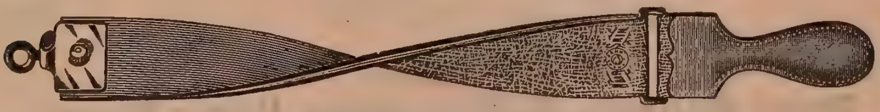
Boar Skin Razor Strops.

The superiority of the boar skin for razor strops is a discovery of the last year. It is the only leather made which is free of pores, and the grain is so close and firm that it possesses unusual frictional qualities. The leather is light, however, and it is necessary to re-inforce it. With the boar skin re-inforced by a good finishing leather, we get the ideal strop—extra heavy and firm—and to all intents and purposes a single swing.



NOS. 36, 37½, 38, 39.

Strops under this illustration are single, but being boar hide cemented to leather' have all the qualities of a two piece strop, the boar's hide taking the place of canvas and doing the work much more effectively. These strops are unusually handsome.

JOHN WYETH & BROTHER, PHILADELPHIA.

BEEF JUICE.

(WYETH)

A Liquid Preparation of the Choicest Beef, containing the Nutritious Albuminous principles in an unaltered and soluble form.

Physicians

Will find WYETH'S BEEF JUICE of great value as a strengthening diet in cases of convalescence, nervous prostration and similar diseases.

Professional Men

Suffering from overwork, mental anxiety, etc., will find that one-half teaspoonful in half a glass of cold water—at intervals during the day and upon retiring—will relieve fatigue, both of mind and body.

STRONTIUM.

BROMIDE. LACTATE. SALICYLATE.

The marked attention given to the Salts of Strontium and the satisfactory results of their therapeutic action induced us several years ago to prepare an Elixir and Liquor of both the Bromide and Lactate, which have proven most acceptable to the medical profession.

For Portability,
Convenience, and
Ease of Administering

We have been solicited to prepare them in Tablets which we now offer:

PIL. STRONTIUM BROMIDE . .	3 and 5 Grs.
PIL. STRONTIUM LACTATE . .	3 and 5 Grs.
PIL. STRONTIUM SALICYLATE ·	3 and 5 Grs.

WYETH'S EXTRACT of MALT

Contains the Largest Amount of Extractive Matter of any preparation of its class and the Minimum Amount of Alcohol.

Not regarded as a Beverage, but a valuable Food Auxiliary.

PILES! PILES!

A SURE CURE FOUND AT LAST.

NO ONE NEED SUFFER.

A sure cure for the blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. William (an Indian remedy), called Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment. A single box has cured the worst old chronic cases of twenty-five and thirty years standing. No need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electuaries do more harm than good. William's Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching (particularly at night after getting warm in bed), acts as poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared for Piles, itching of the private parts and nothing else. Thousands of cured patients attest its virtues, and physicians of all schools pronounce it the greatest contribution to medicine of the age. It matters not how long or severely you have been suffering, you can be cured.

LICE KILLER

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE
FOR THE EXTERMINATION OF VERMIN.

It is sure death to lice and red mites that infest poultry, lice on horses and cattle, fleas on dogs, ticks on sheep, as well as small insects that trouble plants, and guaranteed to do its work effectually if directions are followed, or money refunded. Furs and woolens are never moth eaten where this powder is applied. Three-fourths of the failures to make poultry pay are attributable to lice on the fowls. It saps their vitality, weakens their constitution, rendering them liable to disease. and no matter how well you care for them or how liberal the feed, as long as your fowls are lousy they will do no good. Your chickens will be much more healthy if you keep them free from vermin by the use of this never failing remedy. Dust the setting hens freely (it won't hurt the eggs) and have the little chicks free from lice. It is not poisonous and will not injure animal life.

Space forbids our publishing testimonials, but of the many thousands who have used it, not a single complaint and all are enthusiastic in its praise. Try it and and you will never use any other.

BLOOD PURIFIER.

Five Reasons why it should be kept in stock by all Druggists.

1. Because it is the most effective Blood Purifier, Stomach and Liver Regulator known.
2. Because it is well advertised, is being prescribed continually in our Institute and used by many other physicians.
3. Because patients are advised to purchase it from their druggists all aver the United States and Canada.
4. Because through our immense practice, and our method of advertising and recommendation, druggists have a demand for it at all seasons of the year.
5. Because the Great Anti-Bilious Elixir and Blood Purifier gives universal satisfaction, and establishes for itself a reputation wherever used.

MAJOR'S CEMENT

ESTABLISHED 1876. REGISTERED TRADE MARK No. 17,570.

Two Medals Awarded at the World's Columbian Exposition.

UNIVERSALLY ACKNOWLEDGED TO BE THE BEST AND STRONGEST PREPARATION EVER OFFERED TO THE PUBLIC.

For Repairing China, Glassware, Furniture, Meerschaum, Vases, Books, Leather Belting, Tipping Billiard Cues, Etc.

IT'S THE

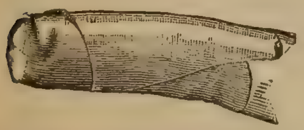
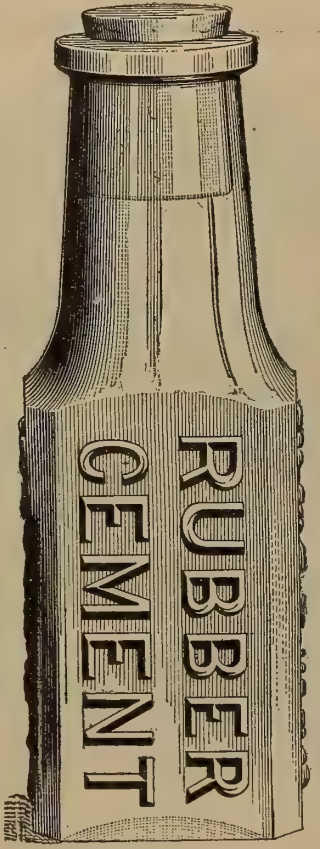
HARD KNOCKS.

Use a little of MAJOR'S CEMENT, and put on a bandage like this:



Then you can eat, sleep, work and wash your hands. The bandage protects and allows the sore to heal rapidly.



Major's Rubber Cement

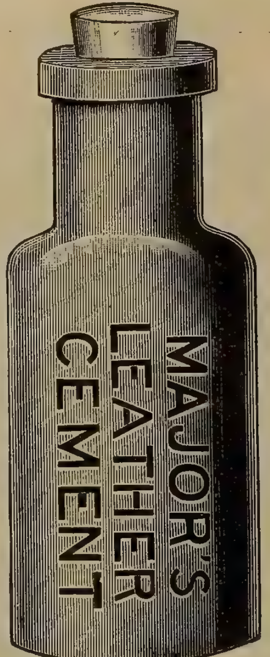
FOR REPAIRING

RUBBER BOOTS & SHOES.

You can use a piece of an old rubber shoe for patching, which will do as well as new material.

PRICE, 15C. PER BOTTLE.

All kinds of Garments and Umbrellas of different kind of materials repaired in the same way.



Major's Leather Cement.

MAJOR'S LEATHER CEMENT costs 15 cents a bottle, and with it "invisible" patches can be put on shoes so prolonging their wear. Worth the price if you only use it once.

A FOUR FEET HARDWOOD THERMOMETER,

A TWENTY INCH THERMOMETER,

ALSO, A HARDWOOD FOLDING CHAIR,

GIVEN AWAY WITH A SMALL ORDER.

WRITE FOR TERMS.

MAJOR'S CEMENT IS PUT UP IN A SHOW BOX CONTAINING ONE AND TWO DOZEN.

If you haven't one of these boxes, and have MAJOR'S CEMENT in stock, and wish to have one, we will send some by express, free of charge; also, a Tumbler if desired.

A Word About Soap.

If a shoemaker were to make hats, umbrellas and undershirts, wouldn't you have less confidence in his shoes? Did you ever think of the advantage of doing one thing well—the advantage of quality, uniformity and speed in doing that one thing? Long practice is a wonderful teacher.

All this is preliminary to the bold assertion—and it can't be successfully proven a false one—that a firm devoting its energies and capital to the production of toilet soaps must be able, if part of the capital is brains, to produce better toilet soaps, more salable toilet soaps, cheaper toilet soaps and altogether more desirable toilet soaps than a concern which splits up its attention, time, capital and energy in trying to produce perfumery, pomades, face powders, confectionery, fruit juices, etc., any one line of which deserves exclusive attention.

Probably only one firm in America of any pretentions to importance as makers devotes its whole works to the making of toilet soaps, and though the firm's name is short, Fels & Co, Philadelphia, its list of varieties is long and comprehensive.

Fels & Co. make soaps—nothing but soaps—and claim many advantages accrue to the user and seller of soaps of their make, all of which they seem anxious to prove to any dealer who cares to investigate their product.

F. W. Braun & Co., having accepted the agency for these high grade soaps, will, at an early day, present to the trade a complete line.

Do you guess
Why we press
You to buy
Then to try

FELS & CO.'S PHILADELPHIA TOILET SOAPS

It is because they are HIGH GRADE GOODS at LOW PRICES. Nothing better made.
The quality, perfume and style of package are superb. Three New Styles:

CUCUMBER and GLYCERINE, SWEET BERYL, HAZEL CREAM and BUTTERMILK.

ALL WORTHY YOUR ATTENTION.

WE CARRY THEM IN STOCK AND YOU OUGHT TO TRY THEM

The United States Courts

Have recently decided that the name, "Syrup of Figs," or "Fig Syrup," as applied to a medicinal compound, is a legitimate trade name and that we are entitled to its exclusive use. As the question has been decided in our favor, we shall expect all dealers to respect our rights and to assist us in preventing the sale of medicinal preparations under our trade-name, "Syrup of Figs," or "Fig Syrup," or any colorable imitation thereof, and we feel confident of the hearty good-will and support of druggists generally.

We shall appreciate any information at any time which may tend to assist us in protecting our trade-name.

German... Household

..DYES..

The perfection of Dyes. They are the leading colors of the world. Their advantages, being unexcelled, place them far ahead of any other manufacture.

1. Every package shows by print and sample piece of wool the color contained.
2. Every package is prepared to dye any kind of material—they will dye silk and wool as well as cotton, linen or feathers.
3. They are warranted to be absolutely poisonless and can be handled by everybody without any danger.

Every druggist who will care for his benefit and wants to satisfy his customers, should handle the German Household Dyes. They give 50 per cent more profit and save work to customers.

The German Household Dyes are warranted to give full satisfaction in every respect. One elegant cabinet will be given away free of charge with every order of a full assortment—30 dozen Dyes at $15; a smaller cabinet with 18 dozen of Dyes, best assorted and a good supply of advertising matter with every order, printed with customer's name and address.

THE TWIN
HALF-MINUTE
Clinical Thermometer,

PATENTED MARCH 25, 1890.

INDELIBLE BLACK.

For Quick Registration of Temperature.

The Most Substantial, Sensitive Thermometer ever offered to the Medical Profession.

With the atmospheric register at 60°, if "The Twin" be immersed in warm water of 105°, the mercury will reach that degree in less than TWENTY SECONDS.

The welding the two bulbs into one without any intervening space, renders "The Twin" much stronger and less liable to break than any other heretofore offered.

It will always be found much more convenient to carry, requiring less room in a case or in the vest pocket. For these reasons, as well as for its GUARANTEED ACCURACY, "The Twin" is universally recommended by the medical profession.

THE ANTISEPTIC Absorbent Sanitary Towel

EXCLUSIVELY FOR LADIES' WEAR.

RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS AND FAR SUPERIOR TO ANYTHING OF ITS KIND ON THE MARKET.

HAYDEN MANUFACTURING CO., 116 JOHN ST., NEW YORK.

MADE IN THREE SIZES, AND THE BEST ARTICLE OF THE KIND EVER SOLD

No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3.

They are Odorless and fully Absorbent, and warranted as represented in every particular, being put up under the direct supervision of a Practical Chemist.

EVERY DOZEN WILL CONTAIN TWO NICKEL PLATED SAFETY PINS.

A Sample of No. 1 Sent to Any Address on Receipt of 6 cents in Stamps.

TO BE WORN WITH THE STRAP ON THE OUTSIDE. BURN AFTER USING.

CHEAPER THAN WASHING. INVALUABLE WHILE TRAVELLING.

REASONS FOR ADOPTING

Antiseptic "Sanitary Towels"

FOR LADIES,

WHICH ARE BOTH ABSORBENT AND ANTISEPTIC.

1st.—Increased Comfort. 2nd.—In Delicate Health, Less Liability to Chill. 3rd.—Cleanliness. 4th.—Convenience. 5th.—Diminution of Risks of Disease. 6th.—No Washing.

TO BE HAD OF ALL LEADING DRUGSTORES.

THE TOWELS DO NOT NEED AIRING, but are made softer by warming, and after use are to be destroyed by burning. They do not cause any disagreeable smell. If inconvenient to burn at once, the antiseptic used in their preparation enables them to be kept until opportunity occurs.

A PHYSICIAN SAYS :— 'Some dangers to health which are incurred from germs of disease will be avoided by their use. For long voyages they are essential." A great advantage these "TOWELS" possess over those in ordinary use is that THEY MAY BE DESTROYED BY BURNING WHEN DONE WITH. The carrying of soiled linen in travelling packages, and keeping it in the house in hot weather, waiting for the laundress, is objectionable.

THE ANTISEPTIC "SANITARY TOWELS" FOR LADIES.

The British Medical Journal says:—" It is a much improved substitute for the generally adopted napkin used in the catamenial period, and in confinements. The old napkin, with its many obvious defects, may now be entirely discarded, and the new 'Sanitary Towel' adopted in its stead, with all the advantages to be derived from a more comfortable article, and one possessing all that can be desired from a sanitary point of view. After use the 'Towels' are simply burned."

THE TOBACCO HABIT CURED.

"In the interest of the masses, for whom these reports are compiled, the UNITED STATES HEALTH REPORTS have examined and investigated many preparations having for their object the cure of the tobacco habit, but among them all we have no hesitancy in giving the editorial and official endorsements of these REPORTS to the remedy known as 'UNCLE SAM'S TOBACCO CURE,' manufactured by the Keystone Remedy Company, at 216 La Salle Street, Chicago. We have demonstrated by personal tests that this antidote positively destroys the taste and desire for tobacco in ten days, leaving the system in a perfectly healthy condition, and the person using the same forever free from the habit.

"In the light of our examinations and tests of 'UNCLE SAM'S TOBACCO CURE,' we are but performing a duty we owe the public when we endorse the same, and stamp it as the crowning achievement of the nineteenth century, in the way of destroying a habit as disgusting as it is common, (FOR ONLY $1.00,) hence we earnestly advise you to write them for particulars."

If you can't raise one dollar SAY SO—TELL US WHY and WE WILL TRUST YOU and take our pay after you are cured. Direct your letter to Yale's System to Health and Beauty A Power.

By my Rules and Remedies, the plainest woman can become absolutely beautiful—the sickliest woman perfectly healthy. It takes a woman to know a woman.

MME. YALE'S GUIDE TO HEALTH AND BEAUTY PRICE LIST:

MME. YALE'S FRUITICURA—
It cures the many complaints of woman that only woman knows of. Restores the vitality—makes the eyes bright—the step elastic—and brings the bloom of health to the faded cheek. It renews the nerve tone and makes the flesh firm, hard and velvety. In fact, its use is the royal road to perfect health and perfect womanhood. Price $1.

MME. YALE'S HAIR TONIC—
(For ladies and gentlemen.)
Turns gray hair back to its own natural color, without dye. The first and only remedy in the history of chemistry known to do this. Stops hair falling in from twenty-four hours to one week; creates a luxuriant growth; cures dandruff and all scalp troubles. Price $1 per bottle; 6 for $5. What is more unsightly than a lady's or gentleman's hair full of little scales, gradually falling on their shoulders?

MME. YALE'S ALMOND CREAM—
Refines coarse pores, keeps the skin smooth and lovely. Price $1.

MME. YALE'S SKIN FOOD—
Removes wrinkles and every trace of age. Price $1.50 and $3.

MME. YALE'S MOLE AND —WART EXTRACTOR—
Removes and destroys forever moles and warts. Price $3.

MME. YALE'S LOTION AND —OINTMENT—
Pimples, blackheads and skin diseases cured with Mme. Yale's Special Lotion No. 1 and Special Ointment No. 2. Price $1 each.

MME. YALE'S BUST FOOD—
Guaranteed to develop a beautiful bust and neck. Gives firmness to the flesh and creates a natural condition of plumpness. Price $1.50 and $3.

MME. YALE'S LA FRECKLA FOR FRECKLES—
La Freckla is known to be the only sure cure for freckles. In from three days to one week after its first application every freckle will disappear and the complexion become as clear as crystal. Price $1 per bottle.

MME. YALE'S COMPLEXION SOAP—
It is cleansing, healing, beautifying, fragrant and refreshing. It keeps the complexion perfect. For infant's use it is an indispensable necessity. For a gentleman's shaving soap and after shaving it cannot be equaled. For toilet use it is an absolute everyday requirement. 25 cents.

MME. YALE'S COMPLEXION BLEACH—
Guaranteed to remove all sallowness, moth-patches and all skin blemishes. Gives a natural complexion of marvelous beauty. Price $2 per bottle, $5 for 3 bottles.

MME. YALE'S ELIXIR OF BEAUTY—
Cultivates natural rosy cheeks—a wonderful skin tonic. Price $1 per bottle.

MME. YALE'S FACE POWDER—
Three tints—white, flesh and brunette; invisible beautifiers; gives complexion a soft, youthful glow. Price 50 cents.

MME. YALE'S BLOOD TONIC—
Purifies the blood, acts on the liver, kidneys and builds up the system. Price $1 per bottle, 6 for $5.

MME. YALE'S EYELASH AND —EYEBROW GROWER—
Makes the lashes grow thick and long, the eyebrows luxuriant and shapely, strengthens and beautifies the eyes. Price $1.

MME. YALE'S HAND WHITENER—
Makes the hands soft, lily-white and beautiful in every way. Price $1.

MME. YALE'S GREAT SCOTT—
A wonderful remedy for removing and destroying the growth of superfluous hair; takes but five minutes to use; does not hurt, irritate, or even make the skin red; removes every trace in one application. Price $5.

MME. YALE'S REMEDIES—
All won the World's Fair Medal for purity and high-class merit, and are sold by druggists everywhere. There are no substitutes for Yale.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

A number of proprietors have added to their contracts a clause providing that where less than one-quarter dozen of their goods are ordered at one time, an advance of 10 per cent over the regular dozen rate must be charged.

For the convenience of the trade we append a list of these firms and also the items controlled by them which come under this rule.

Excepting where specified to the contrary this applies to one-quarter dozen of any one item and not to an assortment.

LABOR SAVING MACHINES.

...This is a Progressive Age.

Keep up to date.

The requirements of the Medical Profession demand the greatest amount of skill and exactness on the part of the dispensing chemist, and it is absolutely necessary for those who are required to furnish suppositories or tablets, to have a machine that will effectively diffuse the medical ingredients equally through the mass, and that will produce perfect and uniform results.

We guarantee that you will be satisfied with the work of the machines we handle. No skill is required.

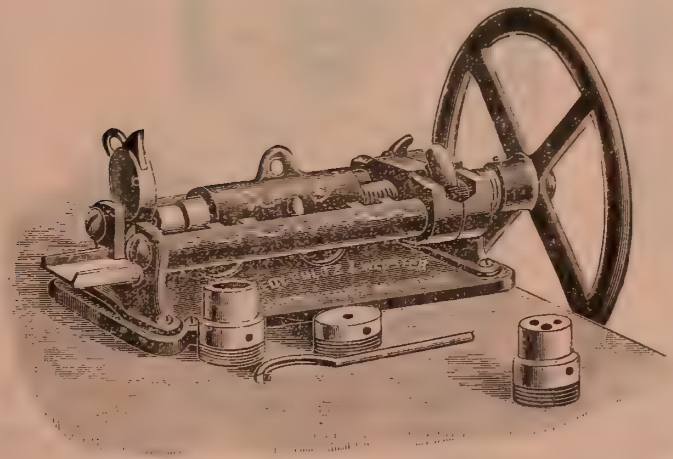
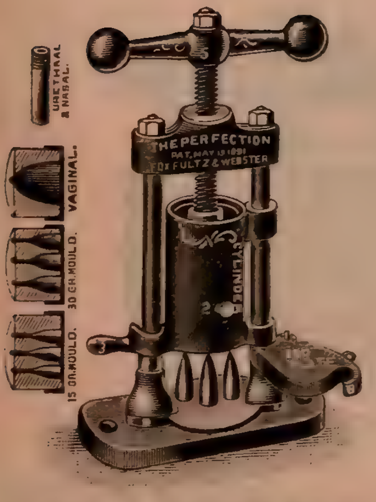
Pearl Suppository Machine.

For Making Suppositories by Compression.



The moulds are of brass, and are screwed into the end of the cylinder. They can be easily and rapidly inserted or removed.

Price, complete with four moulds, one for making three 15-grain suppositories at one time, one for making three 3-grain at one time, and one for 100-grain vaginal, and one for urethral and nasal. $8.00



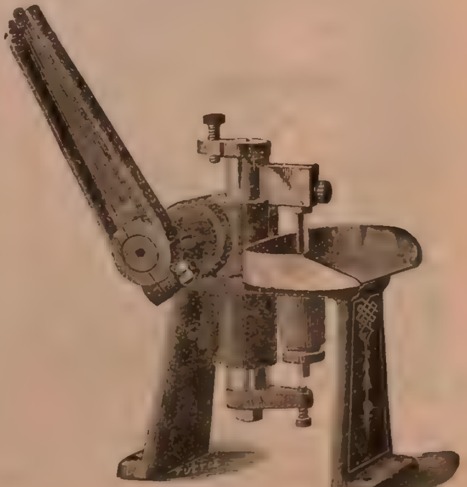
The Perfection Suppository Machine

For making Suppositories by Cold Compression, in small quantities or in thousands, accurately, of superb finish, without handling.

As the name implies, this machine is perfection. It saves both time and labor and turns out a perfect suppository.

Price, complete with moulds shown above $15.00

Little Diamond Tablet Machine



This machine is designed for making Compressed Tablets in small quantities, and is especially adapted for use by retail druggists in filling prescriptions in tablet form.

The thickness of the tablet to be compressed may be regulated by a hand-screw, and thus uniformity of size is assured.

The Tablet is Automatically Discharged

After Being Compressed.

Each machine is supplied with two sets of moulds and dies for making tablets 5-16 and 6-16 inches in diameter, and any thickness desired.

This machine must not be confounded with a similar article which is not as large and does not possess the same powerful strength and delicate regulating apparatus.

Price, complete with moulds $12.50

SPONGE CASES.

The Advantages of using a case for the display of Sponges and Chamois are many. We claim superiority for the line we advertise in the following respects.

THEY ARE:—

ORNAMENTAL, EASILY CLEANED, DURABLE, EASILY MOVED,
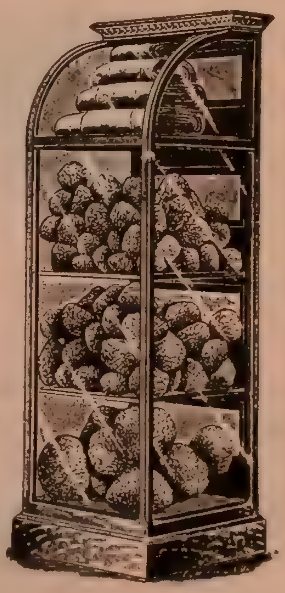
DUST PROOF, LOW PRICED.



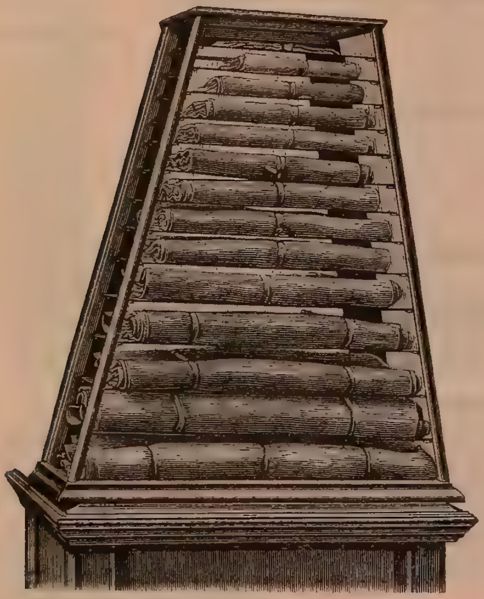
These cabinets are made of Antique Oak, are mounted on rollers, have four spring glass doors in back, strong crystal glass throughout and are handsomely finished, and are constructed so as to take up the minimum amount of floor space.

Size—22 inches wide, 20 inches deep, 60 inches high.

Price—Packed ready for shipment, oval top, $15.00; square top, $14.00 each.

SPECIAL OFFER ON CHAMOIS CASE

FOR THE NEXT SIXTY DAYS.



For the next sixty days we will sell the Chamois Case shown in the cut opposite for $10.00 empty or $35.00 filled with an assortment comprising 14 doz. Steel and Yellow Skins, ranging in size from 5x8 inches to 21x26 inches.

This is the same case and assortment of chamois that we formerly sold for $48.00, and is the neatest, most compact case on the market

CHAMOIS SKINS.

OUR LINE.

COMBS.

Following we quote a few of our leaders in Combs. This is a small line, but every pattern will prove a quick seller at the retail prices we have set forth. We warrant the quality, and goods are returnable to us if not what we claim for them. All styles are staple, and sell at popular prices, with big margin for the retailer.

If you are in want of any style not advertised, write us. Our stock is complete.

BEEF JUICE.

(WYETH)

A Liquid Preparation of the Choicest Beef, containing the Nutritious Albuminous principles in an unaltered and soluble form.

Physicians

Will find WYETH'S BEEF JUICE of great value as a strengthening diet in cases of convalescence, nervous prostration and similar diseases.

Professional Men

Suffering from overwork, mental anxiety, etc., will find that one-half teaspoonful in half a glass of cold water—at intervals during the day and upon retiring—will relieve fatigue, both of mind and body.

SUBGALLATE OF BISMUTH.

A VALUABLE AGENT IN

Fermentative Dyspepsia

And in all forms of Diarrhœa.

TABLETS

1, 2, 3 and 5 Grains.

STRONTIUM.

BROMIDE. LACTATE. SALICYLATE.

The marked attention given to the Salts of Strontium and the satisfactory results of their therapeutic action induced us several years ago to prepare an Elixir and Liquor of both the Bromide and Lactate, which have proven most acceptable to the medical profession.

For Portability,
Convenience, and
Ease of Administering

We have been solicited to prepare them in Tablets which we now offer:

PIL. STRONTIUM BROMIDE . .	3 and 5 Grs.
PIL. STRONTIUM LACTATE . .	3 and 5 Grs.
PIL. STRONTIUM SALICYLATE	3 and 5 Grs.

SUPPOSITORIES.

Our List numbers over 400 different ℞—covering a broad field from which to select . . . . . .

Our Glycerine Suppositories

are 95 per cent. Pure Glycerine and put up one in a vial, one dozen vials in a box. The old form, one dozen in bottle, also supplied . . . . . .

WYETH'S EXTRACT of MALT

Contains the Largest Amount of Extractive Matter of any preparation of its class and the Minimum Amount of Alcohol.

Not regarded as a Beverage, but a valuable Food Auxiliary.

LITHIA EFFERVESCING TABLETS

CONTAINING

3 and 5 Grains

RESPECTIVELY OF

Citrate of Lithium

One in a glass of water always making a true

LITHIA WATER.

PILES! PILES!

A SURE CURE FOUND AT LAST.

NO ONE NEED SUFFER.

A sure cure for the blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. William (an Indian remedy), called Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment. A single box has cured the worst old chronic cases of twenty-five and thirty years standing. No need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electuaries do more harm than good. William's Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching (particularly at night after getting warm in bed), acts as poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared for Piles, itching of the private parts and nothing else. Thousands of cured patients attest its virtues, and physicians of all schools pronounce it the greatest contribution to medicine of the age. It matters not how long or severely you have been suffering, you can be cured.

LICE KILLER

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE
FOR THE EXTERMINATION OF VERMIN.

It is sure death to lice and red mites that infest poultry, lice on horses and cattle, fleas on dogs, ticks on sheep, as well as small insects that trouble plants, and guaranteed to do its work effectually if directions are followed, or money refunded. Furs and woolens are never moth eaten where this powder is applied. Three-fourths of the failures to make poultry pay are attributable to lice on the fowls. It saps their vitality, weakens their constitution, rendering them liable to disease. and no matter how well you care for them or how liberal the feed, as long as your fowls are lousy they will do no good. Your chickens will be much more healthy if you keep them free from vermin by the use of this never failing remedy. Dust the setting hens freely (it won't hurt the eggs) and have the little chicks free from lice. It is not poisonous and will not injure animal life.

Space forbids our publishing testimonials, but of the many thousands who have used it, not a single complaint and all are enthusiastic in its praise. Try it and and you will never use any other.

Five Reasons why it should be kept in stock by all Druggists.

1. Because it is the most effective Blood Purifier, Stomach and Liver Regulator known.
2. Because it is well advertised, is being prescribed continually in our Institute and used by many other physicians.
3. Because patients are advised to purchase it from their druggists all aver the United States and Canada.
4. Because through our immense practice, and our method of advertising and recommendation, druggists have a demand for it at all seasons of the year.
5. Because the Great Anti-Bilious Elixir and Blood Purifier gives universal satisfaction, and establishes for itself a reputation wherever used.

A Word About Soap.

If a shoemaker were to make hats, umbrellas and undershirts, wouldn't you have less confidence in his shoes? Did you ever think of the advantage of doing one thing well—the advantage of quality, uniformity and speed in doing that one thing? Long practice is a wonderful teacher.

All this is preliminary to the bold assertion—and it can't be successfully proven a false one--that a firm devoting its energies and capital to the production of toilet soaps must be able, if part of the capital is brains, to produce better toilet soaps, more salable toilet soaps, cheaper toilet soaps and altogether more desirable toilet soaps than a concern which splits up its attention, time, capital and energy in trying to produce perfumery, pomades, face powders, confectionery, fruit juices, etc., any one line of which deserves exclusive attention.

Probably only one firm in America of any pretentions to importance as makers devotes its whole works to the making of toilet soaps, and though the firm's name is short, Fels & Co, Philadelphia, its list of varieties is long and comprehensive.

Fels & Co. make soaps—nothing but soaps—and claim many advantages accrue to the user and seller of soaps of their make, all of which they seem anxious to prove to any dealer who cares to investigate their product.

F. W. Braun & Co., having accepted the agency for these high grade soaps, will, at an early day, present to the trade a complete line.

Have recently decided that the name, "Syrup of Figs," or "Fig Syrup," as applied to a medicinal compound, is a legitimate trade name and that we are entitled to its exclusive use. As the question has been decided in our favor, we shall expect all dealers to respect our rights and to assist us in preventing the sale of medicinal preparations under our trade-name, "Syrup of Figs," or "Fig Syrup," or any colorable imitation thereof, and we feel confident of the hearty good-will and support of druggists generally.

..DYES..

The perfection of Dyes. They are the leading colors of the world. Their advantages, being unexcelled, place them far ahead of any other manufacture.

1. Every package shows by print and sample piece of wool the color contained.
2. Every package is prepared to dye any kind of material—they will dye silk and wool as well as cotton, linen or feathers.
3. They are warranted to be absolutely poisonless and can be handled by everybody without any danger.

Every druggist who will care for his benefit and wants to satisfy his customers, should handle the German Household Dyes. They give 50 per cent more profit and save work to customers.

The German Household Dyes are warranted to give full satisfaction in every respect. One elegant cabinet will be given away free of charge with every order of a full assortment—30 dozen Dyes at $15; a smaller cabinet with 18 dozen of Dyes, best assorted and a good supply of advertising matter with every order, printed with customer's name and address.

The Strict-Drug Business is one degree more cheerful than that of the undertaker.

Not very often a druggist sells nothing but drugs; but the undertaker can't enliven his coffins with soda water, peppermint blocks, and face powder.

Why should a druggist shut himself up to the sick and afflicted when he can have the whole neighborhood in for pleasure and business.

Nine-tenths of the druggists have made the mistake of not seeing that soda is anything more than five cent merchandise. One in ten has found an advertisement in it.

The nine think coolness and sweetness are all it is for; the others appreciate flavor, daintiness, style.

No wonder that nine out of ten of the fountains shut down as soon as the weather gets cool.

The one out of ten who serves fine soda, finds the demand for it constant all the year round. He has a stream of people coming all the year round. Can there be a better advertisement?

Those nine-tenths of the soda-water druggists have idle fountains half the year. If paid for, interest doesn't stop when the fountain is idle; if not paid for, installments go on. But the income stops.

This isn't the worst. When the fountain is going, the soda isn't so fine that people want it for the flavor; they take it only when they are thirsty or hot.

It has taken fifty years for soda to reach its present use. A few have found out that it has a luxurious use far beyond this common one.

It probably isn't too much to say that one-tenth of the druggists enjoy the result of this higher use of soda.

Soda that only quenches thirst is nothing but hot-weather merchandise. Soda that tickles the taste is a great deal more than merchandise all the year round.

How long will it be before the more intelligent half of the druggists see this distinction. If you see it, are you ready to act on it?

Our part is to sell fruit juices to those who want to serve the finest possible soda.

We say very little about the juices. Ripe fruits are pretty well understood in this country. Nobody but a druggist imagines he can sweeten chemical flavors or "seconds" of fruit and sell them for fine ripe fresh fruit. The chemist can do a great deal; but he can't make figs grow on thistles or a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

THE TWIN
Clinical Thermometer,

PATENTED MARCH 25, 1890.

INDELIBLE BLACK.

For Quick Registration of Temperature.

The Most Substantial, Sensitive Thermometer ever offered to the Medical Profession.

With the atmospheric register at 60°, if "The Twin" be immersed in warm water of 105°, the mercury will reach that degree in less than TWENTY SECONDS.

The welding the two bulbs into one without any intervening space, renders "The Twin" much stronger and less liable to break than any other heretofore offered.

It will always be found much more convenient to carry, requiring less room in a case or in the vest pocket. For these reasons, as well as for its GUARANTEED ACCURACY, "The Twin" is universally recommended by the medical profession.

"SEGURO"

The best preventive of the age.

"SEGURO"

The attention of the druggist is called to "SEGURO," as it is pronounced by thousands of married women a positive cure for LEUCORRHOEA or WHITES; a sure prevention for all venereal diseases, and a sure and reliable protection against all monthly irregularities which females are subject to. "SEGURO" will convince the most skeptical of its efficiency.

PRICE TO DRUGGISTS: $12.00 AND $42.00 PER DOZEN.

THE

Can Be Cured of

THE TOBACCO HABIT

We offer by mail a remedy that will free every slave to Tobacco in Ten Days.

Read the strongest endorsement ever given any remedy, and if you are not fully satisfied write for leaflet containing over 6,000 (six-thousand) testimonials.

UNITED STATES HEALTH REPORTS

OFFCIAL ENDORSEMENT.

June 19th, 1895, Page 10.

THE TOBACCO HABIT CURED.

" In the interest of the masses, for whom these reports are compiled the UNITED STATES HEALTH REPORTS have examined and investigated many preparations having for their object the cure of the tobacco habit, but among them all we have no hesitancy in giving the editorial and official endorsements of these REPORTS to the remedy known as 'UNCLE SAM'S TOBACCO CURE,' manufactured by the Keystone Remedy Company, at 216 La Salle Street, Chicago. We have demonstrated by personal tests that this antidote positively destroys the taste and desire for tobacco in ten days, leaving the system in a perfectly healthy condition, and the person using the same forever free from the habit.

" In the light of our examinations and tests of 'UNCLE SAM'S TOBACCO CURE,' we are but performing a duty we owe the public when we endorse the same, and stamp it as the crowning achievement of the nineteenth century, in the way of destroying a habit as disgusting as it is common, (FOR ONLY $1.00,) hence we earnestly advise you to write them for particulars."

If you can't raise one dollar SAY SO—TELL US WHY and WE WILL TRUST YOU and take our pay after you are cured. Direct your letter to

THE ANTISEPTIC

Absorbent Sanitary Towel

EXCLUSIVELY FOR LADIES' WEAR.

RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS AND FAR SUPERIOR TO ANYTHING OF ITS KIND ON THE MARKET.

HAYDEN MANUFACTURING CO., 116 JOHN ST., NEW YORK.

MADE IN THREE SIZES, AND THE BEST ARTICLE OF THE KIND EVER SOLD

No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3.

They are Odorless and fully Absorbent, and warranted as represented in every particular, being put up under the direct supervision of a Practical Chemist.

EVERY DOZEN WILL CONTAIN TWO NICKEL PLATED SAFETY PINS.

A Sample of No. 1 Sent to Any Address on Receipt of 6 cents in Stamps.

TO BE WORN WITH THE STRAP ON THE OUTSIDE. BURN AFTER USING.

CHEAPER THAN WASHING. INVALUABLE WHILE TRAVELLING.

Antiseptic "Sanitary Towels"

FOR LADIES,

WHICH ARE BOTH ABSORBENT AND ANTISEPTIC.

1st.—Increased Comfort. 2nd.—In Delicate Health, Less Liability to Chill. 3rd.—Cleanliness. 4th.—Convenience. 5th.—Diminution of Risks of Disease. 6th.—No Washing.

TO BE HAD OF ALL LEADING DRUGSTORES.

THE TOWELS DO NOT NEED AIRING, but are made softer by warming, and after use are to be destroyed by burning. They do not cause any disagreeable smell. If inconvenient to burn at once, the antiseptic used in their preparation enables them to be kept until opportunity occurs.

A PHYSICIAN SAYS :— 'Some dangers to health which are incurred from germs of disease will be avoided by their use. For long voyages they are essential." A great advantage these "TOWELS" possess over those in ordinary use is that THEY MAY BE DESTROYED BY BURNING WHEN DONE WITH. The carrying of soiled linen in travelling packages, and keeping it in the house in hot weather, waiting for the laundress, is objectionable.

THE ANTISEPTIC "SANITARY TOWELS" FOR LADIES.

The British Medical Journal says:—" It is a much improved substitute for the generally adopted napkin used in the catamenial period, and in confinements. The old napkin, with its many obvious defects, may now be entirely discarded, and the new 'Sanitary Towel' adopted in its stead, with all the advantages to be derived from a more comfortable article, and one possessing all that can be desired from a sanitary point of view. After use the 'Towels' are simply burned."

SPECIAL NOTICE.

A number of proprietors have added to their contracts a clause providing that where less than one-quarter dozen of their goods are ordered at one time, an advance of 10 per cent over the regular dozen rate must be charged.

For the convenience of the trade we append a list of these firms and also the items controlled by them which come under this rule.

Excepting where specified to the contrary this applies to one-quarter dozen of any one item and not to an assortment.

DRUGGIST'S SUNDRIES DEPARTMENT.

To our Friends:

We take pleasure in calling the attention of the trade in general to our Druggists' Sundries Department, which we have during the last few months extensively remodeled in the matter of goods and prices, and we now have lines of goods which we can offer for shipment from Los Angeles at prices that will compare favorably with those quoted by the largest Importing and Jobbing Houses east of the Rocky Mountains. On many lines we are absolutely duplicating New York Prices, and we respectfully ask that you give us enough of your valuable time to carefully investigate our lines before you place your orders.

Our various traveling men are now on the road with samples, and hereafter our salesmen will cover the territory with full lines more frequently than heretofore, and we hope to be able to convince you that we are strictly headquarters on high grade druggists' sundries.

Soliciting your patronage we remain,

Very truly yours,

F. W. BRAUN & CO.

The following are some of our offers to which we call your attention this month. By filing this Journal from month to month you will in the course of time get a complete and illustrated catalogue, giving you valuable information.

WOOD TOOTH PICKS.

Just received by sailing vessel around the Horn a large quantity of Wood Tooth Picks, on which we quote the following special prices:

Ordinary Hard Wood Picks, No. 2B, $2.50 per case of 100 boxes of 1000 each.
Ordinary Soft Wood Picks, No. 2P, $2.50 per case of 100 boxes of 1000 each.
Orange Wood Picks, small.......... $1.40 per dozen packages.
Orange Wood Picks, large.......... $1.60 per dozen packages.

We have also recently received by direct shipment, Japanese Tooth Picks, put up in fancy colored Japanse baskets. These are specially suited for the drug trade, and are rapid sellers on account of the attractive packing and the quality of the picks. Prices as below:

Japanese Picks in baskets of 5 bunches, 35 cents per dozen baskets.
Japanese Picks in baskets of 10 bunches, 65 cents per dozen baskets.

Vaughn's Obstetrical Bed Pan.

RECOMMENDED BY THE MEDICAL PROFESSION.

Adapted both for family and hospital use, and has many advantages over other styles on the market in shape, weight, depth and capacity, and is arranged both for injections and rectal discharges. Will allow the patient when using to be in the most comfortable position possible. It is strongly made of lacquered tin and is easily cleaned.

Not only the cheapest but the best. Price $18.00 per dozen.

TRADE SUPPLIED BY F. W. BRAUN & CO.

WRITING TABLETS.

Here are a few of the many special values we are offering in Writing Tablets.

Do not place your orders with anyone until you have seen our samples which are now being shown on the road by our travellers.

Designs are unexcelled, stock unequaled for the money and the prices we believe lower than you have ever seen.

JOHN WYETH & BROTHER, PHILADELPHIA.

BEEF JUICE.

(WYETH)

A Liquid Preparation of the Choicest Beef, containing the Nutritious Albuminous principles in an unaltered and soluble form.

Physicians

Will find WYETH'S BEEF JUICE of great value as a strengthening diet in cases of convalescence, nervous prostration and similar diseases.

Professional Men

Suffering from overwork, mental anxiety, etc., will find that one-half teaspoonful in half a glass of cold water—at intervals during the day and upon retiring—will relieve fatigue, both of mind and body.

STRONTIUM.

BROMIDE. LACTATE. SALICYLATE.

The marked attention given to the Salts of Strontium and the satisfactory results of their therapeutic action induced us several years ago to prepare an Elixir and Liquor of both the Bromide and Lactate, which have proven most acceptable to the medical profession.

For Portability,
Convenience, and
Ease of Administering

We have been solicited to prepare them in Tablets which we now offer:

PIL. STRONTIUM BROMIDE . . 3 and 5 Grs.
PIL. STRONTIUM LACTATE . . 3 and 5 Grs.
PIL. STRONTIUM SALICYLATE 3 and 5 Grs.

WYETH'S EXTRACT of MALT

Contains the Largest Amount of Extractive Matter of any preparation of its class and the Minimum Amount of Alcohol.

Not regarded as a Beverage, but a valuable Food Auxiliary.

PILES! PILES!

A SURE CURE FOUND AT LAST.

NO ONE NEED SUFFER.

A sure cure for the blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. William (an Indian remedy), called Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment. A single box has cured the worst old chronic cases of twenty-five and thirty years standing. No need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electuaries do more harm than good. William's Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching (particularly at night after getting warm in bed), acts as poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared for Piles, itching of the private parts and nothing else. Thousands of cured patients attest its virtues, and physicians of all schools pronounce it the greatest contribution to medicine of the age. It matters not how long or severely you have been suffering, you can be cured.

LICE KILLER

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE
FOR THE EXTERMINATION OF VERMIN.

It is sure death to lice and red mites that infest poultry, lice on horses and cattle, fleas on dogs, ticks on sheep, as well as small insects that trouble plants, and guaranteed to do its work effectually if directions are followed, or money refunded. Furs and woolens are never moth eaten where this powder is applied. Three-fourths of the failures to make poultry pay are attributable to lice on the fowls. It saps their vitality, weakens their constitution, rendering them liable to disease. and no matter how well you care for them or how liberal the feed, as long as your fowls are lousy they will do no good. Your chickens will be much more healthy if you keep them free from vermin by the use of this never failing remedy. Dust the setting hens freely (it won't hurt the eggs) and have the little chicks free from lice. It is not poisonous and will not injure animal life.

Space forbids our publishing testimonials, but of the many thousands who have used it, not a single complaint and all are enthusiastic in its praise. Try it and and you will never use any other.

DR. MOTT'S

PENNYROYAL FEMALE PILLS

Are the best preparation known for the complete and perfect restoration of the menstrual functions when suppressed BY ANY CAUSE.

For irregularity, suppression, painful menstruation, leucorrhœa, or whites, they have no equal, and have cured where other remedies fail.

$1.00 DR. MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS. $1.00

are entirely vegetable, and are very powerful in their action. (Care should be taken not to use them in pregnancy as they would be sure to cause a miscarriage.) They are safe, certain and effectual, and are prepared to act directly on the circulatory system of the uterus, and will store safely and surely, its normal action, and relieve scanty and suppressed menstruation.

DR. MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS are for sale by our agents, or we will send them by mail to any address, in a sealed, plain wrapper, on receipt of price, $1, or six packages for $5. Directions accompany each box.

Have recently decided that the name, "Syrup of Figs," or "Fig Syrup," as applied to a medicinal compound, is a legitimate trade name and that we are entitled to its exclusive use. As the question has been decided in our favor, we shall expect all dealers to respect our rights and to assist us in preventing the sale of medicinal preparations under our trade-name, "Syrup of Figs," or "Fig Syrup," or any colorable imitation thereof, and we feel confident of the hearty good-will and support of druggists generally.

We shall appreciate any information at any time which may tend to assist us in protecting our trade-name.

German... Household

..DYES..

The perfection of Dyes. They are the leading colors of the world. Their advantages, being unexcelled, place them far ahead of any other manufacture.

1. Every package shows by print and sample piece of wool the color contained.
2. Every package is prepared to dye any kind of material—they will dye silk and wool as well as cotton, linen or feathers.
3. They are warranted to be absolutely poisonless and can be handled by everybody without any danger.

Every druggist who will care for his benefit and wants to satisfy his customers, should handle the German Household Dyes. They give 50 per cent more profit and save work to customers.

The German Household Dyes are warranted to give full satisfaction in every respect. One elegant cabinet will be given away free of charge with every order of a full assortment—30 dozen Dyes at $15; a smaller cabinet with 18 dozen of Dyes, best assorted and a good supply of advertising matter with every order, printed with customer's name and address.

THE TWIN
Clinical Thermometer,

Patented March 25, 1890.
Indelible Black.

For Quick Registration of Temperature.

The Most Substantial, Sensitive Thermometer ever offered to the Medical Profession.

With the atmospheric register at 60°, if "The Twin" be immersed in warm water of 105°, the mercury will reach that degree in less than TWENTY SECONDS.

The welding the two bulbs into one without any intervening space, renders "The Twin" much stronger and less liable to break than any other heretofore offered.

It will always be found much more convenient to carry, requiring less room in a case or in the vest pocket. For these reasons, as well as for its GUARANTEED ACCURACY, "The Twin" is universally recommended by the medical profession.

Price, $18.00 Dozen in Rubber Case.

CURINE
CURINE
Frank Whitney

CURINE

I will guarantee my CURINE to be the most powerful paint that medical science can formulate. It will reach DEEPER SEATED TROUBLES and produce better effects for LAMENESS and Unhealthy sores than any other preparation in the world, for which local medication is indicated, such as Spavins, Curbs, Ringbones, Sprung Knees, Capped Knees and Hocks, Saddle Galls, Rheumatism, Shoulder Lameness, Windpuffs, Navicular Disease, Joint Lameness, Shoe Boils, Fistulae, Quittor, Tumors, Muscle Soreness, Splints, Thoroughpins, Sprung Tendons, Enlarged and Suppurated Glands, Soft Bunches, Bony Growths, etc., etc.

W. A. W. TURNBULL, V. M. D., Formerly resident surgeon in charge of the Veterinary Hospital, University of Pennsylvania.

CURINE is the most powerful paint known, and supersedes all cautery or firing. It contains no grease and will not blemish or remove the hair. Its effects are absorbent, alterative, penetrative and antiseptic, and is the only preparation capable of reaching the deepest seated troubles. Horses can be worked as usual while using this marvellous paint.

Used with phenomenal success in Europe, and in the leading trotting and running stables in the United States and Canada. Any person who purchases a bottle, and after using half of it according to the explicit directions, and finds it not to do what we claim, can return the bottle and the money will be refunded. Reference—First National or Citizen's National Bank of Latrobe, Pa. WE WILL WAGER $100 that one bottle of CURINE, if used according to explicit directions, will reach deeper seated troubles, produce better effects for the same curatives, than any other preparation in the world.

It is recommended by owners such as Allen Farm, owner of Kremlin 2:07¾; C, H. Nelson, owner of Nelson, 2:09; E. W. Ayres, owner of Beuzetta, 2:06¾; M. Salisbury, owner of Alix, 2:03¾; L. B. UNITED STATES HEALTH REPORTS

OFFCIAL ENDORSEMENT.

June 19th, 1895, Page 10.

THE TOBACCO HABIT CURED.

"In the interest of the masses, for whom these reports are compiled the UNITED STATES HEALTH REPORTS have examined and investigated many preparations having for their object the cure of the tobacco habit, but among them all we have no hesitancy in giving the editorial and official endorsements of these REPORTS to the remedy known as 'UNCLE SAM'S TOBACCO CURE,' manufactured by the Keystone Remedy Company, at 216 La Salle Street, Chicago. We have demonstrated by personal tests that this antidote positively destroys the taste and desire for tobacco in ten days, leaving the system in a perfectly healthy condition, and the person using the same forever free from the habit.

"In the light of our examinations and tests of 'UNCLE SAM'S TOBACCO CURE,' we are but performing a duty we owe the public when we endorse the same, and stamp it as the crowning achievement of the nineteenth century, in the way of destroying a habit as disgusting as it is common, (FOR ONLY $1.00,) hence we earnestly advise you to write them for particulars."

If you can't raise one dollar SAY SO—TELL US WHY and WE WILL TRUST YOU and take our pay after you are cured.

BLIZZARD GUN
HOUCHINS PAT.

QUICK LOADER.—This, we consider to be the best gun in the market today. It is the same shape as cut shown above, but is constructed so that the whole top of box can be removed the same as an ordinary tin ointment box. This simple improvement, while still retaining all the advantages of other styles, makes this the most easily filled gun that is offered. Price, $6.75 per gross; 60 cents per doz.

DR. KLINE'S

Great Anti-Bilious Elixir

AND

BLOOD PURIFIER.

Five Reasons why it should be kept in stock by all Druggists.

1. Because it is the most effective Blood Purifier, Stomach and Liver Regulator known.
2. Because it is well advertised, is being prescribed continually in our Institute and used by many other physicians.
3. Because patients are advised to purchase it from their druggists all over the United States and Canada.
4. Because through our immense practice, and our method of advertising and recommendation, druggists have a demand for it at all seasons of the year.
5. Because the Great Anti-Bilious Elixir and Blood Purifier gives universal satisfaction, and establishes for itself a reputation wherever used.

Price $1.00 per bottle. To Druggists, $8.00 per dozen.

THE success we have met with in this Department during the past twelve months has been very gratifying, as it convinces us that the goods we have are thoroughly satisfactory, and not only please the dealers but also the smokers.

Order your cigars from us and you will never have much capital tied up in dead and unsalable stock. The goods are fast sellers and count much to the thoughtful buyer in the matter of saving in Freight and Transportation Charges, as your cigar orders can always be shipped with your drug orders, thus guaranteeing you against overstocking and extra expense.

And a Giant!

The H. H. H. LINIMENT has stood the test of TWENTY Years use and to-day is Better Known and More Extensively Used than Any Other Liniment.

Some reasons why you should keep H. H. H. Liniment:

1st. Because it is the best for Man or Beast.

2nd. Because it is the Cheapest. One bottle mixed with double its quantity of water is then as strong as most Liniments

3rd. Because you don't have to wait for it. You can buy it anywhere.

4th. Because it Always Gives Satisfaction.

PILES! PILES!

A SURE CURE FOUND AT LAST.

NO ONE NEED SUFFER.

A sure cure for the blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. William (an Indian remedy), called Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment. A single box has cured the worst old chronic cases of twenty-five and thirty years standing. No need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electuaries do more harm than good. William's Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching (particularly at night after getting warm in bed), acts as poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared for Piles, itching of the private parts and nothing else. Thousands of cured patients attest its virtues, and physicians of all schools pronounce it the greatest contribution to medicine of the age. It matters not how long or severely you have been suffering, you can be cured.

LICE KILLER

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE
FOR THE EXTERMINATION OF VERMIN.

It is sure death to lice and red mites that infest poultry, lice on horses and cattle, fleas on dogs, ticks on sheep, as well as small insects that trouble plants, and guaranteed to do its work effectually if directions are followed, or money refunded. Furs and woolens are never moth eaten where this powder is applied. Three-fourths of the failures to make poultry pay are attributable to lice on the fowls. It saps their vitality, weakens their constitution, rendering them liable to disease. and no matter how well you care for them or how liberal the feed, as long as your fowls are lousy they will do no good. Your chickens will be much more healthy if you keep them free from vermin by the use of this never failing remedy. Dust the setting hens freely (it won't hurt the eggs) and have the little chicks free from lice. It is not poisonous and will not injure animal life.

Space forbids our publishing testimonials, but of the many thousands who have used it, not a single complaint and all are enthusiastic in its praise. Try it and and you will never use any other.

TO THE subject of Absorbent Cotton we call your attention. In presenting the above brand, which we shall control on the Pacific Coast, we can say without fear of contradiction that we offer a cotton up to the very highest standard, and one that will meet every test—absorbent, chemical and crucial. Being made from selected Sea Island cotton, its texture is longer, fibre softer, and being subjected to the many washings, both alkaline and acid, it contains none of the impurities, but a cotton made for rather than for commercial. Free from any contamination. Free from anything that will produce septic conditions in a wound—presenting a sterile surgical dressing which we believe cannot be equalled by other mantfacturers. We invite you to give it the test by slightly compressing in the hand, throw on water and note how readily it absorbs and falls to the botton of the glass; then with Litmus paper note reaction—neither acid nor alkaline—and by burning in the crucible the amount of ash left. We feel assured if you will but present its merits to the physician you will find confirmed ALL WE CLAIM FOR

Have recently decided that the name, "Syrup of Figs," or "Fig Syrup," as applied to a medicinal compound, is a legitimate trade name and that we are entitled to its exclusive use. As the question has been decided in our favor, we shall expect all dealers to respect our rights and to assist us in preventing the sale of medicinal preparations under our trade-name, "Syrup of Figs," or "Fig Syrup," or any colorable imitation thereof, and we feel confident of the hearty good-will and support of druggists generally.

We shall appreciate any information at any time which may tend to assist us in protecting our trade-name.

THE TWIN HALF-MINUTE Clinical Thermometer,

Patented March 25, 1890.
Indelible Black.

For Quick Registration of Temperature.

The Most Substantial, Sensitive Thermometer ever offered to the Medical Profession.

With the atmospheric register at 60°, if "The Twin" be immersed in warm water of 105°, the mercury will reach that degree in less than TWENTY SECONDS.

The welding the two bulbs into one without any intervening space, renders "The Twin" much stronger and less liable to break than any other heretofore offered.

It will always be found much more convenient to carry, requiring less room in a case or in the vest pocket. For these reasons, as well as for its GUARANTEED ACCURACY, "The Twin" is universally recommended by the medical profession.

Price, $18.00 Dozen in Rubber Case.

CURINE

I will guarantee my CURINE to be the most powerful paint that medical science can formulate. It will reach DEEPER SEATED TROUBLES and produce better effects for LAMENESS and Unhealthy sores than any other preparation in the world, for which local medication is indicated, such as Spavins, Curbs, Ringbones, Sprung Knees, Capped Knees and Hocks, Saddle Galls, Rheumatism, Shoulder Lameness, Windpuffs, Navicular Disease, Joint Lameness, Shoe Boils, Fistulae, Quittor, Tumors, Muscle Soreness, Splints, Thoroughpins, Sprung Tendons, Enlarged and Suppurated Glands, Soft Bunches, Bony Growths, etc., etc.

W. A. W. TURNBULL, V. M. D., Formerly resident surgeon in charge of the Veterinary Hospital, University of Pennsylvania.

CURINE is the most powerful paint known, and supersedes all cautery or firing. It contains no grease and will not blemish or remove the hair. Its effects are absorbent, alterative, penetrative and antiseptic, and is the only preparation capable of reaching the deepest seated troubles. Horses can be worked as usual while using this marvellous paint.

Used with phenomenal success in Europe, and in the leading trotting and running stables in the United States and Canada. Any person who purchases a bottle, and after using half of it according to the explicit directions, and finds it not to do what we claim, can return the bottle and the money will be refunded. Reference—First National or Citizen's National Bank of Latrobe, Pa. WE WILL WAGER $100 that one bottle of CURINE, if used according to explicit directions, will reach deeper seated troubles, produce better effects for the same curatives, than any other preparation in the world.

A Priceless Boon to the Female World of Humanity.

"SEGURO" The best preventive of the age.

"SEGURO"

The attention of the druggist is called to "SEGURO," as it is pronounced by thousands of married women a positive cure for LEUCORRHOEA or WHITES; a sure prevention for all venereal diseases, and a sure and reliable protection against all monthly irregularities which females are subject to. "SEGURO" will convince the most skeptical of its efficiency.

UNITED STATES HEALTH REPORTS

OFFCIAL ENDORSEMENT.

June 19th, 1895, Page 10.

THE TOBACCO HABIT CURED.

"In the interest of the masses, for whom these reports are compiled the United States Health Reports have examined and investigated many preparations having for their object the cure of the tobacco habit, but among them all we have no hesitancy in giving the editorial and official endorsements of these Reports to the remedy known as 'UNCLE SAM'S TOBACCO CURE,' manufactured by the Keystone Remedy Company, at 216 La Salle Street, Chicago. We have demonstrated by personal tests that this antidote positively destroys the taste and desire for tobacco in ten days, leaving the system in a perfectly healthy condition, and the person using the same forever free from the habit.

"In the light of our examinations and tests of 'UNCLE SAM'S TOBACCO CURE,' we are but performing a duty we owe the public when we endorse the same, and stamp it as the crowning achievement of the nineteenth century, in the way of destroying a habit as disgusting as it is common, (FOR ONLY $1.00,) hence we earnestly advise you to write them for particulars."

If you can't raise one dollar SAY SO—TELL US WHY and WE WILL TRUST YOU and take our pay after you are cured.

Undoubtedly the CHEAPEST FIRST-CLASS SYRINGES on the Market.

F. W. Braun & Co.'s Druggists' Sundries Department.

GLASS SYRINGES

Cuts Actual Size.

Following we list our line of Glass Syringes which we believe are superior in every respect to any line ever shown on this coast. They are made of heavy lead glass, perfect in every particular, and run uniform throughout, and almost equal to Hard Rubber Syringes.

We have decided to carry Jet Caps only in future, as they are not liable to corrosion like the metal screw top. The piston can be cleaned more easily and they are cheaper.

DR. KLINE'S

Great Anti-Bilious Elixir

AND

BLOOD PURIFIER.

Five Reasons why it should be kept in stock by all Druggists.

1. Because it is the most effective Blood Purifier, Stomach and Liver Regulator known.

2. Because it is well advertised, is being prescribed continually in our Institute and used by many other physicians.

3. Because patients are advised to purchase it from their druggists all over the United States and Canada.

4. Because through our immense practice, and our method of advertising and recommendation, druggists have a demand for it at all seasons of the year.

5. Because the Great Anti-Bilious Elixir and Blood Purifier gives universal satisfaction, and establishes for itself a reputation wherever used.

Price $1.00 per bottle. To Druggists, $8.00 per dozen.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

A number of proprietors have added to their contracts a clause providing that where less than one-quarter dozen of their goods are ordered at one time, an advance of 10 per cent over the regular dozen rate must be charged.

For the convenience of the trade we append a list of these firms and also the items controlled by them which come under this rule.

Excepting where specified to the contrary this applies to one-quarter dozen of any one item and not to an assortment.

STRONTIUM.

BROMIDE. LACTATE. SALICYLATE.

The marked attention given to the Salts of Strontium and the satisfactory results of their therapeutic action induced us several years ago to prepare an Elixir and Liquor of both the Bromide and Lactate, which have proven most acceptable to the medical profession.

For Portability,
Convenience, and
Ease of Administering

We have been solicited to prepare them in Tablets which we now offer:

PIL. STRONTIUM BROMIDE . .	3 and 5 Grs.

• ONLY 20 YEARS OLD •

And a Giant!

The H. H. H. LINIMENT has stood the test of TWENTY Years use and to-day is Better Known and More Extensively Used than Any Other Liniment.

Some reasons why you should keep H. H. H. Liniment:

1st. Because it is the best for Man or Beast.

2nd. Because it is the Cheapest. One bottle mixed with double its quantity of water is then as strong as most Liniments

3rd. Because you don't have to wait for it. You can buy it anywhere.

4th. Because it Always Gives Satisfaction.

PILES! PILES!

A SURE CURE FOUND AT LAST.

NO ONE NEED SUFFER.

A sure cure for the blind, bleeding, itching and ulcerated piles has been discovered by Dr. William (an Indian remedy), called Dr. William's Indian Pile Ointment. A single box has cured the worst old chronic cases of twenty-five and thirty years standing. No need suffer five minutes after applying this wonderful soothing medicine. Lotions, instruments and electuaries do more harm than good. William's Ointment absorbs the tumors, allays the intense itching (particularly at night after getting warm in bed), acts as poultice, gives instant and painless relief, and is prepared for Piles, itching of the private parts and nothing else. Thousands of cured patients attest its virtues, and physicians of all schools pronounce it the greatest contribution to medicine of the age. It matters not how long or severely you have been suffering, you can be cured.

LICE KILLER

THE GREATEST DISCOVERY OF THE AGE

FOR THE EXTERMINATION OF VERMIN.

It is sure death to lice and red mites that infest poultry, lice on horses and cattle, fleas on dogs, ticks on sheep, as well as small insects that trouble plants, and guaranteed to do its work effectually if directions are followed, or money refunded. Furs and woolens are never moth eaten where this powder is applied. Three-fourths of the failures to make poultry pay are attributable to lice on the fowls. It saps their vitality, weakens their constitution, rendering them liable to disease. and no matter how well you care for them or how liberal the feed, as long as your fowls are lousy they will do no good. Your chickens will be much more healthy if you keep them free from vermin by the use of this never failing remedy. Dust the setting hens freely (it won't hurt the eggs) and have the little chicks free from lice. It is not poisonous and will not injure animal life.

Space forbids our publishing testimonials, but of the many thousands who have used it, not a single complaint and all are enthusiastic in its praise. Try it and and you will never use any other.

TO THE subject of Absorbent Cotton we call your attention. In presenting the above brand, which we shall control on the Pacific Coast, we can say without fear of contradiction that we offer a cotton up to the very highest standard, and one that will meet every test—absorbent, chemical and crucial. Being made from selected Sea Island cotton, its texture is longer, fibre softer, and being subjected to the many washings, both alkaline and acid, it contains none of the impurities, but a cotton made for rather than for commercial. Free from any contamination. Free from anything that will produce septic conditions in a wound—presenting a sterile surgical dressing which we believe cannot be equalled by other mantfacturers. We invite you to give it the test by slightly compressing in the hand, throw on water and note how readily it absorbs and falls to the botton of the glass; then with Litmus paper note reaction—neither acid nor alkaline—and by burning in the crucible the amount of ash left. We feel assured if you will but present its merits to the physician you will find confirmed ALL WE CLAIM FOR

TAYLOR'S SEA ISLAND COTTON

EXCLUSIVELY FOR LADIES' WEAR.

RECOMMENDED BY PHYSICIANS AND FAR SUPERIOR TO ANYTHING OF ITS KIND ON THE MARKET.

HAYDEN MANUFACTURING CO., 116 JOHN ST., NEW YORK.

MADE IN THREE SIZES, AND THE BEST ARTICLE OF THE KIND EVER SOLD

No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3.

They are Odorless and fully Absorbent, and warranted as represented in every particular, being put up under the direct supervision of a Practical Chemist.

EVERY DOZEN WILL CONTAIN TWO NICKEL PLATED SAFETY PINS.

A Sample of No. 1 Sent to Any Address on Receipt of 6 cents in Stamps.

TO BE WORN WITH THE STRAP ON THE OUTSIDE. BURN AFTER USING.

CHEAPER THAN WASHING. INVALUABLE WHILE TRAVELLING

Antiseptic "Sanitary Towels"

FOR LADIES,

WHICH ARE BOTH ABSORBENT AND ANTISEPTIC.

1st.—Increased Comfort. 2nd.—In Delicate Health, Less Liability to Chill. 3rd.—Cleanliness. 4th.—Convenience. 5th.—Diminution of Risks of Disease. 6th.—No Washing.

TO BE HAD OF ALL LEADING DRUGSTORES.

THE TOWELS DO NOT NEED AIRING, but are made softer by warming, and after use are to be destroyed by burning. They do not cause any disagreeable smell. If inconvenient to burn at once, the antiseptic used in their preparation enables them to be kept until opportunity occurs.

A PHYSICIAN SAYS :— 'Some dangers to health which are incurred from germs of disease will be avoided by their use. For long voyages they are essential." A great advantage these "TOWELS" possess over those in ordinary use is that THEY MAY BE DESTROYED BY BURNING WHEN DONE WITH. The carrying of soiled linen in travelling packages, and keeping it in the house in hot weather, waiting for the laundress, is objectionable.

THE ANTISEPTIC "SANITARY TOWELS" FOR LADIES.

The British Medical Journal says:—" It is a much improved substitute for the generally adopted napkin used in the catamenial period, and in confinements. The old napkin, with its many obvious defects, may now be entirely discarded, and the new 'Sanitary Towel' adopted in its tead, with all the advantages to be derived from a more comfortable article, and one possessing all that can be desired from a sanitary point f view. After use the 'Towels' are simply burned."

FOR SALE AT ALL DRUG AND DRY GOODS STORES.

THE TWIN

Clinical Thermometer,

For Quick Registration of Temperature.

PATENTED MARCH 25, 1890.
INDELIBLE BLACK.

The Most Substantial, Sensitive Thermometer ever offered to the Medical Profession.

With the atmospheric register at 60°, if "The Twin" be immersed in warm water of 105°, the mercury will reach that degree in less than TWENTY SECONDS.

The welding the two bulbs into one without any intervening space, renders "The Twin" much stronger and less liable to break than any other heretofore offered.

It will always be found much more convenient to carry, requiring less room in a case or in the vest pocket. For these reasons, as well as for its GUARANTEED ACCURACY, "The Twin" is universally recommended by the medical profession.

Price, $18.00 Dozen in Rubber Case.

CURINE

I will guarantee my CURINE to be the most powerful paint that medical science can formulate. It will reach DEEPER SEATED TROUBLES and produce better effects for LAMENESS and Unhealthy sores than any other preparation in the world, for which local medication is indicated, such as Spavins, Curbs, Ringbones, Sprung Knees, Capped Knees and Hocks, Saddle Galls, Rheumatism, Shoulder Lameness, Windpuffs, Navicular Disease, Joint Lameness, Shoe Boils, Fistulae, Quittor, Tumors, Muscle Soreness, Splints, Thoroughpins, Sprung Tendons, Enlarged and Suppurated Glands, Soft Bunches, Bony Growths, etc., etc.

W. A. W. TURNBULL, V. M. D., Formerly resident surgeon in charge of the Veterinary Hospital, University of Pennsylvania.

CURINE is the most powerful paint known, and supersedes all cautery or firing. It contains no grease and will not blemish or remove the hair. Its effects are absorbent, alterative, penetrative and antiseptic, and is the only preparation capable of reaching the deepest seated troubles. Horses can be worked as usual while using this marvellous paint.

Used with phenomenal success in Europe, and in the leading trotting and running stables in the United States and Canada. Any person who purchases a bottle, and after using half of it according to the explicit directions, and finds it not to do what we claim, can return the bottle and the money will be refunded. Reference—First National or Citizen's National Bank of Latrobe, Pa. WE WILL WAGER $100 that one bottle of CURINE, if used according to explicit directions, will reach deeper seated troubles, produce better effects for the same curatives, than any other preparation in the world.

It is recommended by owners such as Allen Farm, owner of Kremlin 2:07¾; C, H. Nelson, owner of Nelson, 2:09; E. W. Ayres, owner of Beuzetta, 2:06¾; M. Salisbury, owner of Alix, 2:03¾; L. B. UNITED STATES HEALTH REPORTS

OFFCIAL ENDORSEMENT.

June 19th, 1895, Page 10.

THE TOBACCO HABIT CURED.

"In the interest of the masses, for whom these reports are compiled the United States Health Reports have examined and investigated many preparations having for their object the cure of the tobacco habit, but among them all we have no hesitancy in giving the editorial and official endorsements of these Reports to the remedy known as 'UNCLE SAM'S TOBACCO CURE,' manufactured by the Keystone Remedy Company, at 216 La Salle Street, Chicago. We have demonstrated by personal tests that this antidote positively destroys the taste and desire for tobacco in ten days, leaving the system in a perfectly healthy condition, and the person using the same forever free from the habit.

"In the light of our examinations and tests of 'UNCLE SAM'S TOBACCO CURE,' we are but performing a duty we owe the public when we endorse the same, and stamp it as the crowning achievement of the nineteenth century, in the way of destroying a habit as disgusting as it is common, (FOR ONLY $1.00,) hence we earnestly advise you to write them for particulars."

If you can't raise one dollar SAY SO—TELL US WHY and WE WILL TRUST YOU and take our pay after you are cured.

S. H. KENNEDY'S

Concentrated Extract of "WHITE OAK BARK, Q. ALBA"

THE MOST VALUABLE

Aqueous Astringent known to the Medical Profession, and Superior to Anything of the Kind I ever Made.

Dr. J. Marion Sims, Dr. Newton, Dr. Tice and others of New York City, tested it thoroughly in their practice in 1871, and gave me the results of its use, and recommended it as superior to the "Hemlock Ext. Pinus Canadensis," which I had placed upon the market at large expense. I was not then prepared to furnish the goods, but have now arranged to make the "White Oak Ext. Q. Alba" medicinally pure for the benefit of the medical profession, who know with what care, purity and excellence I manufacture extracts. In putting this valuable "Oak Ext. Q. Alba" on the market, I have made the price reasonable, so that the POOR SICK can have the benefit of its use as well as the more FORTUNATE RICH.

IMPORTANT NOTICE.

We are just in receipt of the following communication from the J. A. Pozzoni Pharmacal Co.:

> "Please advise your customers that we will discontinue furnishing SCOVILL'S GOLD PUFF BOXES with POZZONI'S MEDICATED POWDER on AUGUST 1st."

In view of this action on the part of the manufacturers we would advise our friends to anticipate their wants for the summer trade, when this article finds its largest sale, and send in their orders at once to secure the bonus.

EVERY DRUGGIST

. . . SHOULD HAVE

The National Formulary—New Ed.
The National Dispensatory—5th Ed.

The United States Pharmacopœia—SEVENTH DECENNIAL REVISION.

Three Works at the Price of One.

TO SECURE the widest dissemination for The National Formulary and for the United States Pharmacopœia, the American Pharmaceutical Association has authorized the complete incorporation of these official works with the National Dispensatory.

The National Formulary gives working formulæ for all approved unofficial pharmaceutical preparations. They constitute a large proportion of the druggist's business and of the physician's prescriptions, and uniformity and maximum efficacy are therefore scarcely less important in such preparations than in the official drugs dealt with in

The United States Pharmacopœia.—This work is a condensed description of official drugs, tests of identity and purity, etc., but without dosage, action and uses Lacking in itself all explanations as well as other pharmaceutical, chemical and therapeutic information, the United States Pharmacopœia is most usefully consulted in the pages of

The National Dispensatory, where each article is reprinted in close connection with the cognate matter. This work details the natural history, chemistry, pharmacy, actions and uses of drugs, and is replete with data, formulæ, tables, etc. It is quite as valuable to the physician as to the pharmacist, witness the Therapeutical Index, which places all the best therapeutical recommendations suggestively at command under the alphabetical index of Diseases.

These three works now conjoined at the price of one place it within the means of all to possess a complete encyclopædia or library of pharmaceutical and therapeutic information, officially recognized as the standard for accuracy, and popularly recognized also for completeness, convenience and reasonableness in price, as is seen in the demand for five editions in seventeen years.

Magnificent octavo, 2025 pages, 320 engravings, leather, $8.00.

DR. KLINE'S

Great Anti-Bilious Elixir

AND

BLOOD PURIFIER.

Five Reasons why it should be kept in stock by all Druggists.

1. Because it is the most effective Blood Purifier, Stomach and Liver Regulator known.

2. Because it is well advertised, is being prescribed continually in our Institute and used by many other physicians.

3. Because patients are advised to purchase it from their druggists all over the United States and Canada.

4. Because through our immense practice, and our method of advertising and recommendation, druggists have a demand for it at all seasons of the year.

5. Because the Great Anti-Bilious Elixir and Blood Purifier gives universal satisfaction, and establishes for itself a reputation wherever used.

Price $1.00 per bottle. To Druggists, $8.00 per dozen.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

A number of proprietors have added to their contracts a clause providing that where less than one-quarter dozen of their goods are ordered at one time, an advance of 10 per cent over the regular dozen rate must be charged.

For the convenience of the trade we append a list of these firms and also the items controlled by them which come under this rule.

Excepting where specified to the contrary this applies to one-quarter dozen of any one item and not to an assortment.

CURINE
CURINE

CURINE

I will guarantee my CURINE to be the most powerful paint that medical science can formulate. It will reach DEEPER SEATED TROUBLES and produce better effects for LAMENESS and Unhealthy sores than any other preparation in the world, for which local medication is indicated, such as Spavins, Curbs, Ringbones, Sprung Knees, Capped Knees and Hocks, Saddle Galls, Rheumatism, Shoulder Lameness, Windpuffs, Navicular Disease, Joint Lameness, Shoe Boils, Fistulae, Quittor, Tumors, Muscle Soreness, Splints, Thoroughpins, Sprung Tendons, Enlarged and Suppurated Glands, Soft Bunches, Bony Growths, etc., etc.

W. A. W. TURNBULL, V. M. D., Formerly resident surgeon in charge of the Veterinary Hospital, University of Pennsylvania.

CURINE is the most powerful paint known, and supersedes all cautery or firing. It contains no grease and will not blemish or remove the hair. Its effects are absorbent, alterative, penetrative and antiseptic, and is the only preparation capable of reaching the deepest seated troubles. Horses can be worked as usual while using this marvellous paint.

Used with phenomenal success in Europe, and in the leading trotting and running stables in the United States and Canada. Any person who purchases a bottle, and after using half of it according to the explicit directions, and finds it not to do what we claim, can return the bottle and the money will be refunded. Reference—First National or Citizen's National Bank of Latrobe, Pa. WE WILL WAGER $100 that one bottle of CURINE, if used according to explicit directions, will reach deeper seated troubles, produce better effects for the same curatives, than any other preparation in the world.

It is recommended by owners such as Allen Farm, owner of Kremlin 2:07¾; C, H. Nelson, owner of Nelson, 2:09; E. W. Ayres, owner of Beuzetta, 2:06¾; M. Salisbury, owner of Alix, 2:03¾; L. B. THE TOBACCO HABIT CURED.

"In the interest of the masses, for whom these reports are compiled the UNITED STATES HEALTH REPORTS have examined and investigated many preparations having for their object the cure of the tobacco habit, but among them all we have no hesitancy in giving the editorial and official endorsements of these REPORTS to the remedy known as 'UNCLE SAM'S TOBACCO CURE,' manufactured by the Keystone Remedy Company, at 216 La Salle Street, Chicago. We have demonstrated by personal tests that this antidote positively destroys the taste and desire for tobacco in ten days, leaving the system in a perfectly healthy condition, and the person using the same forever free from the habit.

"In the light of our examinations and tests of 'UNCLE SAM'S TOBACCO CURE,' we are but performing a duty we owe the public when we endorse the same, and stamp it as the crowning achievement of the nineteenth century, in the way of destroying a habit as disgusting as it is common, (FOR ONLY $1.00,) hence we earnestly advise you to write them for particulars."

If you can't raise one dollar SAY SO—TELL US WHY and WE WILL TRUST YOU and take our pay after you are cured. Direct your letter to

Oxide Zinc Ointment

U. S. P.

FORMULA: { Oxide Zinc Base .... One Part
Lard .... Three Parts

Mix well in a warm mortar.

Put up in one pound tins, per pound 50c.

It is a most desirable article for the Pharmacist on account of its cheapness and simplicity in preparing Oxide Zinc Ointment. It will be thoroughly appreciated after it is once used, as it makes a very smooth and satisfactory ointment by the simple addition of Pure Lard or White Petrolatum.

TO THE subject of Absorbent Cotton we call your attention. In presenting the above brand, which we shall control on the Pacific Coast, we can say without fear of contradiction that we offer a cotton up to the very highest standard, and one that will meet every test—absorbent, chemical and crucial. Being made from selected Sea Island cotton, its texture is longer, fibre softer, and being subjected to the many washings, both alkaline and acid, it contains none of the impurities, but a cotton made for rather than for commercial. Free from any contamination. Free from anything that will produce septic conditions in a wound—presenting a sterile surgical dressing which we believe cannot be equalled by other mantfacturers. We invite you to give it the test by slightly compressing in the hand, throw on water and note how readily it absorbs and falls to the botton of the glass; then with Litmus paper note reaction—neither acid nor alkaline—and by burning in the crucible the amount of ash left. We feel assured if you will but present its merits to the physician you will find confirmed ALL WE CLAIM FOR

TAYLOR'S SEA ISLAND COTTON

THE TWIN
Clinical Thermometer,

Patented March 25, 1890.

Indelible Black.

For Quick Registration of Temperature.

The Most Substantial, Sensitive Thermometer ever offered to the Medical Profession.

With the atmospheric register at 60°, if "The Twin" be immersed in warm water of 105°, the mercury will reach that degree in less than TWENTY SECONDS.

The welding the two bulbs into one without any intervening space, renders 'The Twin" much stronger and less liable to break than any other heretofore offered.

It will always be found much more convenient to carry, requiring less room in a case or in the vest pocket. For these reasons, as well as for its GUARANTEED ACCURACY, "The Twin" is universally recommended by the medical profession.

Price, $18.00 Dozen in Rubber Case.

S. H. KENNEDY'S

Concentrated Extract of "WHITE OAK BARK, Q. ALBA"

THE MOST VALUABLE

Aqueous Astringent known to the Medical Profession, and Superior to Anything of the Kind I ever Made.

Dr. J. Marion Sims, Dr. Newton, Dr. Tice and others of New York City, tested it thoroughly in their practice in 1871, and gave me the results of its use, and recommended it as superior to the "Hemlock Ext. Pinus Canadensis," which I had placed upon the market at large expense. I was not then prepared to furnish the goods, but have now arranged to make the "White Oak Ext. Q. Alba" medicinally pure for the benefit of the medical profession, who know with what care, purity and excellence I manufacture extracts. In putting this valuable "Oak Ext. Q. Alba" on the market, I have made the price reasonable, so that the POOR SICK can have the benefit of its use as well as the more FORTUNATE RICH.

Price, for the White or Dark per doz..............$10

And a Giant!

The H. H. H. LINIMENT has stood the test of TWENTY Years use and to-day is Better Known and More Extensively Used than Any Other Liniment.

Some reasons why you should keep H. H. H. Liniment:

1st. Because it is the best for Man or Beast.

2nd. Because it is the Cheapest. One bottle mixed with double its quantity of water is then as strong as most Liniments

3rd. Because you don't have to wait for it. You can buy it anywhere.

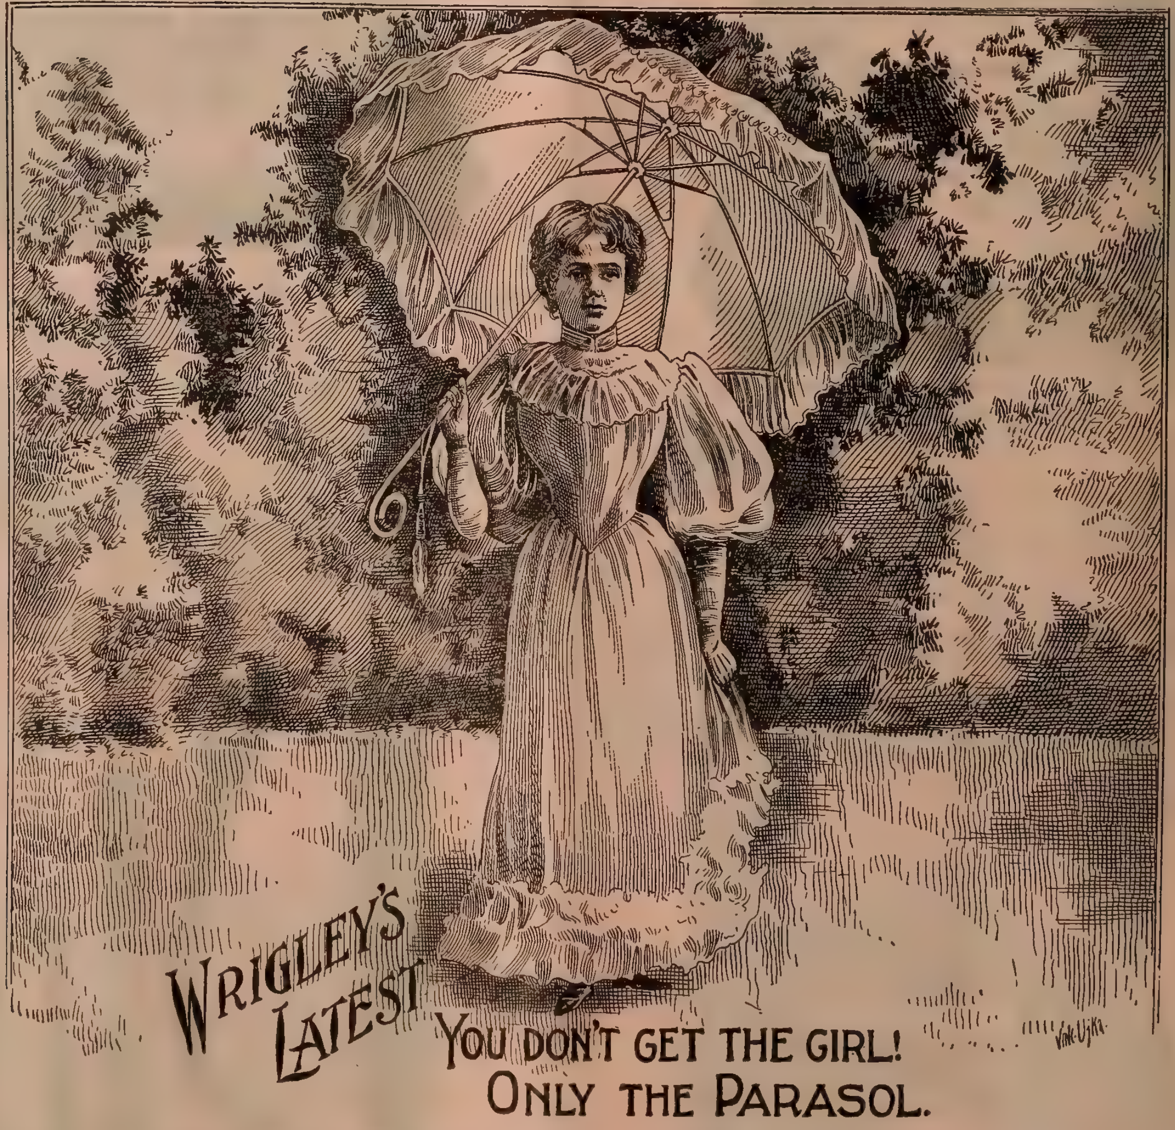
WHAT WOULD BE NICER FOR YOUR WIFE OR SWEETHEART ?

THAN A STYLISH, UP-TO-DATE PARASOL.

THERE IS NOTHING EASIER TO GET!

Send us an order for $5.50 worth of Wrigley's Celebrated Chewing Gum, and we will send you FREE the parasol described below.



WRIGLEY'S LATEST
YOU DON'T GET THE GIRL!
ONLY THE PARASOL.

This is one of the best offers of the season. It consists of a handsome white China silk parasol, in finest quality of pure silk, with six-inch chiffon flounce, richly puffed runners and notches inside and on top in chiffon and pure silk; stylish white enamelled handle, large silk tassel, paragon frame and nickel plated slide. This parasol is cheap at $5.00. We give one free with 160 packages—800 sticks of Wrigley's Celebrated Chewing Gum for $5.50. Send in your order at once.

We call attention to the fact that we carry a line of every popular chewing gum on the market, and are constantly showing new offers. Write us for particulars.

NOW is the time to sell Thermometers

We anticipated the demand and are prepared with a large and complete stock.

In addition to the regular goods we carry a line of Registering Thermometers, instruments which automatically show the highest or lowest temperature reached during the day or night. The advantage of this device to fruit growers and others is inestimable.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

A number of proprietors have added to their contracts a clause providing that where less than one-quarter dozen of their goods are ordered at one time, an advance of 10 per cent over the regular dozen rate must be charged.

For the convenience of the trade we append a list of these firms and also the items controlled by them which come under this rule.

Excepting where specified to the contrary this applies to one-quarter dozen of any one item and not to an assortment.

WAMPOLE'S
PERFECTED AND TASTELESS PREPARATION OF
COD LIVER OIL

(Ol. Morrh. Comp. Wampole)

Contains a solution of the combined alkaloidal and other active medicinal principles, obtainable from one-fourth its volume of pure Cod Liver Oil, the oily or fatty portion being entirely eliminated. These principles are extracted from the oil while it is yet contained in the fresh Cod Livers, and combined with Extract of Malt, Fluid Extract Wild Cherry Bark, and Syrup of Hypophosphites Compound (containing Lime, Soda, Potassium, Iron, Manganese, Quinine and Strychnia).

COPY OF ANALYSIS.

Laboratory of ROBERT G. ECCLES, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y., April 29th, 1896.

Messrs. HENRY K. WAMPOLE & Co., 441 Green Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

GENTLEMEN :—A careful chemical examination of fresh Cod Liver Oil as found in fresh Cod Livers which I obtained direct from the Cod Fish, reveals beyond question the presence of definite alkaloids and other active medicinal principles therein.

An equally careful examination of your Cod Liver Oil Extract, used in the manufacture of your preparation of Cod Liver Oil, demonstrated beyond a peradventure the presence of these same alkaloids and the other medicinal substances extracted by me directly from the oil I found in the Cod Livers.

Finally another equally careful analysis of your finished product, "Wampole's Perfected and Tasteless Preparation of Cod Liver Oil," shows in an unquestionable manner the presence therein of these same alkaloids and medicinal substances from Cod Liver Oil, together with various hypophosphites, quinine, strychnine, wild cherry, etc.

An examination in detail of your process of manufacture and of the special machinery and apparatus used by you in extracting the combined alkaloidal and other active medicinal principles of Cod Liver Oil convinced me of their efficiency for just such work, and showed the care and pains taken by you to get a pure and useful product.

Very truly yours, ROBERT G. ECCLES.

The clinical results obtained by the use of Wampole's Preparation will prove its efficacy in diseases and conditions where cod liver oil is indicated, in addition to its valuable tonic and alterative effect, due to its other medicinal ingredients.

Circular matter and samples for trial, promptly and cheerfully furnished upon application, free of charge.

CURINE

I will guarantee my CURINE to be the most powerful paint that medical science can formulate. It will reach DEEPER SEATED TROUBLES and produce better effects for LAMENESS and Unhealthy sores than any other preparation in the world, for which local medication is indicated, such as Spavins, Curbs, Ringbones, Sprung Knees, Capped Knees and Hocks, Saddle Galls, Rheumatism, Shoulder Lameness, Windpuffs, Navicular Disease, Joint Lameness, Shoe Boils, Fistulae, Quittor, Tumors, Muscle Soreness, Splints, Thoroughpins, Sprung Tendons, Enlarged and Suppurated Glands, Soft Bunches, Bony Growths, etc., etc.

W. A. W. TURNBULL, V. M. D., Formerly resident surgeon in charge of the Veterinary Hospital, University of Pennsylvania.

CURINE is the most powerful paint known, and supersedes all cautery or firing. It contains no grease and will not blemish or remove the hair. Its effects are absorbent, alterative, penetrative and antiseptic, and is the only preparation capable of reaching the deepest seated troubles. Horses can be worked as usual while using this marvellous paint.

Used with phenomenal success in Europe, and in the leading trotting and running stables in the United States and Canada. Any person who purchases a bottle, and after using half of it according to the explicit directions, and finds it not to do what we claim, can return the bottle and the money will be refunded. Reference—First National or Citizen's National Bank of Latrobe, Pa. WE WILL WAGER $100 that one bottle of CURINE, if used according to explicit directions, will reach deeper seated troubles, produce better effects for the same curatives, than any other preparation in the world.

It is recommended by owners such as Allen Farm, owner of Kremlin 2:07¾; C, H. Nelson, owner of Nelson, 2:09; E. W. Ayres, owner of Beuzetta, 2:06¾; M. Salisbury, owner of Alix, 2:03¾; L. B. DR. KLINE'S

Great Anti-Bilious Elixir

AND

BLOOD PURIFIER.

Five Reasons why it should be kept in stock by all Druggists.

1. Because it is the most effective Blood Purifier, Stomach and Liver Regulator known.
2. Because it is well advertised, is being prescribed continually in our Institute and used by many other physicians.
3. Because patients are advised to purchase it from their druggists all over the United States and Canada.
4. Because through our immense practice, and our method of advertising and recommendation, druggists have a demand for it at all seasons of the year.
5. Because the Great Anti-Bilious Elixir and Blood Purifier gives universal satisfaction, and establishes for itself a reputation wherever used.

Price $1.00 per bottle. To Druggists, $8.00 per dozen.

OXIDE ZINC BASE

FOR PREPARING
EXTEMPORANEOUSLY

Oxide Zinc Ointment

U. S. P.

FORMULA: Oxide Zinc Base .... One Part
Lard .... Three Parts

Mix well in a warm mortar.

Put up in one pound tins, per pound 50c.

It is a most desirable article for the Pharmacist on account of its cheapness and simplicity in preparing Oxide Zinc Ointment. It will be thoroughly appreciated after it is once used, as it makes a very smooth and satisfactory ointment by the simple addition of Pure Lard or White Petrolatum.

TO THE subject of Absorbent Cotton we call your attention. In presenting the above brand, which we shall control on the Pacific Coast, we can say without fear of contradiction that we offer a cotton up to the very highest standard, and one that will meet every test—absorbent, chemical and crucial. Being made from selected Sea Island cotton, its texture is longer, fibre softer, and being subjected to the many washings, both alkaline and acid, it contains none of the impurities, but a cotton made for

rather than for commercial. Free from any contamination. Free from anything that will produce septic conditions in a wound—presenting a sterile surgical dressing which we believe cannot be equalled by other manufacturers. We invite you to give it the test by slightly compressing in the hand, throw on water and note how readily it absorbs and falls to the botton of the glass; then with Litmus paper note reaction—neither acid nor alkaline—and by burning in the crucible the amount of ash left. We feel assured if you will but present its merits to the physician you will find confirmed ALL WE CLAIM FOR

HAYDEN MANUFACTURING CO., 116 JOHN ST., NEW YORK.

MADE IN THREE SIZES, AND THE BEST ARTICLE OF THE KIND EVER SOLD

No. 1, No. 2 and No. 3.

They are Odorless and fully Absorbent, and warranted as represented in every particular, being put up under the direct supervision of a Practical Chemist.

EVERY DOZEN WILL CONTAIN TWO NICKEL PLATED SAFETY PINS.

A Sample of No. 1 Sent to Any Address on Receipt of 6 cents in Stamps.

TO BE WORN WITH THE STRAP ON THE OUTSIDE. BURN AFTER USING.

CHEAPER THAN WASHING. INVALUABLE WHILE TRAVELLING

Antiseptic "Sanitary Towels"

FOR LADIES,

WHICH ARE BOTH ABSORBENT AND ANTISEPTIC.

1st.—Increased Comfort. 2nd.—In Delicate Health, Less Liability to Chill. 3rd.—Cleanliness. 4th.—Convenience. 5th.—Diminution of Risks of Disease. 6th.—No Washing.

TO BE HAD OF ALL LEADING DRUGSTORES.

THE TOWELS DO NOT NEED AIRING, but are made softer by warming, and after use are to be destroyed by burning. They do not cause any disagreeable smell. If inconvenient to burn at once, the antiseptic used in their preparation enables them to be kept until opportunity occurs.

A PHYSICIAN SAYS :— 'Some dangers to health which are incurred from germs of disease will be avoided by their use. For long voyages they are essential." A great advantage these "TOWELS" possess over those in ordinary use is that THEY MAY BE DESTROYED BY BURNING WHEN DONE WITH. The carrying of soiled linen in travelling packages, and keeping it in the house in hot weather, waiting for the laundress, is objectionable.

THE ANTISEPTIC "SANITARY TOWELS" FOR LADIES.

The British Medical Journal says:—" It is a much improved substitute for the generally adopted napkin used in the catamenial period, and in confinements. The old napkin, with its many obvious defects, may now be entirely discarded, and the new 'Sanitary Towel' adopted in its tead, with all the advantages to be derived from a more comfortable article, and one possessing all that can be desired from a sanitary point f view. After use the 'Towels' are simply burned."

FOR SALE AT ALL DRUG AND DRY GOODS STORES.

THE TWIN HALF-MINUTE Clinical Thermometer,

For Quick Registration of Temperature.

The Most Substantial, Sensitive Thermometer ever offered to the Medical Profession.

PATENTED MARCH 25, 1890.

INDELIBLE BLACK.

With the atmospheric register at 60°, if "The Twin" be immersed in warm water of 105°, the mercury will reach that degree in less than TWENTY SECONDS.

The welding the two bulbs into one without any intervening space, renders 'The Twin" much stronger and less liable to break than any other heretofore offered.

It will always be found much more convenient to carry, requiring less room in a case or in the vest pocket. For these reasons, as well as for its GUARANTEED ACCURACY, "The Twin" is universally recommended by the medical profession.

Price, $18.00 Dozen in Rubber Case.

Concentrated Extract of "WHITE OAK BARK, Q. ALBA"

THE MOST VALUABLE

Aqueous Astringent known to the Medical Profession, and Superior to Anything of the Kind I ever Made.

Dr. J. Marion Sims, Dr. Newton, Dr. Tice and others of New York City, tested it thoroughly in their practice in 1871, and gave me the results of its use, and recommended it as superior to the "Hemlock Ext. Pinus Canadensis," which I had placed upon the market at large expense. I was not then prepared to furnish the goods, but have now arranged to make the "White Oak Ext. Q. Alba" medicinally pure for the benefit of the medical profession, who know with what care, purity and excellence I manufacture extracts. In putting this valuable "Oak Ext. Q. Alba" on the market, I have made the price reasonable, so that the POOR SICK can have the benefit of its use as well as the more FORTUNATE RICH.

A Priceless Boon to the Female World of Humanity.

"SEGURO"

The best preventive of the age.

"SEGURO"

The attention of the druggist is called to "SEGURO," as it is pronounced by thousands of married women a positive cure for LEUCORRHOEA or WHITES; a sure prevention for all venereal diseases, and a sure and reliable protection against all monthly irregularities which females are subject to. "SEGURO" will convince the most skeptical of its efficiency.

· ONLY 20 YEARS OLD ·

And a Giant!

The H. H. H. LINIMENT has stood the test of TWENTY Years use and to-day is Better Known and More Extensively Used than Any Other Liniment.

Some reasons why you should keep H. H. H. Liniment:

1st. Because it is the best for Man or Beast.

2nd. Because it is the Cheapest. One bottle mixed with double its quantity of water is then as strong as most Liniments

3rd. Because you don't have to wait for it. You can buy it anywhere.

4th. Because it Always Gives Satisfaction.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

A number of proprietors have added to their contracts a clause providing that where less than one-quarter dozen of their goods are ordered at one time, an advance of 10 per cent over the regular dozen rate must be charged.

For the convenience of the trade we append a list of these firms and also the items controlled by them which come under this rule.

Excepting where specified to the contrary this applies to one-quarter dozen of any one item and not to an assortment.

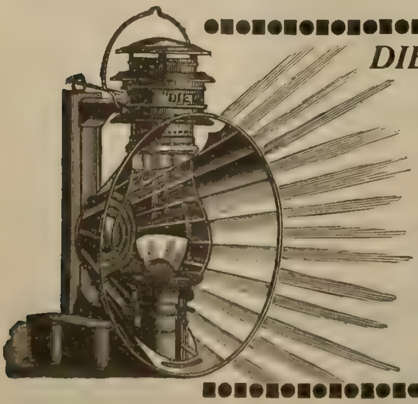
ORIGINATORS OF LIGHT BICYCLES, THEY HAVE SHOWN THE WORLD HOW TO SCIENTIFICALLY PLACE THE STRENGTH OF A 60 POUND MACHINE IN THE 19 POUND KEATING ROADSTER.



DIETZ SEARCH LIGHT

For either indoor or outdoor illumination—gives a brilliant, powerful and penetrating light, will not blow out, and has a simple and effective device for raising globe to light or trim. The unusually large and bright Reflector renders this light remarkably searching. We manufacture hundreds of different styles of Lanterns, and if, when you buy such goods, you insist upon having "Dietz'," you will certainly get the best of its class.

WAMPOLE'S

PERFECTED AND TASTELESS PREPARATION OF

COD LIVER OIL

(Ol. Morrh. Comp. Wampole)

Contains a solution of the combined alkaloidal and other active medicinal principles, obtainable from one-fourth its volume of pure Cod Liver Oil, the oily or fatty portion being entirely eliminated. These principles are extracted from the oil while it is yet contained in the fresh Cod Livers, and combined with Extract of Malt, Fluid Extract Wild Cherry Bark, and Syrup of Hypophosphites Compound (containing Lime, Soda, Potassium, Iron, Manganese, Quinine and Strychnia).

COPY OF ANALYSIS.

Laboratory of ROBERT G. ECCLES, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y., April 29th, 1896.

Messrs. HENRY K. WAMPOLE & Co., 441 Green Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

GENTLEMEN :—A careful chemical examination of fresh Cod Liver Oil as found in fresh Cod Livers which I obtained direct from the Cod Fish, reveals beyond question the presence of definite alkaloids and other active medicinal principles therein.

An equally careful examination of your Cod Liver Oil Extract, used in the manufacture of your preparation of Cod Liver Oil, demonstrated beyond a peradventure the presence of these same alkaloids and the other medicinal substances extracted by me directly from the oil I found in the Cod Livers.

Finally another equally careful analysis of your finished product, "Wampole's Perfected and Tasteless Preparation of Cod Liver Oil," shows in an unquestionable manner the presence therein of these same alkaloids and medicinal substances from Cod Liver Oil, together with various hypophosphites, quinine, strychnine, wild cherry, etc.

An examination in detail of your process of manufacture and of the special machinery and apparatus used by you in extracting the combined alkaloidal and other active medicinal principles of Cod Liver Oil convinced me of their efficiency for just such work, and showed the care and pains taken by you to get a pure and useful product.

Very truly yours, ROBERT G. ECCLES.

The clinical results obtained by the use of Wampole's Preparation will prove its efficacy in diseases and conditions where cod liver oil is indicated, in addition to its valuable tonic and alterative effect, due to its other medicinal ingredients.

Circular matter and samples for trial, promptly and cheerfully furnished upon application, free of charge.

CURINE

I will guarantee my CURINE to be the most powerful paint that medical science can formulate. It will reach DEEPER SEATED TROUBLES and produce better effects for LAMENESS and Unhealthy sores than any other preparation in the world, for which local medication is indicated, such as Spavins, Curbs, Ringbones, Sprung Knees, Capped Knees and Hocks, Saddle Galls, Rheumatism, Shoulder Lameness, Windpuffs, Navicular Disease, Joint Lameness, Shoe Boils, Fistulae, Quittor, Tumors, Muscle Soreness, Splints, Thoroughpins, Sprung Tendons, Enlarged and Suppurated Glands, Soft Bunches, Bony Growths, etc., etc.

W. A. W. TURNBULL, V. M. D., Formerly resident surgeon in charge of the Veterinary Hospital, University of Pennsylvania.

CURINE is the most powerful paint known, and supersedes all cautery or firing. It contains no grease and will not blemish or remove the hair. Its effects are absorbent, alterative, penetrative and antiseptic, and is the only preparation capable of reaching the deepest seated troubles. Horses can be worked as usual while using this marvellous paint.

Used with phenomenal success in Europe, and in the leading trotting and running stables in the United States and Canada. Any person who purchases a bottle, and after using half of it according to the explicit directions, and finds it not to do what we claim, can return the bottle and the money will be refunded. Reference—First National or Citizen's National Bank of Latrobe, Pa. WE WILL WAGER $100 that one bottle of CURINE, if used according to explicit directions, will reach deeper seated troubles, produce better effects for the same curatives, than any other preparation in the world.

It is recommended by owners such as Allen Farm, owner of Kremlin 2:07¾; C. H. Nelson, owner of Nelson, 2:09, E. W. Ayres, owner of Beuzetta, 2:06¾; M. Salisbury, owner of Alix, 2:03¾; L. B. Five Reasons why it should be kept in stock by all Druggists.

1. Because it is the most effective Blood Purifier, Stomach and Liver Regulator known.
2. Because it is well advertised, is being prescribed continually in our Institute and used by many other physicians.
3. Because patients are advised to purchase it from their druggists all over the United States and Canada.
4. Because through our immense practice, and our method of advertising and recommendation, druggists have a demand for it at all seasons of the year.
5. Because the Great Anti-Bilious Elixir and Blood Purifier gives universal satisfaction, and establishes for itself a reputation wherever used.

TO THE subject of Absorbent Cotton we call your attention. In presenting the above brand, which we shall control on the Pacific Coast, we can say without fear of contradiction that we offer a cotton up to the very highest standard, and one that will meet every test—absorbent, chemical and crucial. Being made from selected Sea Island cotton, its texture is longer, fibre softer, and being subjected to the many washings, both alkaline and acid, it contains none of the impurities, but a cotton made for rather than for commercial. Free from any contamination. Free from anything that will produce septic conditions in a wound—presenting a sterile surgical dressing which we believe cannot be equalled by other manufacturers. We invite you to give it the test by slightly compressing in the hand, throw on water and note how readily it absorbs and falls to the botton of the glass; then with Litmus paper note reaction—neither acid nor alkaline—and by burning in the crucible the amount of ash left. We feel assured if you will but present its merits to the physician you will find confirmed ALL WE CLAIM FOR

SURGICAL USE

THE TWIN

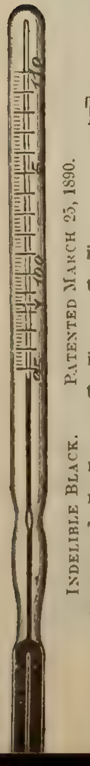
Clinical Thermometer,



PATENTED MARCH 25, 1890.
INDELIBLE BLACK.

For Quick Registration of Temperature.

The Most Substantial, Sensitive Thermometer ever offered to the Medical Profession.

With the atmospheric register at 60°, if "The Twin" be immersed in warm water of 105°, the mercury will reach that degree in less than TWENTY SECONDS.

The welding the two bulbs into one without any intervening space, renders "The Twin" much stronger and less liable to break than any other heretofore offered.

It will always be found much more convenient to carry, requiring less room in a case or in the vest pocket. For these reasons, as well as for its GUARANTEED ACCURACY, "The Twin" is universally recommended by the medical profession.

Price, $18.00 Dozen in Rubber Case.

S. H. KENNEDY'S

Concentrated Extract of "WHITE OAK BARK, QUERCUS ALBA"

THE MOST VALUABLE Aqueous Astringent known to the Medical Profession, and Superior to Anything of the Kind I ever Made.

Dr. J. Marion Sims, Dr. Newton, Dr. Tice and others of New York City, tested it thoroughly in their practice in 1871, and gave me the results of its use, and recommended it as superior to the "Hemlock Ext. Pinus Canadensis," which I had placed upon the market at large expense. I was not then prepared to furnish the goods, but have now arranged to make the "White Oak Ex. Quercus Alba" medicinally pure for the benefit of the medical profession, who know with what care, purity and excellence I manufacture extracts. In putting this valuable "Oak Ext. Quercus Alba" on the market, I have made the price reasonable, so that the POOR SICK can have the benefit of its use as well as the more FORTUTUNATE RICH.

Price, for the White or Dark per doz..............$10
In Lots of Six Doz................10 per cent. Discount

Caution: Be sure the name "S. H. Kennedy, Manufacturer, Johnstown, N. Y.," is printed at the bottom of label. All others are spurious.

And a Giant!

The H. H. H. LINIMENT has stood the test of TWENTY Years use and to-day is Better Known and More Extensively Used than Any Other Liniment.

Some reasons why you should keep H. H. H. Liniment:

1st. Because it is the best for Man or Beast.

2nd. Because it is the Cheapest. One bottle mixed with double its quantity of water is then as strong as most Liniments

3rd. Because you don't have to wait for it. You can buy it anywhere.

4th. Because it Always Gives Satisfaction.

WAMPOLE'S

PERFECTED AND TASTELESS PREPARATION OF

COD LIVER OIL

(Ol. Morrh. Comp. Wampole)

Contains a solution of the combined alkaloidal and other active medicinal principles, obtainable from one-fourth its volume of pure Cod Liver Oil, the oily or fatty portion being entirely eliminated. These principles are extracted from the oil while it is yet contained in the fresh Cod Livers, and combined with Extract of Malt, Fluid Extract Wild Cherry Bark, and Syrup of Hypophosphites Compound (containing Lime, Soda, Potassium, Iron, Manganese, Quinine and Strychnia).

COPY OF ANALYSIS.

Laboratory of ROBERT G. ECCLES, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y., April 29th, 1896.

Messrs. HENRY K. WAMPOLE & Co., 441 Green Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

GENTLEMEN :—A careful chemical examination of fresh Cod Liver Oil as found in fresh Cod Livers which I obtained direct from the Cod Fish, reveals beyond question the presence of definite alkaloids and other active medicinal principles therein.

An equally careful examination of your Cod Liver Oil Extract, used in the manufacture of your preparation of Cod Liver Oil, demonstrated beyond a peradventure the presence of these same alkaloids and the other medicinal substances extracted by me directly from the oil I found in the Cod Livers.

Finally another equally careful analysis of your finished product, "Wampole's Perfected and Tasteless Preparation of Cod Liver Oil," shows in an unquestionable manner the presence therein of these same alkaloids and medicinal substances from Cod Liver Oil, together with various hypophosphites, quinine, strychnine, wild cherry, etc.

An examination in detail of your process of manufacture and of the special machinery and apparatus used by you in extracting the combined alkaloidal and other active medicinal principles of Cod Liver Oil convinced me of their efficiency for just such work, and showed the care and pains taken by you to get a pure and useful product.

Very truly yours, ROBERT G. ECCLES.

The clinical results obtained by the use of Wampole's Preparation will prove its efficacy in diseases and conditions where cod liver oil is indicated, in addition to its valuable tonic and alterative effect, due to its other medicinal ingredients.

Circular matter and samples for trial, promptly and cheerfully furnished upon application, free of charge.

A Group of Three Ten-Cents-ables which might be well termed

The Three Guardsmen!

because of the fact that they are so well adapted for standing guard over the digestive organs against the attacks of disorders which easily become serious if neglected. These three simple, sensible, strictly scientific remedies, are indispensable to the stock of every well-equipped druggist in the summer season, because,—but you know the because,—so just a few words of description.

Sun Cholera Tablets

are tablets of Sun Cholera Mixture, made palatable; nothing more, nothing less. Sun Cholera Mixture is too well known to need description. You've all seen it charge a Diarrhœa and check its progress in double-quick time. The Tablets are convenient, palatable and popular in price.

Jamaica Ginger

is just that in a ten-cent size. Real Jamaica, and equal to any attack of Watermelon of one hundred times its bulk. A lusty guardsman, he. You buy him at the same price as the Sun Cholera Tablets.

Easy Physic

is German Licorice Powder, compressed as a lozenge. It is as agreeable as it is effectual. It knows its foe Constipation and attacks it without mercy. The book which comes with it is worth one hundred times the price of the first box. Read it and see.

The books of helpful advice that come with our ten centsables—one in each box, cost nothing extra, and are worth ten times what the goods cost.

You buy them at $7 per gross, assorted as desired.

CURINE

I will guarantee my CURINE to be the most powerful paint that medical science can formulate. It will reach DEEPER SEATED TROUBLES and produce better effects for LAMENESS and Unhealthy sores than any other preparation in the world, for which local medication is indicated, such as Spavins, Curbs, Ringbones, Sprung Knees, Capped Knees and Hocks, Saddle Galls, Rheumatism, Shoulder Lameness, Windpuffs, Navicular Disease, Joint Lameness, Shoe Boils, Fistulae, Quittor, Tumors, Muscle Soreness, Splints, Thoroughpins, Sprung Tendons, Enlarged and Suppurated Glands, Soft Bunches, Bony Growths, etc., etc.

W. A. W. TURNBULL, V. M. D., Formerly resident surgeon in charge of the Veterinary Hospital, University of Pennsylvania.

CURINE is the most powerful paint known, and supersedes all cautery or firing. It contains no grease and will not blemish or remove the hair. Its effects are absorbent, alterative, penetrative and antiseptic, and is the only preparation capable of reaching the deepest seated troubles. Horses can be worked as usual while using this marvellous paint.

Used with phenomenal success in Europe, and in the leading trotting and running stables in the United States and Canada. Any person who purchases a bottle, and after using half of it according to the explicit directions, and finds it not to do what we claim, can return the bottle and the money will be refunded. Reference—First National or Citizen's National Bank of Latrobe, Pa. WE WILL WAGER $100 that one bottle of CURINE, if used according to explicit directions, will reach deeper seated troubles, produce better effects for the same curatives, than any other preparation in the world.

It is recommended by owners such as Allen Farm, owner of Kremlin 2:07¾; C, H. Nelson, owner of Nelson, 2:09, E. W. Ayres, owner of Beuzetta, 2:06¾; M. Salisbury, owner of Alix, 2:03¾; L. B. DR. KLINE'S

Great Anti-Bilious Elixir

AND

BLOOD PURIFIER.

Five Reasons why it should be kept in stock by all Druggists.

1. Because it is the most effective Blood Purifier, Stomach and Liver Regulator known.
2. Because it is well advertised, is being prescribed continually in our Institute and used by many other physicians.
3. Because patients are advised to purchase it from their druggists all over the United States and Canada.
4. Because through our immense practice, and our method of advertising and recommendation, druggists have a demand for it at all seasons of the year.
5. Because the Great Anti-Bilious Elixir and Blood Purifier gives universal satisfaction, and establishes for itself a reputation wherever used.

Price $1.00 per bottle. To Druggists, $8.00 per dozen.

OXIDE ZINC BASE

FOR PREPARING
EXTEMPORANEOUSLY

Oxide Zinc Ointment

U. S. P.

FORMULA: { Oxide Zinc Base .... One Part
Lard ....Three Parts

Mix well in a warm mortar.

Put up in one pound tins, per pound 50c.

It is a most desirable article for the Pharmacist on account of its cheapness and simplicity in preparing Oxide Zinc Ointment. It will be thoroughly appreciated after it is once used, as it makes a very smooth and satisfactory ointment by the simple addition of Pure Lard or White Petrolatum.

TO THE subject of Absorbent Cotton we call your attention. In presenting the above brand, which we shall control on the Pacific Coast, we can say without fear of contradiction that we offer a cotton up to the very highest standard, and one that will meet every test—absorbent, chemical and crucial. Being made from selected Sea Island cotton, its texture is longer, fibre softer, and being subjected to the many washings, both alkaline and acid, it contains none of the impurities, but a cotton made for rather than for commercial. Free from any contamination. Free from anything that will produce septic conditions in a wound—presenting a sterile surgical dressing which we believe cannot be equalled by other manufacturers. We invite you to give it the test by slightly compressing in the hand, throw on water and note how readily it absorbs and falls to the botton of the glass; then with Litmus paper note reaction—neither acid nor alkaline—and by burning in the crucible the amount of ash left. We feel assured if you will but present its merits to the physician you will find confirmed ALL WE CLAIM FOR

S. H. KENNEDY'S

Concentrated Extract of "WHITE OAK BARK, QUERCUS ALBA"

THE MOST VALUABLE

Aqueous Astringent known to the Medical Profession, and Superior to Anything of the Kind I ever Made.

Dr. J. Marion Sims, Dr. Newton, Dr. Tice and others of New York City, tested it thoroughly in their practice in 1871, and gave me the results of its use, and recommended it as superior to the "Hemlock Ext. Pinus Canadensis," which I had placed upon the market at large expense. I was not then prepared to furnish the goods, but have now arranged to make the "White Oak Ex. Quercus Alba" medicinally pure for the benefit of the medical profession, who know with what care, purity and excellence I manufacture extracts. In putting this valuable "Oak Ext. Quercus Alba" on the market, I have made the price reasonable, so that the POOR SICK can have the benefit of its use as well as the more FORTUTUNATE RICH.

All these goods are put up in a great variety of styles and sizes, with or without the buyer's name on, as the case may be. All depends on the size of your order and what you want. We have our own printing department, to which we have recently added new presses and assortments of type, so that we are now better equipped than ever before, for promptly and efficiently supplying all labels your order requires.

We cannot go into details here, but solicit correspondence. Or, better still, talk it over with our salesmen who have all information at their tongue's end, and samples to show you besides.

We particularly want you to know, however, that we make a specialty of supplying goods in bulk. We therefore emphasize the fact here. Our facilities for doing so are unequalled. Our machinery is at the highest notch of perfection. Recent low prices of merchandise gave good opportunities of judicious buying. We were quick to take advantage of these opportunities. Your advantage will follow in low prices of manufactured goods.

Fluid, solid and powdered extracts, pills, tablets and private formulæ, sell all the year round. Our place as makers of these is at the head. If you haven't one of our catalogues at hand, we shall be pleased to mail one on application.

DR. KLINE'S

Great Anti-Bilious Elixir

AND

BLOOD PURIFIER.

Five Reasons why it should be kept in stock by all Druggists.

1. Because it is the most effective Blood Purifier, Stomach and Liver Regulator known.
2. Because it is well advertised, is being prescribed continually in our Institute and used by many other physicians.
3. Because patients are advised to purchase it from their druggists all over the United States and Canada.
4. Because through our immense practice, and our method of advertising and recommendation, druggists have a demand for it at all seasons of the year.
5. Because the Great Anti-Bilious Elixir and Blood Purifier gives universal satisfaction, and establishes for itself a reputation wherever used.

Price $1.00 per bottle. To Druggists, $8.00 per dozen.

TO THE subject of Absorbent Cotton we call your attention. In presenting the above brand, which we shall control on the Pacific Coast, we can say without fear of contradiction that we offer a cotton up to the very highest standard, and one that will meet every test—absorbent, chemical and crucial. Being made from selected Sea Island cotton, its texture is longer, fibre softer, and being subjected to the many washings, both alkaline and acid, it contains none of the impurities, but a cotton made for

SURGICAL USE

rather than for commercial. Free from any contamination. Free from anything that will produce septic conditions in a wound—presenting a sterile surgical dressing which we believe cannot be equalled by other manufacturers. We invite you to give it the test by slightly compressing in the hand, throw on water and note how readily it absorbs and falls to the botton of the glass; then with Litmus paper note reaction—neither acid nor alkaline—and by burning in the crucible the amount of ash left. We feel assured if you will but present its merits to the physician you will find confirmed ALL WE CLAIM FOR

S. H. KENNEDY'S

Concentrated Extract of "WHITE OAK BARK, QUERCUS ALBA"

THE MOST VALUABLE

Aqueous Astringent known to the Medical Profession, and Superior to Anything of the Kind I ever Made.

Dr. J. Marion Sims, Dr. Newton, Dr. Tice and others of New York City, tested it thoroughly in their practice in 1871, and gave me the results of its use, and recommended it as superior to the "Hemlock Ext. Pinus Canadensis," which I had placed upon the market at large expense. I was not then prepared to furnish the goods, but have now arranged to make the "White Oak Ex. Quercus Alba" medicinally pure for the benefit of the medical profession, who know with what care, purity and excellence I manufacture extracts. In putting this valuable "Oak Ext. Quercus Alba" on the market, I have made the price reasonable, so that the POOR SICK can have the benefit of its use as well as the more FORTUTUNATE RICH.

BEEF JUICE.

(WYETH)

A Liquid Preparation of the Choicest Beef, containing the Nutritious Albuminous principles in an unaltered and soluble form.

Physicians

Will find WYETH'S BEEF JUICE of great value as a strengthening diet in cases of convalescence, nervous prostration and similar diseases.

Professional Men

Suffering from overwork, mental anxiety, etc., will find that one-half teaspoonful in half a glass of cold water—at intervals during the day and upon retiring—will relieve fatigue, both of mind and body.

STRONTIUM.

BROMIDE. LACTATE. SALICYLATE.

The marked attention given to the Salts of Strontium and the satisfactory results of their therapeutic action induced us several years ago to prepare an Elixir and Liquor of both the Bromide and Lactate, which have proven most acceptable to the medical profession.

For Portability,
Convenience, and
Ease of Administering

We have been solicited to prepare them in Tablets which we now offer:

PIL. STRONTIUM BROMIDE . . 3 and 5 Grs.
PIL. STRONTIUM LACTATE . . 3 and 5 Grs.
PIL. STRONTIUM SALICYLATE 3 and 5 Grs.

FOR THE NERVES
HEADACHE STOP 10c
TEN-CENTS-ABLE FAMILY REMEDIES

"Stop! My Head Aches!"

She is evidently exasperated, for the youth has been trying to get her to take something else in place of HEADACHE STOP. She has used Headache Stop before and found it efficient; and who can blame her, while suffering with a raging headache, for being driven to the point of desperation by the short-sighted talk of that youth about "something better"? The proprietor wouldn't do such a thing; of course, he wouldn't. "We give you what you ask for," should be the motto of every drugstore, in these days when men and women know what they want.

Headache Stop

is just what this girl knows it is,—a quick, sure, harmless STOP to the ache; that's all. But the book that comes with it,—that's worth a fortune to those who suffer with headaches. HEADACHE STOP is a TEN-CENTS-ABLE, and, as a member of that family, costs you $7 per gross, and has 100 per cent. profit for you.

PENNYROYAL FEMALE PILLS.

ARE THE BEST PREPARATION KNOWN FOR THE COMPLETE AND PERFECT RESTORATION OF THE MENSTRUAL FUNCTIONS WHEN SUPPRESSED BY ANY CAUSE.

For irregularity, suppression, painful menstruation, leucorrhœa, or whites, they have no equal, and have cured where other remedies fail.

$1.00 DR. MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS $1.00

are entirely vegetable, and are very powerful in their action. (Care should be taken not to use them in pregnancy, as they would be sure to cause a miscarriage.) They are safe, certain and effectual, and are prepared to act directly on the circulatory system of the uterus, and will restore, SAFELY and SURELY, its normal action, and relieve scanty and SUPPRESSED menstruation.

DR. MOTT'S PENNYROYAL PILLS are for sale by our agents, or we will send them by mail to any address, in a sealed, plain wrapper, on receipt of price, $1, or six packages for $5. Directions accompany each box.

Great Anti-Bilious Elixir

AND

BLOOD PURIFIER.

Five Reasons why it should be kept in stock by all Druggists.

1. Because it is the most effective Blood Purifier, Stomach and Liver Regulator known.
2. Because it is well advertised, is being prescribed continually in our Institute and used by many other physicians.
3. Because patients are advised to purchase it from their druggists all over the United States and Canada.
4. Because through our immense practice, and our method of advertising and recommendation, druggists have a demand for it at all seasons of the year.
5. Because the Great Anti-Bilious Elixir and Blood Purifier gives universal satisfaction, and establishes for itself a reputation wherever used.

Price $1.00 per bottle. To Druggists, $8.00 per dozen.

OXIDE ZINC BASE

FOR PREPARING
EXTEMPORANEOUSLY

Oxide Zinc Ointment

U. S. P.

FORMULA: { Oxide Zinc Base .... One Part
Lard .... Three Parts

Mix well in a warm mortar.

Put up in one pound tins, per pound 50c.

It is a most desirable article for the Pharmacist on account of its cheapness and simplicity in preparing Oxide Zinc Ointment. It will be thoroughly appreciated after it is once used, as it makes a very smooth and satisfactory ointment by the simple addition of Pure Lard or White Petrolatum.

TO THE subject of Absorbent Cotton we call your attention. In presenting the above brand, which we shall control on the Pacific Coast, we can say without fear of contradiction that we offer a cotton up to the very highest standard, and one that will meet every test—absorbent, chemical and crucial. Being made from selected Sea Island cotton, its texture is longer, fibre softer, and being subjected to the many washings, both alkaline and acid, it contains none of the impurities, but a cotton made for rather than for commercial. Free from any contamination. Free from anything that will produce septic conditions in a wound—presenting a sterile surgical dressing which we believe cannot be equalled by other manufacturers. We invite you to give it the test by slightly compressing in the hand, throw on water and note how readily it absorbs and falls to the botton of the glass; then with Litmus paper note reaction—neither acid nor alkaline—and by burning in the crucible the amount of ash left. We feel assured if you will but present its merits to the physician you will find confirmed ALL WE CLAIM FOR

S. H. KENNEDY'S

Concentrated Extract of "WHITE OAK BARK, QUERCUS ALBA"

THE MOST VALUABLE

Aqueous Astringent known to the Medical Profession, and Superior to Anything of the Kind I ever Made.

Dr. J. Marion Sims, Dr. Newton, Dr. Tice and others of New York City, tested it thoroughly in their practice in 1871, and gave me the results of its use, and recommended it as superior to the "Hemlock Ext. Pinus Canadensis," which I had placed upon the market at large expense. I was not then prepared to furnish the goods, but have now arranged to make the "White Oak Ex. Quercus Alba" medicinally pure for the benefit of the medical profession, who know with what care, purity and excellence I manufacture extracts. In putting this valuable "Oak Ext. Quercus Alba" on the market, I have made the price reasonable, so that the POOR SICK can have the benefit of its use as well as the more FORTUTUNATE RICH.

"Stop! My Head Aches!"

She is evidently exasperated, for the youth has been trying to get her to take something else in place of HEADACHE STOP. She has used Headache Stop before and found it efficient; and who can blame her, while suffering with a raging headache, for being driven to the point of desperation by the short-sighted talk of that youth about "something better"? The proprietor wouldn't do such a thing; of course, he wouldn't. "We give you what you ask for," should be the motto of every drugstore, in these days when men and women know what they want.

Headache Stop

is just what this girl knows it is,—a quick, sure, harmless STOP to the ache; that's all. But the book that comes with it,—that's worth a fortune to those who suffer with headaches. HEADACHE STOP is a TEN-CENTS-ABLE, and, as a member of that family, costs you $7 per gross, and has 100 per cent. profit for you.

EXTEMPORANEOUSLY

Oxide Zinc Ointment

U. S. P.

FORMULA: { Oxide Zinc Base .... One Part
Lard .... Three Parts

Mix well in a warm mortar.

Put up in one pound tins, per pound 50c.

It is a most desirable article for the Pharmacist on account of its cheapness and simplicity in preparing Oxide Zinc Ointment. It will be thoroughly appreciated after it is once used, as it makes a very smooth and satisfactory ointment by the simple addition of Pure Lard or White Petrolatum.

DR. KLINE'S

Great Anti-Bilious Elixir

AND

BLOOD PURIFIER.

Five Reasons why it should be kept in stock by all Druggists.

1. Because it is the most effective Blood Purifier, Stomach and Liver Regulator known.
2. Because it is well advertised, is being prescribed continually in our Institute and used by many other physicians.
3. Because patients are advised to purchase it from their druggists all over the United States and Canada.
4. Because through our immense practice, and our method of advertising and recommendation, druggists have a demand for it at all seasons of the year.
5. Because the Great Anti-Bilious Elixir and Blood Purifier gives universal satisfaction, and establishes for itself a reputation wherever used.

Price $1.00 per bottle. To Druggists, $8.00 per dozen.

TO THE subject of Absorbent Cotton we call your attention. In presenting the above brand, which we shall control on the Pacific Coast, we can say without fear of contradiction that we offer a cotton up to the very highest standard, and one that will meet every test—absorbent, chemical and crucial. Being made from selected Sea Island cotton, its texture is longer, fibre softer, and being subjected to the many washings, both alkaline and acid, it contains none of the impurities, but a cotton made for

SURGICAL USE

rather than for commercial. Free from any contamination. Free from anything that will produce septic conditions in a wound—presenting a sterile surgical dressing which we believe cannot be equalled by other manufacturers. We invite you to give it the test by slightly compressing in the hand, throw on water and note how readily it absorbs and falls to the botton of the glass; then with Litmus paper note reaction—neither acid nor alkaline—and by burning in the crucible the amount of ash left. We feel assured if you will but present its merits to the physician you will find confirmed ALL WE CLAIM FOR

Concentrated Extract of "WHITE OAK BARK, QUERCUS ALBA"

THE MOST VALUABLE

Aqueous Astringent known to the Medical Profession, and Superior to Anything of the Kind I ever Made.

Dr. J. Marion Sims, Dr. Newton, Dr. Tice and others of New York City, tested it thoroughly in their practice in 1871, and gave me the results of its use, and recommended it as superior to the "Hemlock Ext. Pinus Canadensis," which I had placed upon the market at large expense. I was not then prepared to furnish the goods, but have now arranged to make the "White Oak Ex. Quercus Alba" medicinally pure for the benefit of the medical profession, who know with what care, purity and excellence I manufacture extracts. In putting this valuable "Oak Ext. Quercus Alba" on the market, I have made the price reasonable, so that the POOR SICK can have the benefit of its use as well as the more FORTUTUNATE RICH.

RETAILERS RECOGNIZED.

Every Retailer Made a Stockholder in the Sterling Remedy Company. A Million Dollar Boom. Are You With Us?

Send Your Order for an Assortment of NO-TO-BAC and CASCARETS at once to

F. W. BRAUN & CO., Los Angeles.

Retail Druggists of America:

After years of untiring effort, and the investment of nearly a million of money for publicity, we say to the retail druggists of America, that we propose to recognize them in a practical, equitable, business-like manner, as the proper and natural distributors of the two great proprietary articles of our manufacture—No-To-Bac and Cascarets.

Any one can tell you how much he thinks of your efforts, but pending the investment of at least a million dollars for further advertising Cascarets and No-To-bac, we propose to make at least one retail druggist in every town, village and hamlet in America a partner and profit-sharing stockholder in these two great sellers.

THE RETAILER.

There is not one town in America where you cannot find at least one pushing, progressive druggist, who has learned that, by his own efforts, he can create and maintain a big demand for any meritorious preparation, when he is furnished with the proper advertising material for counter and window display, and house to house distribution. All this advertising force, backed by the justified personal recommendation of the druggists and his clerks, sells goods. We want this co-operation, and make doubly profitable our immense line of newspaper advertising. Under our plan, there will be for the retailer not only the usual profit to which he is entitled from the simple sale of the goods, but he is given a permanent working interest in the business, that brings its dividend-paying rewards semiannually, as long as this company exists.

STERLING REMEDIES.

Every retail druggist in America knows who we are, and that, as the originators of No-To-Bac, we have created, within the short space of a few years, the greatest sale ever known for a specific proprietary article. Under our present plans, and the immense line of advertising now going out, we expect to double our sales during the next year, making a grand total of 1,000,000 boxes per annum, which will only be an average of two boxes per month for every retail druggist in America.

Cascarets, Candy Cathartics, are right up to date in merits, and although but a little over six months old, they have been regularly ordered, paid for, and carried in stock by every one of the three hundred wholesale druggists in America. Considering their age and the amount of money expended to date in advertising them, the sales are stupendous, and within a few years will exceed $1,000,000 per annum. Every mail brings enthusiastic reports from retailers who have distributed our advertising matter, which always brings big returns.

CO-OPERATION.

Co-operation with us—i. e., personal push of the retailer looking after the sale of Cascarets and No-To-Bac—helps business. So does advertising. Now, why should we not pay for your personal push, if it is a developer of business, the same as for so much space in a newspaper? That's just what we propose to do, as under this plan, we make you a profit-sharer and stockholder in our immense business, and every time you make a sale of our goods you are advancing your own interests far beyond your regular profit.

OUR PLAN.

It is simple, equitable and protects the retailers' interest.

It gives every retailer who buys $10 worth of Cascarets or No-To-Bac, assorted to suit, as covered by the special order blank for this purpose, the right to have issued to him $10 worth of the full-paid, non-assessable, six per cent. preferred stock of this company.

Organized, as we are, under a special charter which particularly provides for the protection of every preferred stockholder and the absolute payment semi-annually under the law, of a six per cent. dividend, you do not assume the least particle of risk and, as a reward for your personal advertising co-operation and push, you become identified with one of the largest concerns in America, in which you have a permanent dividend-paying interest, and enter a business association with every other live, hustling, profit-sharing brother druggist throughout the land.

WE WANT YOU WITH US.

This is indeed a "union for profit," so much so that you, the retailer, every time the sale of a box of our goods is made, will have the satisfaction of knowing that your interest in that sale will be a permanent one, and, on our part, when we are spending vast sums of money in advertising our product to the people, we will know full well that our interested co-partners, the retail druggists of America, stand ready to protect our mutual interests.

The writer and originator of this plan desires to go on record and assure every one who becomes associated with us, that an honest and manly management of the affairs of this corporation will be carried out to the strictest detail, and it will be no fault of ours if your identification will not result in the most pleasant business relations and highly profitable returns. Very truly your friends,

STERLING REMEDY COMPANY,
H. L. KRAMER,
Treas. and Gen. Mgr
